Work on the Virginia Beach City Jail's new third-story addition is progressing on schedule.

PROBLEMS FEW AT VA. BEACH CITY JAIL

By JACK MOORE
VIRGINIA BEACH — A small minority of Virginia Beach citizens has ever seen the inside of the city jail. And, the majority of those few were prisoners there. Of course, the rest of that number were only touring the jail and inspecting its facilities.
Many people tend to think of a jail as a dark forbidding structure where prisoners are chained to the walls, beaten with rubber hoses, mistreated and forced to live like animals. This is not the case with the Virginia Beach jail.

PLAZA DEMOS MOVE AHEAD

PRINCESS ANNE PLAZA — Plans Democrats held their second organizational meeting Tuesday night at Plaza Elementary School. Twenty-one persons attended the second meeting, about twice that of the first meeting held a week ago.
Club president Bill Thomas read the by-laws of the newly formed organization to those in attendance and they were accepted as read.
At the meeting, Jack Sergeant was unanimously elected Chairman of the membership committee.
Revenue Commissioner Ivan D. Mapp spoke at the meeting. He said, "My office will be happy to help people in any way to register to vote."
Lynhaven Councilman James Darden and Bayside Councilman Larry Marshall also attended the meeting, but did not speak.
President Bill Thomas said due to the holiday season, a meeting will not be held this month. A tentative meeting date has been set for Jan. 23 at the yet unnamed location in the Plaza. (The by-laws stipulate that the club meeting will be held the last Tuesday in each month.)
Any person, male or female, registered and qualified to vote in local elections, or willing to qualify within thirty days from application and who agrees to support the club, and its creed is eligible for membership, Thomas said.
Thomas said the attendance at Tuesday night's meeting probably would have been larger had there not been some confusion as to where the meeting was to be held. Thomas said, "Some people probably thought Lynhaven Elementary School near the shopping center was the 'Plaza' school."
Shortly after the club first organized it was noted that the GOP stepped up its activity in the Plaza area.
A film concerning the war in Viet Nam was shown at the meeting.

The Big Diversion Tactic

At this point, the old familiar saying that the best defense is a good offense, seems to describe the questionable diversionary tactics being employed by some staff members of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot. The citizenry of the City of Virginia Beach, we believe, have seen this happen before, but we also believe it is our duty to keep our citizens well-informed and to bring it to their attention, just as it has been brought to our attention in the past few days.

As we see it, it all began with two separate incidents. First, a prominent Norfolk citizen was accused of a "conflict of interest." Then, a young teenage boy, died under questionable circumstances while in solitary confinement at the Norfolk City Farm.

We are not now, or at any time, attempting to pass judgment on either of these interesting incidents, and we are quite naturally sorry that either incident happened at all. But it now seems that since they did happen, the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot immediately began attacking the City of Virginia Beach and its citizens, in what appears to be a diversionary tactic designed to take the spotlight off occurrences in the City of Norfolk.

First, an editorial writer wrote an uncalled for and unnecessary editorial full of charges against Democratic National Committeeman, Sidney Kellam. Kellam has since stated publicly the charges were without truth or fact.

Next, a staff writer of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, in the news columns, wrote an item concerning a meeting of certain political leaders of the City of Virginia Beach, in which additional uncalled for and unnecessary statements and charges were released for public consumption. These statements were most promptly labeled as "untrue." (The denial of those charges and statements appears in the news story adjacent to this editorial.)

To paraphrase a learned writer, we ask, Upon what food doth the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot feed and drink, that it has grown so unwilling to give its readers the true facts, without employing trumped-up charges against a neighboring city and its citizens, particularly when this same newspaper professes to serve that city and its citizens?

In the case of the editorial, the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot has a perfect right and perhaps even a responsibility to support any candidate or candidates it desires for the United States Senate. But, we wish to add that that same privilege is also granted to everyone else in the state, including all the citizens of the City of Virginia Beach. Perhaps now or in the near future the editor of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot can be urged to let us have the benefit of his "private notions," and he will state publicly for all to read who he intends to support in this free election.

In the case of the news item, which appeared in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot on the morning of November 30, 1965, a reference was made to a so-called "private meeting" of city officials. We have two questions. First, who told the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot the meeting was private? Second, when have Virginia Beach officials ever failed to state their views publicly on every question concerning who they would support or not support? Hardly before the ink was dry on that issue of the newspaper, a full denial was issued concerning what the article tried to state as absolute fact.

The news article suggests that there may have been a division of opinion in the appointment of A. L. Bonney to a vacant seat on Virginia Beach City Council. Had the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot wished to be fully informed on that matter, its staff members could have read and digested an editorial, which appeared in the Virginia Beach Sun, in which the fact was stated that Mr. Bonney had been unanimously elected by the members of City Council. (We know they read our editorials, since they have quite kindly quoted us in the past.) In addition the Constitutional officers have stated publicly that they supported Bonney. So we ask another question. Where is the division?

The same is true in the statement in the same news article, which mentioned a disagreement at one time, concerning who would be the candidate for the House of Delegates. Mr. Caton or Mr. Simpson. This also has been sharply denied, as being "without fact."

We do not believe that the people of Virginia Beach appreciate or will be fooled by this or any future unprovoked attacks, when it is promoted for the apparently sole purpose of keeping the spotlight away from internal problems in Norfolk.

In all fairness to the City of Norfolk, we suggest . . . Clean up your own back yard, before you start criticizing that of your neighbor.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot did protect itself in the next to the last paragraph of the news item in question, by saying, "There is not expected to be an open break as there has been within the Organization in past years." Since that can be stated as absolute fact, why the news article in the first place?

Because these articles which have appeared in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot recently appear to be so untrue, we, the Virginia Beach Sun, after much thought and consideration, decided to use this front page editorial to inform the citizens of Virginia Beach.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS DENY DISSENT AND FIST-POUNDING

VIRGINIA BEACH — Within a few hours after a story appeared in the Norfolk morning daily newspaper, city officials, including constitutional officers, city councilmen, and Democratic officials had issued a sharp denial.

The story, which included, among other things, a report of a table-pounding and shouting session between Democratic National Committeeman Sidney Kellam and City Treasurer V. A. (Jack) Etheridge, in what was called a private meeting of Democratic leaders of Virginia Beach, has been labeled as "absolutely untrue."

The text of the denial signed by several officials, including Sidney Kellam, read, as follows:

"The statement in the (Norfolk) Virginian-Pilot of November 30th in which it attempted to portray that the recent meeting of several organization supporters and officials which resulted in a wide disagreement, even to the point of shouting at each other is absolutely untrue.

"Informal meetings of this kind are held often for the purpose of allowing everyone to express their views in any manner they desire. This meeting was not unusual in any manner.

"The question of the Planning Commission was not discussed in any way. The only matter discussed was the coming council election.

"Every one of us is supporting Mr. A. L. Bonney and the other organization candidates.

"We know of no time when Mr. Robert L. Simpson was a candidate for the House of Delegates nor has it ever been discussed in any of our meetings. Mr. Simpson wholeheartedly supported Mr. Caton for this office.

"We are aware of the formation of a new Democratic club at Virginia Beach and endorse the purpose for which it stands. If we have been successful politically in Virginia Beach, it has been because each member at any meeting not only reserves the right to express his personal views but is invited to do so. By so operating, we get the benefit of everyone's thinking. The suggestion in the (Norfolk) Virginian-Pilot this morning that there is any disagreement between the constitutional officers, the city council or the other officers including Mr. Sidney Kellam is erroneous. We feel that the public is entitled to a reply immediately and time did not permit us to get the signatures of members of the Council but a number were contacted by phone and they concluded in it completely."

The story of the denial, including part of the text, then appeared in the Norfolk Ledger-Star on the afternoon of November 30, and the text only of the denial was published in the December 1 issue of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, with no additional comment.

The original story in the Norfolk newspaper stated that more than 30 local Democratic "wheel-horses" witnessed the display of temper, which it said stemmed from growing dissatisfaction

27 ITEMS ON AGENDA

VIRGINIA BEACH — A 27-item agenda awaits the City Planning Commission Dec. 8 at 9:30 a.m. at the Municipal Court Building.

Included on the docket are a proposed trailer park, rezoning for apartments and duplexes, four service stations, and a doctor's office.

Douglas T. Mason is seeking a use permit to operate a trailer park off Colechester Neck Road, which is south of Sandbridge Road and east of Tabernacle Creek.

Dr. J. M. Wainwright is seeking the commission's permission to operate a professional building at the northwest corner of Arctic Avenue and 3rd Street.

Duplex zoning has been requested for 12 acres of land at the eastern end of Gunn Hall Drive near Dam Neck and a parcel of land on the south side of London Bridge Road, east of Shippe Corner Road.

Rose Investment Corporation is asking the city to rezone land near Virginia Wesleyan College, east of Baker Road for apartment use.

Sylva Corp. wants a rezoning and use permit to construct 125 apartment units west of Which Duck Road near Chinese Corner. The company also proposes a service station in the same area.

Tidewater General Corp. is proposing a 29-unit apartment project on the south side of Pinewood Drive, west of Holly Road. The land located there is already zoned for apartment use.

Three applications for use permits for three service stations are made for: the northwest corner of Oriole Drive and Laskin Road, at the western intersection of Military Highway and Providence Road, and on the southwest corner of Bonney Road and South Witchduck Road.

among some Organization members.
The story then went on to state causes for the alleged flap. One reason said there was resentment because constitutional officers were not invited to a $100-a-plate dinner at the Black Angus "to build war chest for the forthcoming City Council elections." Another charged anger that Organization stalwarts were "not consulted on the appointment of A. L. Bonney to fill a vacant seat on City Council.

An additional reason said there was the belief that some of the "Organization wheel-horses had worked as hard for the election of State Senator William P. Kelso as they might have done."

The story further charged that there was concern over criticism of the Organization, and that one of the complaints was alleged failure of the Organization to modernize.

The article also included the charges that some members of the Organization would favor the naming of some present Council members in the coming election, expected in June, 1966, and changes in the membership of the Planning Commission.

Included also was the charge by the writer that what he called a "dissent" group, would attempt to do in the coming months. The article also claimed one victory by the "dissent" group, which it claimed chose Caton over Simpson.

According to Organization officials, the denial was issued as soon as it was seen by those concerned.

After all the charges were denied, however, the Norfolk story included this statement: "There is not expected to be an open break as there has been within the Organization in past years."

FINED $100

VIRGINIA BEACH — John H. Walls Jr. was convicted by a Circuit Court jury for leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $100 on November 30.

The accident occurred Labor Day night when he collided with another automobile near 14th Street on Pacific Avenue.

Investigating officer was R. Lippert. The case was prosecuted by Robert L. Simpson, Commonwealth Attorney.

Judge Robert S. Wahab Jr. was the presiding judge.

Shareholders Okay Merger

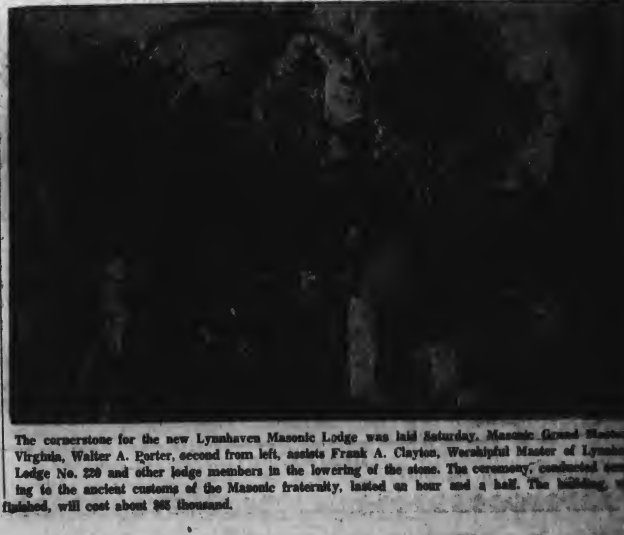

VIRGINIA BEACH — Shareholders of the First and Merchants National Bank of Richmond and the Bank of Virginia Beach approved a merger of the banks Tuesday.
Directors of the banks had previously approved the merger which still requires approval of James J. Saxon, comptroller of the currency.
As of Sept. 30, the Bank of Virginia Beach had deposits of $28.2 million and First and Merchants had deposits of $408.3 million, making a combined total of $436.5 million.
Total combined resources would be $286.6 million and total capital would be $28.3 million.

MAN REPORTED ALIVE AFTER BEING PRESUMED DROWNED Growth Noted

VIRGINIA BEACH — A 21-year-old sailor who was reported drowned here almost a year and half ago turned up recently in Miami, Fla. and gave himself up to Naval authorities there.
The story started July 7, 1964 when John Randolph Warren, 20, left his room at the Prince Charles Hotel, the day he was to have checked out, to go swimming alone and never returned.
It was presumed at the time that he drowned, but because his body was never found, the case was kept open in the Virginia Beach Police Department's missing persons file.
When Warren failed to return to the hotel, police officials were called in. They found Warren's personal belongings — a shaving kit and some clothing — in his room.
An investigation of the case by Virginia Beach police revealed that Warren, a native of Columbus, Ohio, had been absent without leave from Washington, D. C., for approximately a week prior to

The first nine months of the year has seen a record set by United Mortgage Servicing Corp., according to George Dragas, Jr., vice president.
Dragas released figures which showed that as of Sept. 30, mortgages originated by United this year amounted to $140.9 million up from $106.8 million in the comparable period of 1964. This is a gain of 31 per cent.
United which now ranks 20th among the more than 1,000 mortgage bankers in the country, grew in the nine months to $411.5 million from $282 million a year earlier, a gain of 46 per cent.

Cornerstone Ceremony

The cornerstone for the new Lynhaven Masonic Lodge was laid Saturday. Masonic Grand Master of Virginia, Walter A. Porter, second from left, assists Frank A. Clayton, Worshipful Master of Lynhaven Lodge No. 229 and other lodge members in the lowering of the stone. The ceremony, conducted according to the ancient customs of the Masonic fraternity, lasted an hour and a half. The building, when finished, will cost about $65 thousand.

The annual Fireman's Ball was held Saturday night at the dome. This dance has become quite popular with the Virginia Beach people. I feel confident in saying that everyone seemed to be really having a good time. When a dance is given and everyone knows one another this alone makes it a success.

The band, known as the Executives, was real nice but the acoustics in the dome certainly did not help them. There were times that it made the band sound as if they were completely out of tune. The crowd did not let this stop them from having a good time.

Some of the many people seen were: Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Davernport, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Chick, Mr. and Mrs. Major Pardue, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mathias.

Mrs. Melvin Mathias was very glamorous in a red lace formal with rhinestone straps, stole of white mohair, shoes were metallic with many colors but predominantly gold. Her hair is silver beige and was very attractively set in a high style.

Some other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swain, Huber Bayne, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Milligan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Coppedge, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin R. Scarborough, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Darr Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. B. There were many others, but by the time I have introduced myself, explained why I would like the names and in what paper the names will appear, I have really done a night's work.

So many times when I am out to the many affairs through the year, I see many people I know and would love to take pictures of each and everyone. I also know that many would like for me to take the pictures for the paper but believe me, when I say it distresses me that all cannot be taken.

The four flower girls were Miss Mara Georgette McGray, Miss Susan Parker, and Miss Cara Ann Calder, all of Richmond, and Miss Susan Patterno of Clifton. The ring bearer was Donald Calder, nephew of the bridegroom, of Richmond. Vaughn E. Calder, Jr., was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were J. Thomas Vaughan, Charles R. Talley, Richard B. Green, B. Grady Taylor and Donald K. Smith all of Richmond; and Lein B. Hubiak, the brother of the bride. The reception was held at the church with a family dinner given after the reception at the home of the bride. After a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, the couple will make their home in Richmond.

LET'S TALK FASHION & GIFTS
By ALICE BREWER WHITE

Capes are certainly staging a comeback this season. Designers Vera Maxwell and Bonnie Cashin nearly always include at least one in their winter collections and now that the great Balenciaga has shown his, enough said! Originals, one of America's great coat houses, has introduced a stunning cape of oyster-white double-faced wool fleece which is a work of art. A practical coat it is, too, because it can be worn effectively over dark day dresses as well as with short dinner and dance dresses. As you've probably observed, fashion designers watch current events and celebrities in-the-news for some of their ideas. As we watched the flowing grace of His Holiness, Pope Paul VI, as he hustled about New York during his recent visit, we couldn't help but admire his beautiful long red cape, as well as his sort red one, and wonder how long before we'd see red capes in our American fashion picture. (We've seen three on Norfolk club women since his visit!) The patterned topcoat made of plaid or any kind of checked wool from tattersall to shepherd is a stunning coat to own. According to Eugenia Sheppard, the Herald Tribune's fashion expert, "The patterned coat has made the marvelous flustering pastel wool coat look less new and fascinating. Checks and plaids are not just a flash in the pan, either. They're the big fashion in all the spring collections and at all prices, starting at the top and going right down." Yes, it's time to keep one eye out for coming spring fashions, too!

THE NEAT LITTLE SUIT
It's an old truism that one Davidow suit perfectly coordinated is worth more to your fashion reputation than a dozen changes. The Davidow suit embodies the tradition of London, the femininity of Paris, the energy of New York. Designed for women who appreciate the soft look of fashion, they move with an easy stride; sit gracefully at a meeting, look appropriate at luncheon and are in good taste for informal dinners. Here is certainly the culture-look in women who are at home in town or country. We love the shades of the fairbow which Davidow uses, such as cerise, raspberry, vibrant teal, sapphire blue, emerald green, peac as well as urban black and oxford grey. Exquisite fabrics are also featured: British tweeds, pure Italian silks, fine French and Irish fabrics are selected for their timeless beauty. Stunning blouses are especially created expressly as fashion partners to these handsome suits. Yes, we are partial to Davidow suits because they are for women who appreciate quality. We hope Virginia Beach women who are suit lovers will shop around and send their Christmas check for a really stunning suit.

FASHIONABLES
Mrs. Hurley H. Harrell, busy Soroptimist Club business woman, walking smartly through the Trailways bus areaway in Norfolk, strikingly handsome in an all royal blue outfit with a stunning high-crown wool and felt royal blue hat and a smile so friendly that she just sparkled happiness! . . . Another royal blue fashion note was the lovely wrapped-about maline turban worn by Mrs. Harry Price while watching hubby scintillate in the male panel on "The Woman's Role in Norfolk's Future" last Tuesday at the Norfolk YWCA. It was the end-of-the-year meeting of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce! . . . Mrs. Mon-

THE GIRL IN THE GILDED CAGE—She is really encased in a fabulous jewel, a diamond-studded helmet valued at nearly $500,000. The face and the fortune appear on the cover of Vogue's December issue. The helmet was designed by Elizabeth Arden's talented young make-up man, Pablo; it was executed by diamond-dealer Harry Winston, and photographed by the great camera-artist, Irving Penn. There are 406 diamonds studding the lacy gilt helmet shaped like a pineapple. Lord Snowdon's photographic essay on the swans of England is also featured in this issue as well as a collection of green flowers and herb trees that grow almost year 'round in our own Virginia. EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Security - At Home And Away

A man's home is supposed to be his castle, however, criminals often ignore the old axiom. For instance, in 1964, according to an FBI report, there were 481 cases of burglary and breaking and entering in the City of Virginia Beach. In addition, there were 536 cases of grand larceny recorded, and 132 cases of auto theft. We do not suggest that all of these incidents could have been prevented, but we do suggest that a great deal of them could have been avoided, if our citizens and visitors had not been so complacent, and had not thought, "It can't happen to me."

Most people are basically trustworthy. This is certainly a good thing, or the figures stated above would be much higher. But the average person gives too many opportunities to the criminal, without thinking of the consequences. People everywhere should make their homes secure, and not offer the opportunity to the criminal. Unfortunately there are those in this world who attempt to make their living by dishonest means. Many are apprehended. Many are not. The tragic aspect is that we often make it too easy for the criminal to operate. Most of the ways to prevent a home from being broken into fall into a category of simple common sense.

Too often, occupants of homes leave the doors and windows unlocked, whether they are there or not. Since we cannot trust everyone, it behooves us all to make sure that our homes are secure. Do not leave doors unlocked at any time. Always lock windows when not in use, especially ground floor windows, and those that are easily accessible. Police officials tell us that in many cases of breaking and entering in a neighborhood home, they look for evidence of someone who had been seen in the area often trying to establish the time and method of break-in. They tell us that this type of criminal seeks to discover the pattern of the residents and to find the weak spot for entry into the home. Since we know we cannot trust everyone, it is up to all of us to make our homes as invulnerable as possible, and not offer an easy mark for the potential criminal. A lock on a door or window is nothing more than a deterrent, and any lock can be opened by the expert in a short time, but the time necessary to break or pick a lock is important to the potential house-breaker. He cannot afford that extra time on the outside of a building when he might be noticed or heard. The simple lock then is important.

By the same token, automobiles are an easy target, if they are left unlocked. The type of lock used on automobiles is the most difficult to open, and again the criminal cannot afford to be seen or heard trying to get the car open, either by forcing a lock or by breaking the window glass. Too many people leave keys in the ignition, both at home and in shopping areas. The car thief is looking for this type of vehicle. It is easy to steal. Leaving valuables or even something not too valuable in an automobile is also a dangerous practice. Anything that can be seen on the seat or in the floor whets the appetite of the car thief. Another dangerous practice concerning automobiles is often responsible for crime. Especially at night, and in lonely places, drivers should keep the windows up and the car doors locked. There are those criminals who wait silently and unseen at a stoplight for someone to come along and stop for the light. They then open the door and jump in the car, with robbery or worse in mind.

At home, we suggest certain rules. Keep all doors and windows locked, and keep the home area well lighted, especially when one person is home alone. Make sure that forcible entry to a home will be as difficult as possible. Report to the police any suspicious persons seen in the neighborhood repeatedly.

In an automobile, keep windows up and doors locked, especially at night. Do not pick up hitchhikers. Beware of anything suspicious in a lonely spot. Keep car locked while not in use, and leave nothing valuable in a car, especially where it can be seen.

We do not promise that these measures will reduce the number of crimes committed, but we do believe these measures are in the best interest of our citizens. We do not call Virginia Beach a city of crime, but we wish to make it as difficult as possible for the criminal to operate here. It is much easier to prevent a crime than to apprehend the criminal after a crime has been committed, resulting in loss, injury or even death.

Industry For The Future

Ever since we came to Virginia Beach some months ago, we have repeated over and over our cry for cooperation of all communities in this vast city, so that the city of the future will be important, not only as a resort area but also industrially and commercially. It is rewarding at this time to take a long look at what is going on now and see the beginnings of a major city take shape.

More and more each day we feel that the residents of all of Virginia Beach are pulling together, and not being interested only in their individual areas. It is indeed gratifying to see this, considering the short period of time that has elapsed since Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County merged into one giant city.

Industrial development is a slow process, but within this year, much has been done, and development is gathering speed for the future. The city has been successful in luring some small industrial plants to Virginia Beach. We welcome them and hope for more. We can now see concrete evidence of progress as two relatively small industrial parks in Virginia Beach are finally underway.

Commercially, things are looking up. Rembrandt Shopping Center will be open in 1966, providing many new jobs for many new residents. And there are plans for commercial development of other areas, as well, including the ready-to-be-developed Hilltop area.

New homes are still springing up in Virginia Beach at a rapid pace. Our economy has never been better. One thousand new residents move to Virginia Beach each month.

We feel that we have much to offer industry. We have a good location geographically. There are locations on the water as well as on the railroad. Labor is plentiful and the taxes are relatively low. Too long this area has needed industry, but has not had enough of it. Now real efforts by qualified persons are being made to attract industry to Virginia Beach and to the entire Tidewater complex. It must be remembered that a new industry that opens anywhere in Tidewater is bound to have an affect on the entire area, and to the economy of the entire area.

We are quite satisfied with the industrial progress made so far, and we feel certain that more is on the way. We shout the praises of our city quite openly, and we know it is on the way to becoming one of the major cities on the East Coast.

ALL WRAPPED IN A PRETTY RIBBON!

BAYSIDE LIONS HEAR FORTSON

BAYSIDE—The Bayside Lions Club met Wednesday night at 7:00 p.m. at Shore Drive Inn with Howard Pauley, president, presiding. Guest speaker was Comdr. Thomas Fortson, USN, Commanding Officer of the U.S.S. Ricketts. The Ricketts was manned with men from the NATO countries and designated MLF.

The MLF was an idea of the late President John F. Kennedy. It is an experiment designed for a two year period, which has now come to an end; the purpose of which is to see how well the men of different nationalities work together under one command. According to Comdr. Fortson, the Ricketts recently participated in maneuvers with the Sixth Fleet and the operation was "Highly successful."

When the program started, seven NATO nations were represented—Germany, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Turkey, United Kingdom and the United States. However, last year, due to the government policy the Turks withdrew their men who were replaced with U.S. seamen.

Comdr. Fortson illustrated his talk with slides, showing the make-up of the ship: roughly 50% Americans and 50% other nations. He told about various problems which had to be overcome for a successful operation. He said, "The discipline problem was never serious. Because of the pride that the men took in being chosen for this experiment." "The food problem was not serious because the ship carried all sorts of food that the different nationalities were used to." "The difference in pay was no problem. It was worked out by the various navies." When Fortson was asked by the club members, "Which made the best seaman?" his reply was, "Each country produced efficient men."

The U.S.S. Ricketts is a Destroyer priced at $30,000,000. Comdr. Fortson said, "Being in command of a ship with a mixed crew, until the men became accustomed to it, proved to be quite a long day filled with mixed emotions, but the overall picture was a very gratifying experience and highly successful."

Dewey Simmons, second vice president of the Lions Club and chairman of the recently held "Turkey Shoot," reported it was a great success with 135 shoots taking place. The net profit has not yet been arrived at but the gross over all was more than $1,800.00. The club will use a substantial amount of the profits for charitable activities, including the forthcoming "Bayside Joy Fund."

CONVENTION HERE NEXT YEAR

VIRGINIA BEACH—Civic Center Director, Samuel W. Scott, Jr. has announced that, at their recent meeting in Richmond, the Virginia Baptist General Association Meeting selected Virginia Beach for their 1966 Annual Convention, to be held November 14-17. This will bring approximately 1,000-1,200 visitors to Virginia Beach on the above dates. Scott also announced that the Virginia Real Estate Examination will be held at the Civic Center on January 12-13, 1966.

SHINDIG AND DANCE

LYNNHAVEN—A Shindig Dance for the teen-agers will be held Friday, Dec. 3, at the Sestack Community Center from 9 p.m. till midnight. Music will be furnished by the Little Brother Combo. Admission is 75c and proceeds will be for the benefit of the Center for furnishings. On Saturday, Dec. 4, an all day dinner will be at the Center. On the menu are chicken, barbecue, greens, yams, potato salad, hot rolls and cornbread. Price will be $1 a plate.

DINNER-PLANNED

VIRGINIA BEACH—The annual dinner meeting and installation of officers of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, Dec. 14, at the Cavalier Hotel, with social hour at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:15 p.m. Charles McCullers, noted humor speaker from Dunn, N.C. will speak at the dinner. Tickets are $4.50 per person and are available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

NEW DEMO CLUB FORMED

VIRGINIA BEACH—Another new Democratic Club has been formed in Virginia Beach, this one to be known as Men's Democratic Club of Virginia Beach. About twenty persons attended the initial organizational meeting. Reportedly the new group will be a luncheon club, holding regular meetings.

Elected President was Elmer Tarrall. Other officers are: Frank Dickerson, Vice-president; Eugene Godfrey, treasurer; and Richard Absolon, secretary. According to club members, the objectives of the new club are to promote good Virginia government first, and the Democratic party, second.

Discussed at the meeting was the deadline for paying poll taxes in the near future. By-laws are now being prepared for adoption at the next meeting, the time and place of which will be announced at a later date.

Prize Offered

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Innkeepers of Virginia Beach are interested in efforts to make the city more attractive, not only during the tourist season, but throughout the year.

At a recent meeting of the Innkeepers, it was voted to sponsor a Christmas Decoration Contest and make a $25.00 award to the most attractively decorated commercial establishment. The selection will be made by a committee appointed by the president, Scott Sterling, and the winner will be announced December 17th.

Everyone in the City of Virginia Beach is invited to participate. Contact Mrs. George Leary, 428-8902, Mrs. George Davis, 428-9021, or Mrs. Addie Sykes, 428-6713 for further information.

NOTICE

The Small Business Administration Regional Office in Richmond, Virginia, plans to have representatives at the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, Virginia Beach, Virginia on December 7th between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. The Chamber of Commerce will make appointments in advance for small businessmen to discuss SBA's Financial and Management Assistance programs. Free business counseling is offered to the small businessman and there will be a special representative present to discuss SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) Program, and will register volunteers in the local area.

COUNCIL SEEKS CHANGE

VIRGINIA BEACH—Council is considering a change in the City Charter which would create two new positions on the School board. The change, if approved by the General Assembly, could possibly make way for the appointment of the first negro to be appointed to a major position on any city commission or board.

The change in charter would decrease the number of members on the school board to seven, one from each borough. There are presently 11 members on the board—five from Virginia Beach Borough and one from each of the other six boroughs.

SIX INJURED

VIRGINIA BEACH—A two-car accident on Virginia Beach Boulevard last Wednesday night sent one woman to the hospital and slightly injured five other persons. The accident occurred at Malibu Drive on the Boulevard about 6:15 p.m. Police said Mrs. Frances Bowden of the 5600 block of Woodgreen Road was taken to Virginia Beach General Hospital with severe cuts on her face and head.

The woman was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Richard M. Bowden, 46, when it collided with another vehicle, police said. The second car was driven by Coteney Butts, 45, of the 2700 block of Princess Anne Road, according to police.

Patrolman L. L. Thompson said Bowden, Butts, and three passengers in Butts' car were treated for minor injuries at Virginia Beach General and were later released that night. Thompson said Bowden was headed west on Virginia Beach Boulevard when Butts made a left turn and attempted to enter the westbound lane from the feeder road. Bowden's car left approximately 52 feet of skid marks before hitting Butts' car near the left rear door, he said.

JOHNSON TO ATTEND SAFETY MEETING

RICHMOND—The 16th annual meeting of the Virginia Association of Traffic Safety Inventory Representatives to be held December 8, 1965, at 10:30 a.m. at the Hotel Jefferson in Richmond, is expected to attract more than 100 officials who are working to improve the records of 80 Virginia municipalities, George T. Eaden, Chief of Police, Salem, and Association President, announced today. The Association includes municipal officers who have been selected to coordinate the preparations of the official traffic safety inventories of the National Safety Council and the American Automobile Association. These inventories cover all phases of traffic safety and are given careful analysis by both organizations. Emphasis is upon levels reached in comparison with those of cities throughout the nation having corresponding populations. The Council uses ten population groups in its assessments while the AAA uses eight. Both organizations report the results locally to city officials to give full knowledge of the relative strengths and weaknesses of their communities. The session will feature Tony Schmitz, Consultant in Public Administration, International Association of Chiefs of Police, Inc., Robert L. Peters, Field Director for the Council, Richard Whelan for the Council, Richard Whelan of the Council, and Sam Yelach, Jr., Manager, Pedestrian and School Safety of the AAA's Pedestrian Protection Program. These officials will be prepared to answer any questions concerning all phases of the inventories. The Association is the only organization of its kind in the Nation. Its activities are coordinated through the Governor's Highway Safety Committee. Virginia Beach Bureau of Safety's head, Chief Reeves Johnson, will attend the meeting.

REPORT SHOWS PROGRESS

RICHMOND—The State Highway Commission said in its annual report that the 1964-65 fiscal year "was one of the most significant in history" for Virginia's highway program. Commission members said that extensive progress had been made on interstate construction and in getting started on development of the arterial network, the latter authorized by the 1964 General Assembly. The network, within the state's primary system, is being financed by new motorist tax revenues and by regular primary funds. While some sections of arterial roads are being built on new locations, the network is being developed chiefly by constructing new two-lane roadways parallel to existing ones. Some 400 miles of the 1,738-mile network are now up to arterial standards as multi-lane, divided highways. "For the first fiscal year of the new program, $39,949,000 was allocated specifically for arterial work. The amount actually put under contract totaled $47,640,000 including some previous allocations to these highways," the Commission said.

The annual report contained a letter of transmittal to Governor Albert S. Harrison, Jr., and in 1964 General Assembly had called for completion of the arterial development by 1970. "We are most anxious to meet that goal, but as we have already reported to you and to members of the Legislature, additional funds must be provided if we are to do so," the Commission said. This was a reference to the Commission's 1966-75 improvement program report, issued in July, which said that basic improvements on Virginia's road systems will require $329 million more during the nine-year period than the $2.6 billion expected to be available from existing revenue sources.

The July report told of growing traffic demands, and proposed improvements on the State's primary, secondary and urban roads, as well as continued development of the interstate and arterial programs. "Today, in its newly issued annual report, the Commission said that work moved ahead rapidly in the past year on Virginia's interstate highways. When the fiscal year ended June 30, more than 370 miles of the 1,000-mile system were completed and in use. Recent completions have increased this total to about 485 miles. The 1964-65 report also outlined accomplishments during the past 13 months toward improving other primary, urban and secondary roads, in planning and research, and outlined activities of the Highway Department's 18 engineering and administrative divisions.

C.C.C. ORDERS FIVE BUSES

VIRGINIA BEACH—Continental Trailways has ordered five new suburban-design, air-conditioned buses for its main routes in Virginia Beach for the spring of 1966. The order was disclosed Monday, shortly after a City Council public hearing on an application by Trailways for a permit to operate a permanent system of passenger routes in Virginia Beach. Aaron Cruise, assistant traffic manager for Trailways, based in Raleigh, N.C., said the new buses will be delivered some time in March or April. Carolina Coach Co. (Trailways) has been operating some of the routes, temporarily, since 1963. The permit approved by council does not alter present routes and gives Trailways exclusive rights to one route through Aragona Village. It also gives the company exclusive rights to routes which serve Virginia Beach General Hospital and between Virginia Beach Boulevard and Knotts Island, N.C. The permit does not alter the present rates either. Cruise said the new coaches will be used on the route that connects Virginia Beach with Norfolk. No people from the general public attended the brief hearing.

VETERANS WILL RECEIVE MORE COMPENSATION PAY

BOANOCHE — More than $1.8 billion in increased compensation payments was signed into law October 21 by President Johnson who said, "The Nation has no greater obligation than to do its duty to those nearly two million Americans who have been maimed in mind or body while in the service of their country."

The increase in payments will go into effect on December 1, 1965, and will appear first in the compensation checks to be mailed at the close of that month. This is the second increase in compensation payments in three years. In 1962 the increase totaled approximately $129 million.

The present increase is expected to total $176 million annually and will go to almost two million veterans. Individual increases will range from $1 a month for those veterans adjudged to be ten percent disabled to $60 a month for those who are classified 100 per cent disabled.

Even more substantial increases are provided under the new law for more seriously disabled veterans (for example, those suffering multiple amputations, etc.) whose monthly compensation payment may total more than $200.

For veterans whose disabilities exceed 50 per cent, the law also provides increases of approximately 50 per cent in the additional allowances provided because of dependents.

Other changes affecting dependents that are brought about by the bill increase from 21 to 23 years the age limit of a child attending school on whose behalf a dependency allowance may be paid. The additional allowance payable to the veteran-parent for these school children has been increased to a monthly maximum of $40.

The new law also removes the age requirement for Medal of Honor winners who may seek the established $100 a month payment.

Birdneck Point Garden Club

LYNNHAVEN — Thanksgiving and harvest-time were in the air when Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, along with Mrs. R. O. Davis, Mrs. G. A. Shroy and Mrs. C. B. Arrington were hostesses to the Birdneck Point Garden Club at a recent luncheon meeting.

Guests were the hostess' mother, Mrs. Archibald, and Mrs. Viner from Bay Colony. New members welcomed were Mrs. J. R. Braun and Mrs. A. G. House. Slides of azaleas and camellias in the Botanical Gardens were shown by O. C. Barnes, superintendent of Norfolk City Park. His answers to many queries from the members were invaluable.

Plans were completed for the Christmas Party to be held at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club on December 21. Prior to meeting at the Club House at 12:30 p.m., the members and guests will visit several homes of members who will display holiday decorations. The visitation will begin at 11 a.m.

The date for the club's big charity fund raising effort—a dessert fashion show card party—was set by the overall chairman, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Arrington. It will be at the Cavalier Hotel on Wednesday, February 16, 1966.

The judges were faced with some professional-looking "harvest time" arrangements—several "as you like it" designs and outstanding specimens of horticulture. Winning ribbons were Mrs. V. A. Lascara, Mrs. J. A. Eady, Mrs. P. T. Gallup, Mrs. W. R. Mowen Jr., Mrs. R. S. Knight, Mrs. Leon Johnson, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. G. C. Davis Jr., and Mrs. J. C. Feats, Jr.

DEMOCRATIC WC

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Democratic Woman's Club will hold its Christmas Party and luncheon at noon in the Princess Anne Country Club on Tuesday, Dec. 7, Mrs. Everett Wilson, president, has announced.

Readings will be given by Mrs. George Wadsworth, former election teacher at Maury High School, and the Madrigal Singers from Princess Anne High School will sing seasonal selections.

McGINNIS RETIRES AFTER 30 YEARS

FT. STORY — Chief Warrant Officer Harry R. McGinnis, personnel officer and assistant adjutant for Ft. Story, Va., retired Nov. 30 after completing 30 years of active military service.

CWO McGinnis entered the Army in January 1935, completing artillery training at Ft. Monroe, Va., subsequently serving Hawaii, and seeing action in the Pacific Theater of Operations during WWII.

With the onset of the Korean conflict, he transferred to the 160th Infantry and served in Korea during 1950. He was administrative assistant to the Secretary of the Joint Staff United Nations, Far East Command in Japan from 1951 until 1954. Later he was transferred to the operations and training section of Environmental Army Command, Ft. Monroe.

After a tour of duty in France, CWO McGinnis was assigned to the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., where he was officer in charge of student services. Following a second tour in Korea in 1953-54, CWO McGinnis reported to Ft. Story. He is a native of the Norfolk area.

FLIERS LOST

AT SEA — The Navy reported Monday that two Navy fliers were lost from the carrier Forrestal in the Mediterranean Friday night. The Navy identified the two as LCDR. John Phillip Manfredi of Virginia Beach, and ENS. John E. Lee of Wilmington, Del.

Manfredi was the pilot of the Phantom II jet fighter and Lee was the plane's radar observer. The jet reportedly crashed at sea during night-flying operations, according to naval officials. An intensive search by ships, planes, and helicopters failed to locate any debris or bodies.

Both men were members of Fighter Squadron 74.

Kings Grant Garden Club

LYNNHAVEN—"Harvest Time" was the theme of the November meeting of the King's Grant Garden Club held recently at the home of Mrs. R. C. Kirkpatrick Jr., hostess for the occasion.

Thanksgiving table arrangements, using fruits and vegetables, were judged with ribbons being awarded to Mrs. H. L. Mair, Mrs. W. L. Moss, and Mrs. J. D. Lowin. C. J. Hayes of Cavalier Nursery demonstrated the proper technique for pruning shrubs and trees applicable to one's own yard. Members and their husbands will attend a Christmas social during the holiday season.

Home For The Holidays

LYNNHAVEN — Everyone will want to go home for Christmas—and the Lynnhaven Colony Garden Club invites all to come "Home for the Holidays" at 2973 Lynnhaven drive. The members are decorating the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Caverly in the traditional Christmas fashion and in keeping with their modified Early American decor.

Holiday house will be open to the public from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, December 10.

This is the fourth year the club has decorated a home for the Christmas holidays and they look forward to the annual event which exhibits various methods of decorating for the holidays.

Proceeds will be used for civic beautification. Mrs. DeForrest Lilly, president of the club, has announced, "A door prize will be awarded a lucky ticket holder."

ALANTON GC

LYNNHAVEN — At the November meeting of the Alanton Garden Club held recently at the Bay Harbour Club, a living memorial was voted unanimously in memory of one of its former members, Mrs. Virginia Doyle, in the form of a donation toward the planting of crepe myrtle trees close to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach on First Colonial Road.

Mrs. L. O. Clark Jr. gave a lecture and demonstration on the making of Della Robbia wreaths. She had on display many of her unique and beautiful wreaths. A question and answer period followed.

Awards for arrangement went to Mrs. George Altheide, Mrs. M. F. Camp and Mrs. Henry Folk. Awards in horticulture went to Mrs. J. N. Albro, Mrs. J. M. Bloom, Mrs. Wayne Daring, Mrs. C. T. Deary, Mrs. Alexander Dungan, Mrs. Folk, Mrs. E. M. Harrell, Mrs. J. R. McGuire and Mrs. H. S. Whitehurst. Mrs. Robert O. McGrath of the Bay Shore Garden Club and Mrs. G. L. Tibbrot of the Cavalier Garden Club were the judges.

Virginia Beach Then

This is a picture of the original "Norwegian Lady" taken sometime before World War Two. This statue was the original figurehead from the Norwegian sailing ship "Diktator" out of Moss, Norway, which sank off Virginia Beach in the late 1800's. It was placed at the oceanfront on 25th Street in memory of those who lost their lives in the disaster.

And Now

The "new" statue of the "Norwegian Lady" was presented to the city of Virginia Beach by the citizens of Moss, Norway for the kindness they showed in helping the survivors of the disaster. The statue was put in place several years ago and the old wooden figurehead taken down. Since then the old statue has become a landmark. Nobody remembers exactly what became of it. Some believe it was destroyed while others believe it was salvaged after the disaster and forgotten about. An intermediary statue was placed on the site while the present statue was being cast.

HEARTS AND HUNTING

NORFOLK — Hunting season is here again, but with a little bit of forethought, it need not be open season on hunters.

Among the hazards of hunting is accidental death from a gunshot—one's own gun, or that of another hunter. Not so dramatic, but at least three times as prevalent, is the tragedy of heart attack deaths.

Unlike the deer, who can only try to outrun their stalkers, hunters can take certain precautions to avoid falling prey to the risks of the hunt. Here are some recommendations from Tidewater Heart Association to help bring hunters back alive.

First off, ask yourself this question: Do I have the heart to hunt? It's not sentiment or ethics we're concerned about here, but the condition of your heart.

Deer hunting often demands a level of energy output which may be triple or quadruple the level at which most part-time hunters operate during the rest of the year. Extremes of weather, change of altitude, rough terrain and the stress of the chase can levy a heavy tax on the heart's capacity.

In a unique series of experiments, the Minnesota Heart Association recently measured the heart stress on a deer hunter "who not only gets his deer but who drags it out of snowy woods single-handed." It was too much, they found, for 11 percent of a pre-screened group of men over 40 who had no evidence of heart trouble. The men who underwent the tests had previously been examined and found to have apparently normal hearts. It's obvious, therefore, that the hazards to an unexamined cross-section of hunters over 40 would be higher.

Accordingly, the most important word from Tidewater Heart Association is:

Have a complete physical examination before you plan your hunting trip. Then your doctor can, if necessary, suggest ways in which you can pace yourself, get your deer and at the same time minimize the strains on your heart.

And for all hunters, Tidewater Heart Association has this advice:

● Condition yourself as for any unusual physical exertion, with an increasing schedule of exercise in preparation for the big event;

● Choose lightweight but warm clothing to lighten the load on your heart;

● Know simple first-aid rules;

● Be moderate in eating and drinking;

● Observe the standard safety rules for handling firearms.

Remember: the biggest game is getting back in good shape. If you take as good care of yourself as you do of your gear, you can enjoy hunting for many seasons to come.

Top Race Films Featured

NORFOLK — A. J. Foyt and Marvin Panich, co-winners of the 1965 Atlanta 500; Jim Clark, winner of the 1965 Indianapolis 500; and Ned Jarrett, winner of the 1965 Southern 500 are the stars featured in the Suburban Kiwanis Club sponsored 1965 Championship Racing Film Shows.

The shows are scheduled for the Norview High School auditorium, Saturday and Sunday nights, December 4 and 5, at 7:30 and 9 p.m. each night.

All three films, the '65 Atlanta 500, Indianapolis 500, and the famed Southern 500 are in sound and color.

Advance tickets at $1.00 are currently on sale in Norfolk at Ingram's, 3416 N. Military Highway; The Chuck Wagon, 809 Military Highway; Phillips Oids, 931 East Little Creek Rd.; Green-Gifford, 236 East Little Creek Rd.; Sonny's, 2222 East Little Creek Rd.; Park Ave. Garage, Corner Park Ave. and Virginia Beach Blvd.; in Chesapeake at Pete's Drive-In, 1222 Bainbridge Blvd.; and from members of the Suburban Kiwanis Club.

Door admission on December 4 and 5 has been set at $1.50. All service men in uniform will be admitted for $1.00.

NNSA To Hold Meeting Dec. 8

LITTLE CREEK — The Norfolk Naval Sailing Association (NNSA) will hold its annual meeting December 8, 1965 at the U. S. Naval Amphibious School starting at 7:30 p.m.

All members and interested persons are invited to attend. The main agenda items will be the election of officers for 1966 and a review of the association's constitution and by-laws.

Since the association's beginning in 1963 the membership has grown to 645 with over 40 per cent being U. S. Navy enlisted personnel. Membership is open to all active duty uniformed personnel, all retired personnel (as defined in the Armed Forces Exchange Regulations) and officers and enlisted personnel of Allied Armed Services. Dependents of regular members are automatically "associate" members.

NNSA objectives range from the encouragement of recreational boating to the formation of a national association and is unique in having the lowest membership dues of any similar organization in the world: twenty-five cents a year!

The association is comprised of three squadrons: Sailing, Power Boat and Water Skiing. Members are entitled to participate in activities conducted by all of the squadrons.

There are 15 sail boats in the Association for members to use provided they have passed a written and afloat test given by the Sailing Squadron. Classes on sail boat handling are conducted by squadron members at no cost. A schedule will soon be available.

The Power Boat Squadron is for boat owners. Members get together for boating excursions and outdoor activities and are entitled to yacht club privileges.

The Water Skiing Squadron provides free instructions and use of ski equipment for association members. If desired, members may also affiliate with the American Water Ski Association.

Application blanks and additional information are available by writing to the Public Information Office, U.S. Naval Amphibious School, Little Creek, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Kiwanis Cruise

Members of the Virginia Beach Kiwanis Club went to sea on the submarine USS Requin (SS-381) Nov. 19 for an all-day cruise. The trip, arranged by program chairman Tom Falley, included three dives and lots of good Navy chow. The cruise began at 8 a.m. and ended at 4:30 p.m. Pictured left to right are: Capt. P. P. Cole, Commanding Officer, Submarine Squadron 6; Dave Miller, Don Mahure, Sen. William Hodges, Bruce Parriette, Les Lam, Glen Davis Tom Couch, Pie Garrison, Dick Cobick, Charles King, Tom Falley, Ed Nixon, Henry Jaffe, Joe Lagiglia, Morris Long, and LCDR. W. R. Kierman, skipper of the Requin. Those missing from the picture, but who went on the cruise are: Sen. William Kellam, Elmer Farrall, Jim Moody and Jim Hall.

COLTS WIN

A four-team, 8-man Football League was formed at Thoroughgood Elementary School under the sponsorship of the City's After-school Playground program. Members of the league were restricted to children attending Thoroughgood School. Winning the league championships were the Colts.

Members of the Colts team were: Addustus Dally (RH); Jim Morrisette (QB); Ron Miller (E); Calvin Crouch (C); G. T. Hawkins (FB); Steve Rosenstock (LB); Mike Armstrong (G); Kevin Gorman (E); Berkley Bannerman (E) and Pete Graham (G).

The highest scorer and captain was Jim Morrisette with 71 pts. The Colts league record was 8 wins—1 loss.

The teams are divided in early September and they remain intact for the entire school year. When one sport season is ended these teams form another sport league and compete for that season. At the end of the year an award is given to the team that accumulates the most points in all sports.

HUNTING DO'S DRAGS SUNDAY AND DON'TS

RICHMOND—Law Enforcement Chief John H. McLaughlin of the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries listed the following rules for hunters which will help them to avoid the most common violations while afield.

Always check your hunting license to see that it is valid for the current hunting season and be sure you have it with you while afield. If you hunt big game be sure you have a deer, bear and turkey license. If you hunt on national forest lands you must have a national forest stamp and if you hunt on state forests you must always have a state forest stamp.

Damage stamps are required for hunting on all public and private lands in certain counties. They are available from county court clerks of those counties in which they are required.

Never hunt on private property without permission regardless of whether it is posted or not. Trespass is the most prevalent violation during the hunting season.

CREEDS — THE VIRGINIA BEACH DRAGWAY IS RETURNING TO SUNDAY AFTERNOON DRAGGING AS OF THIS SUNDAY.

Track promoter Jack DeLong said the track will feature a stock-gas run this weekend.

DeLong said the gates to the track will open at 12 noon and competition will get underway at 3 p.m.

The drag strip will return to its regular Saturday night runs sometime next spring.

Be sure that your shotgun is plugged so that it will hold no more than 3 shells in magazine and chamber combined. Shotguns which will hold more than 3 shells cannot be used for hunting.

Don't shoot from any vehicle or within 100 yards of any road or street.

Don't hunt on Sunday anywhere in Virginia.

Don't continue to hunt any species of game after the daily bag limit for that species has been obtained.

Respect the wishes of landowners, since your hunting opportunity depends upon their good will.

CITY WIDE TOURNAMENTS

VIRGINIA BEACH — On Saturday morning, Dec. 4th, beginning at 9:00 a.m. the Secondary Schools City Fall Physical Education Tournaments will be held. There will be a total of nine different tournaments starting at the same time and conducted at four school sites in the City.

These tournaments are the culmination of the Secondary Schools' Fall grade level physical education activity blocks or units which are conducted for nine weeks. These units consist of 4 1/2 weeks of fundamental skill acquisition plus knowledge of rules and strategy of the unit. Then for the next 4 1/2 weeks, these knowledges are put to practice in the form of class time competition using a round robin type tournament to declare the class champion. The various class champions meet after school to decide the grade level champion. An All Star Squad is chosen from participants of the after school tournaments to represent each school in the City Wide Tournaments.

8th Grade Boys Soccer will be played at Kempville Elementary School; 6th Grade Girls Soccer will be held at the Kempville Jr. H.S.; 9th Grade Boys and Girls Speedball will be "run off" at Kellam H.S.; and 10th Grade Boys' Football, and 11-12th grade Touch Football will be eliminated at Princess Anne H.S. 10, 11 and 12th grade Field Hockey will be held at Cox H.S. with the Tennis eliminations at Bayside H.S.

The Physical Education staffs at the tournament sites are responsible for conducting respective eliminations. Last year over 300 High School students were participants in the City Wide Tournaments.

PERSONAL

Paula Peel Scarborough, daughter of Mrs. James A. Cottingham of 1808 Arctic Avenue, has been tapped for Pi Gamma Mu (National Social Science Honorary Society) at Mary Washington College where she is a freshman counselor. She is a graduate of Virginia Beach High School.

Pocahontas Village GC

KEMPSVILLE — The November meeting of the Pocahontas Village Garden Club was held recently at the home of Mrs. J. E. Davis with Mrs. J. D. McLeod serving as co-hostess.

Modern trends in arrangements were demonstrated by Mrs. Merwyn Keller.

A trepe myrtle tree will be donated for the Crepe Myrtle Memorial Highway in honor of Mrs. C. R. Tucker, past president of the club.

Guests welcomed at the meeting were Mrs. Carol McGinness and Mrs. Jackie Lewis.

Judges from the Hunt Country Club awarded blue ribbons to Mrs. Daphne Furten, Mrs. Andrew Johnson, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Miles Kesbaugh.

Star Of The Sea Woman's Club

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Women's Club of Star of the Sea parish wish to spread the custom of the Advent Wreath. They have prepared illustrated directions for the making of the wreath and for the family devotions through Advent, Christmas, and Epiphany.

The instructions are offered to any club wishing to make use of them as it is a non-sectarian devotion. Non-catholic friends are welcome to use them also.

A Christmas Party will be held with the Men's Club on December 14. The ladies and gentlemen are doing the decorating and catering and they plan a very festive booth to which all prospective members of both clubs are invited.

A money tree will benefit St. Mary's Infant Home.

BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Harris Jr. of Virginia Beach announce the birth of their first child, a son, Michael Thomas, on Nov. 23 in the General Hospital of Virginia Beach. Mrs. Harris is the former Miss Linda Ruth Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Felton Clark of Virginia Beach. Mr. Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Harris of Norfolk.

antique gifle lens. ... Oh, yes! The ANIKA mohair and wool shifts and skimmers in the brightest and palest colors for dressy high school events or college after-five parties are simply elegant and elegantly simple. So have you have our winter's report. ... When we visited The Clothing Chest, attractive young Bob Murray was very man for Christmas. The "very newest" are the gold and sand cotton suede levis, long and lean looking and really handsome. A British topcoat, in brown and still larger hound's tooth plaid, with above-the-knee length by Lakeland is new, too. Another neat one was the Hester Leather jacket, waist length or car coat style, in chestnut brown with a heavy fleece lining. "Our best seller," said handsome Bob, "is the new Western Look in suede leather, leather wear with a flare, you know!"

Cape Henry Woman's Club

VIRGINIA BEACH - Mrs. B. Noel Fallwell presided at the recent meeting of the Cape Henry Woman's Club held at the Princess Anne Country Club. Hostesses were Mrs. Roy DeHart and Mrs. Ralph DeMerce.

All members sang the Virginia State Federation song led by Mrs. Arthur James, Mrs. E. W. Leasard and Mrs. Gilbert Keene, and accompanied by Mrs. K. L. J. Mrs. Clyde Whitehead, veteran's chairman, presented the guest speaker, Les Lam, past commander of the American Legion, who spoke on the veterans' program both during and after a war.

Miss Malinda Garrett, who was sponsored to Girls' State by the club last summer, gave the members an account of her week there.

All that glitters is not gold... and every potato round in the sack is not always a spud! Examine picture above... can you tell which is the real potato? Had heard of folks finding rocks in the bagged potatoes; and, unfortunately, it seems to be true. Your writer's teenage daughter, whose chore's include getting supper started, found it impossible to peel the one on the left...

A very efficient housewife who usually gets up early and upon whom her son and husband depend to get them going at the proper time, thought she overslept one morning recently. She hurriedly roused the menfolk, and while she was preparing breakfast, she asked the son to get the morning paper. He went out the front door but came back in with a bewildered look. "There no newspaper yet," he said, "sure is dark out there." And at that they all looked at the clock. What was supposed to be 6:15, was in reality 3:30 a.m.!

Happy Hanukkah!
Among the most popular festivals in the Jewish religious calendar is Hanukkah and it ranks second only to Passover in historical significance. This festival of liberation celebrates the routing of the armies of the despot Antiochus by Judah Maccabee and his followers. When they entered Jerusalem and found the Temple profaned and half ruined, they cleared the courts of all debris and the Jews purified the sanctuary on the 25th day of Kislev, Judah rededicated the Temple on Mount Zion, lighted the great menorah, offered incense on the golden altar, and brought burnt-offerings to the altar of sacrifices.

In commemoration, Judah decreed that on the same day every year until the end of time, the Jews were to celebrate Hanukkah for 8 days. Lights are kindled nightly during this period as soon as the first stars appear, and a new light is added to the others each night of the festival. Thus Hanukkah is known as the Festival of Lights.
The Hanukkah lamp is a 9-branched menorah—one representing each of the 8 days of the festival. The ninth serves as the shamash, the "servant" or pilot light from whose flame the other candles are all lighted.

Your writer found this interesting information in the December issue of the American Home magazine and thought that during this happy holiday season our many Jewish friends would like sharing this knowledge with those celebrating Christmas.

Both holidays have religious significance as well as historical background and it is a happy time of year when brotherhood and the exchange of ideas should be shared and enjoyed by all.

Four Santa's
Many children who visited the Princess Anne Plaza shopping center one night this week were very distressed to find their Santa locked out of his house. There he stood walking up and down talking to the children and trying to keep warm. His house was brightly decorated and looked so inviting... but someone had forgotten to give Santa a key!

City Announces New Program

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Department of Parks and Recreation announces the new activity center at 4400 Nike Site Road will be open tonight, December 2nd from 7:30 till 9:30 p.m. for organization of chess and checker clubs on a city wide basis. Interested residents of Virginia Beach are invited to attend and participate in games on a regularly scheduled program through the winter months.

In Viet Nam

VIRGINIA BEACH — Army sergeant Ben W. Forbes, son of Minnie White Forbes of 130 South Budding Avenue, is stationed in Viet Nam where he is assigned to the medical corps.
It is expected he will serve a year of duty in Viet Nam.

Prize Presented

Lynne Raye Bass, a senior at Cox High School, received her Dodge Dart convertible from William Thompson, president of Cox's Motor Company, as part of her prize won at Palisades Park in New Jersey last September, when she was crowned "Miss American Teen-Ager." Mayor Frank Dusch plus the carriage as a special gesture from her city. She will leave December 29 for Hollywood where she will appear in the filming of the "Dr. Kildare" TV series. She will also be in the "Miss World" Parade. A farewell celebration is being planned by the City of Virginia Beach for her arrival in Hollywood. (staff photo by Padrick).

154 Projects Have Been Scheduled In Early 1966

RICHMOND — A total of 154 projects expected to cost $167,880,200 has been tentatively scheduled for contractors' bidding by the State Highway Department during the first six months of 1966.
The volume, some $11 million below the total for the comparable period of 1965, includes projects on the interstate, arterial, regular primary, urban and secondary systems.

Interstate construction projects tentatively scheduled will provide an additional work in interstate systems.

Interstate construction projects tentatively scheduled will provide an additional work in interstate systems.

At the present time, work in progress on all Virginia Road systems totals 261 projects covering nearly 624 miles and costing $244.6 million, a record high.

Tour Turns Into Reunion

N.A.S. OCEANA — What started as a tour of the Naval Air Station Oceana for the members of Father Flanagan's Boys' Town Choir turned into a reunion on Nov. 22, when the choir visited this air station.

One of the choir's former members, James Means, AQP2, serving with Oceana-based Fighter Squadron 31 (VF-31), met his former choir-mates and accompanied them on the tour for the rest of the afternoon.

Arriving for lunch at the Oceana enlisted men's mess hall, the choir and its leader, the Right Rev. Magr. Francis P. Schmitt were immediately recognized and approached by Means, who was eating his lunch at the mess hall.

Means, who sang in the choir from 1955 till 1958, said, "I joined the choir as a boy soprano, and left it as second bass. I had quite a voice change while singing for Father Schmitt."

The tour of Oceana Naval Air Station was arranged for entertainment of the choir members while they were in Virginia Beach for a concert. Following their meal and reunion with Means, the choir visited Attack Squadron 42 (VA-42) where they were introduced to the A-4 Intruder, the Navy's newest all-weather attack aircraft.

A tour of the weather facility and the air control facility was also part of the afternoon for the Boys' Town Choir. At each place they asked questions, and got answers about the Navy's role today.

The choir left Oceana at 3 p.m. to prepare for their concert at the Alan Shepard Civic Center, but the Oceana sailors were not through showing them a good time.

Attending the concert that night, three Oceana men, Robert Bellody, JO3; Garry Sherman, PHAN, and Thomas Duncan, JO2, who had been guides on the afternoon tour, obtained the permission of Magr. Schmitt, and took some of the choir members out for pizza following the performance. Between the Oceana sailors and the Boys' Town Choir members, several pizzas were fully consumed, and an hour and a half of good time was well enjoyed.

The choir left Virginia Beach the next day for other concerts on their way back to Nebraska.

TRENKLE IS ENDORSED

VIRGINIA BEACH — Martin A. Trenkle, a Republican committee member from Thalia has been endorsed to succeed Dan H. Heflin as chairman of the City Republican Committee in January.

Trenkle, a paint company employee, was endorsed by the board of directors of the local Virginia Republican Assembly, which has strong ties with the city committee.

A GOP spokesman said that Trenkle was endorsed by the assembly when it was learned he would be acceptable to many active Republicans and would take the job.

VIRGINIA BEACH SUN

MRS. ROBERT S. WAHAB, JR.

ACS Serves Many

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Robert S. Wahab, Jr., newly elected president of the Virginia Beach Unit of the American Cancer Society, would like to inform the community of the services available in this area.

The new fall program is well under way providing assistance needed for cancer patients. Dressings made by local volunteer groups, and loan closet equipment, consisting of wheel chairs, hospital beds, etc., are provided free of charge to the homebound residents of Virginia Beach. The Transportation Corps, headed by Mrs. William T. Lindemann, is a group helping those requiring treatment.

Pertinent films, both lay and professional, for organizational showing, as well as a variety of brochures on related subjects may be obtained from the office located at 908-B Laskin Road.

Anyone wishing further information may telephone 628-4151 between the hours of 10-12 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. week days.

Reporter Was Surprised

N.A.S. OCEANA — Seaman John Clark, a reporter and composer for the Naval Air Station Oceana's Jet Observer newspaper expected a routine reporting job when he was assigned to cover the arrival of Vice President Hubert Humphrey at this air station. But before the job was finished, Clark had met Mr. Humphrey and received a thank you note from him.

LA. (1g) B. E. Cone, the Oceana disbursing officer also received a letter from the Vice-President thanking him for his pencil sketch portrait which was used on the cover of the station's paper.

Vice President Humphrey came to Virginia Beach, Virginia, hometown of the Naval Air Station Oceana, to address the Virginia Municipal League. With a busy schedule, Mr. Humphrey found it convenient to fly to nearby Oceana, and ride the short distance to the resort city.

As he stepped from his plane to an awaiting car, the Vice President noticed a group of well-wishers, and stopped to greet them. Among them was Seaman-reporter John Clark.

When the Jet Observer, with Clark's article and Cone's cover was published the following week, Capt. D. C. Rumsey, II, commanding officer of the air station, sent several copies of it to the Vice President. The thank you notes were the result.

Clark, who was surprised to receive a letter from the Vice President says he plans to keep the letter, "... and someday show it to my grandchildren."

THREE GAMES ON WAVY

PORTSMOUTH — WAVY Radio (1360), will air three top-notch basketball games this next week. This is part of WAVY's program of more than 55 different basketball games during the season.

Rhonda Stoddert Crowned Jr. Miss

"Standing with reluctant feet... where the brook and river meet." — Longfellow.

Joseph T. Buck Jr., president of the Princess Anne-Joycees, presided and explained that the Junior Miss Pageant annually honors the high school senior girls and recognizes talent with furtherance of education by scholarship. The goal is the embodiment of a well-developed personality in which she physically, mentally and morally is an inspiration to other young girls; the framework is the pageantry—a selection process which provides the excitement which youth constantly seeks and which opens new horizons to girls who would not otherwise recognize their own potential; and the incentives are the scholarships which are the means towards the end of developing the whole woman.

The sixteen poised and talented young ladies who competed were Carolyn L. Annas of Princess Anne High who sang; Beth Anne Beddingfield of Kellam High performed a modern dance; Barbara Ellen Bell of Princess Anne presented an original skit describing five outfits which she made herself and climaxed with an original reading while wearing a gold and white brocade two-piece evening gown which she labeled "The Sophisticate"; Kris Fossum of Cox High rendered a piano concerto; Nancy Jane Holland of Cox gave a vocal pantomime; Janis Leveen Lee of Cox performed a modern dance.

Lynn Frangley of Princess Anne won the talent contest with her "Charleston" rendition wearing a white dress which was fringed from neck to knee, and twirling a bright red handkerchief. Lynn also won the Youth Fitness trophy and the Scholastic Achievement Trophy.

Sharon Schatz of Princess Anne played a piano concerto; blond Marilyn Diane Skelton of Princess Anne wore a black medieval peasant gown and graphically portrayed Joan of Arc's prison scene;

Rhonda Stoddert of Princess Anne rendered a very professional dramatic reading portraying love of another in life; Gail Lynette Ward of Princess Anne High performed a modern jazz selection; and Jacqueline L. White of Cox High School showed remarkable vocal talent.

Despite the unpredictable accompaniment of the record player throughout the entire show, the girls showed their true trouper spirit.

Mike Shaffer of WTAR rendered served as master of ceremonies. All contestants were presented with replicas of the golden freedom capsule, the official pin of the city of Virginia Beach.

Judges were Mrs. Shirley Fentress, Joseph DeCreny, Mrs. Barbara Lewis, Bill Whitman and Mrs. Virginia Biggs.
Attired in vari-colored fashionable evening gowns and elbow-length gloves, the girls learned that the judges selected as second runner up, Carolyn Annas; first runner up, Lynn Frangley; and that Miss Rhonda Stoddert would wear the coveted crown for Miss Virginia Beach's Miss Sun.

Miss for the past year relinquished her crown to Rhonda.
Amid squeals and kisses from her opponents and smiling with tearful appreciation, the queen posed for her audience with arms full of red-American Beauties, once again portraying the fact that Virginia Beach has great talent as well as beauty in its young girls. Not lightly will Rhonda accept her duties in Roanoke and elsewhere for already there is Miss High School of America (Miss Mary Jo Kellam of Virginia Beach) and Miss American Teenager (Lynell Bass of Virginia Beach) to set the examples!

The chorus is under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Sexton. Refreshments will be served in the library. All parents are invited.

Bazaar And Cake Sale

LYNNHAVEN — The Plaza Volunteer Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary will hold a dual Christmas Bazaar and Cake Sale in Princess Anne Plaza shopping center and Millers Dept. Store, Virginia Beach Blvd., on Saturday, December 4, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

COOKE CHORUS

VIRGINIA BEACH — The annual Christmas program will be presented by the fifth and seventh grades chorus of W. T. Cooke School at the Parent-Teachers Association meeting to be held Monday evening, December 6, at 8 p.m.

The chorus is under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Sexton. Refreshments will be served in the library. All parents are invited.

Full Coverage By Radio And TV For Gemini Flights

NEW YORK — This nation's most ambitious manned space flight experiment — to put two astronauts into a two-week orbit and to have them rendezvous with another team during the latter's one or two-day flight — will be covered live from launch to recovery by the multi-network radio and television pool next month. Television coverage of the launches will be in color.

The first flight, Gemini 7, with Lt. Col. Frank Borman (Air Force) and Commander James A. Lovell Jr. (Navy) aboard, is scheduled to be launched no earlier than 2:30 p.m. EST, Saturday, Dec. 4. This will be followed, on or about Dec. 13, by the launch of Gemini 6, with astronauts Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. (Navy) and Maj. Tom P. Stafford (Air Force), a mission which had been postponed from Oct. 25 following failure of a rendezvous vehicle to reach orbit.

Rendezvous maneuvers by the G-7 and G-6 capsules are scheduled for day of launch of G-6 or the following day, with recovery of the Gemini 6 planned for Dec. 14 or 15. The G-7 team is programmed to splash down on Dec. 13, with both recoveries scheduled to be seen live from the carrier USS Wasp.

Live television coverage of the two recovery operations was arranged through the cooperation of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Department of Defense. The multi-network pool will use special equipment set up aboard the carrier by the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation in connection with the Communications Satellite Corporation.

Scenes aboard the Wasp will be picked up by live cameras and transmitted to the Early Bird communications satellite via a ground station installed on the carrier by ITT. The satellite will relay the pictures to the COMSAT receiving station at Andover, Me., from where it will be fed to New York for distribution to members of the television pool and its subscribers.

Live coverage of the recoveries will be backed up by VIDEEX, a system developed by ITT, which can transmit still photos within minutes after an event occurs, as was used during recovery of the G-5 astronauts last August.

COLLECTION ENDS TODAY

VIRGINIA BEACH — The collection of Christmas gifts for men serving in Vietnam will continue through today under a new Department of Defense program which authorizes supplemental flights to Southeast Asia. The Defense Department program, Operation Christmas Star, was prompted by numerous civic groups seeking military assistance in forwarding gifts to men in the war zone.

This new program is similar to Operation Shoebuy which has been underway in Tidewater under the auspices of the Kempsville Republican Women's Club. That club, working with other clubs in the area, has collected nearly 1,000 gifts which will now be flown to Vietnam under the expanded Defense Department program, using Air National Guard aircraft.

Local collections will continue to be made by the Republican Women's Clubs, and all area 748 stores are serving as collection points in this drive.

"Operation Christmas Star" authorizes military bases to receive gifts from recognized civic groups and places no restrictions on the type of gifts, provided they conform to postal regulations regarding content, wrapping and size.

Individuals desiring to participate in the program are asked to leave their gifts at 7-11 stores or arrange pickup with the Republican Women's Club by calling: 487-4949. Civic groups may arrange delivery of gifts to the Navy by calling: 444-9888.

TAHB

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles on housing and homes. In subsequent articles, other facets of the home will be discussed.

By W. W. REASOR, President Tidewater Assn. of Home Builders

The best test of livability of a home is to analyze the floor plan. If you cannot obtain a printed floor plan of every house you are considering, measure the rooms and sketch the plans yourself.

Entrances are important. The main entrance should be large enough to accommodate several guests on a direct and short route to the living room. Closet space for coats and boots should be accessible to the entrance. A tile flooring will facilitate cleaning on wet days.

Another entrance should lead from the garage or carport to the kitchen, for easy unloading of groceries.

Keep the living room out of traffic patterns, in order that the children won't have to track through mother's tea party when they return from school. Be sure it is large enough to hold all the furniture you intend to use there, with ample floor space for moving about.

A fireplace, while an excellent addition to a living room, will subtract a large amount of space from furniture placement.

Few new homes have dining rooms, but most housewives want dining areas in a corner of the living room large enough to seat friends or relatives. The dining area should have a direct access to the kitchen, with as much privacy from the rest of the living room as possible.

The kitchen is the control center of the home. There the lady of the house will spend most of her time while at home. She should be able to get to all outside entrances from the kitchen quickly. Counter space must be ample, particularly adjacent to the refrigerator, stove, and sink. If you plan to have a breakfast table there, allow room for traffic while the entire family is seated at the table.

Ensure that cupboard space is adequate for all utensils and groceries. Many housewives are demanding the return of the pantry for additional storage space.

A family room is a must in most new homes. It should be located near the kitchen, as far from the living room as possible. Privacy is the key factor there. It should be large enough to hold Sis's crowd when they gather for a gabfest or television viewing.

The bedrooms should be far enough from the living room to give them maximum privacy. The bathroom should be shielded from the view of anyone in the entrance hall or living room.

Closet space must be ample, and the only person who can judge what is ample is the lady of the house. If the house does not have an attic or a basement, additional storage space should be provided in large closets or the garage.

A final test of good floor planning can be made by drawing arrows from every room in the house to every other room. If needless distance is required to go between any two rooms, the plan should be revised.

A patio adds immensely to family relaxation and entertaining joys. It should be located out of view of passersby on the street or sidewalk, with shrubbery or a wall to shield it.

The floor plan should be properly related to the site on which the house will be built. The living room and dining room should look out onto the most attractive parts of the lot. Many persons desire a southern exposure for bedrooms and the living room.

Gala Opening

ORIGINAL Pabst Blue Ribbon

MAKE YOUR OWN ORNAMENTS—Cotton crochet thread is the major ingredient in creating "string-maze fantasies." Soak thread in full-strength liquid starch and wrap around an inflated balloon in criss-cross fashion. When thread is dry, deflate and remove the balloon through the top opening. The lacy-looking globe that's left can be decorated with a variety of holiday trims. Hang it on the Christmas tree or suspend it from the ceiling for a festive touch.

A CRAFT FOR FAMILY FUN

Holiday fun starts with decorating the house. And some of the most attractive decorating effects can be the least expensive and the most fun to make, reports the National Cotton Council.

Take "string-maze fantasies," for example. They're light and airy bobbles to hang on the tree, suspend from the ceiling, or float from a mobile. How do you make them? With ordinary cotton string or crochet thread, liquid starch, and balloons.

Sound like fun? It is . . . and making them is a project children especially will enjoy.

To make these delicate-looking string ornaments, pour full-strength liquid starch into a large bowl and immerse string and thread. You'll find that the string and thread is easiest to handle if you wrap it loosely on an old spool and drop it into the starch.

Next, inflate a balloon to the size desired for the ornament and tie a knot in the end. Then wrap the starch-soaked string securely around the balloon in criss-cross fashion.

To be sure the string and thread will dry very stiff, keep adding coatings of starch to the string as you wrap. The starch will drip so cover your work area with layers of old newspapers.

When you've achieved an interesting mesh pattern, cut the string or thread. Tie another string to the knotted end of the balloon and hang to dry. It usually takes from three to six hours for complete drying. When it's dry, deflate the balloon with a pin. The balloon will pull away from the string and thread wrappings, leaving a lacy-looking globe. Gently pull the deflated balloon through the top opening of the ornament. Cover the opening with an assortment of holiday trims. You can use velvet bows, artificial holly leaves and berries, or lightweight bells.

Use ribbon, yarn, or thread to hang the ornament.

Different effects can be created by using string and thread in varying sizes and colors. White crochet cotton with silver or gold metallic flecks is especially effective.

For additional contrast, combine cotton-lace and rickrack with thread for wrappings. If you use ordinary cotton string, it can be sprayed with gold or silver paint after drying and sprinkled with glitter or sequins.

Bad Weather, A Threat

VIRGINIA BEACH — "This month's grand award winning poster by Wade Nugent, age 17, of Connelly Vocational School in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is a most artistic portrayal of the many types of bad weather requiring extra caution by both pedestrians and drivers," said Frank W. Cox, Director.

"The presence of poor visibility and icy or wet roads, characteristic of December weather, greatly jeopardizes the safety of each pedestrian," he warned. "Both adult pedestrians and youngsters must be constantly alert to the dangers of inclement weather, since not only are a driver's visibility and control of his locomotion greatly decreased, but also the pedestrian himself is likewise handicapped," said Mr. Cox.

AAA offered these tips to parents to help lessen the risk to children on their way to and from school: (1) get them off to school earlier and give them the time required to take the extra precautions necessary to insure a safe trip to school, (2) provide the highly visible and well fitting bad weather clothing, (3) use proper head gear and avoid the use of umbrellas which obstruct the view, (4) require children to go directly to and from school via a familiar route. "In addition," continued Mr. Cox, "AAA recommends that parents do not drive their children to school, since congestion in the school area only contributes to accident hazards."

The Tidewater Automobile Association is distributing this new safety poster to area schools as part of this month's traffic safety education program.

CIVIC LEAGUE

LYNNHAVEN — The next regular meeting of the Chesapeake Colony Civic League will be held Wednesday, December 1, at Foundry Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Election of officers will be held.

The Latest Textile Achievement

The latest textile achievement, permanent press apparel, is now here—it is the newest form of wash and wear garments. Wash and wear properties are obtained in one of two main methods. First by using a fiber or blend containing fiber which gives fabric this property. The other method is accomplished by treating the fabric chemically. Often the lining, pockets or other additions, to garments made from fabric so treated, as well as the thread used in sewing, were not similarly treated. Seams would pucker and wrinkling developed after washing. Little or no ironing was more a promise than a reality—but it was a good start.

Now, the entire garment is made and then chemically treated, followed by a heat setting process that permanently sets creases and shapes. It is there to stay through continued washing and even machine drying. You can't wash them out or change their location by additional greasing, so alterations are virtually out of the question. The shrinkage of the fabric has already taken place, so buy the garment to fit right. It won't change. Permanent press means just what it says. The shape is locked in and wrinkles, stretch, and shrinkage are virtually eliminated.

No need for ironing is quite true with permanent press. The first garments with this feature were men's and boys' pants. Now it is being extended into broader use.

All new developments have small problems, but they are usually overcome in time. Here are some things to look for:

ODOR — the chemical treatment and baking process may produce some noticeable odor in the garment. This will be reduced by washing and probably will be eliminated soon by improved chemicals.

LESS WEAR — the process reduces some of the normal strength of cotton fibers, so it could result in slight reduction of wear-life. That's why proper fit is so important to avoid undue stress and strain. To offset the deterioration of strength of the cotton fibers, blending of nylon or polyester fibers with cotton is advantageous. This is almost necessary with lighter weight garments.

DECOLORATION — White fabrics have a tendency to yellow from heat setting and chemical reaction. This will be overcome in time. If the permanent press is applied to colored fabrics, there is apt to be some lightening of the color at the points of crease after a few washings. Dark colors show this more than others.

BLEACHING — machine washing with good detergent products is no problem. Machine drying is also practical. But you must not use chlorine bleach with these chemically treated garments — like the former wash and wear types, discoloration will result and some error of discoloration takes place. You can use a mild, such oxygen bleach. Alterations are even limited as all pressed creases, pleats, etc. cannot be changed. To be sure of both appearance and good economy in wear, but a "fit"—not a "size."

Ever hear of a Mini-Party?

A mini-party is the answer to a calorie-counter's dream! She can enjoy a sensational treat because it's served in doll-size portions. For instance, you make a marvelous French chocolate mousse in tiny little cups instead of tall pastries or sherbets. Thus, your calorie counters have the joy of a rich treat in a miniature portion that has half the calories.

Another dish to satisfy calorie-counter's. A tuna canape snack set-up. A "showdown" tree holds raw vegetables on picks. Guests dip these favorite raw vegetable into a delightful low-calorie tuna dip made with creamed tuna and cottage cheese subtly seasoned. Canned tuna (not packed in oil) is well worth commending to the calorie-counter for its unique way of blending with other low-calorie ingredients to make a little go a long way in satisfying party guests.

The "showdown" tree can be made with raw carrots, celery and other vegetables. Canned curls and celery fans are placed in ice water until the company of the party or the night before, and kept in the refrigerator until needed.

'SILENT NIGHT, LONELY NIGHT' HAS CHRISTMAS THEME

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Little Theater's current production, "Silent Night, Lonely Night", has a small New England inn on Christmas Eve for a background. There, an unhappy married man and a lonely woman meet. They comfort each other and share their "stories," giving each other the warmth and companionship they both desperately need. The following day, Christmas day, they both resolve what they are going to do about their lives.

Boys' Choir Cultural Delight

Elk's charities and the General Hospital of Virginia Beach are the recipients of monetary benefits derived from sale of tickets to the renowned Boys' Town Choir recital received by a capacity crowd at the Civic Center last week. And we were the recipients of a highly entertaining evening of sacred and secular music heralding in the holiday season.

Mayor Dusch said, as he presented Father Francis Schmitt, director, the golden sash capsule as the key to the city. "We are grateful for this evening of cultural music and hope to have more and more of it at Virginia Beach. As a member of the Mayors Four Quartet, I shall particularly appreciate it."

Thirty five handsome American males, from 8 to 18 years of age (some giggled . . . some giggled . . . and one little fellow didn't sing a note because of laryngitis, held a reverent position on the front row with eyes glued on the director) rendered musical compositions in English, Spanish, French and Latin, each song a capsule of clarity and each note a gem.

The voices, from the sweet soprano of the very young to the deep bass of the older boys ran the gamut of Brahms' "In Silent Night," Provençal, "Bring a Torch Jeanette, Isabella"; and Gallus, "Ascendit Deus," to the American "Way Up on Old Smokey" and "Cindy."

The candlelit Nativity scene was exquisite.

The entire choir changed costumes three times.

The Elk officers of Virginia Beach Lodge 2268 ushered and wore tuxedos with white carnation boutonnières. They were John H. Shand, exalted ruler; Roland W. Cuddy, secretary; Joseph F. Curran, leading knight; Edward A. Simele, loyal knight; Davis Rogers, lecturing knight; Bruce L. Hall, treasurer; Charles W. Tucker, altar; William H. Carnes, esquire; Frank E. Butler III, chaplain; and Thomas C. Shoemaker, inner guard. The trustees are B. M. Stanton, Lee A. Follander, Sidney S. Kellam, Robert L. Simpson and Lee L. Hamrick.

The director, Father Francis Schmitt, joined the Boys' Town staff in 1941 when he was a newly-ordained priest, and he started the Choir with 30 musically ambitious youngsters. Today more than 300 boys are engaged in the choral program and have given concerts in such noted places as Orchestra Hall in Chicago, Symphony Hall in Boston, Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C., the Eastman Theater in Rochester, Carnegie Hall in New York City, and many others, singing to more than 90 thousand people in 45 cities during an eight-week tour.

Ably assisting Father Schmitt was Frank Szymskie, himself a former citizen of Boys' Town who was a soloist in the choir during his student days; and the accompanist now in his second year, was Malcolm Breda, a graduate of Xavier University in New Orleans who holds a master's degree in music from the University of Indiana.

The audience respected 'real theatre' and were so attired for the occasion.

When Father Schmitt, the Choir and the audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner" together, all were fraught with the meaning of Thanksgiving and Advent Season portrayed in the poignant faces of Father Flanagan's Boys Town Choir.—Douglas Arnold Barnes.

RECITALS

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Clifford Herzer Piano School, Norfolk and Virginia Beach, announces three student piano recitals at the Norfolk location, 748 Shirley Avenue, Sunday, December 5.

The first recital will be at 2:00 p.m. and will feature the advanced pupils of Clifford Herzer.

The second recital will be at 3:30 and will feature the pupils from the class of Walter Noon.

The third recital will be at 5:00 p.m. and will feature the students of Carol Noon.

Many students from the Virginia Beach area will be presented. These recitals are free and open to the public.

"THE MESSIAH"

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Sixth annual performance of Handel's "The Messiah" by the Choir of the First Presbyterian Church, 36th St. and Seapines, will be presented Sunday, December 5, at 5 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The Choir will be under the direction of Mrs. Irene A. Korte, with Mrs. Frieda Vogan of Norfolk as organist.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Focus At Studio Gallery

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Focus," the most intriguing Art Show that the Studio Gallery has had thus far is a show combination of 28 award-winning artists and fine photography of William S. McIntosh.

Artists that are represented in this show are Yetta Bornstein, Marjorie Behl, Dick Costitt, John Curran, Tom Fontress, Beverly Furman, Elsa Gerst, Norman Goodwin, Henrietta Hoopes Hearsh, A. B. Jackson, Herb Jones, Cornelia Justice, George and Ruth Laakso, Edna Lazaron, and Dorothy Mitchell.

Also included are Vance Mitchell, Elsie Nethercole, Colette Mills, Ruth Peerless, Victor Pickett, Charlotte Robinson, Lillian Rosenthal, Reitha Sedel, Barkley Sheaks, Charles Sibley, Walter Thrift and Fay Zellin.

The show itself is immensely varied and quite good in general with the exception of a few pieces that are not at their best by the artist. Some of the better things that were appealing to me were Edna Lazaron's "Little Girl," Marjorie Behl's "Winter Trees," Herb Jones' "Flight of the Geese," Beverly Furman's "Transition" and Henrietta Hoopes' well handled "Egg and Black Rose."

Among other outstanding pictures were Dorothy Mitchell's "China Grove," a very soft pastoral landscape; Charlotte Robinson's "Confusion"; Elsa Gerst's "Algonquin Sunset," a fresh and bright landscape; Barkley Sheak's "Blue Boat"; "White Beach" by John Curran, his new direction which he has obtained a new crisp and cool feeling.

Also Walter Thrift's "Trost Patterns" and "Periclean Wall Study," both collages; A. B. Jackson's "Landscape Study" and "Three Birds"; Norman Goodwin's "St. Francis and Shoulder Ornament"; Yetta Bornstein's nice watercolor "Pearl of the Sea"; Charles Sibley's "Portsmouth Beach"; Fay Zellin's "Panoramic of Space"; Reitha Sedel's "Seated Girl," a beautifully done figure study with a sensitivity of paint; Colette Mill's "Between Poses" (perhaps the best thing in the show); and Ruth Laakso's "Radiant Form," a strong spontaneous outburst of color.

Also included in the show are some good pieces of sculpture by Victor Pickett, well known for his work in stainless steel, Dick Costitt's popular metal flowers and his quite whimsical "King and Queen" and George Laakso's "Lollipop Tree" and his "Gull Flight" where he has captured the feeling of movement.

The Show will run through the month of December at the Studio Gallery at Cypress and Norfolk Avenues, and is well worth seeing even for a second time.

New Citizens

NORFOLK — Approximately 100 persons, representing countries from all over the world, became citizens of the United States in a naturalization program held in the U. S. District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, December 3 at 2:30 p.m. with Judge Walter E. Hoffman presiding.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. William H. Acosta of Foundry Methodist Church. Judge Hoffman introduced the speaker, Major General R. McC. Tompkins, U. S. Marine Corps, Deputy Chief of Staff of CINCPAC.

The Borough of Norfolk and the Princess Anne County Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution participated in the event.

The welcome message was given by Mrs. H. G. Bowditch of the Norfolk Chapter, and the Pledge of Allegiance and American Creed was led by Mrs. John T. Gupton Jr., chairman of Americanism for the Princess Anne County Chapter.

Pages for the meeting were Miss Betty Ann Gupton and Miss Karen Henegar. They distributed welcome cards, leaflets and flags at the meeting.

C. B. Pritchford Jr. sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America the Beautiful."

A color guard from the U. S. Marine Corps was present at the meeting.

ARROWHEAD GAME NIGHTS RENEWED

VIRGINIA BEACH — Starting Dec. 3rd and continuing until the close of schools, the City Recreation Dept. will sponsor a Game Night each Friday night from 7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

This program was inaugurated last spring by Mr. William Garrison, P. E. Supervisor and Director of Afterschool Playgrounds. The results were so promising the Recreation Dept. decided in cooperation with Mr. Prime, the school's principal, to continue this program this fall.

Two adults, Mr. Robert Bosh and Mrs. Alice Shaffer, who are members of the school's teaching staff, will supervise the program that will utilize the gym, concrete areas that can be lighted (weather permitting) and other parts of the building that can be closed with gates.

The program is open to both boys and girls who are in grades 5-9. They must sign a registration card and participate in the program. Attire will be casual and sport clothes.

INTERSTATE CONSTRUCTION MAY BE DELAYED

EWBERN — Insufficient federal funds may delay completion of the interstate beyond the scheduled 1972 deadline, Highway Commissioner Douglas B. Fugate said Tuesday.

His remarks came in an address at a 22-mile section of Interstate from Newbern to Christiansburg Southwest Virginia was opened traffic.

The Pulaski Chamber of Commerce sponsored a dedication ceremony for the new 1,600-foot Ingalls "Terry" bridge across the New River. The bridge is part of the interstate project.

Fugate noted that the scheduled completion for the nation's 41,000-mile interstate network, being financed with 90 percent federal and 10 percent state funds, is just seven years off.

"But in the interstate program, there may not be sufficient funds to finish the work on time," he said. "In this event, the interstate deadline would have to be extended to perhaps 1974 or 1975."

"The prospect of a delay is not a happy one for those of us in the highway field, or for the general public either. For we want to get these badly needed interstate roads built and move on to other urgent traffic problems."

The commissioner noted that Virginia's Highway Department will be unable to put some $21 million in interstate construction under contract during this fiscal year, as planned, because of a shortage of federal funds.

He said Virginia ranks near the top of the list of states in the southwest with which its interstate federal aid has been put to work.

By the end of 1965, he said, some 450 miles of the state's 1,100-mile interstate network will be open for traffic.

A section of Interstate 85, from the North Carolina border to South Hill, is scheduled for opening later this month. A stretch of Interstate 64, between Bottoms Bridge and Laburnum Ave., east of Richmond, is scheduled to be completed in December.

DON'T SHOOT PHEASANTS

RICHMOND — With small game seasons in full swing both east and west of the Blue Ridge, the Virginia Game Commission again urges hunters to be extremely careful not to shoot pheasants.

Game Division Chief R. H. Cross says that thoughtless killing of these experimentally stocked birds drastically reduces chances of their successful establishment and invalidates biological evaluation of the release. Although shooting of pheasants outside licensed shooting preserves is strictly prohibited, a number of the experimental birds stocked by the Game Commission are known to have been shot both accidentally and intentionally by hunters.

The rapid disappearance of pheasants in an area following initial releases usually is interpreted as a sign that the birds are not suited to the conditions there, Cross said. If illegal shooting was the cause of the disappearance, it could induce the Commission to abandon the project, thereby depriving sportsmen in the area of a potential addition to their hunting fare. Hunters can combat this by close restraint on themselves and their hunting companions and by reporting any violations that come to their attention.

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE

PURSUANT to a Decree of the Circuit Court of the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia, made and entered on the 29 day of November, 1965, in the Chancery cause of MARTHA OWENS REEVES and CHESTER REEVES vs. GEORGE T. OWENS, et al, pending in the Circuit Court of the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia, the undersigned will, on the 15th day of December, 1965, at 12:00 o'clock noon of that day, at the front door of the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Virginia Beach, Princess Anne Borough, Virginia Beach, Virginia, offer for sale to the highest bidder, the following described real estate:

ALL THAT certain tract, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the City of Virginia Beach, State of Virginia, in Seaboard Borough, bounded and described as follows: On the North by the land sold by W. T. Butt to Isaac Hurdie; on the East by W. T. Butt, on the South by Elijah Locker, and on the West by the lands formerly N. Barnes and T. Warden, said land being bounded by Courses and distances according to a survey thereof made by J. G. Moore, County Surveyor, February 13, 1915, and being known as Plat "C" containing 22 acres, more or less.

Terms of sale: Cash.

The highest bidder shall deposit with the Special Commissioner at the time of the sale at least ten (10%) percent of his bid, the balance of the purchase price to be paid within ten (10) days.

THOMAS C. BROYLES
Special Commissioner

I CERTIFY that the bond required by the above Decree has been given by the Special Commissioner.

High on the list of remodeling projects was the kitchen which underwent a face lifting that included new appliances, glazed ceramic tile countertops and ceramic tile floors that add charm and cheerfulness and reduce cleaning chores.

CHANGES IN HOME DESIGN

The reappearance of a more gracious atmosphere in family living and a desire for more space throughout a home are causing considerable change in home construction and modernization.

Surveys show a growing demand for larger and more cheerfully decorated family kitchens with sufficient dining area and ceramic tiled floors and countertops that add beauty and minimize cleaning chores.

Also, except for the more insular homes, the combination living room-dining room is being replaced with a full, formal dining room.

Sleeping areas, too, are undergoing change with homeowners preferring larger bedrooms that are more decorative and spacious enough to permit a study or sitting area.

The trend toward spaciousness is contributing to the demand for multiple bedrooms and powder rooms with ceramic walls and floors. Today, the average new home has from one bath to a bath and a half more than its counterpart of ten years ago.

Statistics also indicate that homeowners often prefer an existing home to a new one, built since after homes usually are larger and offer greater opportunity for remodeling. However, the age of a home is not necessarily the reason for commencing a home improvement project. New homeowners, for example, spend about $3,000 during the first year in a new home to make general improvements that add more joy and com-

WINTERING BEEF CALVES

Growing conditions were much better in most of Virginia this past season, and one result is that more Virginia cattlemen have bought beef calves to winter.

The way these animals are fed will depend on: what the farmer plans to do with the calves next year, how large they are now, and what feed is available.

Calves wintered for sale next spring should put on 200 pounds to be profitable. However, if the farmer plans to keep the calves and graze them for sale as yearling feeders next fall, then 100 pounds winter gain is all he needs to put on. In this way he gets the larger part of gain on pasture—which is his primary objective when grazing yearling feeder steers.

The size of calves being wintered has much to do with the type of feed they need. Small calves require higher quality feed and have to have some grain. Large calves ranging 450 to 600 pounds can use large quantities of a poorer grade roughage and will not be as dependent on grain. The big calves will need some grain, however, to do a respectful job.

Naturally, the cattleman has to feed what he has, and he should keep this in mind when buying calves. He should bring a sample of forage to my office and have it sent in for analysis. The results will tell him how to supplement his forage with protein, and whether or not the addition of grain to get the performance he anticipates from his calves. The forage test is free. All the feeder has to do is see me.

For a 500-pound beef calf to gain 200 to 250 pounds during the 150-day winter feeding period, he must have an average of 8 pounds of total digestible nutrients daily and about 9/10 of a pound of digestible protein.

This means about 30 pounds of corn silage analyzing 21 percent TDN or better, 2 1/2 pounds of corn and cob meal, and 1 1/4 pounds of 44 percent soybean oil meal or its equivalent.

Eleven pounds of alfalfa hay and 4 pounds of corn or the same amount of mixed hay and a pound of soybean meal and 3 pounds of corn will do about the same job.

This same calf, if kept to graze the following spring and sell as a yearling feeder, can get by with approximately 25 pounds of silage and 1 pound of soybean oil meal, and 1 pound of corn and cob meal.

Ten pounds of alfalfa hay and 2 pounds of corn, or 10 pounds of mixed hay with a pound of corn and a pound of soybean oil meal will do about the same job.

Smaller calves will take less, so feed according to what you intend to do with your calves.

WORK UNDERWAY ON GEN. BOOTH BLVD.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Construction on General Booth Boulevard has begun. The initial phase, which began on Tuesday, deals with clearing and installation of drainage facilities. The first segment of the road will extend from near Rudee Inlet to within 400 yards of Dam Neck Road and Oceana Boulevard.

Right of way has been acquired for a divided four-lane highway from Atlantic Avenue and 4th Street to an area in the vicinity of City Hall at Princess Anne. However, the road under construction now probably will be only two-lane. When the next phase of the road is built from Dam Neck Road to City Hall, it is possible that the completed road will become a divided highway.

Heavy equipment has already moved into several places along the route. Completion of the project is expected by late summer or early all of 1966. Eventually General Booth Boulevard will tie into Independence Boulevard near City Hall, providing a network of circumferential highways skirting the heavily populated areas of Virginia Beach. Construction of General Booth Boulevard is actually ahead of schedule, but city officials felt it was necessary to build the road now in order to connect with the other projects, already recommended in the report issued by the consulting firm of Wilbur Smith and Associates.

The present construction will also provide new access to a city-owned area off Prosperity Road and Farm Road, being developed as a picnic and camping facility. There is a possibility that this area will be partially ready for use by next summer. The property is that which one contained the "poor farm." In fact, Prosperity Road, before bearing its present name, led to the facility.

In Virginia Beach Borough, the new boulevard will connect with the new bridge across Rudee Inlet, on which bids are expected to be let by mid-1966. No target date has been projected for final completion of the entire mammoth project.

According to several city officials, there is a strong possibility that General Booth Boulevard will serve another purpose. Recently the North Carolina legislature has approved a $300 million bond issue for the construction of the Outer Banks Turnpike. The giant super-highway would provide a limited access ocean side highway through North Carolina. In years past, there was much discussion of building a Virginia connection to this road along the ocean from the North Carolina line to the current end of Atlantic Avenue. The project never reached fruition, although discussion is revived from time to time. Now that North Carolina has gone ahead with plans for its part of the road, there would be some difficulty in funneling traffic into Virginia. Current North Carolina plans would have the road end at Knott's Island, thus emptying traffic onto narrow and curvy Route 615 at the Virginia Beach city limits on the North Carolina border. General Booth Boulevard would, at least, provide access from Route 615 to Atlantic Avenue.

With the start of General Booth Boulevard, Virginia Beach now has three major road projects underway, with several others nearing the construction stage. Work on the initial phase of Independence Boulevard is moving well northward toward Shore Drive from Virginia Beach Boulevard. And clearing, drainage, and concrete bridge work is progressing rapidly on the Norfolk-Virginia Beach Toll Road. In addition, bids are out on construction of the second two-lane bridge spanning Lynnhaven Inlet on Shore Drive, thus bringing the completion of Route Sixty as a four-lane divided highway closer to reality.

East-West roads in Virginia Beach have not caused major concern in recent years, especially with the planning for the toll road, but there has been much concern at the lack of north-south roads. With the addition of Independence Boulevard and General Booth Boulevard, some of the traffic problems will be alleviated.

By late next summer, Virginia Beach residents will have the first direct link with Oceana Boulevard, and eventually will have a sorely-needed connection from Atlantic Avenue to City Hall, with the completion of General Booth Boulevard.

WOOD NAMED AS CPC CHAIRMAN

VIRGINIA BEACH — At the Virginia Beach City Planning Commission's meeting Wednesday, J. W. Wood was unanimously elected Chairman of the commission, to fill the position recently vacated by A. L. Bonney's appointment to City Council.

After Wood's appointment the commission went to work on its long agenda of items.

Wood, before his appointment, was a regular member of the Planning Commission.

It takes hundreds of years for some trees to grow and develop, but only seconds for a bulldozer to knock them down. That is the situation just off Prosperity Road and Oceana Boulevard as clearing work moves ahead for construction of the first phase of General Booth Boulevard.

WELCOME HOME CEREMONIES

VIRGINIA BEACH — Dignitaries at the City of Virginia Beach along with the military and CVE-7 families will gather in Hangar 122 Oceana Naval Air Station on Sunday, December 12, for pre-landing ceremonies of 75 fliers returning from Viet Nam action.

Approximately 50 planes will leave the carrier Independence at 2 p.m. and land at 2:30 to 3 p.m., taxiing up to Hangar 122.

The welcome home ceremonies have been arranged by the Armed Forces committee of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce with Edwin Brogan as chairman. Aside from civilian dignitaries, Vice Admiral C. T. Booth II, commander-in-chief of the Naval Air Atlantic, and Rear Admiral D. C. Richardson, commander Fleet Air Norfolk, are expected to witness the fly-in.

Virginia Beach beauty titlists, Lynnell Bass, "Miss American Teen-Ager"; Mary Jo Kellar, "Miss High School of America"; and Kathleen Carson, "Miss Virginia Beach," will dispense welcome home champagne to the fliers while the Cox High School Band and the Commemorative Band play on.

Carrier air wing seven is the first east coast air group to see action in Viet Nam. The planes from the Independence are the first Navy aircraft to strike a missile site.

The wing, made up of Phantom fighter squadrons, Sky Hawk (attack) squadrons and A-1A Intruder squadrons, were 96 days on the line flying missions over North and South Viet Nam. The Independence left Norfolk May 10, started on the line July 1, left the line on November 16.

The City of Virginia Beach, site of the Oceana Naval Air Station, will be honored with the first Naval air returnees on the east coast.

Lake Bradford Ban Lifted

VIRGINIA BEACH — Signs set up by the city health department, which prohibited public use of Lake Bradford Lake, at last, been removed.

A four-month study has revealed that the lake is not dangerous to humans, according to Dr. Madge May, assistant health director.

The signs were erected in August after health department officials learned that ducks and fish had been dying there. The signs were placed around the lake as a precautionary measure until a detailed study could be made.

A State Water Control Board report on a study of the lake puts the primary blame on lack of oxygen in the water.

Laboratory tests found some traces of herbicides and pesticides, but in non-lethal amounts.

The report stated that the fish were probably killed by toxic blue-green algae and a lack of oxygen. The ducks were killed by a water-fowl disease called limberneck which is indirectly caused from the lack of oxygen in the water.

The algae develops in water when there is an over-abundance of nutrients. The algae produces oxygen during the day, but consumes oxygen overnight.

As smaller amounts of nutrients flow into the water during dry weather, the algae decays, consuming more oxygen than normal and throws the water out of balance chemically.

Limberneck is caused by a bacteria which develops in this lack of oxygen.

The lake is bordered by Chesapeake Beach homes on the eastern side and Little Creek Amphibious Base on the western side.

MAN KILLED BY CAR

VIRGINIA BEACH — James Carter, 65, of the 1300 block of Virginia Beach Boulevard, was struck and killed by a car Monday night in front of his house, police said.

Carter was pronounced dead on arrival at Virginia Beach General Hospital.

Police said Carter was struck while crossing the boulevard at Sykes Avenue. Police identified the driver of the vehicle as Lester H. Logan Jr., 23, of N.A.S. Oceana. According to police, Logan was driving west on the boulevard when the accident occurred shortly after 9 p.m.

Police say they have charged Logan with involuntary manslaughter.

BEACH COUNCIL NOW ABLE TO PROCEED ON REAPPORTIONMENT

VIRGINIA BEACH — The long-awaited Federal Court decision concerning reapportionment of the Virginia Beach City Council has now been handed down. It came in a joint decision concerning Virginia Beach and Chesapeake. Chesapeake has done nothing at this time concerning reapportionment, although Virginia Beach is well on the way to solving its own problem. The Federal Court decision simply finalizes plans of Virginia Beach City Council. Council is now free to proceed with measures leading to the final adoption of its already unanimously adopted plan for reapportionment. After the Virginia General Assembly acts on the Charter change, there is little doubt that Council's plan will be adjudged legal and constitutional.

U. S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman said Tuesday that if the city of Virginia Beach does not ask the 1966 session of the General Assembly to provide new means for reapportionment of its City Council by March 14, the court will do so. If the court does have to provide reapportionment, it is expected it will be done by an at-large election. The order also included the city of Chesapeake.

Hoffman, in a memorandum filed in federal court, said the "one man, one vote" principle applies to City Council elections. In his decision he adopted an earlier opinion by Circuit Court Judge Albert V. Bryan that "the fact of a plain and flagrant disproportion of councilmen in certain boroughs of each city" was not denied by any of the defendants. This opinion was formed when a similar case against Virginia Beach's reapportionment was heard in Norfolk last September.

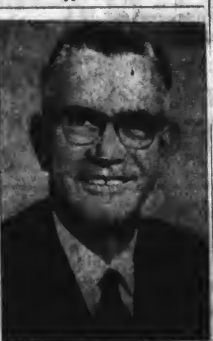

In Virginia Beach several citizens complained that five councilmen represented Virginia Beach Borough and each other borough had only one councilman to represent it.

Norfolk Attorney Henry Howell Jr. argued at the September hearing that all citizens of Virginia Beach do not receive the same representation. He then called for the application of the "one man, one vote" principle in Virginia Beach.

Also at the September hearing there was a side issue as to whether one or three judges should hear the matter. It was finally decided last month that one judge would make the decision on the case.

Virginia Beach was formed Jan. 1, 1963 when the small resort town merged with Princess Anne County. The five councilman borough is the former city of Virginia Beach and the one councilman are the old county magistrate districts. The citizens from Virginia Beach who filed the initial suit against council apportionment claimed

Charles L. McCullers

C of C To Hear Humorist

VIRGINIA BEACH — Members of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce will hear Charles L. McCullers, of Dunn, N. C., at the annual meeting of the organization which is scheduled for the Chamber Hotel on Tuesday, December 14, according to Frank W. Kellar, program chairman for the event.

A record attendance is expected for this year's affair since a recent membership drive has boosted the Chamber membership to a record 700 members.

In addition to McCullers, who is noted as a humorous after dinner speaker, there will be visual presentations and a continual showing of the Virginia Beach promotional film, "Yours for the Chooing."

A social hour is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:15 p.m.

Judge Robert S. Wahab, Jr., will serve in installing the Chamber's new officers. These include R. B. Pulley, president; George W. Vahok, first vice-president; William C. Haycox, second vice-president; Mrs. Lucy F. Traxton, secretary; and James C. Kontopoulos, treasurer.

In addition to the planned program an annual report will be presented in printed form and remarks of the Retiring President, A. B. Crews, will highlight the program.

Reservations to the dinner are being received in the Chamber office. Those wishing to attend should call the office at 428-1922 not later than Monday, December 13.

"But Officer"

C&P CAN OPERATE IN EVENT OF POWER LOSS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Emergency power equipment will keep telephone service going in the Virginia Beach area in the event the city would have a loss of electricity.

L. F. Patrick local manager for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia said the company has hundreds of batteries, a turbine diesel engine generator in its plant building (316 2nd Street) that would supply the necessary power to keep customers' telephones ringing. There is also an adequate auxiliary power supply to provide lights that company personnel can maintain equipment and operate the switchboards.

It was emergency power systems similar to the ones here at C&P that kept telephones operating during the blackout in the northeastern part of the country a short time ago.

Not only is there auxiliary power equipment in one central office building, but throughout the central offices of the C&P, the Bell System and other telephone company dial centers. From almost the day the first switchboards were installed, batteries have provided regular and auxiliary power for telephone operations.

In the C&P area, according to manager Patrick, over $3.5 million is invested in emergency batteries and power generators. The batteries are continually connected to the switching equipment and telephone operator positions. With in a split second, not even noticeable to a person using the telephone, if commercial current is affected the batteries provide continuous power to the equipment. Then, in many instances, emergency generators come into operation and provide the necessary power required for telephone and other communications service.

To assure telephone service in the case of an emergency for larger telephone customers of C&P such as hospitals, department stores, state, city and federal government, batteries are also provided on the premises of the customers too so that telephone service from their own PBX switchboards can be maintained.

Patrick stated that up until a few years ago many of the larger telephone company central offices had gas lights in the operating rooms just in case something happened to the lights. These have now been removed and replaced with electricity.

In closing Patrick said the instances are few when auxiliary power equipment is necessary to be used, however it is there when it is required.

Should Virginia Beach be faced with a power failure like those that struck the northeastern and southwestern sections of the United States, C & P customers will still have full use of their telephones. Should the power ever fail, the company will switch to this auxiliary diesel power plant to recharge the batteries from which the telephones receive their power. Switchover to the company's power plant would cause no disruption of service.

Pity the poor motorist who encounters this situation. Just what the speed limit is, is difficult to say. The two speed limits are on Belle Avenue near 15th Street. Actually the lower limit would appear to indicate a school zone, but at first glance, it is rather confusing.

 THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
 A woman can't stay young at heart once she is no longer interested in herself. It isn't the way she looks that matters so much as the fact that her appearance reflects her inner emotional and physical health. By the same rule we can detect the brittle over-groomed woman with too great an anxiety about herself.

 "Daughters see the thing" says an artist character in Barrie's "Dear Brutus"; and it is certain that as each of the escorted twenty-three lovelies made her bow to Society at the recently held Debutante Ball of the Norfolk German Club, every mother and father present inwardly burst with pride.

Gowned in white formals of various styles and materials, and carrying large bouquets of red roses, the girls entered the Starlight Room at the Monticello and were announced by the club president, William Petty Dickson Jr. of Virginia Beach, whose daughter, Tote, led the figure. Her escort was Curtis B. Snyder.

After performing the figure with their fathers, the girls marched the length of the ballroom to receive engraved silver card trays while Bill Morris and his orchestra played "Dixie."

It was back in mid-August when the girls had received the invitations, and months of preparation and anticipation reached a near-climax as they practiced the evening before, and then enjoyed a post-rehearsal party given by Mr. and Mrs. William Garland Jones Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Davis Wilson honoring their daughters, Neville Blair Jones and Page Wilson.

The Virginia Beach debutantes were Miss Elizabeth Bous Crawford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John C. Crawford, escorted by William Randolph Hubbard; Miss Ann Dorsey Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nere E. Day Jr., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian S. Lawrence, escorted by Cyrus Wiley Grandy Jr.; Miss Elizabeth Steward Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Talbot Dickson, escorted by her brother, Pfc. Richard Dickson III, USMC.

Miss Caroline Tate Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Petty Dickson Jr., escorted by Curtis Benson Snyder; Miss Pembroke Waller Reed, daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. Davis Reed, escorted by Thomas Joseph Hoffmeyer; Miss Elizabeth Gardner

CHRISTMAS IN THE COUNTRY

LYNNHAVEN — Members, guests and friends of the Cape Henry Woman's Club were lined up early waiting for the doors of the DeHart home on Rose Hill Drive to be opened for "Christmas in the Country" held early last week.

The entrance, living room, kitchen, bedrooms, and even the baths were festive with holiday decorations most appropriate for the setting. Carols and other holiday music were piped through the intercom system, adding to the joyous atmosphere.

After a tour through the house, a visit to the "Country Store" in the family recreation room downstairs was in order. Refreshments were served while prospective purchasers and browsers looked over the offerings. Featured were Christmas candles, baked goods, aprons and other needlework, bird feeders, flower arrangements, dried materials, many unusual items from granny's corner and some typical things, such as wrappings and ribbons, at reduced prices.

The Christmas house was open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and hundreds of visitors enjoyed the preview of Christmas.

LET'S TALK FASHION & GIFTS
By ALICE BREWER WHITE

ALISBEE

"Women look terrible getting out of bed in the morning," declared one of the world's wealthiest, most attractive men in a recent front-page story. "I like to see a woman's eyes and lips made up all the time."

"Alas," you sigh, "all very well for him to complain—but have you ever seen what sleep-in makeup looks like? And when do we give our faces a rest? Well, girls, sigh no more. Faberge has the answer and what an exciting answer: Bedtime Beauty!"

No more hiding when you wake in the morning! Now you can look even lovelier than the night before, thanks to Faberge! And fortunately, there's no law that says you can't wear these bewitchers by day, too, for round-the-clock beauty because all that ever shows is a far more attractive you. There's Bedtime Lipstick which contains a magical new color component that blooms only after your lips have absorbed all they need of the precious emollients and humectants in this marvelous new beautifier. Then, so your lipstick absolutely cannot come off on your linens, your clothes or your husband, you wipe away every surface trace. All that remains is rosy, glowy, dewy colour on the loveliest lips you ever had! Faberge introduces the new Bedtime Flutterlash, for your eyes and slate, sable or Tigress Bedtime Perfume! Better look into this Bedtime Beauty idea pronto!

BACK TO THE THIRTIES
America's great designer from Noblesville, Indiana, Norman Norrell is a definite trend-setter. Whispers from Seventh Avenue anent his Spring fashion collection are to the effect that he has chosen the willow-slim fashions of the thirties for inspiration. Remember those narrow little jersey daytime dresses, low belted, little dicker insets and schoolgirl collars? Well, they'll be "in" again, come Springtime. The pleated tennis skirts, headache bands, triangular scarves which tie loosely over the shoulder. Norrell's evening dresses are short and of the brightest colors, many with self flowers accenting the hems and scarves trailing off behind... Yes, scarves, scarves every hour for Spring!

NO PIPE DREAM!
You just know it's no pipe dream but a reality when you chat with enthusiastic Barbara Podless, part owner of the Sweet Shop in Princess Anne Plaza. The reality: the fast growth of her department in pipes and smokers' accessories in her Sweet Shop. All styles of pipes and how the men do enjoy buying them! She has imported and domestic tobaccos and especially popular are the blends of Tobak's This shop's supplies for the men folks is just a short drive from Virginia Beach and the man-rush is almost pushing the excellent Christmas boxes of fine Left candies and Pride of America plush toys right out the door. By the way, the squirrel and vari-colored whales, of all animals, are the most sought after by the Younger Set!

GOOD BUYS
Lois Turnbull, co-owner of the Knit-A-Bit shop thinks that the new Pauline Denham sweater-and-skirt kits will thrill the college and high school students no end.

The colors are yummy. Mostly soft colors in the heather effect although there are some brick reds and holly greens. There are needles and yarn for the sweater and material for skirt-making and they sell for twenty-five dollars complete!... At Fridley's, we found John Barleycorn's Bath Tub Gin (after shave and cologne, really) and cleverly packaged with newspaper covers headlining "Bath Tub Gin Floods The Nation." A clever gift for the man-about-town who has everything. Spanish colognes for men and women as well as talcs and soaps, attractively packaged in deep red and black; by Myrurgia. Tinker Bell cosmetics for the very youngest little ladies and Andre Richard's sets of bubble bath and plastic tube with a good comb and brush tucked in inside. Handsome Bibles priced $3.50 and up to $20. If you're still looking for Christmas cards in good taste, Fridley's has a fine assortment of Hallmark greetings as well as tucked-in cards and stunning gift-wrap papers. Not forgetting the holly and Christmas paper napkins, plates, coasters, doilies, matches, center pieces, table cloths and invitations for the parties ahead.

SUGAR PLUMS 'N ALL
Talk about sugar plums dancing in your head, well, your Alisbee's first visit to the Seaside Market had that effect on her. Such a fabulous collection of holiday goodies to choose from here. Wonderful gourmet goodies packaged cleverly include: Grace Rush individual plum puddings, all kinds of jellies and candies including Mrs. Stevens famous candies, Scotch whiskey marmalade, delicious New Orleans Patrio fruit cake in slices individually wrapped and put up in frost unique designed tin boxes, hard-to-find crystallized grapefruit and orange peel, marzipan strawberries and fruits, from Genoa, Italy, boxes of United Nations "little people" nationally costumed in hard candy at $1.29 a box of 12, also Little Red Riding Hood characters. We found some unusual cheeses packaged on wooden cutting boards with knife attached, serving trays and so on from $1.50 up to $4.50. Grocer-owner R. S. Marshall reminded us to tell you that he now has gift certificates you may purchase and let the recipient select his own gift from the Seaside Market.

NEW LOCATION
In case you do not know, Virginia's Hobbies Crafts and Gifts shop has moved to the former Cricket Shop store at 2106 Atlantic Avenue and Virginia Hendrickson couldn't be happier. She hopes you'll drop in soon and when you do, be sure to see the big selection of decorative beads, braids, sequins, net, pins and so on. Not forgetting the starform shapes and the scenic and scooped-out balls and the scooped-out cones and eggs. It's all fascinating and you'll love making your own decorations, too!... Have you seen the new Universal Electric Christmas gifts at the two Ingrams Pharmacy headquarters? They make stunning gifts and are always most acceptable to find under that Christmas tree. EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Fire — Still A Killer

During the drought we have been experiencing recently at Virginia Beach, there have been numerous fires. Although an investigation is now underway that may show some of the brush fires to be the work of arsonists, not all of them were deliberately set. However, there must be a cause to any fire, and very few begin through spontaneous combustion. Most begin through human error, ignorance and negligence.

In 1964, there were 7,700 deaths by fire in the United States. Fire ranked third in accidental killers, just behind auto accidents and falls. More than half of those deaths were caused by smoking or matches, misuse of electrical equipment and defective heating units. Probably one of the largest single factors in these fires was failure to recognize an actual fire hazard. With the holiday season now upon us, and the use of additional electrical equipment imminent, as well as the use of flammable Christmas trees, it is well to review some of the major preventive measures that can be taken to avoid fire. Most of these simple rules are elementary and just good common sense, however failure to abide by them can quickly result in serious injury or even death.

Recently, the American Red Cross has issued a categorized list of suggestions for reducing fires and fire hazards. First, concerning smoking, there are several good rules to follow. Do not smoke in bed or while sitting on upholstered furniture. Always discard cigarette butts in a safe place, not in waste baskets, and make certain that they are entirely out. Always use large, deep ashtrays, not those filled to overflowing. Never smoke near flammable liquids. Do not smoke or light matches in attics, closets or confined places especially near clothes, paper or other combustibles. And probably one of the most important rules . . . keep matches and lighters out of the reach of children.

Concerning heating and cooking equipment, the Red Cross offers these suggestions. Have chimneys and cooking equipment cleaned and checked regularly, and clean ovens and broilers thoroughly. Do not place heaters, stoves or heated pipes near combustible walls or ceilings. Do not place furniture or clothing on stoves, heaters or near fireplaces.

Concerning electrical equipment, the Red Cross says always use proper fuses, and replace old or worn wiring. Do not overload wiring or use multiple outlet plugs. Keep electric motors clean and free from grease. Never place extension cords under rugs or hook them over a nail. At this Christmas season, examine all Christmas tree lights carefully to be certain the once-a-year items are not worn, and be certain that the base of the tree is kept moist, thus holding down the danger of fire.

For all-around good housekeeping, the Red Cross suggests ridding dwellings of rubbish in attics, closets, basement or yards. Keep paints in tightly closed containers and away from heat. Gasoline and other flammable fluids should be stored safely. Do not use flammable cleaning fluids, and never start a fire with gasoline, kerosene or the like. Keep handles of cooking pots away from the edge of a stove. When handling hot fluids, protect children by keeping them away from the area. Always keep a ready-to-use fire extinguisher accessible. Have a garden hose connected and ready to use. Provide screens around fireplaces.

All of these rules can save lives if they are followed. We suggest that our readers examine their homes for these hazards, and if any are found . . . do something about it. Obviously the same rules can be adapted to the outdoors, where there are other dangers as well. If all the rules are employed, perhaps fire can be discarded from the list of accidental killers. Simple common sense and a little effort are all that are needed. Security at home certainly comes from a feeling of safety.

The Christmas Spirit

Christmas is supposed to be a joyous time, a time of giving and receiving, a time for good cheer, and a time for peace on earth and good will toward men. That is what it is supposed to be, but after a visit to a large store in Virginia Beach recently, we have our doubts.

First of all, the roads were jammed with joyous Christmas shoppers rushing to stores, disregarding their own safety and that of others. These same persons, intent upon giving and receiving, packed the parking lots, and with a general lack of good cheer, fought for parking places. We tried to be patient and wait for a parking place. Finally one was free, and we eased toward it. We were outmaneuvered by another happy shopper who cut directly in front of our car. He almost caused a three car collision, since another happy shopper was trying to snare the parking place away from both of us.

Finally we parked, and made our way to the inside of the store where Christmas carols were playing on the stereo address system. No shopping carts were available, so we waited. Finally we were lucky enough to get one, but made the fatal mistake of walking away from it for a split second in search of the beautiful merchandise. With no good will toward us, it was snatched away by a gleeful shopper who knows that possession is nine points of the law.

We waited for another one. We got it. We started through the aisles of the store, only to meet head-on with a rushing shopper's cart. After she had properly chastised us with words unbecoming to anyone, we moved on. We picked up a few presents, and reached the cash register, only after numerous happy shoppers broke into the line ahead of us.

After getting back to the car, making our way out of the parking lot, and safely arriving home, we were ready to agree with Ebenezer Scrooge. "Bah . . . Poh . . . Humbug." All in all, it was quite an outing.

Something has happened to the modern American. What it is, we do not know. But it is not a pleasant thing. The image that too many persons present to the world today is ugly. It is not in keeping with the meaning of the Christmas season. We would like to see a reversal in this process. We would like to see the season become joyous again. We would like to see faces light up more often with the true meaning of giving and receiving. We would like to see a smile or two for good cheer. Then maybe we could have peace on earth and good will toward men. Instead, the image we have of our Christmas shopping trip is one of hurried clerks, rushing, snarling shoppers, and little children pushing and shoving in order to get to talk to Santa Claus.

A MESSAGE FROM THE NORTH POLE

How To Impede Progress

During the Thanksgiving weekend, we visited a resort city on Long Island, about an hour's drive from New York City. It is a small place, with few hotels, no motels, and a few beach clubs. Basically it is a residential summer resort for the wealthy, although there are now a number of year-around homes. But it all but closes down in the fall, winter and spring months. With the exception of catered affairs, parties, weddings, and the like, the place is a virtual ghost town in the winter. Through heavily restrictive zoning, the beautiful strip of beach area on the Atlantic Ocean has managed to keep out high-rise apartments, large hotels, motels and new business establishments. Those in power wish to keep it a small place, without the usual beach activities. The way Long Island is developing, this is one of the last areas so close to Manhattan left to grow. A change in thinking will have to come. Although the interest of the residents in keeping the town exclusive is probably admirable, it defies progress.

The same defiance was evident in Virginia Beach in years past, but fortunately those responsible saw the handwriting on the wall. They stepped aside, and the progress of our city has been fantastic ever since. The growth is far from over, and we wonder what Virginia Beach would have been like today had not progress won out over those who stood in its path.

As a major resort city, Virginia Beach has still not taken its rightful place. The relatively short time it has been growing rapidly is obviously one reason, and the lack of liquor by the drink is probably another. But one major reason was brought home to us while we were in New York. A knowledgeable person asked us, "Is Virginia Beach a year around city now?"

We are fully aware that the resort area of Virginia Beach is quite important to our economy, and that it is one of the greatest attractions that can be offered to the general public. But we do not think enough is being done by those responsible to publicize the rest of our fair city. The state and city both are trying to attract industry, and have been moderately successful, but that is not enough either. Those in other areas are not aware of the advantages offered by the ninth largest city in area in the United States, including how much open land there is ready for development. They do not seem to know about our relatively low taxes and the availability of desirable homesites and business sites. They still tend to think of Virginia Beach as a small summer resort, which closes down in the winter.

We do not wish to criticize those responsible for that image, but we wish that more of the other aspects of our large city would be publicized nationally. We do not feel that those responsible for this sort of thing have done enough for the whole city. An entirely new vista could be opened up for the city of Virginia Beach if all possible efforts are made to attract new residents and new industry and business, and not leaning mostly to the attraction of tourists and conventioners.

Three Cheers

In spite of minor setbacks, which could have been avoided, we offer three cheers to the City fathers for their plans concerning immediate development of the land that has acquired at Sandbridge. They have promised that the recreational land, the object of too much controversy lately, will be ready for use next summer. We applaud their "full speed ahead" efforts. They have promised a temporary road to the area, as well as temporary parking areas and picnic areas, and the like. We are glad to see any measures, however temporary, taken to open the area to the public next summer. We feel certain it will be a major boon to the tourist business.

Of course, when the entire area is developed for recreational use, the city will have permanent picnic, parking, surfing and camping areas, as well as good roads for access. But that development may take quite awhile, especially if anyone else starts another "tempest in a teapot."

We look forward to the opening of the next tourist season as being the biggest ever in the history of Virginia Beach. The immediate steps being taken to develop the Sandbridge property will certainly be one of the important reasons for success. Since this was one of the last beachfront areas left undeveloped, we feel quite fortunate at having it for recreational use.

Now, there is little doubt that land adjacent to the new City-owned property will develop, and that a whole new area of Virginia Beach, far away from the beaten path will grow and grow and grow. It is our opinion that the area between Virginia Beach Boulevard and Sandbridge will now show spectacular growth, and we heartily encourage and endorse this growth.

To our regular readers, this is a familiar theme. We are greatly interested in seeing all areas of our mammoth city grow and develop. We regard this as highly important before all areas of Virginia Beach will fully realize how necessary complete cooperation is.

The city has taken a giant step forward in acquiring the Sandbridge property, and in promising immediate development. We know the new land can do nothing but good for the entire city.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

The Congress of Fulfillment

By JOHN W. MCCORMACK
Speaker, U.S. House of Representatives

The first session of the 89th Congress is completed. We have come now to the summing up. If we had to give this Congress a name, a name to distinguish it from other Congresses of the past, a designation in history, we would have to say it is the Congress of fulfillment.

HIGH MORAL ELEVATION

The extraordinary achievements of this Congress are, apart from for example, the early days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, because its superbly historic record generally was created without the acute pressures of tragic national crises. It was done out of a sense of the nation's greatness.

This Congress — perhaps more than any other Congress that has been before — reached a higher moral elevation.

THIS WAS THE CONGRESS

This was the Congress that gave the Nation its first real "nuts and bolts Housing Act," that took aim at the heart of America's housing problem — and extended to the less fortunate American an opportunity to raise his family in new and better housing.

This was the Congress that thrust itself into the very pit of our neglected national education problem. It enacted Federal funds for elementary and secondary schools. It took the best system of higher education and made it even better with continued Federal grants to our colleges and universities.

This was the Congress that launched Appalachia, providing aid that totaled $1.1 billion for an 11-state program, changing desperation into hope. It passed the Area Redevelopment Program. It provided $44 million for manpower training. It expanded President Johnson's poverty program.

This was the Congress that blazed a new edifying trail in the field of medical care for the aged, that authorized grants for community mental health centers for professional and technical staffing and that worked to stamp out heart disease, cancer and stroke.

This was the Congress that destroyed the long-held myth that once a tax is imposed it is never removed. Excise taxes were repealed on a massive and historic scale.

This was the Congress that removed the stigma of 100 years of Negro disfranchisement from the soul of America by passing the Voting Rights Bill.

This was the Congress that gave encouragement to the Nation's struggling artists through the establishment of a National Arts and Humanities Foundation.

These are just a few of the accomplishments of the 89th Congress. They indeed show that this is a Congress of fulfillment.

The record of legislation written by this Congress will live forever in the story of man's progress to the realization of his noblest dreams and the fulfillment of justice and peace through sound government.

OPEN FORUM

There are certain very significant observations that a retired educator has the pleasure of making and the definite obligation of passing on, for the consideration of his community, his state, and his nation. This observation, and its accompanying obligation, has to do with success. As a retired educator, I have observed that there is a very high degree of success tied in closely with personal grooming for appearance. The former students whom I meet from time to time in my daily travels, who invariably make themselves known to me, with an air of pride and distinction, are those whom I remember as carefully groomed high school students. I am not at all surprised that I seldom have the pleasure of having those, whom I remember as careless and indifferent about their personal appearance, seek me out and make themselves known to me. Success is the motivating force that prompts a former student to stop in the path of a former instructor and make himself known.

In every instance, these young adults started right, kept their poise and personal pride, and are still climbing the ladder of success. Slovenliness and bad habits are never in tune with true success.

Parents and friends of youth should remind our young folks of this fact frequently.

Your Faith and You

ROBERT H. GARNER

Minister, Tabernacle Methodist Church

The most prophetic words of the New Testament are to be found in the Gospel of St. Luke: ". . . and there was no room for them in the inn." That was to be the crucial experience of Jesus throughout his ministry—no room for him in the inn of the human heart, no room for his quality of life in the lives of men, no room for his teachings in their minds, and no room for his reforming zeal in the church. It was this inhospitality which eventually led him to the cross.

But why is this true? Why is there no room for the Christ in the inn of human life?

For one thing, there is the problem of overcrowding. The inn at Bethlehem was already crowded with people from all parts of Israel who had come to register for the Roman census when the Holy Family arrived, there just simply was not enough room for them. Likewise, our lives are crowded with a multiplicity of activities ranging from the demands of our occupations to PTA, little league, civic and service clubs, as well as fraternal and social organizations. Most people live crowded lives with a tight schedule, leaving little time for the church or its Master. Of course, all of these activities are good, but when the best, the fairest, the most thousand and the one altogether beautiful comes, we ought to make room.

But one suspects that there is another, deeper reason for Jesus being shut out of human life, and that is shame. None of us ever wants to have a visitor come into a dirty, messy house. And we are only too well aware of the dirt that we have swept under the rug in the inn of life, the disarrangement of the furniture of moral and esthetic values. We are ashamed to have one who is alien to what we have stood for, come into our lives. But remember this: it was to an inn that Jesus first came, not a mansion. He seeks out those whose lives are broken, and brings forgiveness and healing. And maybe—just maybe—this is what Advent is all about.

She is survived by two sons, George Highter and Julius Highter of Virginia Beach, a brother, two grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

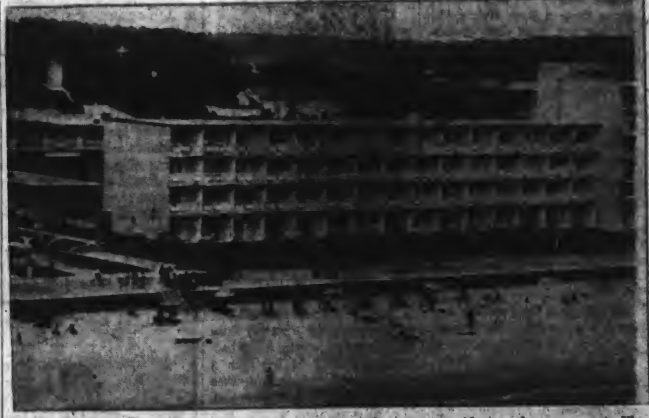

Eighty years ago Virginia Beach's first resort hotel opened its doors to customers. The Princess Anne Hotel was located on the ocean-front between 28th and 30th streets. Construction on the hotel was begun in 1884 and was completed in 1884. Valued at $200,000, it burned to the ground June 16, 1897. The owners only had it insured for $22,000. Two lives were lost in the fire.

And Later

The second Princess Anne Hotel, built on the same general location as the first one was completed in 1932. Many visitors to the area, and residents of the familiar old building, however, in 1932, plans were started for a new hotel on the location of the second Princess Anne Hotel was torn down in 1952.

And Now

This modern, up-to-date hotel is more familiar to most of the younger residents and newcomers in Virginia Beach. The name was changed from the Princess Anne Inn to the Princess Anne Inn. The Inn was constructed to keep pace with the ever growing resort trade in Virginia Beach. The hotel is expected to last at least 100 years. (Photos compliments of Scott Sterling)

FIRES PLAGUE POST OFFICE CITY

VIRGINIA BEACH — Outbreaks of woods and brush fires continue to plague firemen throughout the city. While it is suspected that arson may have been the cause of some and children responsible for others, the main cause of the rash of fires in the dry woodlands and fields is carelessness in the burning of trash, hedge rows, and fields according to Chief Forest Warden Forrest A. Benson.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett issued a directive prohibiting open fires; his order complied with a Monday proclamation by Gov. Albertis Harrison Jr.

The ban which went into effect here at noon Tuesday could delay completion of the Norfolk-Virginia Beach Toll Road if it lasts as long as 15 days, says E. H. Orange, director of the toll road construction. Contractors prohibited from burning the debris from clearing the right of way may not be able to make up the work to meet a schedule, he said.

Hunting has been prohibited in the woodlands because of fire danger. Five men caught hunting in Princess Anne Borough were fined $10 each in Municipal Court Monday.

James C. Hamrick of Virginia Beach was fined along with William Brown, Floyd Jernigan, and David R. Winborn of Norfolk; and W. T. Marshall of Chesapeake.

POST OFFICE LISTS HOURS

VIRGINIA BEACH — J. T. Crosswhite Jr., Postmaster, has announced that complete postal window service is now available at 4601 Virginia Beach Blvd. Parcels and other mail for which the carrier leaves a notice can be picked up at this facility. The service will continue through December 29.

Known as Boulevard Annex, it is located on the south side of Virginia Beach Blvd., just east of Aragona Shopping Center.

The window service schedule at other post office facilities from December 9 to 21 are listed as follows:

Main office, Seapines station, Bayside station, and Lynnhaven station — Mon. through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday the 12, closed; Sunday the 19th, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.
London Bridge station, Oceana station, and Princess Anne station — Mon. through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; both Sundays, closed.
Berk Bay station — Monday through Saturday, 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; closed both Sundays.

There is no change in the present schedules at Fort Story, NAS Oceana, and Dam Neck stations. Money Order service remains the same.

JOE RECEIVES HIS WINGS

NORFOLK — Joseph J. Foulkes, meteorologist and local businessman, is also a member of the famed Naval Air Reserve "Weekend Warriors" and spends one weekend a month at the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit (NARTU) on the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, practicing his meteorology specialty for the Navy.

With the expenditure of much effort and study, coupled with considerable time in the C-54 transport Chief Foulkes accumulated several hundred hours flight time and is qualified to wear the Navy's coveted aircrewman wings.

Joe seems quite pleased as he is presented the aircrew wings by Captain K. C. Malzer, NARTU's Air Wing Staff Commander. Since successfully completing the difficult Naval Air Reserve Training Syllabus and receiving his aircrew wings Chief Foulkes will no longer be "just a passenger."

All Tidewater will immediately recognize Joe as the 11 o'clock television weatherman here in Norfolk. Foulkes is president of Tidewater Brokerage, Inc., and resides locally at Alantone Drive in Virginia Beach.

By W. W. REASON
The character of the American living room has come almost full cycle since Grandmother's days. The average new home built in the United States today contains a family room as the center of family gatherings — for watching television to doing homework.

The living room, when served as a catch-all during the '40s and '50s, is once again being reserved for company.

Perhaps the reason behind the evolution is the trend again to center family activities in the home, away from the noise and exhaust fumes of the cars that have intruded into once-private areas.

As a result, the lady of the house will be particularly fussy about planning a new or remodeled living room. She will want to consider the living rooms of her friends before determining what the same friends will expect in hers.

The amount of entertaining that the family will do is the major determinant of the size of the living room. To get the best perspective on what size you'll need, draw possible dimensions on paper, according to your own scale, and sketch your furniture within those dimensions.

If the living room is large, the furniture arrangement should be broken into several groupings designed to facilitate conversation among persons in those groupings. The ideal conversational grouping is relatively small, not more than 10 feet in diameter.

Open-space areas, where cocktail party guests can stand to chat, can be smaller, about 6 feet in diameter.

Unless you plan to have large gatherings, there is no need to have the room much wider than a conversational grouping. A width of 12 to 14 feet provides room for the grouping, while 20 more feet supplies space for a traffic path.

Living room windows should at ford the best view from the house, preferably onto a lawn or garden, which are usually free from the curious eyes of passersby. They should be placed to allow a maximum amount of sunlight to enter the room.

In planning furniture arrangement, take the window space into account.
Many families want fireplaces in the homes they build. Fireplaces, of course, take considerable wall space, and furniture cannot be close to the hearth when a fire is roaring.
Most women prefer to have the fireplace in the family room, where soot and wood scraps are easier to clean up.

The living room should be a dead end — completely free of traffic. Dad will not appreciate having children running through when he is talking business, and Mom will want her bridge parties undisturbed.
If you want a dining area in the living room, the entire room must be planned with that in mind. The ideal plans are an L-shaped room, with the dining area in the shorter segment, or a dining alcove extending off the main room.

Built-in bookcases, television, and stereophonic equipment provide further sources of enjoyment for the room and free floor space.

LYNNHAVEN — Windsor Woods Library Fund received $181.55 recently due to the efforts of the Girl Scouts who sold book worm emblems and held a carnival in Thalia.

Jr. troops 19 and 332 with help from Cadette troop 608 sponsored the carnival last month. Featured were pony rides, white elephant and baby sale booths. Balloons and darts were very popular and the most popular was the "hit the scout with a wet sponge" booth. More than 300 attended the carnival.

COMBINED MEETING

VIRGINIA BEACH — The November meeting of the League of Women Voters was held recently at the Eastern Shore Chapel with the Day and Night units combining.

Special guests included Mrs. Robert Nusbaum, president of the Norfolk-Virginia Beach League; Mrs. R. C. Hillegass, and Mrs. Dietrick Heyden who spoke on State Education.

Mrs. Heyden, wife of the Norfolk psychiatrist who is director of the Mental Health Clinic in Norfolk, is the chairman of the Norfolk Education Committee, Mrs. A. F. Toner heads the Virginia Beach Committee.

Mrs. Richard Mapp presided and heard a report from Mrs. Richard Barnes on the recent meeting of the Virginia Beach School Board, and another report by the membership chairman, Mrs. John Cole, who introduced Mrs. Gilbert R. Friedman and Mrs. Ann D. Wood as new members from Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Heyden and Mrs. Hillegass spoke on and received a consensus on pertinent Virginia education questions such as teachers salar-

Blood Needed

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit the Virginia Beach Fire Station between the hours of noon and 6 p.m. on Friday, December 10.

We all know full well how material things brighten a life. The giving of these things shines in the eyes of both he who gives and he who receives.

Tomorrow you can give the kind of gift that goes beyond the season of holy and carols. Being a blood donor, you will be giving the wonderful gift of LIFE!

Take the time from the busy, hurried days of Christmas to brighten the eyes of a child with a renewed chance for good health; take the time to aid surgeons in the modern miracles of medicine.

These gifts are possible only if you give. Only with your help can the American Red Cross Bloodmobile make this a real Happy Christmas and Healthy New Year for others.

FALL STUNS WORKMAN

VIRGINIA BEACH — Ronald J. Dugas of Norfolk is recovering from a fall which stunned and temporarily paralyzed him early this week.

Dugas is employed by the Daniel Construction Co. which is building most of the mall-type shopping center in Penbrooke Square Shopping Center.

The injured painter was taken to Norfolk General Hospital and could move nothing but his index finger after apparently being badly stunned when he fell from a steel beam he had caught when a ladder slipped from beneath him. The fall was about 13 feet onto the sandy floor.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ESTELLE BATTEN has died in a nursing home after a short illness. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Oka of New York, and a brother and a sister.

MRS. DELCIA BIGGS KENNEDY, 84, of 194 Oceana Blvd. has died in a hospital. She had lived in this area for 45 years.

Surviving are three sons, Louis Kennedy of Mentone, Calif., and William Kennedy and Arnett Kennedy of Virginia Beach; a daughter, Miss Martha C. Kennedy of Virginia Beach, a half brother, 20 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

JOHN WILLIAM HINDS, 40, husband of Mrs. Lillian Thompson Hinds of 219 E. Ottawa Road, died last week while attending a National Guard meeting. He was a Marine Corps veteran and was employed by the National Guard as an administrative assistant.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a daughter, Miss Donna Sue Hinds of Virginia Beach; two sons, William Hinds of Virginia Beach and Robert J. Hinds of the army, and three sisters and two brothers.

MISS EVELYN COLLINS HILL, a resident of Sea Breeze Farm, has died in a hospital. She was a member of a widely-known Tidewater family and a former leader in women's and horticultural affairs. She with her two late sisters organized the Princess Anne Garden Club in 1932.

She was the last member of her family but is survived by cousins.

TREES FIRE HAZARD

"... there arose such a clatter."

Don't let the clatter this Christmas be that of firemen dashing around your home trying to put the fire that might have started from your Christmas tree.

"There is yet plenty of time to get a tree, so don't rush it," says Elgia L. Easter, Assistant Agricultural Agent at Virginia Beach. Trees that are gotten too early dry out excessively by the time they are taken down, and thus, create a fire hazard.

If you should happen to purchase a tree early, however, try to obtain one that has been cut recently. Saw off an inch to an inch and a half of the base of the tree, if possible, and place it in water for the holiday season. This will keep the tree fresh longer.

Try to keep electric tree lights from being in direct contact with the foliage of the tree. Don't burn them too long at a time, since these give off considerable heat.

Evergreens used in wreaths or other Christmas decorations can be fireproofed with a material made by mixing one gallon of warm water, one cup of boric acid powder and one and one half cups of borax. Dip the evergreens into the solution or spray until it is well covered.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford D. Collier of Doverport Lane enjoyed Thanksgiving visits from Mr. Collier's three brothers whom he hadn't seen in 13 years—Robert of Brooklyn, N. Y., Charles of Detroit, and Kenneth of Washington, D. C.

The Rev. Edmund Berkeley of Galilee Episcopal church and Mrs. Berkeley are spending a few days with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stoy in Alexandria.

Mrs. R. E. Townsend of Linkhorn drive has returned to her home after visiting in Florida and spending the Thanksgiving holidays with her mother, Mrs. Hampton Brown in Centerville, Maryland.

John L. Whitehead of Radford has been elected rector of the Longwood College board of visitors. His daughter, Mary Scott, teaches at Virginia Beach.

Maryanne Jean Whitwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Nelson

ENGAGEMENTS

ENGLANDER - SHEFFIELD. VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Paul Rutledge have announced the engagement of her daughter, Valdon Elizabeth Englander, to William David Sheffield of Norfolk.

Miss Englander is also the daughter of Robert Paul Englander of Charlottesville.

Mr. Sheffield is the son of Mrs. Harry Lewis Pugh of Charlottesville and William Thomas Sheffield also of Charlottesville.

The couple plans to be married in the spring at Virginia Beach.

Whitwell, 5065 School road, has been selected to be a hall proctor for the East Wing of Umstead Hall, East Carolina College largest residence hall for freshman women.

Mrs. H. E. Vick and daughter, Lynda, of Maryland avenue spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. Vick who is a patient in a hospital near Charlottesville. They carried a turkey dinner and enjoyed a fast but thankful trip, leaving Virginia Beach at 7 a.m. and returning at 6 p.m.

NEW MEMBER HOSTS CHRISTMAS TEA

LYNNHAVEN — Mrs. William Parramore, one of the newest members of the Linkhorn Park Garden Club, opened her home in North Atlanta to members and guests for the highly successful Christmas Tea held last Friday.

Cavalier GC

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Gilmore Tibbott gave her report on the meeting of the Virginia Beach Council of Garden Clubs at the November meeting of the Cavalier Garden Club held recently at the Princess Anne Country Club.

By working together, the clubs plan to have a crepe myrtle trail beginning on either side of the general Hospital of Virginia Beach and continuing on First Colonial Road and Laskin Road. Money was contributed by twenty-eight members to buy the trees which will be planted along the right of ways. The program on Christmas arrangements was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Treschow who displayed eyes she had made with explanations and instructions on how each was constructed.

Mrs. J. W. Murphy was welcomed into the club as a new member.

Those receiving ribbons for horticulture were Mrs. C. G. Baughman, blue; and Mrs. G. A. McGuire, red.

Blue ribbons for arrangements went to Mrs. Vernon J. Honeycutt, Mrs. R. H. Spessard Jr., and Mrs. G. M. Whitehurst; reds to Mrs. S. R. Brockebrough and Mrs. Baughman; and yellows to Mrs. H. Webb Brown and Mrs. McGuire.

The December meeting is to be a Christmas Tea in the home of Mrs. William J. Vaughan, Ridge Road, on December 15 at 3 p.m.

Wolfsnare Plantation GC

LYNNHAVEN — Mrs. Malcolm Todd spoke on "Christmas Decorations" at the recent meeting of the Wolfsnare Plantation Garden Club. Mrs. A. P. Calhoun was the hostess.

In the horticulture class, Mrs. R. W. Elliott received a blue ribbon.

Mrs. Calhoun, Mrs. J. C. Pike, and Mrs. M. J. Schwartz won the red awards for artistic arrangements.

FUNERAL

VICTOR HUGO MILLER, 70, of 4902 Ocean Front has died in his home. He was a World War I veteran, and the husband of Mrs. Gladys Brooks Miller.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Victor John Miller of Virginia Beach and Harold E. Miller of Miami.

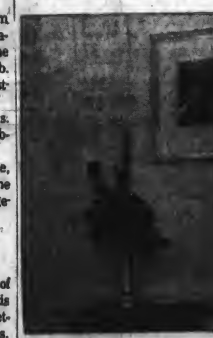

The doorway was decorated with wreaths of shellacked nuts and berries, accented by running cedar and greenery framing the main entrance. Guests were greeted by their hostess Mrs. Parramore and her daughter, Barbara Jean, and the social committee of Mrs. T. W. Howard Jr., Mrs. Mallory R. Ferrell, and Mrs. W. F. Foley.

Seasonal arrangements designed by the members of the club decorated the tables and dainty sandwiches, cookies and candy carried out the decor and spirit of abundance. Pouring from the silver tea and coffee sets at each end of the banquet table were Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. H. Thomas Rose, Mrs. William H. Phillips and Mrs. R. K. Molloy.

The punch table featured a cloth edged with Battenburg lace holding the silver punch bowl flanked by frosted grapes, ivy and small rosettes of holly and cranberry and was designed by Mrs. Thomas Follary.

From 3 to 5 p.m., those attending observed with interest the judging of the displays submitted by members and placed in each room in the house. Mrs. H. A. Holt Jr. received the coveted Gold Award for her single candle arrangement in the drawing room, while the tri-color award went to Mrs. J. James Davis who designed the doorway. Blue ribbons were awarded to Mrs. Laurence Cole, Mrs. Follary, Mrs. D. W. Gregory, Mrs. E. A. Hoffmeister, Mrs. Sam Meredith, Mrs. Molloy, Mrs. Emerson Plank, Mrs. Rose, and Mrs. Elmer Tarrall. Miss Mary Elizabeth Crump won a red ribbon and a yellow ribbon went to Mrs. Richard W. Barnes.

Mrs. Follary announced that the Outdoor Decorations contest will be entered by the Linkhorn Park Garden Club and that members wishing to enter may contact her at 428-5500. Porch lights should be on at 5 p.m. on December 29, the day of the judging.

Mrs. Holt's gold award featured a single candle decorated with Christmas greenery and golden accents which graced the piano in the drawing room.

Hostesses greeting guests at the Christmas Tea were Mrs. Parramore, Mrs. Howard, president, and Mrs. Follary.

Mrs. Rose pours for Mrs. Tarrall, Mrs. Mary C. Edgar, Mrs. John Wool, and Mrs. W. G. Ashman.

The elegant punch bowl setting was presided over by Mrs. Follary and Mrs. Emswahan.

Presiding over the coffee was Mrs. Bell pouring for Mrs. E. Blosser while Miss Barbara Parramore and Mrs. P. C. Hartman chat in the background.

R. O. Abbott's recent holiday guest was Robert Ebbes, a Kelam High school graduate and a promising writer and poet who will shortly enter the service. Mr. Ebbes is a former high school teacher and makes his home in the Mayflower.

SHOP EARLY

Christmas is only a few short days away. Have you started your holiday shopping. If not, you should do so soon.

Local stores have a great variety of outstanding values on hand. Merchants have made every effort to stock up and to anticipate every gift-buying need. But, you'll do yourself a favor if you do your shopping as soon as possible and not wait until the very last minute. You'll have more time to look, to compare, and to find just the right item for everyone on your holiday list.

If, for some reason, you haven't yet taken a good look at what local merchants have to offer, we think you'll profit if you do. A good place to begin is by reading the ads in this newspaper.

THANKSGIVING CELEBRATION AT BERKELEY PLANTATION

More than 700 people attended the 34th Thanksgiving Commemoration Service at Berkeley Plantation in Charles City County the Sunday before Thanksgiving.

Celebrating the landing of 38 Englishmen under the leadership of John Woodlief at Berkeley Plantation on December 4, 1619, the settlers came ashore and gave thanks to God, under the instructions, "We ordain that the day our ships arrive at the place assigned for plantation in the land of Virginia shall be yearly and perpetually kept holy as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God."

Dr. Clarence M. Brown, president of the Virginia Thanksgiving Festival, presided. Invocation by the Rev. Thomas A. Garner, rector, Westover Episcopal Church, introduction of guests, then the presentation of a plaque commemorating the site was given to the Virginia Thanksgiving Festival, Inc. by Mrs. Marion Austin Cross, State President of the Virginia Society of Colonial Dames, 17th Century. Malcolm Jamieson, director of the Festival, accepted the plaque.

blessing of the food by the Rev. Thomas G. Garner, the many guests strolled up the hill to the lawn where a dinner of authentic Virginia dishes was served. Red vested waiters in Colonial costume served food which included roasted-plantation turkey, Virginia Smithfield ham, and Benjamin Harrison's favorite dish—fig pudding and hard sauce.

Four members of the Suffolk Chapter, the Virginia Society Colonial Dames XVII Century attended. Mrs. Marion Austin Cross, state president, Mrs. D. Y. Malbon, 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Ethel Butler Saunders, State Treasurer, Mrs. Bernard F. White, President of the Suffolk Chapter, Mrs. Raymond G. Young, Vice-President of the Suffolk Chapter, Mrs. William P. Parramore, State Treasurer, now a resident of Virginia Beach, but a member of the Gov. Francis Wyatt Chapter, Arlington, Virginia, accompanied the Suffolk Chapter members to the celebration.

Two New Films Available

RICHMOND — The Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries recently added 2 new films to its listing of over 70 titles available for group showing throughout the state, according to Education Division Chief J. F. McInteer, Jr. "Camping—A Key to Conservation" is a 23 minute sound-color production illustrating how experiences in the outdoors like camping can develop an appreciation and genuine concern for our outdoor resources. The film's point is that if more of our citizens, both children and adults, could enjoy outdoor experiences with depth, our problems of littering and other desecrations of the outdoor landscape would be lessened.

"Islands of Green" is a 24 1/2 minute presentation in sound and color which points out how maintaining some of our environment in its natural state is essential to our well being. The film covers the preservation and wise use of natural areas ranging from our large National Forest tracts down to small "islands of green" in and near our metropolitan areas.

Game Commission films are available free for showing to any organized group in the state. Titles include natural history subjects, wildlife management, hunting and fishing techniques and hunting and boating safety. These films are a good means of living-up sportsmen's club meetings during drier winter months.

Borrowers are obligated to pay only return shipping and insurance charges. Films should be reserved at least 2 weeks in advance to insure a good selection. A complete listing of available titles may be obtained from the Film Library, Box 1042, Richmond, Virginia 23213.

V.B. Bar Elects 1966 Officers

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Bar Association elected next year's officers at its regular monthly meeting at the Black Angus last week.

Stanley A. Phillips, assistant City Attorney, said Henry L. Lamb was elected president, Austin E. Owens was elected vice-president, J. Frank Gallagher was elected secretary and Thomas C. Broyles was elected treasurer.

Phillips said the purpose of the Virginia Beach Bar Association is to keep a high standard of ethics in the law profession.

He said the membership has increased considerably since last year at this time. Phillips said the association now has between 30 and 35 active members.

The new officers will officially take their offices Jan. 5, the next regular monthly meeting.

Building Sets New Record

VIRGINIA BEACH — The world's largest resort city continues to lead a four state area in building gains. By the end of November building permits issued were valued at $60.8 million.

Records show that businesses and residences are leading the rapid building pace.

Trough the end of November, the city has issued 3,300 building permits valued at $60,803,400. City officials expect the record value of $60,100,000 to be easily broken when December's totals are added on.

Housing, despite slackening off somewhat, continues to lead as the pace-setter in Beach construction.

Breaking it down, the city has issued 2,000 housing permits valued at $41.1 million, 96 commercial permits valued at $5 million, and 20 permits for churches, schools and other public buildings valued at $7.3 million.

Last year through November the city had issued 3,177 housing permits valued at $40.3 million, 96 commercial permits valued at $3.4 million, and 26 permits for churches, schools and other public buildings valued at $3.3 million.

SPAGHETTI

LYNNHAVEN — Disabled American Veterans Chapter No. 29 will hold a spaghetti dinner at Scott Memorial Methodist Church on Friday, December 10 at 7 p.m.

The ladies of Cloude Babson Circle and their families will also attend.

Connie Ray Jones has been chosen for the executive board in a recent election of officers for the student government of the residence halls at the University of South Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. White of Old Neck road had as their Thanksgiving guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Newman of Martinsville. Mr. Newman was recently transferred as assistant-manager of Rose's Thirty-first street store to an executive position with Rose's in Martinsville. Mrs. Newman, the former Miss Bonnie White, is a resident here.

DORIS PADRICK'S VIEW of VIRGINIA BEACH

Tempit fugit . . . only a little over two weeks more to complete all your frenzied holiday preparations. For the children the days are moving at a snail's pace while for you there never seems to be enough time nor money nor energy to get everything done that you want to accomplish.

Changing goals to goals might come about by changing attitudes. What has to be done has to be done, but how you do it can help you create miracles.

Cooking and decorating and shopping . . . how to get it all done! Probably first the cooking, so set aside one whole day and do nothing but cook.

And don't invite someone special to share your kitchen — a new belle or a busy grandma, or maybe even some of the neighborhood children.

Many young brides live far from their families and are facing their first Christmas as the "lady of the house." This can be rather frightening. Perhaps you remember your struggles with seemingly complicated holiday recipes; now you can get in the kitchen and with hardly any thought at all turn out delicious desserts. Showing her the difference between whip and stir and fold might seem like a minor thing, but new wives need the guiding hands of older housewives. Your experience along with your friendly and helpful hospitality are the kind of gift only you can give.

Perhaps there is an older woman alone in your neighborhood. She has probably forgotten more than you will ever know about cooking, but it may have been years since she has had any real reason to cook more than a small portion of anything. Think how she might enjoy bringing some of her prized recipes, measuring out ingredients, being where spicy and sweet odors fill the house, and sharing with you the delight of having the pies and cakes lined up on the sideboard. To her you would be giving the gift of being useful and appreciated.

How about the children? Many mothers are too busy and nervous to be bothered with letting the children mess up the kitchen. But children do love to make things, especially candy, and especially at Christmas. If you prepare yourself with an extra measure of patience, this could be the most fun cooking session you will have. To them you would be giving the gift of attention.

None of these things will be found wrapped up in pretty paper nor can they be purchased from a store.

But you can give them any time, any place and to anyone.

When you give of yourself, you receive the blessings of a joyous spirit that belongs in your home all during this special holiday season.

COX AND KELLAM ARE NAMED IN MEETING

VIRGINIA BEACH — Kellam High School and Cox High School were named to membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at the Association's annual meeting in Richmond last week.

According to Jefferson Davis, Kellam Principal, membership in the organization puts the two schools on an educational level with the best schools in the South.

"We're proud to be a member of the Southern Association. We have been working to achieve membership in this organization since Kellam opened its doors four years ago. When our students enter college or look for a job, it will be to their advantage that they graduated from an accredited high school," commented Davis.

Kellam High, a campus style educational facility, was opened in 1962. Located near Princess Anne Court House, the school serves over 2000 students from Plaza, Malibu, Back Bay, Courthouse, Blackwater, Pungo, Sandbridge, and Kempsville. Kellam accommodates grades 8 through 12 with a staff of nearly 100 persons.

Cox High School, on Great Neck Road serves a large part of the heavily populated area of Lynnhaven Borough between Virginia Beach Blvd. and the Shore Drive. Virginia Beach now has four schools that are accredited by the Southern Association: Princess Anne, Virginia Beach, Cox, and Kellam.

To gain membership in the Southern Association, applicant schools must meet certain standards of excellence. Every phase of the school program is examined and evaluated in light of the principles set forth by the Southern Association.

School administrative efforts, professional proficiency of school personnel, academic achievement of students, availability of modern teaching devices, utilization of community resources, and adequacy of the school building are included in the critical examination of the school.

The school library must contain a minimum of five usable and acceptable volumes per student.

Financially the member school must provide $2,250 for the first 1000 students, and $1.00 per pupil must be provided for enrollees above that number.

A detailed annual report must be submitted to the Southern Association each year. Schools can be dropped from membership if they do not continue to meet the standards of educational excellence.

The Southern Association of Secondary Schools was created in 1912 to bring about improvement of educational standards in the South.

Postal Retiree

E. L. Shean (left), assistant postmaster of Virginia Beach, will retire after 37 years of service with the U. S. postal service in the Virginia Beach system, on December 30. A. Hugh Simmons has retired as of November 30 as the superintendent of mails. He served 34½ years in the Virginia Beach system and has seen it grow from 5 mail carriers to the approximately 140 routes which are now being served. Both are native born and well-known to the populace of Virginia Beach. (Staff photo by Padrick).

St. Clair Gifts is a new shop operated by Jean and Bill Phillips. It is located on the corner of Atlantic Avenue and 26th Street adjoining the Halifax Hotel. (photo by Cassandra)

GIFT SHOP IS FAMILY AFFAIR

By DOUGLAS ARNOLD BARNES
When Kitchin's Kitchen on 26th Street and Atlantic Avenue moved adjacent to its old location into more spacious quarters of the new Seahawk Motel, the genial crowds were gone . . . the place was dark. Not so any more—for Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips have opened a well-stocked gift shop called St. Clair Gifts. The name is a family one of Jean's. And personifying her good taste and artistic temperament as well as sagacious business acumen, the unique shop portrays the charm of the entire family.

Assisted by their three daughters, Verna Marie, Jean, and Billye (and helped at times by a cousin, Miss Virginia Cole) the Phillips have their shop ready for Christmas. The doorway is a large white package tied in green which opens into a shop featuring a variety of gifts at reasonable prices.

Featured are distinctive Christmas candles, vases, ball trays, whistles, wrappings, and refreshingly new novelties and knickknacks. Bill Phillips, who is the deputy commissioner of Revenue of Virginia Beach as well as the director of the Rescue Squad and on the State Board of the Game Society, is sometimes enjoyed in helping out at night.

Mrs. Phillips is a former president of the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and presently a representative to the Garden Council from the Linkhorn Park Garden Club. Her varied experiences and interest along these lines have contributed greatly to the distinctive decor and motif of St. Clair Gifts.

Browsers are particularly welcomed at St. Clair's and will enjoy hospitality without high pressure salesmanship.

MAILHES ELECTED

VIRGINIA BEACH — Albin R. Mailhes, director of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, has been elected president of the Travel Promotion Association of Eastern Virginia.

Mailhes succeeds William T. Monroe, Jr. of Norfolk.

He was elected at the Association's annual meeting of the Board of Directors.

Three years ago, the organization was formed to promote travel and the tourist industry in Tidewater.

At the meeting, the board voted to continue its sponsorship of the information booth at the southern end of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

A report to the board revealed an increase in off-season tourism and in inquiries about the area.

VBA Credit Policy Conference

RICHMOND — More than 250 bankers from throughout Virginia attended the annual Credit Policy Conference of the Virginia Bankers' Association in Richmond Dec. 8.

Seven economists and bank officers highlighted the day-long event, which was based on the theme, "Credit Policies in a Rapidly Changing Economy."

Dr. Carl H. Madden, director of the Economic Research Department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, launched the 9:30 a.m. program at the John Marshall Hotel with a speech on "The Economic Outlook."

The conference, sponsored by the Committee on Credit Policy of the Virginia Bankers Association, also featured Dr. Robert P. Black, vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, who discussed the "Changing Complexion of Virginia's Economy" and Morris A. Schapiro, chairman of a New York bank security broker firm, who spoke on "Capital Adequacy."

Area viewpoints on "Suggested Loan Policies" were discussed by Paul O. Hirschbiel, senior vice president of Seaboard Citizens National Bank in Norfolk; Lewis W. Harrison, vice president of the National Bank and Trust Co., Charlottesville; Thomas E. Seibell III, president of the First and Citizens National Bank in Alexandria, and Edward H. Ould, president of the First National Exchange Bank of Virginia, Roanoke.

Hovey S. Dabney, resident of National Bank and Trust in Charlottesville, and chairman of the VBA Credit Policy Conference, presided over the meeting.

23 New Projects Completed

RICHMOND — Projects costing $487,500 have been completed or authorized since a short-range improvement program to eliminate hazards on older roads and streets was launched last year, the State Highway Department said today.

The work, being conducted in cooperation with the federal Bureau of Public Roads, is part of a national program called for by President Johnson in March, 1964. Virginia highway spokesmen said today that 23 projects costing $163,000 have already been completed, with the work having occurred in each of the State's eight highway districts.

Eleven turning lanes have been constructed, five intersections have been reconstructed, four bridges have been widened or strengthened, motorists' sight distance has been improved at one point, and two pavement widening projects totaling more than four miles have been completed.

In addition, work authorized—but not yet completed—will provide an additional 20 turning lanes, reconstruction at five more intersections, improvements on two bridges and more than seven miles of pavement widening and eight distance work.

Checks Mailed To Treasurers

NORFOLK — L. L. Eley, Jr., Norfolk District Manager of the Virginia Electric and Power Company, has presented checks to city and county treasurers in Veeco's Norfolk District in payment of real estate and personal property taxes aggregating $2,014,428.

The largest check of $494,934 went to Norfolk City Treasurer, Alex H. Bell, being the final installment of the 1965 tax of $635,440 payable to the City.

Other cities receiving checks included: Chesapeake, $449,724, being the final installment of the 1965 tax of $617,430; Virginia Beach, $317,913; Portsmouth, $49,438 being the final installment of the 1965 tax of $85,391 and Suffolk, $12,983.

The largest county check of $79,741 went to Nansemond County. Other counties receiving checks included: Isle of Wight, $40,070, and Southampton, $25,468.

Veeco's real estate and personal property tax bill for all cities and counties in Virginia in which the company operates totals over $5,500,000 for 1965 as compared to $6,200,000 in 1964.

In addition, Veeco also paid state taxes of $7,651,108 earlier in the year. Veeco is the state's largest corporate taxpayer. The total federal, state and local taxes payable by Veeco in 1965 will amount to over $46,300,000, or nearly 21 cents of every dollar of revenue that Veeco will collect during the entire year.

Area Opening Planned In '66

VIRGINIA BEACH — The City Planning Commission said last week that the 144-acre tract of land purchased by the city for recreation areas south of Sandbridge may be open by next summer.

F. Mason Gamage, planning commission director, said private developers will bring a road, which they are building now, to within 400 feet of the area, and the city will build the rest.

Gamage said some initial development of the park, such as temporary parking and picnic areas probably will be ready by then. Gamage also said the city might use the abandoned Little Light Coast Guard Station for toilet facilities. Cost estimates for the temporary facilities were between $3,000 and $5,000.

Richard Webbon, the city's Washington liaison for securing federal grants said there is a possibility of getting an addendum grant which would provide money for the park's development. Such grants are available to cities under the community facilities program.

The city has also applied for federal funds to cover half of the land's $922,000 cost.

Adam Thoroughgood House in Bayside will be open to the public on December 10, 11, 12, 17, 18, and 19. Weekday hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. and Sundays from noon to 3 p.m. Admission is 50c for adults and 25c for children. Thoroughgood House has been decorated for the Christmas season by the members of Thoroughgood Garden Club in the manner of the seventeenth century. On Mondays, the Madrigal Singers from Cox High will sing at 7 p.m. Mrs. D. S. Sheap, chairman, and Mrs. M. F. McAfee, co-chairman, are in charge of decorations and arrangements. Thoroughgood Garden Club will hostess the event. (Boice photo).

Yule Log To Be Lighted Friday

BAYSIDE — One of the grand traditions of Tidewater — the lighting of the Yule Log in Adam Thoroughgood House — will be renewed Friday, December 10 at 10:30 in the morning.

The ritual is re-enacted in the Seventeenth Century form in which the builder of this, the oldest brick home in America; originally conducted it in 1636.

The classic little house, nesting on the banks of the Lynnhaven River, will be garlanded with traditional decorations of native greens for the ceremony, made by the members of the Thoroughgood

Garden Club.

The colorful ritual of the Yule Log is faithfully followed at Thoroughgood House, with the log being lighted this year by "Adam Thoroughgood" in the person of Commander Norrie Martin (Royal Navy, retired). Commander Martin has played the role on many occasions, including the recent dedication of Norfolk's new City Hall. He also narrates the movie, "The Norfolk Tour," regarded nationally as one of the best of the current travel films.

The origins of the Yule Log are lost in the dim beginnings of English folklore. But, when the first English settlers faced the wilds of the New World alone in the early years, the ceremony assumed new meaning and importance in colonial life.

The life was hazardous and filled with fear—real and imagined. And the Yule Log ward off the evils which might beset a household, if the fire died before Christmas day. To guard against this, a member of the family tended the blaze through the night.

The ceremony begins with the youngest child of the household pouring wine on the log; a prayer is offered, the log lighted, the Yule Log toasted in wine by the householders.

Then a taper is lit, from which all other candles in the home are lighted. Candles are placed in the windows to guide Christ to the door and invite him to enter.

Decorations were made of special greenery, mistletoe, a pagan symbol of fertility, was hung under the "kissing ball," which was suspended from the ceiling and contained images of the Holy family. This is the origin of the modern Christmas tree ornament. The Christmas tree itself was brought to America from Germany and gained popularity in the 19th century.

Other shrubs included holly and ivy, both sacred. They were handled reverently, and the Yule Log itself was touched, only by clean hands.

In the Thoroughgood ritual, "Adam Thoroughgood" will make the Yule toast. Norfolk Councilman Sam Barfield will offer the prayer. Mrs. Martha Lindeman, director of Thoroughgood House, and her staff, all in costumes of the period, will assist.

The traditional ornaments of greenery will be made by the members of Thoroughgood Garden Club, under the direction of Mrs. D. S. Sheap, chairman of the Thoroughgood Christmas Program. Mrs. Harry Olford is president of the sponsoring group; Mrs. M. C. Dixon and Mrs. E. E. Goldsby are vice presidents; Mrs. L. B. Finkler and Mrs. H. B. Braswell are secretaries; and Mrs. T. W. Gray is treasurer.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Regular admission of 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children, will be charged.

Out-of-town visitors desiring to attend may find Thoroughgood House by following the distinctive blue-and-gold Norfolk Tour sign east from Norfolk on Little Creek Road; by asking for directions in service stations displaying the Norfolk Tour Information sign; by inquiring at any Peoples Drug Store in Tidewater; or by writing the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce, 269 Boush Street, telephone MA 23212.

Also at Thoroughgood House on December 12 and 19 at 7 p.m. the Madrigal Singers of Cox High School will sing 17th Century Christmas Carols.

Juveniles Are Charged

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two juveniles who ran away from home twice have been charged with two break-ins at the Peppermint Beach Club, a break-in at the Surf Rider Restaurant, and shoplifting from the Western Auto Store, according to police.

The two youths, aged 13 and 15, were picked up last week by Patrolman John M. Steadman, who spotted them breaking into a pinball machine at the 17th Street Laundry, police said.

Police said the youths first ran away on the weekend of Nov. 23, breaking into the club and the restaurant. The $185 netted in the two break-ins was used to purchase bus tickets for Baltimore, police said. The two youths were picked up by Norfolk police before they could leave the area, police said. The second break-in at the Peppermint Beach Club netted about $100.

According to police, the youths were convicted last month for burglarizing a Princess Anne Plaza store. No disposition of their cases had been made pending the outcome of a probation report.

The 13-year-old was on probation for an arson conviction earlier this year and the 15-year-old has a police record in Norfolk, police said. The youths will be given a hearing Dec. 16 in Juvenile Court.

Nov. Increase Announced

CAPE CHARLES — The Chesapeake Bay Bridge and Tunnel District has reported a November traffic increase of 3,282 vehicles over November 1964.

Officials said the percentage increase for November, traditionally a slow month for travel, was 4.4% for traffic and 3.5% for toll revenue. Gains for the previous four months ranged considerably higher, averaging 10.3% for traffic and 8% for revenue.

Toll receipts last month amounted to $507,585. In November 1964, 74,247 vehicles paid $460,288 in tolls.

J. Clyde Morris, Executive Director, said the 2,000,000th vehicle is expected to cross the Bridge-Tunnel about December 13 during the facility's 19th month of operation. He said no special observance of the event is planned.

SCOTCH PINES GO ON SALE

VIRGINIA BEACH — Scotch Pine Christmas trees will go on sale under the sponsorship of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Virginia Beach Lodge No. 2208 during the days and nights between December 10 to 24, at 19th Street and Pacific Avenue, just across from the Civic Center.

The sale of the Christmas trees will be for the benefit of the needy, and for the children's Christmas party at which Santa Claus will preside, and for the giving of gifts for the children and families in need.

The Lodge greatly appreciated the support given by the people of Virginia Beach to the recently held concert of Father Flanagan's Boys Town Choir, which benefited the general hospital of Virginia Beach and the Elks' charities.

And it is hoped that more support will be given by purchasing one of the most outstanding trees grown for the holiday season.

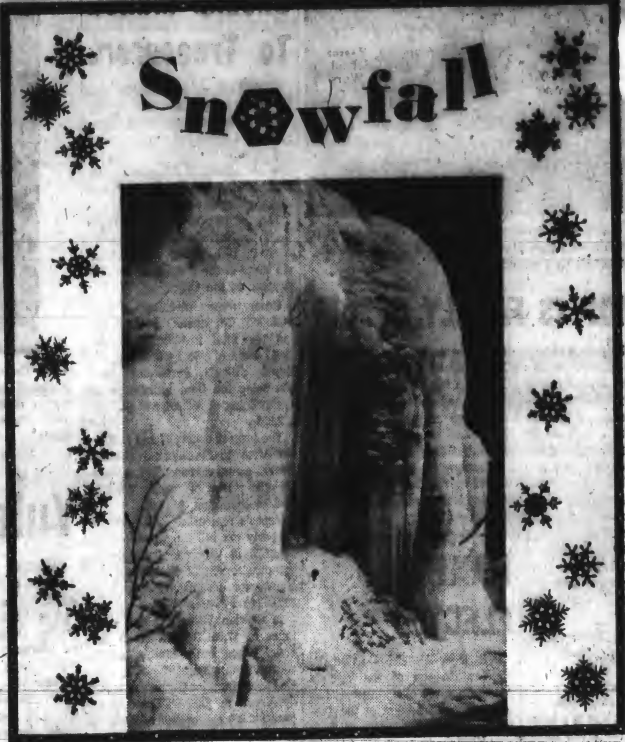

PARENTS TO MEET

VIRGINIA BEACH — An open Board Meeting will be held by the Virginia Beach High School Parents' League on Tuesday, December 14, at 8 p.m.

All parents are invited to attend.

STRONG CHURCHES...

make STRONG COMMUNITIES

Snowfall

It snowed yesterday and when it stopped, I walked along the creek in a world of frosty splendor. The woods were hushed in majestic stillness, and I tread softly. A joy screeched overhead, and bending trees shivered steadily, with squeaking ice-coated branches. The falls at the curve of the creek stood immobilized with hoarfrost and icicles, but bending near I heard soft and surely the murmur of the moving creek beneath the load-bearing surface.

It came to me, how like that creek, my faith has been. At times this faith has been covered by rimes of doubt and selfishness. Often it has been embittered by anguish and despair. But always under that glacial exterior there coursed a stream of consciousness that knew no turning from God—and the things I had been taught from childhood.

How glad I am my parents took me to church and brought me up with such a sure knowledge of God's love that it sustained me even when I tried to turn from His ways.

- THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four great reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Try to go to church weekly and read your Bible daily.

VIRGINIA'S winner in the national 4-H home economics competition, Miss Ruth Ann Oliver of Virginia Beach, is congratulated by Robert E. Brooker, left, president of Montgomery Ward, and Norman C. Mindrum, right, director of the National 4-H Service Committee. The occasion was a reception and dinner given by Montgomery Ward, sponsor of the home economics program, on Sunday, November 28, in the Mid-America Club overlooking Chicago's skyline. The event honored 50 national and state winners in the program who were attending the annual 4-H Congress in Chicago as guests of Wards, for 43 years a national sponsor of 4-H activities. More than a million future homemakers competed in the nationwide home economics program.

Group Urges Payment

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Citizens Council for Better Government in Virginia Beach is distributing handbills urging Beach residents to pay their poll taxes for state and local elections early next year before the Dec. 14 deadline.

Joseph Russo, president of the newly formed political group, said his organization began passing out 15,000 handbills last Thursday.

The group also contacted people by telephone, urging them to pay poll taxes for which they were billed by the City Revenue Commission.

ANNUAL MEETING AT ST. FRANCIS

LYNNHAVEN — St. Francis' Episcopal Church held its 3rd-annual congregational meeting Sunday at 11:30 A.M., after the Order for Daily Morning Prayer.

An annual report from the Vicar, The Rev. Clayton E. Crigger, and leaders of various organizations were presented. The Congregation gave the Vestry its vote of confidence for the 1966 Budget, which was turned in to the Department of Missions of the Diocese of Southern Virginia last week. St. Francis' Budget for 1966 will be $47,067.30.

A rotating Vestry was established and the following communicants were elected as Vestrymen beginning their respective terms in January, 1966: 3 year term: William C. Meyer, J. David Arnold and Charles E. Garrison; 2 year term: William T. Ashworth, Ronald V. Gillette, and Kenneth B. Newcome; and 1 year term: Alton P. Stone, Jr., Eldon B. Adams, and Donald L. Brittingham.

God willing, the Mission anticipates Independent Parish Status in 1967, since its conception there have been 50 Baptisms and 30 Confirmations. Approximately 100 families look to the Mission as their Church home. Two and one half years ago St. Francis' began holding services in Rinaldi's Plaza Bowl with no known communicants in June of 1963. Church School has 180 on roll. Church attendance is averaging over 125 each Sunday.

Common Glory Rescheduled

WILLIAMSBURG — "The Common Glory," 35 year veteran of outdoor drama, will be shown here again this summer.

The boards of directors and trustees of the Jamestown Corporation, the non-profit organization that produces the show, announced Saturday the return of the drama to Lake Matoaka Amphitheater in 1946 for a 10 week season.

Samuel M. Bemiss of Richmond, president of the corporation, noted that the boards, here for their annual meeting, were encouraged by the results of the 1945 season and gratified with the support rendered by local citizens. Discussed at the meeting were preparations for a long-range program to continue and improve "The Common Glory" production.

Bemiss announced that the "Glory" played to 45,156 persons during the 1945 season, an increase of 30 per cent over 1944. Since its inception, more than one and a third million persons have attended the drama.

DAR Birthday Luncheon Held

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Princess Anne County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held a birthday luncheon last Saturday at The White Heron Motel. A meeting followed the luncheon with Mrs. J. Fletcher Bryant presiding.

Mrs. Welton Hampton gave a brief talk on National Defense, urging everyone to aid, assist and support every patriotic endeavor within the community.

Mrs. William Parramore of 1837 Windy Ridge Point was welcomed into the chapter as a new member.

Chapter members brought gifts to the meeting to be distributed to patients in Williamsburg.

A program of Christmas music, was given by C. B. Pitchford Jr., and after the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed, with members and guests exchanging Christmas gifts.

'Silent Night, Lonely Night'

A Review:

SILENT NIGHT, LONELY NIGHT
Written by Robert Anderson, directed by Lis Sills, and distributed by Samuel French, Inc.

Community theaters have a responsibility to the general public, more often implied than spoken. That obligation is the presentation of good work for public consumption. Such is not the case with the present production at the Virginia Beach Little Theater's Courtyard Playhouse.

Despite the overall blandness of the production, several fine points do stand out. Mac McManus, who played the role of a man whose wife was in an insane asylum, did a beautiful job. His portrayal of this troubled character was above reproach. It is difficult to picture a man such as McManus in such a role after seeing him day after day on television, but his talents made it seem as if you had never seen him before.

Jane Flemming, who played the female lead, seemed nervous, the first scene of the play, but eventually lost her jitters and played the part quite well for the remainder of the production. We assume that her nervousness to the theater had a major role in her nervousness.

Virginia Poulos and Tom Eyerly, who portrayed a newlywed couple, were superb. They should be commended for their fine job in the production.

Penny Martin, who just recently directed the theater's production of "Stop the World," was cast in the part of the maid in a New England inn, where the play had its setting. She was also the assistant to the director. She did a good job in her role. She did, however, commit one theatrical sin: she broke character by coming on stage during the intermission to remove props. It seems to us that some provision could have been made so that the stage crew could have removed props without forcing one of the actors to lose character.

Charles Martin showed promise as a young actor in his part of Jane Flemming's son.

Lighting in the production leaves something to be desired. It was far below the Little Theater's high standards, we are sure.

The set seemed awkward in construction. Painting of the set was ragged and we could see streaks in the paint where not enough was applied. And the type of stage was not really practical with the facilities on hand at the Courtyard Playhouse. The stage is not constructed to take such a realistic set.

Blocking in the production seemed to be off balance on several occasions. Some of the moves made by the actors on stage appeared awkward, unrealistic, and unnecessary.

This production, though not entirely, seemed off of place. The entire play moved slowly.

We feel the overall production was far from the quality we have come to expect from the Virginia Beach Little Theater. We, furthermore, look forward to future productions equal to or surpassing what we have seen in the past.

—Jack Moore

Christmas On The Island

VIRGINIA: In the Circuit Court of the City of Virginia Beach on the 7th day of December, 1965. IN THE MATTER OF: Petition of GEORGE CHRISTOPHER GEORGIADIS to declare Gregory Joseph Shambo legally dead. ORDER: THIS CAUSE came on this day to be heard upon the sworn petition of George Christopher Georgiades to declare Gregory Joseph Shambo legally dead and was argued by Counsel. UPON CONSIDERATION WHEREOF, and it appearing to the Court that the said Gregory Joseph Shambo formerly resided in the County of Princess Anne (now in the City of Virginia Beach), Virginia, and that the said Gregory Joseph Shambo was from the City of Virginia Beach in the year 1967 and has not been seen since that date and has not been heard of since the year 1967. The Court being satisfied that George Christopher Georgiades should be entitled to the proceeds of the said policy with said Policy Life Insurance Company, said policy being numbered 46567, if the said Gregory Joseph Shambo were in fact dead. IT FURTHER APPEARING to the Court that the said Gregory Joseph Shambo has been absent from the City of Virginia Beach for a period of more than seven but less than twenty years. It is therefore ADJUDGED, ORDERED AND DECREED that notice of the petition of the said George Christopher Georgiades be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Virginia Beach Sun News, a newspaper published in the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia and that notice being given that on the 14th day of January, 1966, being two weeks after the final publication as herein provided, that this Court will hear evidence concerning the absence and alleged death of Gregory Joseph Shambo; it is further ORDERED that the Clerk of this Court publish a certified copy of this order in the said Virginia Beach Sun as notice required in this Decree. OF INTEREST TO VETS

By THOMAS A. MOORE Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Bldg., Norfolk, Virginia, at 142 W. York St. A little-noticed section of the new Housing Act of 1965 has solid significance for the veteran who is in the market for a home. The section sets up a new program of low-down-payment, FHA-insured home loans for veterans, regardless of when they were in uniform. It is in effect a "G. I. Bill of Rights" on home loans for veterans who are ineligible for the World War II and Korean "G. I. Bills." Under the new program, a veteran is eligible for low-down-payment terms if he has (1) served 90 days on active duty, (2) was discharged under a condition other than dishonorable and (3) hasn't already received a VA-insured home loan under one of the "G. I. Bills." It authorizes FHA-insured loans of 100 percent of $15,000, 90 percent of the additional value up to $20,000, and 85 percent of any additional value up to $30,000. Thus a veteran could buy a $15,000 home without a down payment; a $20,000 home with a down payment of $500; and a $30,000 home with a down payment of $2,000. (Normally, the FHA requires a three percent down payment for value up to $15,000, 10 percent of the excess to $20,000, and 20 percent of the excess to $30,000.) The law also requires less-stringent credit qualifications for veterans than for non-veterans. Closing costs would continue to be required and the FHA, apparently in an effort to establish some financial commitment by the home buyer under the new law, has required a minimum closing cost of $200. The interest rate for the loans would be the same as for normal FHA financing; 5 1/2 percent plus 1/2 percent premium. Please, visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA In the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of the City of Virginia Beach, on the 3rd day of December, 1965. Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

MOISTURE BARRIERS

This is the time of year when problems with moisture in homes and in farm shelters occur. In cold weather, moisture may condense on windows and other cold wall or ceiling surfaces.

One way to eliminate this problem is to let the inside of the building become as cold as the outside. But this is not practical when we want to keep warm, and to keep poultry and livestock warm.

Another way of solving this problem is by use of vapor barriers. Before discussing these, it may be well to explain the problem by an analogy. If you open a bottle of perfume in one corner of a room, the fragrance will soon permeate the entire volume of air in the room. In the same manner, water vapor contained in the air will mix uniformly throughout the air in the room or building.

The tendency of water vapor to move from an area of high concentration to one of low concentration is caused by water vapor pressure. The more moisture air contains, the greater will be the pressure the moisture exerts.

During winter months when the outside air is cold and can hold much less moisture than the warm air inside, the vapor pressure indoors will be higher than it is outdoors. Water vapor will seek to find its way to the cold outside air. The vapor under pressure will pass through the walls or any surface which permits it to move.

Some materials (such as automobile tires and balloons) do not allow air or vapor to pass through. Other materials, called vapor barriers, are used in homes and animal shelters to slow down or prevent water vapor from passing through walls and other surfaces. In addition to vapor barriers, a combination of insulation and ventilation will reduce problems with moisture condensation in structures.

Some recent research findings give a clue as to the importance of a good vapor barrier. Agricultural engineers at the University of Maine report that the installation of a vapor barrier on the warm side of a wall is very important to keep moisture from condensing on the wall or ceiling surfaces and in the insulation.

Vented exterior walls are necessary to allow moisture vapor to pass through. Lapped joints with at least two-inch overlap are effective as a vapor barrier if the material is held together by an inside sheathing material.

Staples used to hold vapor barriers in place do not greatly affect moisture retarding ability, but small holes in the film do decrease the effectiveness of the film.

Carrier Returns After Seven Months

By THOMAS DUNCAN
VIRGINIA BEACH — Ocean-based Carrier Air Wing Seven (CVG-7) returned to its Virginia Beach base on Sunday, Dec. 12, following a seven-month cruise in the Pacific off Vietnam aboard the USS Independence.

The air wing was met by hundreds of well-wishers as it returned to base.

As the planes of CVG-7 arrived at Oceana, they made a formation pass over the field announcing their return. They were led by an A-1 Intruder aircraft piloted by CDR Harry Gerhard, the commander of the air group.

Landing in close order, the aircraft were then directed to a point outside Danger 22, the home of the Intruders, where the pilots dismounted and were met by their families and friends.

On land at the arrival point were Mayor Frank Beach of Virginia Beach, Rear Adm. D. C. Richmond, the commander Fleet Air North and Capt. D. C. Runyon, the commanding officer of the Oceana Naval Air Station.

Also present were several pilots from the Intruder group, including

Mary Jo Kellan and Lynnell Rays Bass, both from Virginia Beach. As the pilots passed, each was presented with a bottle of champagne and a kiss from the beauty queens.

Especially for the occasion, Frank W. Cox High School Band joined a Navy Band from the staff of Commander Naval Air Force Atlantic. Playing alternately, the two bands provided music for the arrival of the air wing.

The commanding officers of the CVG-7 squadrons were introduced over a speaker system by Commander L. A. Seward, commanding officer of Attack Squadron 42. Commander Seward shared with one of the CVG-7 squadrons before returning to Virginia Beach to assume command of his present squadron. He flew missions over Vietnam during his time with the air wing.

On the side of each aircraft were markings which showed the number of missions the craft had flown. Most ranged well over one hundred missions. The small black bombs represented five missions each.

One aircraft had a special designation on its side, however.

VIRGINIANS WARNED ABOUT MOST DANGEROUS MONTH

RICHMOND — Virginia entered the last, and most dangerous, month of the year with 664 traffic deaths, showing a slight reduction when compared to the 683 for the same period of 1964, according to Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee and Superintendent of State Police.

Traffic volumes for the year are up about 8.3 percent and the death rate (deaths per 100 million vehicle miles of travel) is tentatively set at 4.1, as against the national figure of 3.4. Pedestrian deaths are down from 107 to 105.

Colonel Woodson noted that last December saw 67 deaths, including 36 during Christmas week. In this connection, he had some words of advice for walkers and drivers

1. Don't use alcohol and go into traffic. At least 50 percent of all fatal crashes involve drinking drivers. There is more drinking at this time of year than at any other.
 2. We have more hours of darkness than any other month and the death rate at night is twice that of daylight.
 3. Bad weather can strike at any time.
 4. Traffic is abnormally heavy and both drivers and walkers are prone to be inattentive.
- "Remember," he continued, "even a minor crash resulting in property damage only can take much of the joy out of your Christmas."

YALE LAMBS AT BEACH

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Whiffenpoofs of Yale are the upholders of what is a fine proud college singing tradition. In 1900 it was founded by five students who met and sang at Mary's Temple Bar in New Haven. Today, twelve of the best singers in the senior class boast a repertoire accumulated through 50 years of practice and a schedule covering the East Coast and the Caribbean. And always there is a strong tie with the past based on dedication and enthusiasm gleaned from "Whiff Experience."

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

LYNNHAVEN — "Christmas Spirit" is the title and theme of the Christmas program to be presented Monday evening, December 20, during the regular Parent-Teacher Association meeting held at King's Grant Elementary school.

Miss June Turner will direct.

Lions Selling Trees

Miss Gleen Dodd and John Marr select a Christmas tree for a customer at the Laska Road A & P store. The Virginia Beach Lions Club is selling trees at the lot this year to help defray the expense of their Blind and Sight Conservation program. The sale will continue until Christmas Eve.

COUNCIL CALLS FOR PUBLIC HEARING DECEMBER 27th

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council, at its regular meeting Monday afternoon at Princess Anne Court House, called for a public hearing on two proposed City Charter changes Dec. 27. The first proposed change would raise the amount of revenue bonds council may issue, without a referendum, from $50,000 to $1 million and raise the limit on utility bonds from $1 million to $2 million.

The second issue calls for a change in representation on the Virginia Beach School Board. The proposed change would call for City Council to select one member for the board from each of the seven boroughs and select the remaining four members to represent the city on an at-large basis. Under the charter now, five board members are from the Virginia Beach Borough and the remaining six boroughs have one representative.

PARADE SET FOR SAT.

WILLIAMSBURG — A torchlight parade, the lighting of candles in hundreds of windows, and a merchants' cookie and cider party — all features of the Grand Illumination of the City — will give the Christmas season an official send-off here Saturday evening.

Area residents are invited to join other visitors in inaugurating the two weeks of holiday activities. The militia will march at the Capital at 9:30 p.m., and will lead a parade along Duke of Gloucester Street, terminating at the College of William and Mary. Visitors will fall in step behind the torch-bearing Colonial Militia and Fife and Drum. As the Night Watch at the head of the parade passes each house in the Historic Area, residents will "turn on" their lights.

At the College, President Davis Y. Paschall will give a short welcome and then visitors will be invited to sample cookies and cider at four different locations in nearby Merchants' Square, Carol singers and a fife and drum concert will augment the party, as well as visits to the shops there, especially open for this event.

"Illuminations" of houses, staged in colonial days to mark special occasions, will continue till the Christmas season closes on January 2.

PEMBROKE MANOR CIVIC LEAGUE

BAYSIDE — Pembroke Manor Civic League held a "Children's Christmas Party" at the Pembroke Elementary School Sunday, December 12, from 3:00 to 4:00 P.M. Santa was present and Miss Diana Meads gave a "Puppet Show," and Miss Joyce Gaus presented a Christmas Story.

There was group singing with audience participation. Refreshments for the parents and treats for the children were served.

VBHS Tapping

VIRGINIA BEACH — The National Honor Society of Virginia Beach High School held its annual tapping ceremony Friday, December 10, at the school auditorium.

Presiding over the program was Sherri Fruin, president, who gave a talk on the qualification for membership. Juniors and seniors are elected to NHS membership by the faculty. Election is based on scholarship (student must have a ninety or better average), leadership, character, and service.

Eight seniors and thirty juniors were tapped as new members in an impressive ceremony. They are Rip McGinnis, Bob Gregory, Suzanne Willis, Ernie Miller, Carol Corder, Scott Thompson and Linda Burnock—the seniors; and Penny Brown, Ruby Mellon, Jill Sivertsen, Merle Preston, Linda Leigh, Betsy Harachutz, Mike Bevers, Lucy Wise, Sandra Wareing, Maggie Bevers, Laura Reinhardt, David Woolen, Mike Strickler, Cathy Howard, Larry Chase, Nancy Rutz, Carol Kerr, Frances Gilliam, Nancy Rydell, Vera Cernetic, Martha Page, Sam Arrington, Bobby Britt, Sharron Farmer, Randy Jones, Betsy Ball, Ronald Crawford, Barbara Bell and Bernadette Felton—all juniors.

Two transfer NHS members, Cindy Rutledge, a senior, and Rosa Gregory, a junior, became members of the VBHS National Honor Society.

To add to the meaning and suspense of the tapping, parents of the newly elected students were invited.

SERVICES AT ST. FRANCIS

LYNNHAVEN — St. Francis Episcopal church, 500 Rosemont Rd., will present the Christmas program Sunday evening, December 19 at 7 p.m. "Christmas Around the World" will be the theme.

Miss Kenneth B. Newcome, director, cordially invites the public to attend.

This will be the first Christmas season for the congregation in its new edifice.

Other services planned are on Christmas eve at 11 p.m. and on Christmas day at 10 a.m.

Bay Bridge Tunnel was under construction. The land is located at the end of Pleasant Avenue.

Council Takes Action On Curves

VIRGINIA BEACH — Lynnhaven Councilman James Darden asked City Council Monday to appropriate $20,000 to eliminate three dangerous curves on Great Neck Road. Darden's request came in the aftermath of recent traffic accidents that claimed the lives of three people within a week. The narrow, twisting road connects Virginia Beach Boulevard and Shore Drive.

Recent studies showed that approximately 8,000 vehicles travel Great Neck Road from Shore Drive to its intersection of First Colonial Road daily. From its intersection with First Colonial Road to Virginia Beach Boulevard, approximately 3,000 vehicles travel Great Neck Road. It is in the distance that the majority of the fatal accidents have occurred.

Darden suggested that the city lower the speed limit from 55 miles-per-hour along the road to 45 miles-per-hour. The stretch where most of the accidents have occurred has a 55 mph speed limit. Council approved the speed limit change and the speed limit change.

CITY PLANS SEND-OFF

VIRGINIA BEACH — Hollywood-bound Lynnell Bass, "Miss American Teen-Ager" will leave the Municipal Airport December 20th to the fanfare of the Frank W. Cox High School Band and farewells from Virginia Beach City, School and Chamber officials.

The two week trip to Hollywood is part of her prize for winning the teen-age title at Palisades Amusement Park, New Jersey, September 10th. Highlights of the west coast trip are a cameo-part in NBC's "Dr. Kildare" TV series and an appearance in the Tournament of Roses New Year's Day Parade.

Miss Bass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Bass of Virginia Beach and senior at Frank W. Cox High School, won out over 40 finalists chosen from 200,000 girls who entered the contest this year. As national title she has participated in radio and TV programs in New York and Chicago, had editorial write-ups in National magazines, will appear on the cover of this month's issue of Teen-Life magazine. Among other honors Miss Bass has become UNICEF's teen-age ambassador.

The royal send-off to the Hollywood-bound beauty queen will include Mayor Frank Dusch presenting her with a letter of greetings to the Mayor of Los Angeles, the presentation of a nosegay by City Manager Russell Hatchett and the gift of a Frank W. Cox High School charm by the President of the Student Body.

Also bidding farewell will be Frank Cox, superintendent of schools; Albin Malthea, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce; A. B. Crews, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Walter Carroll, principal and James W. French, assistant principal of Frank W. Cox High School and Jerry Deirney, director of Student Activities.

Commander Harry Gerhard, the commanding officer of Carrier Air Wing Seven, prepares to step from his A-1 Intruder, 1st fighter after the wing's flight from the carrier and its support at Oceana Naval Air Station. His group served seven months in Viet Nam waters flying bombing missions against the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese.

Democratic Committee Meets

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Democratic Committee will meet this afternoon at Circuit Court to consider methods of choosing Democratic candidates for the City Council elections in June.

At the meeting, the committee will call for a primary for Democratic candidates, to be held April 24.

The Democratic Committee will also call for a resolution that requires anyone who wishes to be a candidate in the primary, to file 90 days prior to the primary.

Interested persons must file on or before January 8th.

This meeting comes in advance of the planned reorganization of the Virginia Beach City Council, as ordered by the courts and planned by council itself.

However, before the council can reorganization itself, the move must be approved by the 1966 session of the General Assembly. The city council had, prior to a U. S. District Court ruling, asked its representatives in the General Assembly to bring the matter to the Assembly's attention at the earliest possible date.

U. S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman said last week that the council must reorganize itself by March 14 or the court will take action. This court action came several months after the City Council had held a public hearing on a reorganization plan and had adopted it.

C of C Installs Officers

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce had its installation of officers Tuesday night at the Cavalier Hotel.

Judge Robert S. Walsh, Jr., installed the officers. Those elected were: R. B. Fuller, president; George W. Vahan, first vice-president; William C. Elwood, second vice-president; Mrs. Lucy F. Traflet, secretary; and James G. Kontopoulos, treasurer.

Frank W. Kellan served as the program's master of ceremonies. Outgoing president A. B. Crews presented the Chamber's annual report to the gathering.

Ray B. Smith, the first president of the Chamber when it was founded in 1906 attended the meeting and was presented to the audience.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett brought greetings to the Chamber from the city.

Charles L. McCullers, noted humorist, spoke at the dinner.

During the entire meeting, there was a continual showing of the Virginia Beach promotional film "Years for the Changing."

Approximately 300 persons attended the meeting.

LYNNHAVEN — What the toy store means to children, the decorated Christmas house is to ladies. Various garden club members pool their respective creative ability each season, choose a home of a member, decorate it, then open it for inspection, inspiration, and profit.

Broad Bay Garden Club presented its annual Christmas on The Island last Thursday and the T. E. Hurley home on Bay Island became the host to the many interested visitors. The General Hospital of Virginia Beach benefitted.

The simple elegance of the holiday decor was presented in unusual and appropriate ornamental designs in each room of the modern home which is set out near the tip of Bay Island.

Each guest received the red carpet treatment . . . literally, for the driveway and walkway to the intriguing front door was covered with a mammoth red carpet. Members of the Broad Bay Garden Club acted as hostesses in each of the rooms of the spacious 10-room house.

As well as the beautiful white flocked tree which dominated the living room, oversized gaily decorated boxes accented the stone wall and the large fireplace.

The children's rooms (of the family's three daughters and one son) had the personal touches befitting their ages while the master bedroom's classic design expressed the grace and charm of its occupants. To restrain overzealous inspection, visitors were gently restrained with the subtle use of colorful ribbon barrier tied to rosetted door knobs.

A marzipan tree with its 14-inch cone shaped base was completely covered with marzipan delicacies in the children's rumpus room which also featured a green tree decorated with strands of popcorn and multi-colored ornaments and a roaring fire crackled in the fireplace. Various little elves sat in childlike positions on tables and walls. Mrs. Walter G. Biseck was the decorator.

The country store set up in the Hurley's garage was stocked with all sorts of handmade items, home-baked goods, gifts and gift supplies, and was almost sold out by noon!

As one visitor was heard to remark, "Everything is simply elegant; never have I enjoyed a tour so much!"

It seems the members of the Broad Bay Garden Club just about outdid themselves in every phase of their efforts and they can be proud.

INSTALLATION
LYNNHAVEN — The London Bridge Home Demonstration Club will hold its Christmas Party meeting today, beginning at 10:30 a.m. at the London Bridge Baptist Church.

A covered dish luncheon will be served after the installation of officers and gifts will be exchanged.

Refreshments of Christmas cookies and hot spiced cider were served in the country store by Mrs. James W. White, corresponding secretary of the club. So many requests for the recipe were asked of Mrs. White that she wrote it out for all interested: 1 gallon cider; 1 cup sugar; 1/2 tsp. salt; 24 whole cloves; 32 whole allspice; 6 short cinnamon sticks. Bring to a boil. Set overnight. Reheat.

Dazzling white accented with aqua and blue ornaments was the color theme of the lovely tree which stood by the picture window drawing the attention of all who entered.

LET'S TALK FASHION & GIFTS
By ALICE BREWER WHITE
Believe it or not, chiffon has become newly important in cruise and resort wear fashions. It's a year-round fabric and will be seen before and after five on smartly dressed women. The beautifully draped chiffons are especially popular and most of them are severely simple in design. New colors, like the soft tones of peach, citron, melon and coral and, naturally, the ever-popular beige tones are all good. Shifts are still good for relaxing in cruise wear. Usually the jackets hang loose in a casual manner, too. Don't forget that jersey not only packs well but wears well on shipboard when the cool breezes blow. The wee cap sleeves which became popular in the past Spring are still favored and the long sleeves, full-length cut wide and caught in at the wrist, are new favorites for Spring. Norma Norell has been showing some smart navy dresses at the U. S. Embassy in Mexico City featured in his newest collection. One a navy jersey pullover, banded in red grosgrain over a pleated white silk crepe skirt. Another in navy crepe with tablecloth hem trimmed in white was designed by Lee Narducci while Jacques Tiffess's was a navy huper skirt and top—a fun dress—with red, white and blue beading. For special glamour, the gal who likes to "put it on" can find many gowns adorned with feathers or fringe or with ruffled hemlines. From "the thirties" there is a revival afoot for the all-over fringe dress and the fringe-banded dress. Ruffles are still with us for Spring. Anything that swings and helps the fun along with the present day dances!

HATPINS: SELF-DEFENSE
In Simon and Schuster's new Fireside Calendar and Engagement Book, we came across the following importance of hatpins. How appropriate to bring back hatpins now as protective weapons for the ladies, after dark. "What shall we do in case we are attacked by some thief or ruffian?" is the question women have asked in every part of the country. Few women possess the nerve necessary to use a pistol with effect when attacked. What, then, can be provided for her that will be formidable to a foe, yet absolutely safe, as far as she is concerned, and ever ready at hand, whether wanted for use or not? The New York Tribune Illustrated Supplement of February 7, 1904, had a ready solution: "The answer has been provided by those who make women's hatpins. A hatpin has been designed that is intended primarily for use as a weapon of defense. It is in reality a stiletto, masquerading as an innocent hatpin. It is made of fine steel that will bend but will not break, as sharp as a needle and hardened at the end so that it can be used with deadly effect as a dagger, and with a handle that enables a woman to grasp it for use as a weapon and hold it so that it cannot be easily pulled from her hand. The method of using it to the best advantage is to aim at the face of the highwayman. A woman armed with one of these stilettoes is able to do more damage in a few seconds than a man unarmed. With this in hand the nervous woman is ready for the stranger, whatever his intentions." So, even back in 1907, the gals had to watch out for the molester, the pocketbook snatchers and so on, much like today. How about reviving hatpins for decoration and protection?

GIFT ITEMS
A visit to Willis Hilltop and a tour of the specious furniture store will give you all manner of ideas for those special people's Christmas gifts. Leonard (Ske) Burns is a most helpful host and you'll find those comfy Boston rockers with colorful foam pads, the Lazy Boy reclining rockers that men folks adore, Early American pine buckets, sewing baskets, and magazine racks, stunning Prestige, Almsley and Keystone lamps, unusual cast iron fireplace accessories, brass andirons, wall clocks, sconces and Tole ware lamps and just dozens and dozens of other gift items! . . . Ingrams has a complete line of cosmetics by Revlon, Yardley, Coty, Old Spice, the new Currier and Ives line, Andre Richard with Lanvin's popular cosmetics, especially My Sin perfume and cologne. Such attractively packaged Russell Stover Christmas candies, chocolates and hard candies, and just oodles of boxes for your choice! . . . At the Knit-A-Bit Shop you'll find an extensive collection of knitting bags from $3 to $10.50, knitting stands at $3.50 and stunning hand decorated baskets in gold for $4.25!

SMOKE UP!
You'd just be surprised to know how popular pipe smoking has become for the Fair Sex! At the Sweet Shop, Princess Anne Plaza, we saw some stylish and neat looking ladies pipes. Some with short stems and some exotic ones with long, long gold stems. The little ones sell for $2.95 and the jeweled ones for $7.50. A great collection of pipe tobaccos are here, too. Old English, Tobak's and slews of other brands. We were intrigued with two made in England: Nothing Smoother, and Baby's Bottom. Erringold tobacco is most popular. Handmade wooden pipe racks and humidors make excellent gifts for the Man-in-Your-Life! You'll be fascinated with the

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Military Installations — Our Friends

Through the years, Virginia Beach has lived in "peaceful coexistence" with the military installations on the north and south ends of the beach area. We sincerely hope the situation can and will remain that way. The civilian and military personnel at Fort Story have always cooperated with the Virginia Beach Sun in every way, and so have all those connected with Camp Pendleton. We have done our best to cooperate with them, and as far as we are concerned, that situation will not change. In addition, military and civilian authorities at all government installations within our borders have cooperated with the city in every phase of operation, and the city with them.

We have said it before, and we say it again that we are fully cognizant of the importance of the military to the economy of Virginia Beach, and we welcome proudly all military personnel and their dependents who reside in our city.

Recently the City Manager of Virginia Beach made inquiries in what he has termed "the normal course" of his duties, concerning the future status of Fort Story and Camp Pendleton. When this became known, much was made of it, and according to a resolution passed by City Council, "Certain news articles have created a misunderstanding of the purpose of such inquiry. . . . Council's resolution also states that no City official or anyone connected with the government of Virginia Beach wishes to see Fort Story closed, and that the City of Virginia Beach has no intention of urging the closure as long as a useful purpose is being served. However, the resolution does say that at such time as either Fort Story or Camp Pendleton is no longer needed, the City is interested in the ultimate disposition. To our way of thinking, this is only correct and fair.

We absolutely do not believe that even discussion of Virginia Beach acquisition of Fort Story or Camp Pendleton is feasible at this time. We do, however, agree with the City Manager that Virginia Beach should be greatly interested in the two properties, should they ever be declared outmoded and surplus. And we would rather see the city get them, if and when the time comes, rather than the State of Virginia. Obviously the land is ideal for recreational use and for future development of Virginia Beach as a tourist mecca, unmatched anywhere in the world. However, we do not believe that we should question the wisdom of government and civilian officials as to the time and method of disposing of them.

Both areas in question serve unique purposes. Camp Pendleton is the only type of training camp of its kind on the east coast, and with the world situation the way it is today, facilities for training probably will continue to be necessary indefinitely. Fort Story is the only amphibious training base in the United States owned by the Army. It is considered economically impractical and contrary to the successful accomplishment of the amphibious training mission to relocate the activities at Fort Story. Since this is so, we are satisfied with the "status quo," and have no desire to change matters.

Recent discussion concerning Fort Story and Camp Pendleton may possibly have caused some little alarm, but we are quite confident that City officials wish to do nothing that could cause hardship to anyone, especially military affiliated personnel. Those personnel have made important contributions to our city in the past, and we look forward to that continued cooperation by everyone so necessary to the smooth operation of any city.

In short, we would like to see the city get the installations some day, but only if and when there is no military need for them and other arrangements have been made for all concerned. Let us hope that that day can come, some day, it will be a great day in history, because the world will be more at a true peace than it is today.

An Important Meeting

An important meeting of the Virginia Beach Democratic Committee takes place in the Circuit Court this evening. It is probably as important a meeting as has been held in Virginia Beach since the consolidation of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach. It is a meeting of the Democratic leaders of the consolidated city, including City Council members, Constitutional officers and government leaders. Discussion will center around the forthcoming City Councilmatic election, expected to be held in June.

Just what will come out of the meeting is open only to speculation. Council's own plan for reapportionment will be fully aired along with the implications of Judge Hoffman's order to reapportion. The way we see it, there is little doubt that Council's plan for an eleven-man council, to be made up of Borough and at-large representation, will receive the most discussion. There should be little discord, since the plan was approved unanimously by City Council some time ago.

What probably will be discussed the most are the mechanics of a City Council election, earlier than it normally would have been held. We expect full discussion of a Democratic primary, with probable plans to hold that primary sometime in April. That means that the filing date for candidates is near. And following that primary, the general election, in which all residents of Virginia Beach will vote on eleven Council members, probably will be held in June.

The consolidation of the old City Council and the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors at the time of merger was an expedient move. But now, because of recent developments, the time is upon us to find a more suitable way of representation that will satisfy everyone. Under the proposed system, some of the present Council members may have to lose out or bow out, or even possibly be defeated, but this is all in the name of progress and a good government, close to the people.

We do expect some opposition in selecting the candidates by primary, and we will welcome this opposition, again in the name of good and fair government. We feel certain that the meeting of the Virginia Beach Democratic Committee will iron out the majority of the minor differences of opinion that are bound to arise, and make the right decisions in the best interest of Virginia Beach.

Yes, we do expect some opposition, but for those who are looking for a wholesale fight, we feel they will be sadly mistaken. In this matter, things are far, far smoother than some would have us believe.

MAY IT BE FILLED

Welcome Home, USS Independence

It was an impressive ceremony, not without a sad aspect. The USS Independence, after several months service just off the coast of Viet Nam, returned to her Tidewater home port. She brought with her a brilliant record of combat, and a battle-weary crew. She left behind eighteen planes and sixteen fighting men, lost in the valiant attempt to maintain world peace.

The homecoming spanned two days. The planes and pilots arrived at Oceana on Sunday. No one who witnessed the strict formation fly-over of the entire squadron, or watched the planes peel off for landing from tight groups of four could help being proud of American fighting men. This was the "cream of the crop" coming home with flawless precision after seven thousand sorties. They came home to a richly-deserved and warm welcome. We could not help, however, another glance, or two at the skies after all had landed safely, somehow hoping that those other sixteen men and eighteen planes would miraculously appear. These men, both those who came home and those who did not, are our modern heroes. They have been fighting a modern war that no one wants, but one that must be fought to a successful conclusion.

Then on Monday, the proud Independence herself made her way into Hampton Roads to another warm welcome. It was an emotional homecoming. Relatives of the crew streamed aboard for the just before Christmas reuniting of families. It was a loud homecoming, with bands, cheering and speeches, and they deserved it. It was unfortunate that an accident just before the homecoming injured eleven crew members on Saturday, but thankfully, they too came home. The Independence is an awesome ship and her very superstructure presents an image of strength. Her homecoming was welcome to everyone, regardless of whether we know anyone aboard or not.

We welcome this mighty ship back to her home port, and we wish it were entirely possible for her never to leave again to defend the free world against aggression. Regrettably, this is not the way it is. The Independence and her able sisters will always go wherever they are needed in this troubled world. And her men, not concerned with the burning of draft cards or marching picketers, will go with her, to defend the United States and all it stands for.

The war in Viet Nam, to most of us, is a war being fought in a faraway place. Most of us, however, have relatives or friends there, who won't be home for Christmas. Let us never forget what they are doing there. They are trying to prevent total war and to keep such atrocities away from our shores.

We welcome the men of the USS Independence home, and we offer you our heart-felt thanks for a job well done. We can only express our appreciation to you for the mighty work you have done. Have a merry Christmas, and many happy new years to come.

Congratulations And Best Wishes

Just a week ago, the Virginia Beach Planning Commission chose a new chairman, to fill the vacancy created by A. L. Bonney's move to City Council. The new chairman, J. W. Wood, is an able man, who takes over a position of great importance in our city. In the past few years, planning, both immediate and long-range, has become extremely important to the City of Virginia Beach. And now, perhaps even more than before, as we near the peak of our rapid growth, planning must play an important role in the shaping of the future of Virginia Beach.

Mr. Wood has taken over the helm of a Commission that must continue to look with absolute scrutiny at new road locations, new sites for apartments, housing developments, and the like. This Commission, probably serves one of the most useful purposes of any group in the city. Its recommendations to City Council are instrumental in deciding just what the City will look like in the years to come.

In governmental affairs, the Planning Commission is relatively a new function, but with the advent of rapid growth, it is most necessary. In Virginia Beach, particularly, a city to which a reported one thousand new residents move each month, planning is of major importance. As we have noted many times in the past, development of the mammoth city of Virginia Beach must begin to move southward, since that is the only area left with a large amount of open land. We then look to Mr. Wood and the guidance of the Planning Commission to mold the future topography of Virginia Beach.

To our way of thinking, the Planning Commission has done an excellent job in the past in helping develop such a large and spread out city. To this time, the job of planning has been a tough one, but we believe it now will become more complex, as land becomes more and more scarce. Since there is no indication that the growth of Virginia Beach is near a stall, we turn to the Planning Commission to plan for the new streets, schools, stores, houses and roads.

We are most pleased with the selection of J. W. Wood to lead this important group in its function. We offer him our complete cooperation, along with our congratulations and best wishes. We know he will do the excellent job necessary in the future development of Virginia Beach.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Better Law Enforcement

By Senator PHILIP HART (D-Mich.)
Senator Hart was a sponsor of the Law Enforcement Assistance Act of 1965

For some people, the image of the law enforcement officer is the reflection of a flashing red light in their rear-view mirror. To others, the image may take the form of a policeman's signature on an overtime parking ticket—or a blur of arm signals in the middle of a busy intersection.

THE PROBLEM

But for all of us, there is the growing realization that the role of the law enforcement officer can no longer be described in such simple terms. And in the face of a growing crime rate with its attendant complexities—a crime rate that has doubled since 1940 and is costing us tens of billions of dollars annually.

—It is a performance of duty that becomes more impossible, in the light of undermanned, underpaid and overworked police forces in spite of their outstanding efforts.

There is an acknowledgement among professional law officers of the need for skills and training beyond traditional subjects of police academies. There is a need for training in human relations, police-community relations and in facts about non-violent demonstrations as well as mass disorder.

In 1962, after consulting with the experts in the field of law enforcement from all over the country, I introduced in the Senate the first law enforcement assistance act to provide for Federal aid to police departments.

THE LEGISLATION

The Law Enforcement Assistance Act of 1965 signed into law is not an attempt by the Federal government to supplant the administration of the separate states over their individual law enforcement agencies. As the President stated in his message to Congress, "the principal enforcement responsibility still rests on state and local governments."

What it will do is empower the Attorney General—over a three-year period—to make grants to local agencies and non-profit organizations for the training of state and local law enforcement personnel and those employed in crime prevention programs. Fighting crime effectively under modern conditions and maintaining law and order requires professional police who are expertly trained in a variety of skills.

The bill also provides for Federal support for the development of improved methods of enforcing criminal laws and administering justice.

The Federal Government now provides financial assistance for research and training in other professions—science, mathematics, foreign languages, medicine, nursing. Trained, professional law enforcement personnel are fully as essential to the preservation of our national health and strength—and are no less deserving of increased Federal support.

Your Faith and You

ROBERT H. GARNER

Minister, Tabernacle Methodist Church

According to the Zend-Avesta, the ancient sacred texts of the religion of Zoroastrianism, Ahura Mazda, the god of light and the savior of the world, came into earthly existence on a flaming chariot from the sun. Mithras, the god of an ancient Persian religion, was born into earthly life on the golden rays of the sun breaking across the day. One may also find striking parallels to such glorious dethite births in Greek mythology. The great God Zeus appeared before Persephone arising out of a deep chasm, riding a chariot of dark splendor pulled by fiery-eyed coal-black steeds. Aphrodite, the goddess of love, descended to earth from the clouds in a white chariot pulled by graceful white swans.

In sharp contrast to the advent of the gods, a tiny baby was born on a starry night in Bethlehem in a rude stable. He was one whom we have called the Lord of life. Such an ignominious beginning seems to be a paradox when we consider who he was.

God's ways sometimes appear questionable to us. If we were going to stage the production of the birth of Christ, we would have done it differently. We would have added all the grandeur and magnanimity of a Cecil B. DeMille production. But God chose to use natural means—not fiery steeds or white swans—but a tender and compassionate mother to usher in the earthly life of Christ.

They were all looking for a king
To slay their foes and lift them high.
Thou can't, a little baby thing,
That made a woman cry.
But a stable! Why, of all places, was Jesus born in a stable? It was surely not the place for a baby to be born. It was a place of animals, containing the stench and vermin and filth usually associated with animals. It was a dirty place into which Jesus was born. But yet, when we think of the stable in association with the Christmas story, we do not think of it as a place of dirt; we think of it as a place of everlasting glory—because of him who was born there that night.

In many ways, the world into which Jesus was born was no better than the stable. True, the world of Roman paganism had made great strides in law, architecture, philosophy, the arts, and politics, but it was also a world of inhumanities as well as humanities, a world of crude barbarisms and low morality. But that tiny life which transformed the stable from the place of dirt to the place of glory, also transformed the world. He gave to the men of his day and to us the hope for abundant living, the hope for meaning to our existence, and the hope for eternal life beyond this life.

Our world is waiting for a Savior. You and I need a Savior. As we celebrate his birth during these days, let us pray expectantly that he may be born anew in us.

LEAGUE PLAYS SANTA

LYNNHAVEN — King's Grant Community League has announced plans for celebrating the holiday season with something for everyone.

For the teen-agers, Mrs. Lois Fontenot, chairman, has arranged a free dance to be held at Kings Grant Elementary school on Friday, December 17, from 8 to 11 p. m. It will be a "dress" affair and boys are asked to wear ties and the girls, dresses or skirts and sweaters.

Members of the community league will chaperone and request the parents to make arrangements for the bringing and picking up of those attending. No one will be allowed to leave before 11 p. m. without written permission of parents.

Smoking or drinking will not be permitted.

A Christmas Door contest is in charge of Marjorie Jones. Categories are "most beautiful" (some fresh plant material must be used); "most original" (fresh, dried, painted or otherwise treated plant material or artificial material); and "most traditional" (fresh plant material must be used completely.)

Judging will be held in the daytime on December 17 by the Chesapeake Colony Garden Club and cash prizes will be awarded to winners on Sunday at the Bazaar.

The Christmas Boufire is planned for Sunday, December 19, at 8:30 p. m. at Witt Park. Dick Johnson's committee reports that Santa Claus will attend and the tree lighting ceremony will take place.

After the boufire, coffee, hot chocolate and donuts will be served in St. Aidan's church.

Families are invited to any and all festivities, and to see the entrance decorated in traditional style with fresh greens and red ribbon enhancing the gas lanterns.

NNSA Elects Officers

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Norfolk Naval Sailing Association (NNSA) held its third annual meeting December 8 for election of officers and yearly reports.

Officers for 1966 are: President, Commander Wally Scheid, Saclant Intelligence Division; Vice President, Commander Bill Ghye, attached to the Naval Reserve Training Command; Secretary-Treasurer, Lieutenant (junior grade) Jim Davis, Public Information Officer, U. S. Naval Amphibious School; Executive Committee members, Captain Gih Blaka, Captain J. S. Fitzgerald, USN (Retired), Chief Warrant Officer Wesley Trulove, A. R. McConigal, DSCS.

The Sailing Squadron reported plans for 1966 including several small and large boat regattas. A junior and adult training program will also be conducted for the second year. The squadron has 15 boats for use by qualified association members.

The Water Ski Squadron will have its own ski boat for the first time since the squadron's formation in 1945. In the past members provided their own boats for skiing. A slalom course will be laid out in Willoughby Bay near the Naval Air Station Fish Camp and organized squadron competition will be held during the ski season.

Rear Admiral E. B. Taylor, Commandant Fifth Naval District, will officially install the new officers January 5 during ceremonies at the Naval Station Officer's Club.

Membership in the association is open to all active duty uniformed and retired personnel and officers and enlisted personnel of allied armed services.

Big One That Didn't Get Away!

Greg Weber can hardly lift the 25 pound fish he snagged with a landing net from the waters off the boat dock of his home in Broad Bay Colony. The 11-year-old son of Commander and Mrs. Kent J. Weber had been watching the fish for a couple of days before he finally managed to get him in on Saturday morning. Needless to say, the excitement generated by the proud little fisherman's unusual prize kept the neighborhood buzzing for hours.

Bay Shore GC

LYNNHAVEN — The annual Merry Christmas party of Bay Shore Garden Club of Virginia Beach was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Jarrett on North Bay Shore Drive on the evening of December 9.

The home was festively decorated by members of the club. The group singing of Christmas carols was highlighted by the entertaining young Jarrett girls, Lynn and Leslie, who gowned in nighties, sat on the staircase and read carols for the guests.

Gifts were exchanged around the Christmas tree and seasonal refreshments were served.

Gold awards were received by Mrs. Jarrett, Mrs. R. C. McGrath and Mrs. Clifford Baughman. Blue ribbons went to Mrs. John Matthews, Mrs. James Van Loan, Mrs. Gilbert Wilson, Mrs. Frank Maiton, Mrs. William Kidder, Mrs. Maurice Jackson, Mrs. Jarrett, Mrs. Walter Renn, and Mrs. Baughman. Red ribbons were given to Mrs. W. W. Waller, Mrs. Thomas Wornach, Mrs. S. L. Hakim, Mrs. J. S. Schmidt, and Mrs. W. S. Sievertsen.

Party Sunday

BAYSIDE — The Bayside Junior Woman's Club will hold its annual Christmas Party Sunday afternoon, December 19, at the Chesapeake Beach Fire Department from 3:00 until 5:00 p. m.

Children of the club members will trim the Christmas tree with homemade decorations, which they prepared before hand. Santa will be present to pass out gifts. A buffet dinner will follow the party. Mrs. R. A. Arnold is in charge of arrangements.

Frank Torreyson will provide taped music and carols will be sung. Several guests will be invited.

NNSA objectives range from the encouragement of recreational boating to the formation of a national association. It is unique in that membership dues are the lowest of any similar organization in the world—45 cents a year.

There are three squadrons in the association—sailing, water skiing and power boats.

Membership applications and additional information are available by calling the Public Information Officer, U. S. Naval Amphibious School at 464-1611, extension 224.

STOCK CAR RACES THE SPEED SHOP

By JACK MOORE

A 500-mile late model stock car chase has been scheduled for March 13, 1966 at North Carolina Motor Speedway, officials announced this week.

The event, to be called the Peach Blossom 500, was confirmed jointly by Elsie Webb, speedway Chairman of the Board, and Pat Purcell, executive Manager of the sanctioning National Ass'n. for Stock Car Auto Racing.

The 500-mile event will be the first superspeedway showing in the Carolinas for 1966 model race cars and comes just two weeks after the season opener on the East Coast at Daytona Beach, Florida.

Basketball On WAVY Radio

PORTSMOUTH — WAVY Radio (NBC-1350) will air four basketball games this week and early next week.

Here is the schedule for December 16-18:

Thursday, December 16—Florida State vs. North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Time: 7:45 p. m.

Friday, December 17—Duquesne vs. Wake Forest at Winston Salem. Time: 7:45 p. m.

Saturday, December 18 — Duke vs. Virginia at Charlottesville. Time: 7:45 p. m.

Duke vs. Michigan will be aired Tuesday, December 21. The game will be played at Detroit at a time to be announced.

"Call it a bang-bang beginning," commented Webb. "Combined with the Daytona 500, the Peach Blossom 500 starts the season off with a double roar. We believe there is tremendous interest in 1966, since right from the start Ford and Chrysler will be going full bore in racing. And there may be even another manufacturer competing.

"We are particularly happy to present the first big race of the season in the Carolinas/Virginia area, because this is the heart of stock-car country. Fans in this area will be able to find out first-hand at Rockingham just what is in store for them the rest of the year."

Name for the March event came from the fact that the superspeedway is located in the middle of a thriving peach-growing area, and the fruit trees will be in bloom during the race.

The Peach Blossom 500 will be one of two NASCAR-sanctioned late model auto races in 1966 at the one-mile, asphalt North Carolina Motor Speedway. Another long-distance derby is scheduled for Oct. 30, 1966.

Confirmation of two dates at NCMS means there will be 10 superspeedway races in 1966, with an equal number on the calendar at the other super tracks at Daytona, Darlington, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., and Charlotte, N. C.

North Carolina Motor Speedway, which opened on Oct. 31, 1963, has been called by fans and competitors the most modern racing plant in the United States.

"We hope to maintain that distinction," Webb said. "Therefore we shall constantly try to improve our facility. For our March 13 race we will have all the modern conveniences that we had at our first one... plus some more."

Here locally, the Virginia Beach Dragway is the only drag strip in the area that is still open. Suffolk closed its doors Sunday and will not open for the rest of the winter.

Jack DeLong, promoter for the Virginia Beach Dragway said there is a big day planned for this Sunday. DeLong says he expects 120-200 cars to compete in the stock-car-gasser run at the strip.

DeLong says there will be a "powder-puff" derby featured this Sunday afternoon.

He said $75 will go to top stock eliminator and $50 will go to top gas eliminator.

As long as the track operates on Sunday afternoons the gates will open at 11:30 a. m. with time trials starting at 12:30 p. m. and competition getting underway at 3 p. m.

For those interested there is going to be a big run at the strip Jan. 2, 1966. DeLong says he is planning to bring in several of the big names in drag-racing for a match race to kick off the new year. It promises to be one of the biggest runs ever at the Virginia Beach Dragway. See you there.

Virginia Beach Then

A few of the "older" folks of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County will probably recognize this picture of the Princess Anne Court House. The picture was taken sometime in the 1920's as you can tell by the old Model "T" parked at the front. The building has changed quite a bit since a citizen snapped this picture. The old frame building on the right no longer exists.

And Now

This more recent photograph of the Court House shows the new addition to the left. Since the old picture was taken, sidewalks have been put in, and an addition was added to the second story of the old building. And, if anyone attempted to park in front of the steps today, they would have to drive through a brick wall and a hedge. And, they could possibly get a ticket to boot.

D. Owens of Sylvania, Ga.; two sisters, eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

DAVID WAYNE OWEN, 4, a son of John Kenneth and Nancy Fantone Owen of 4713 Vistroy road, has died in a hospital.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by a sister, Miss Nancy Marie Owen; and two brothers, John K. Owen, Jr., and Paul D. Owen, all of Virginia Beach; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fantone, Sr., of Norfolk and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Owen of Chesapeake.

CHARLIE T. DAVIS, 65, of Independence Blvd., died in a hospital. He was a retired employee of Virginia Beach School System.

Surviving are two brothers, Peter Davis of Virginia Beach and George Davis of Trenton, N. J.; four sisters, Miss Betty Davis and Miss Ellen Davis of Trenton, Mrs. Corine Green and Mrs. Addie Holley of Virginia Beach.

HENRY CARL SCHWANER, JR., of 2335 Leeward Shore Drive, died in a hospital after a heart attack.

that the city appoint Dr. Madge D. May as the head of the department. At present, Dr. May serves both Virginia Beach and Chesapeake under the State Department of Health. Council unanimously adopted the plan and will initiate action on it.

In other action council:

- Appropriated $1,650 for office equipment for the Engineering Department.
- Approved 12 zoning changes.
- Approved use permits for five new service stations in the Pembroke area.
- Approved a use permit to construct a sewage disposal system in the Avalon Terrace area.
- Approved a use permit for the construction of 152 apartment units in the Arrowhead area.
- Denied an application for the closure of two streets in Aragona Village.

Carrier Returns

A painting of a tree had been added. When asked about the special designation, pilots said the aircraft had been flown through a tree to knock out some Viet Cong guerrillas who were shooting from their leaved vantage point. The guns were silenced by the sneak move.

The carrier itself arrived in Norfolk Monday and tied up to pier 12. Naval authorities at the Norfolk Naval Station said that approximately 5,000 people turned out to welcome the Independence home.

The wet, misty weather failed to dampen the spirit of the arrival of the giant warship. To those who had waited seven long months, the rain that fell meant nothing.

New Members

VERGINIA BEACH — Eight girls have been initiated into Tri Gamma Sorority after six hard months of goeting.

The new members are Connie Jones, Georgia McQuilkin, Nancy Sutherland, Debbie Murden, Susan Lacouture, Margaret Addenbrook, Betty Wood, and Debbie White.

Their official acceptance was made at the White Initiation Banquet held at the Black Angus Restaurant on November 28. Dinner was followed by the traditional candle ceremony.

PARENTS ELIGIBLE

A change in financial status may entitle a parent, or parents, to Veterans Administration Compensation or Death Indemnity Compensation if the veteran son's death was service connected.

Under the Death and Indemnity Compensation Laws a dependent parent, or parents, is entitled to benefits if his veteran son, or daughter, died in service or of a service connected cause and if his income is within the legal limitation—$1,750 for a single parent; $2,400 for both parents.

In many cases the parent was not entitled to the benefit at the time of the veteran's death because of the income limitation. However, as the parents grow older and their income is reduced, they may have become eligible for the Veterans Administration benefit. The surviving parent, or parents, becomes eligible when income falls within the limitation, although this may be years after the veteran's death.

Monthly payments range from $11 to $83 per month, depending upon income of the parent or parents.

If a parent is in doubt as to his eligibility, it is suggested that he contact Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Building, Norfolk, Virginia, at 142 W. York Street. Maurice J. Hunger, Veterans' Claims Agent for the Division, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 191 1/2 Street and Pacific Avenue, on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, between the hours of 12:30 p.m. and 4 p.m.

VIRGINIA BEACH SUN

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1965

SECTION 8

CANDLELIGHT VESPERS SUN.

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Choirs of the First Baptist Church, under the direction of Charles Dawg, will present the Annual Candlelight Vespers on Sunday evening, December 19, at 8:00 p.m.

This will be the first Candlelight Vespers in the Church's new sanctuary and in honor of the occasion the choir will sing two cantatas.

The first, a modern harmonic selection as contemporary as the Church's new sanctuary in which it will be sung, "Christmas Story" is a cantata by Everett Titcomb. This work for combined choir, soprano, tenor and baritone soloist will feature the Junior Choir an soloist, Miss Patricia Wallace, Mrs. Earl Leonard, and Mrs. Bruce Farthing; sopranos, Oscar Northern and Harold Baker, tenors and Byrd Chancey, baritone.

The second work to be sung "Christmas Cantata" by Philip Friedrich Buchner is a little musical gem bequeathed to us from the period of the Thirty Years' War. The cantata is described as a "Concert ecclesiastic." It was completed in 1642. Featured soloist in this cantata are: Mrs. Earl Leonard, soprano; Mrs. Byrd Chancey, contralto; Oscar Northern, tenor; and Byrd Chancey, baritone.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Choirs offerings of the Christmas season.

VNB SEEKS MERGER

NORFOLK — The board of directors of Virginia National Bank meeting recently increased the bank's legal lending limit to a single borrower to $3.5 million, through the transfer of $2,200,000 from undivided profits to surplus. This action raises the legal lending limit of Virginia National Bank to the highest amount available at any one bank in the state of Virginia. In addition, directors authorized an increase in the bank's unallocated loan loss reserve to $4 million. This reserve is maintained as a safeguard against losses resulting from the lending operation of the bank. The changes, described by VNB board chairman R. Cosby Moore as "significant measures to sound financial planning," were announced following the directors' meeting held in Norfolk.

In November, following Virginia National's merger with Bank of Phoebus and Merchants National Bank of Hampton, the bank's capital and surplus account total $32,750,000. The transfer authorized by the board will increase the combined account to $35 million. National banks are restricted to a loan or loans of no more than 10 percent of the bank's total capital and surplus in lending to an individual borrower. The increased lending capacity "strengthens the bank's ability to meet the credit needs of industry throughout the state and gives evidence of the value of statewide banking growth to both Virginia National and the Commonwealth," according to Moore.

Plans were announced Dec. 10 for the merger of Wythe County National Bank, Wytheville, Virginia, with Virginia National Bank. A joint announcement was made by I. W. Park, president of Wythe County National Bank, and R. Cosby Moore, chairman of the board of Virginia National Bank. The decision to merge came yesterday after action by the boards of directors of each bank. The merger is subject to the approval of the shareholders of each bank and the U. S. Comptroller of the Currency.

Safety Urged At Night

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Night doubles traffic troubles. So step up your alertness at dusk." In those words Reeves Johnson, Chief of the Virginia Beach Safety Bureau, today spotlighted one of the major traffic dangers faced by walkers and drivers this month.

"When driving at night a motorist can't see an object until it comes within range of his headlights," Johnson said. "It's obvious that, if he's driving at a speed that won't permit him to stop within that distance, he'll hit the object. Reduced speed is a must for night driving."

However, lowered speed is not the whole solution, the Chief said. In order to see danger quickly and act immediately to avoid it, the driver must step up his alertness.

Chief Johnson pointed out that the walker is similarly handicapped at night. But the pedestrian has the advantage of being able to see a vehicle's headlights long before its driver can see him, so the main responsibility for his safety rests with him.

The Chief advised pedestrians to wear something made of white or reflectorized material when walking at night. Carrying a flashlight, or even a newspaper, helps driver spot them sooner, he said.

"Now, when Christmas shoppers are likely to be about after dark and Christmas parties are in full swing, the night driving and walking picture becomes more complicated," Johnson said. "Often it's further complicated by rain, snow, sleet or ice. Drivers and walkers must have their wits about them every second, if they want to stay safe under such conditions."

STUDENTS PERFORM

LYNNHAVEN — The fifth, sixth and seventh grade chorus of Lynnhaven Elementary school will perform in a Christmas Program under the direction of Mrs. Proffitt the music teacher, on December 21 at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a short Parent-Teacher Association business meeting immediately following the program.

Girls Sell Trees

LYNNHAVEN — Christmas trees are being sold by the International Order of Job's Daughters, Bethel 17, at Miller's department store parking lot on Virginia Beach Blvd.

Purchases of the trees may be completed daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through December 22.

Lawyers In Abundance At Fort Story

FT. STORY — Legal counsel and representation abound at Ft. Story, Va. It's in the form of 51st lieutenant lawyers who are all qualified lawyers but currently assigned to the installation is other military capacities.

The five are 1st Lt. Herbert I. Krause of Woodmere, N. Y., William Lehr, Jr., of Washington, D. C., Kenneth J. Macksoud of Pawtucket, R. I., George T. Brown, Jr., of Macon, Ga., and James A. Gorry, III of Wilmington, Del.

All are members of the bar association in their respective states, with the exception of Macksoud who, although he's passed the Rhode Island bar examinations, lacks only the formal swearing-in ceremony.

For Col. John R. Williams, Ft. Story commander, the abundance of legal talent means he has qualified attorneys in several different fields. Thus, a variety of legal matters can be handled internally.

Krause is a specialist in corporate and business law. Lehr is interested in international and labor law and Brown, commercial law. Gorry is a general practitioner and Macksoud plans further study in the area of tax law.

For soldiers stationed at Ft. Story, the large stock of lawyers means top-notch representation in military courts and sound legal advice concerning a host of such things as survivors' assistance, social security, contracts, wills, taxation and veterans administration affairs.

Normally, the only lawyer authorized on the post would be the judge advocate, which is the position now filled by Gorry. The other lieutenants hold more diversified jobs. Lehr is the post adjutant, responsible for the administration of the personnel of Ft. Story's headquarters and headquarters company, and Macksoud is the transportation officer for Ft. Story.

Krause is commanding officer of the 822nd BARC (Barges, Amphibious Restuply Cargo, Platoon), and Brown is the executive officer of the 870th Transportation Terminal Service Co.

While not part of their regular duty assignments, both Krause and Brown are on permanent orders to act as either trial or defense counsel for any court martial proceedings that might come up within the five units of the 71st Transportation Battalion, located at Ft. Story. The 71st, commanded by Lt. Col. George G. Mogsrode, is under the 4th Motor Transport Group at Ft. Eustis.

Military law does not necessarily require in many cases the trial and defense for court martials to be attorneys, only that they be of officer rank. However, it is required that the defense have equal or greater qualifications than the trial, or prosecuting officer.

Krause, in charge of 53 men and four 100-ton BARCs, spent his undergraduate years at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance, graduating in 1961. He received his commission through the ROTC program there and entered the Army on active duty in October 1964. His law degree came from New York University. Prior to his assignment to Ft. Story, he served as transportation officer at the Seneca Army Depot in Ramothus, N. Y., and attended the basic transportation officers course at the Ft. Eustis Transportation School.

A 1964 graduate of Mercer University's Walter F. George School of Law in Macon, Ga., Brown, 25, was previously attached to the 40th Transportation Battalion, which is now in the Republic of Viet Nam. He is a graduate of the basic transportation officers course at the Transportation School. He received his commission through the ROTC program at Mercer.

Legal training is useful to Macksoud, who in addition to his duties as transportation officer, is the Ft. Story post courts and boards officer, survivors assistance officer and the officer in charge of the officers club on the installation.

Macksoud, a 26-year-old native of Pawtucket, R. I., is responsible for the contracts made by the officers club with outside concerns and for contracts made with club employees. He advises Ft. Story families on tax, insurance and social security matters and has drawn up and reviewed wills for them. This survivors assistance work has taken him as far south as Portsmouth and as far north as Wayward, Va.

"I've met and dealt with a lot of different types of people and because of this have learned much about human nature," says Lieutenant Brown. "Also, in the Army you become accustomed to responsibility earlier than you would in civilian life."

Va. Beach Firm To Market A New Type Of Vacation Cottage

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Weekender, a unique vacation cottage and resort motel unit, five years in the planning and experimental stage, is now ready for marketing. It was announced today by this city's Weekender Corporation.

In making the announcement, William Culpepper of Virginia Beach, president of the Weekender Corporation, said his firm was now actively seeking dealers in Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, North and South Carolina to sell the units to individuals and commercial enterprises.

An attractive and colorful aluminum panel vacation home, raised on graceful legs of structural metal, provides a pre-finished, easily finished package for all types of resort building sites. The unique unit, of aluminum by Alcoa, sells completely equipped for $4,950. It is shipped in two sections, each of which can be quickly bolted together to provide a large carpeted living, sleeping area, and fully-equipped kitchenette and bath.

Called the Weekender, the unit measures 16 by 16 feet with a four by fourteen foot sun-deck accessible through aluminum sliding glass doors. The sheltered area beneath the 8 foot high stills provides ideal space for patio, screen room or carport.

"The Weekender was created as an answer to the search by thousands of resort property owners looking for a vacation home for their lot that can provide top quality at a reasonable, easily-financed price," stated William Culpepper, president of the Weekender Corporation.

The highly versatile Weekender is adaptable to a wide variety of personal commercial uses, such as a foot-lodge, lakeside cottage, beach house, guest house, office, mail's quarters, motel rental units, boat house, studio, or camping and hunting lodge. Two of the units can be "married" to double available floor space, and the second segment will be less expensive if a second kitchen and bath are not needed.

Interior walls are a luxurious natural wood paneling with a perforated acoustical ceiling. Floors in the living, sleeping area are carpeted in attractive, long-wearing nylon pile. A 24 by 48 inch dressing vanity and 8 by 2 foot birch closet are built-in features. The efficiently designed kitchenette is equipped with a 6.4 cubic foot refrigerator, a two-burner counter top range, large porcelain sink, birch cabinets and a 20 gallon water heater.

The bathroom contains a bath tub-shower combination, vitreous china wash bowl and toilet, a vented fan, and lighted wall mirror. All plumbing and electrical work is completed at the plant before shipping. Top quality copper work is installed by master plumbers in accordance with the national plumbing code. Similarly, electrical wiring using conduit throughout is installed by master licensed electricians.

To prepare a site for the Weekender, the owner has only to pour three, one cubic yard concrete footings, — with anchor bolts supplied by Weekender properly cast in place. The house is moved by truck to the location in two, 8 by 16-foot sections, and erected on the footings within a one-day period. The erection does not include connection of septic tank, water & electricity. Any electrician or plumber will make these connections easily for a nominal fee.

Two specially styled steel I-Beams were designed as the legs or stilts for the Weekender to combine structural strength with attractive appearance. In the front of the unit the beams also serve as the structure for the entrance stairway. They are augmented at the back of two tapered metal legs to support the rear portion of the unit.

Walls, roof and floor of the Weekender are weather-tight sandwich panels with an outer surface of stucco textured Alcoa aluminum sheet with Alcoa's exclusive Alumalure baked-on enamel finish; a two-inch core of insulating foam polyurethane, and an inside wall of wood paneling or aluminum. Exterior colors available for the panels are blue, white and yellow. The amazing insulating ability of these walls is reflected by their "U" value of .06 as compared to a 24 "U" value for a wall using 12 inches of brick plus 3 inches of hollow tile and plaster. In other words it has four times the insulating value of a 15 inch masonry wall.

"With these tremendous insulating qualities, you can almost heat the Weekender with a candle," states Mr. Culpepper. "Certainly the insulating characteristics of the unit make it extremely easy to keep cool in the summer, or hot in the winter for use as a 'skit lodge'."

"U value is a technical measurement of the insulating ability of a material."

Simple financing arrangements for the Weekender have been arranged with the Associates-Associates Discount Corporation so that the unit can be purchased for $600 down payment and a monthly payment of $76.00 per month over a seven-year period.

"Through his financing arrangement," Mr. Culpepper states, "it is possible to purchase a unit with a minimum amount of cash and make use of possible income from renting the unit to help pay for it."

An important feature of the Weekender is the fact that it can be easily disassembled if necessary and shipped to a new location. Thus, if an owner wishes to move it from the seashore to a mountain lake, it is easily possible.

The Weekender is manufactured by J. K. Parker, Inc., Virginia Beach, Virginia, manufacturer and fabricator of portable buildings.

Further information on the Weekender is available by writing to Weekender Corporation, P. O. Box 1051, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

The family album is the only place the Hobart E. Sims family can see all their family at once. The elder Sims, here with their son, GySgt. Jack D. Sims, have six sons and two grandsons on active duty with the Marine Corps.

Eight Marines In One Family

NORFOLK — If all parents were like the Hobart E. Sims family of Virginia Beach, Va., the Marine Corps would never have a recruiting problem.

All six sons and two grandsons are presently Marines on active duty.

The elder Sims make their home with the eldest Leatherneck in the family, Gunnery Sergeant Jack D. Sims, Aircraft Maintenance Chief for Atlantic Fleet Marine Force Headquarters in Norfolk, Va. He resides at 257 Capot Road in the Virginia resort city.

Major Tony Sims, 35, a squadron commanding officer, is stationed at the Marine Corps Air Station, Yuma, Ariz. Emory, 26, a sergeant, is with Marine Aircraft Group 31 at the Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, S. C. Steven, 21, is a lance corporal stationed at Force Troops, FMF Atlantic, Camp

Lejeune, N. C. Ronald, 23, is a private first class with the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point, N. C., and Bruce, 19, also a Pfc., is en route to Vietnam.

Grandsons are Corporal Jerry Hill, 21, stationed at 6th Marine Corps District Headquarters, based in Atlanta, Ga., and Private Woodrow Powell, 19, presently undergoing recruit training at Parris Island, S. C.

According to GySgt. Sims, one of his three boys, Donald, is interested in a Marine Corps career after graduation from Old Dominion College in Norfolk.

GySgt. Sims, while recalling for another three years in November, said that all members of the family are career Marines who plan to stay in until retirement. Eligible to retire now after 34 years' service, he said he plans to "stay around a few more years."

DORIS PADRICK'S VIEW of VIRGINIA BEACH

During the holiday season Sally Monfort is busy... also during the summer and spring and fall... and many times late at night.

"The days aren't long enough for me," exclaimed this dynamic woman whose interest in the oft-neglected old folks and shut-ins has become a way of life.

A former New Yorker, Mrs. Monfort travelled extensively with her Navy husband before settling in Virginia Beach, and her compassion for the elderly combined with her love of cooking and crocheting has transformed into a delightful full-time occupation.

The appeal of a child in distress stimulates the philanthropy of many but the people who have become old and feeble and sick are apt to be ignored or forgotten. Even persons who might be sympathetic will pass them by for a more attractive cause.

"More than anything," says Sally Monfort, "these are the ones who must be remembered. They must be visited. They must be brought to attention. They must be made to feel wanted."

And true to the motto of "practice what you preach," she uses her time to its finest advantage. Right now the true Christmas spirit of giving is evidenced by the colorful shining packages, glittering ball ornaments, crocheted party bags, dainty crocheted shawl and slipper sets and jars and jars of relishes and pickled delicacies (from the "Kitchen of Sally Monfort") which are neatly collected in various areas of her home ready for distribution.

Her crocheted outfit of shawl and bed slippers of matched pastel colors brighten the outlook of many bedridden patients at nursing homes. The crocheted bottle covers and bathroom tissue hats are fun decor for anyone. Adults as well as children are intrigued with the cute pigs made from plastic bleach bottles and decorated with felt, sequins and button eyes.

Truly beautiful ball ornaments are made from styrofoam imbedded with pearl-encrusted pins, varicolored beads and ribbons, or sparkling sequins, and may be used single as an eye-catcher or clustered as a centerpiece, and of course hanging on the Christmas tree or from a mantel.

All who have tasted her pickles and relishes come back for more. From pickling to pickling is done in the shortest time lapse possible and time-honored old recipes handed down from generation to generation are used by Mrs. Monfort which makes her canned goods so tempting to taste and different.

Colorful socks are filled accordingly for a man or a woman and are ready to be distributed by herself to the patients of the nursing home as she knows the personal visit is as important as the gift. And in each sock she always includes peppermint and horehound candies to satisfy that sweet tooth!

Mrs. Sally Monfort lives alone with her silver pup on 35th street and has been a widow for 17 years. She has had numerous serious operations from which she bounced back with determined vigor. She is 78 years old.

In order that she may be able to continue to give, she offers her creations by sale and uses whatever profit she gains to get more materials and some ingredients to make more gifts for more of the sick and thin. "I can't stop," she laughed, "I've got a tiger by the tail."

RENOVATIONS BEGUN AT WEDGEWOOD

TOANO — Wedgewood Dinner-Theatre located west of Williamsburg will hang out a "standing room only" sign for the next few weeks which may seem a bit unusual since the theatre is closed until January 8. But literally, standing room is all that is available in the former canning-factory-turned-theatre as the seats that have been in use since Wedgewood's opening three years ago are removed and new, upholstered seats are installed in preparation for the beginning of the winter season on January 8.

In addition to new seating, walls will come tumbling down and be rearranged to allow for new restrooms, hat-check room, and refreshment bar. Great care is being taken to update Wedgewood for the theatre patron's comfort without detracting from the familiar, cozy, rustic atmosphere that has become the Wedgewood trademark.

Being showcased with the renovations on January 8 will be Susan Slade's comedy "Ready When You Are, C. B.," a play that is as light and breezy as January is cold and drab. The comedy played last season on Broadway starring Julie Harris and spins about a wildly diverse group of actresses and one virile movie matinee idol.

Following "Ready When You Are, C. B.," will be "The Knack" by Ann Jellicoe and the musical "The Fantasticks" which is still playing Off-Broadway in its sixth season.

Substantial discounts are available on season tickets for the three plays as well as special group rates for parties of twenty-five or more. For information call Toano 564-3236 or write P. O. Box 242, Williamsburg, Virginia.

HOLIDAY HOUSE AT LYNNHAVEN COLONY

Text and Photos by DOUGLAS ARNOLD BARNES

Approaching the Lynnhaven Colony section of Virginia Beach, the artistic difference of the homes was noted with particular emphasis on the decorations of the exterior of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Caverly, 2973 Lynnhaven Drive, where the Lynnhaven Colony Garden Club featured "Home for the Holidays."

The gray-green saltile house with a red and black sleigh laden with packages was waiting on the front porch ready to be driven away by "Donner and Blitzen" resembled an enlarged Christmas card as it nestled in the bright green winter grass surrounded by pine trees.

Running cedar, tied with red velvet bows, outlined the doorway, and snow was sprinkled over the flagstone porch. The backyard patio, enclosed by a brown Walpole fence, had wreaths of dried flowers in muted grays and golds hanging on the open gateway, and the early American pine table was covered with a checkered cloth and laden with fruit inviting one to rest and reflect on the joys of the season.

Mrs. Caverly, attired in a pale gree afternoon silk which accentuated her auburn hair, greeted visitors and offered hot spiced ale as a wassail. The large Christmas tree in the hallway was ready for Santa. To the left of the foyer was a living room tastefully decorated while just beyond a dining room table with red Indianhead cloth caught the eye. Stepping down into the pine-paneled den boasting a fireplace with roaring logs was a most unusual nativity scene of hand-carved wood from Jerusalem, created by Mrs. I. D. Roller, Mrs. B. O. Park and Mrs. Pitt had decorated the little daughter Stephanie's room and bath in bright reds and grays.

The master bedroom and bath, a symphony in pale gold, white and orchid notes, acclaimed the artistry of Mrs. C. D. Ralston (confined to the hospital by illness at this time) and Mrs. Warner Reelitz and featured a heart-shaped motif of running greenery over the backboard of the double bed.

Mrs. DeForrest Lilly, president of the club, explained that all members had cooperated in decorating the entire home, and that members and guests visited all day. Other officers included Mrs. Caverly, Mrs. B. I. Waters, Mrs. Earl Hansen and Mrs. Richard Ware.

On Christmas morning, Stephanie will have experienced a lovely pre-Christmas memory due to the efforts of her mother's garden club and its artistic members.

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

You probably have already put anti-freeze in the radiator of your car and other vehicles for the winter, but this is only part of the winterizing job.

Special attention should be given the entire cooling system, electrical system, fuel and air system, lubrication, and tires. Cooling systems should be drained and flushed periodically. If sludge or rust is present, a good chemical cleaner should be used. Check for leaks and worn and cracked hoses, and have them repaired or replaced.

See that the thermostat is working properly by removing the radiator cap directly after starting a cold engine and seeing if the water is circulating. A good thermostat stops most of the circulation until the engine warms up. If the engine warms to normal operating temperatures in about five minutes in cold weather, the thermostat is probably operating properly.

Trash and dirt should be removed from in front of the radiator. It is also important to keep the cooling fins of air-cooled engines clean. Replace worn and damaged fan belts and blades.

Checked your battery lately. Cold weather puts heavy demands on the battery at a time when it is least efficient. For example, at zero degrees Fahrenheit, a battery is less than half as efficient as at 80 degrees. Batteries should be kept clean, free of corrosion, filled to the proper water level, and properly charged. A poorly charged battery will freeze. Keep electrical connections tight for best results.

Spark plugs and breaker points need periodic cleaning, adjusting, and replacement for efficient engine operation. When servicing the plugs and points, be sure to have the ignition timing checked and adjusted if needed.

Air filters on tractors should be checked after every 10 hours of operation. Clean air means less wear, better performance, and economy. It is also important to have the carburetor adjusted properly. An over-rich fuel mixture causes excessive fuel consumption, crankcase oil dilution, and spark plug fouling. A lean mixture may cause loss of power, poor engine performance, and burnt valves.

Crankcase oil should be changed at the proper interval and replaced with the type that meets your engine's needs. For best results, it is recommended that oil be drained when the engine is warm. Oil filters should be serviced and replaced at recommended intervals. Crankcase and transmission breathers require periodic cleaning to keep dust and impurities out, and to allow necessary ventilation.

Winter weather requires special care of tires. A good tread and proper inflation is needed for good traction. If water is used in tractor tires, you need an anti-freeze solution to protect them against freezing. About two pounds of calcium chloride to each gallon of water is satisfactory.

1000 ATTEND GOV'S. BEAUTY CONFERENCE

RICHMOND — More than 1000 Virginians attending the Governor's Conference on Natural Beauty here December 9 were challenged to press for programs in their home communities and in the General Assembly that would preserve the rich natural beauty and historical endowment of the Commonwealth.

Conference Chairman Carlisle H. Humelsine of Williamsburg indicated the turnout a resounding indication that the citizens of the Commonwealth "are tremendously interested in a program of positive action that will keep Virginia in the forefront of states known for beauty, historic attractions and hospitality.

All of Virginia's cities and 25 of her counties were represented by either official delegates or interested citizens.

The participants were told by Governor Harrison and other speakers that the responsibility for action lay among the local groups around the state. "The State cannot impose natural beauty," Gov. Harrison said, "it can only inspire it."

Governor Harrison reminded his audience that "the legislature will not act without public support" and continued his challenge with the opinion that "Federal aid will not bring fruit where there is no local participation or acceptance. Community planning will be so much paperwork unless local citizens demand action."

The report of Virginia Outdoor Recreation Study Commission was discussed by Commission Chairman FitzGerald Bemis and a panel of authorities from around the State. The recommendations of the commission include a 10-year program of development of outdoor recreational facilities that would cost $64 million. It calls for acquisition of land for 35 new state parks, 20 of which would be developed in the coming decade.

Another project coming in for great interest was the proposed George Washington Country National Parkway. George B. Hartzog, Jr., director of the National Park Service, gave an illustrated talk on the historic and scenic loop which would link the George Washington Memorial Parkway with the Colonial Parkway between Yorktown and Jamestown, and the Blue Ridge Parkway and Skyline Drive.

The proposed parkway would enable a motorist to make a 670-mile "circle tour" through Virginia, starting in Washington. He could travel to Mount Vernon, through the Northern Neck, to Yorktown, Williamsburg and Jamestown, then through the James River Plantation country to Richmond, then west to the Blue Ridge and north to Harpers Ferry and return to Washington. Alternate routes would be created in some areas.

The parkway would join by a low-speed route general areas of scenic, historic, recreational and cultural interest throughout the Commonwealth. One of the major objectives of the parkway is to provide travelers opportunities for leisurely visits to attractions all over the State, whether they are located in the South, Southwest, Central or Coastal sections.

In addition to the challenge given by Governor Harrison to the citizens of the Commonwealth, a Citizens Committee on the Virginia Outdoor Plan has been formed, headed by Edmund T. DeJarnette and his committee of 90 persons will spearhead the action needed to continue the momentum gained by the Conference and the various programs leading up to it.

Governor Harrison set the theme for the next decade when he paraphrased the poet Keats to counsel that "a thing of beauty is a job forever."

DISCUSSING VIRGINIA'S NATURAL BEAUTY — William H. Whyte, author and conservation consultant, chats with Carlisle H. Humelsine of Williamsburg, chairman of the Governor's Conference on Natural Beauty held in Richmond on December 9. Mr. Whyte was co-director of White House Conference on Natural Beauty and served as leadoff speaker at the Virginia Conference. Looking on are State Senator FitzGerald Bemis of Richmond, chairman of the Virginia Outdoor Recreation Study Commission, and George B. Hartzog, Jr., director of the National Park Service, both of whom were conference speakers. Governor Harrison spoke to the 1000 participants at the conference luncheon. (All identifications are from left.)

CATON VOTED YDC PRES.

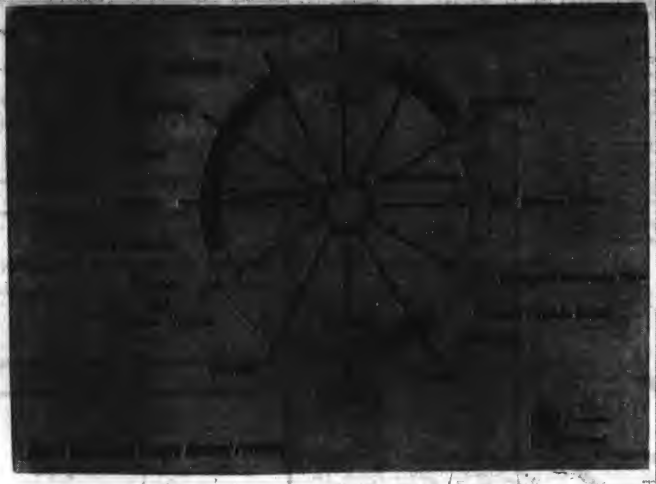

VIRGINIA BEACH — Del. Elect Edward T. Caton has been elected president of the Virginia Beach Young Democratic Club.

Caton was elected to succeed Richard Absalom Jan. 1. He was elected last week at a meeting of the club at the Americana Motor Lodge.

Shirley Jacobs was elected first vice president, M. L. Ealey was elected second vice president, and David Casida was re-elected as third vice president. Judy Brown was elected secretary and E. A. Culverhouse was elected treasurer.

A. L. Bonney Jr., Doris Gray, Earl Tebault, Walter Alford, R. E. Harrington, Patsy Lambert, John Strickland, S. E. Waterfield Jr. and W. B. Hall Jr. were elected to the board of directors. Richard Absalom was elected executive director.

About 65 members of the Young Democrats Club attended the meeting.

This schematic wheel outlines the travel opportunities that the George Washington Country National Parkway would offer the motorist and the impact it would have on all regions of Virginia. The completed Parkway sections are shown in black. The links needed are white. The Parkway loop concept is to provide a leisurely route connecting general areas of scenic, recreational, historic, and cultural interest, with ready opportunities in any section for tours of nearby areas. For instance, the motorist could leave the Parkway for a tour in Southwest Virginia, the Valley, Southside, the seashore, or any other area.

Exchange Club

VIRGINIA BEACH — The next meeting of the Exchange Club will be held Tuesday, December 21, at 6:30 p.m., at the Isle of Capri.

Guest speaker will be Albin R. Malthe, executive director of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, who will present a talk and show the film about Virginia Beach.

Officers Are Installed

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Real Estate Board installed its new officers for 1966 at the board's annual dinner Thursday, Dec. 9 at the Princess Anne County Club.

Kenneth Jard, outgoing president, introduced the new officers.

Those elected to offices were: Gerald Veardun, President; Scott Taylor, Vice-President; Winston S. Brooks, Secretary; and Bailey Parker, Treasurer.

Tree Lighting

VIRGINIA BEACH — The annual tree-lighting and carol sing enjoyed for many years past will again highlight the Christmas season for the First Baptist Church on Friday evening, December 17.

C. W. Tucker and the Modlin Bible Class will "plant" a large tree on the lawn and the ceremony and carol sing will follow the Christmas pageant presented by the Training Union.

STATE TRAVEL DEVELOPMENT AGENCY REORGANIZED

Marvin M. Sutherland (right), Director, Virginia Department of Conservation and Economic Development, confers with aides concerning the recent reorganization of the Division of Public Relations and Advertising. Sutherland said the reorganization will give the Division greater strength for enlarged travel development services. Left to Right: Roger M. Sheppardson, who has taken the new position of Assistant Commissioner—Advertising; J. Stuart White, who heads the Division as Commissioner; William V. Arnold (standing), promoted to Assistant Commissioner—Promotion, and Mrs. Margaret Butler, promoted to the new position of Supervisor of Inquiries.

Social Sec. Office Hours

NORFOLK — The Norfolk Social Security Office is extending its office hours until 9:00 p.m. each Friday and until 12:30 p.m. on Saturday. It was announced recently by Mr. J. A. Morrison, District Manager. This is in addition to the regular office hours of 9:00 to 5:00. Their special telephone number is 622-8281.

These special hours are for the purpose of extending the facilities to the many individuals who are unable to transact their business during the regular hours. This pertains particularly to those people who are 65 years of age and over and still working and unable to contact the office during regular office hours.

SAILOR OF THE MONTH

VIRGINIA BEACH — Lewis D. Center, Air Controlman First Class has been selected as Naval Air Station Oceana's "Sailor of the Month" for the month of December 1965.

Center, who is attached to the Air Traffic Control Division, was nominated by Cdr. C. C. McBratnie, Air Operations Officer, and selected by a board of senior Chief Petty Officers from aboard the station.

Described as being an "extremely capable petty officer and Air Controlman," Center has attended numerous Naval schools concerning the Air Controlman rating. Since entering the Navy, Center has advanced in a minimum amount of time.

Hailing from Austin, Texas, Center now resides in the Virginia Beach area with his wife, the former Jane Lucas of Fayetteville, North Carolina.

Aragona P-TA

BAYSIDE — Aragona Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association will meet Tuesday, December 21, at 7:30 p.m.

A Christmas program will be presented by the students under the direction of Mrs. Glasco. Refreshments will be served.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

by C. D. Smith

Problem With Father, Problem With Girl

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I have two problems. The first is that my father acts like he is mad at me and the next is that my girl seems to be in a bad mood. I like her very much, but I don't know what to do. My second problem is that there is a date. What can I do about this?"

OUR REPLY: Any explanation of why your father seems friendlier on certain days than at other times in merely conjecture. There are several possibilities. One is that on his "unfriendly" days he is really absorbed in some weighty problem and is not aware that he seems not so friendly as usual. If he is displeased with you for some reason, he would most likely tell you so — and why.

You will certainly not please your parents — or those of the girl — if you make too much of an effort to solve the problem of dating a girl three years younger than yourself (and only 14 at that) when her parents do not allow her to date. You'd be much wiser to accept things as they are. If you can't accept them you have a problem.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, CONFIDENTIAL AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FARMINGTON, CT.

"I used to cry for no reason at all"

One of the first "change-of-life" danger signals

No wonder a woman feels like crying! The suffocating surge of hot flashes one minute; cold, clammy perspiration the next can make a woman wonder "What's come over me!" Change-of-life panic sets nerves on edge, fills her with fear!

Proven help! Woman after woman in doctors' tests got remarkable relief from hot flashes, nervous tensions!

Some women worry themselves sick; some women do something about awesome change-of-life symptoms. Thousands have found that Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets helped them as dramatically, as quickly as this gentle medication has helped other women. Not a new, Johnny-come-lately remedy, but a tried and trusted "friend" to relieve functional mid-life complaints... to relieve woman's burden of suffering! Get Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets today.

OUT TO SEA

It is essential that the people over 65 years of age are still working who have never filed a claim for benefits should do so immediately. This is their only means of obtaining the free hospital insurance coverage under Medicare and an opportunity to elect medical insurance coverage. The medical insurance provisions provide for reimbursement of doctor bills and certain other expenses incurred during an illness.

In addition to these persons, there are many other people affected by the amendments to the Social Security Act who also are unable to contact the office during regular office hours. The various changes in the law, in addition to Medicare, make it necessary that the person contact the office. Mr. Morrison urged all persons 65 years of age and older to immediately contact the office if they have never filed a claim for benefits or had at one time filed and not been paid because they had not worked long enough in employment covered by law. He stated there were many widows who could now qualify on their deceased husband's account.

CARE OF HOLIDAY PLANTS

The poinsettia is the traditional and most popular Christmas plant. Red-flowered varieties are most popular, but white, pink, and semi-double varieties are available. The white variety is attractive by itself or in combination with red plants. The showy, colored structures often called flowers are actually bracts. The flowers are the yellow structures found in the center of each whorl of bracts.

To care for in the home, you should strive for uniform temperature from 60 degrees to 75 degrees Fahrenheit, and always reduce the thermostat setting at night. Place the poinsettia in bright light (but not direct sun) and where the air is not too dry. If placed in a window, the plant should be removed at night if there is danger of chilling. Soil mixture should be maintained at moderate and uniform levels, neither too wet nor too dry. The average length of life in the home is 2 to 3 weeks.

Poinsettias are sensitive plants and because they do not get proper care often disappoint people.

ATTORNEYS MEET

RICHMOND — The joint meeting of the legislative and executive committees of the Commonwealth Attorneys Association of Virginia was held recently at the John Marshall Hotel.

Proposed legislation to be introduced in the forthcoming meeting of the General Assembly was considered.

Presiding over the meeting was the Association's president, Robert L. Simpson, Commonwealth Attorney of the City of Virginia Beach, who attended with his wife.

Lions Sell Trees

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Lions Club is selling Christmas trees at the Linkhorn Shopping Center. The sale will be held through December 24.

Supporting the Lion's Tree sale will enable them to help others to see.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

LYNNHAVEN — On Sunday night, Dec. 19, the London Bridge Baptist Church will present a Christmas Play and Cantata. The Christmas play, directed by Mrs. Joe H. Woodard, will begin at 7:30 p.m., followed by the cantata.

The play, by the children and young people of the church, will be a portrayal of the first Christmas in scripture and song.

The Christmas Cantata, following the play, will be under the direction of Lutrel Sawyer, the music director of the church. The accompanist will be Miss Dawn Cole, the church organist.

London Bridge Baptist Church is located at 2400 Potter Road. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Take Last Look

School Board To Give Test

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach School Board is making plans to administer the General Educational Development Test to interested persons in this area on Wednesday, January 19, 1966. The State Department of Education supplies these tests for each local school board. The persons who pass the tests successfully are given a certificate. The certificate is in lieu of the High School Diploma. Some colleges and industry accept this certificate in place of the High School Diploma.

In order to take the examination the applicant must satisfy certain requirements:

- (1) The applicant must be 20 years of age. Under no conditions may the applicant be permitted to take the test prior to the time that he would have graduated had he remained in school.
- (2) The applicant shall have earned at least 8 units of High School credit (grades 9 thru 12, exclusively of Physical Education.) Applicants who have attained their 26th birthday may not be required to present the above units.
- (3) The applicant shall have resided in Virginia one year prior to applying for the battery of tests and must reside in the school division through which he makes application.
- (4) The applicant must attain a passing score on the complete battery of tests provided by the State Department of Education.

Persons who desire to take this test should make application to Mr. F. E. Taylor, High School Supervisor, Virginia Beach City Schools, Princess Anne Station. The deadline for submission of applications is January 10, 1966. The test will be administered at the School Administration building at Princess Anne Station, 9:30 AM to 5 PM.

She'll never forget it...if it's electric.

COUNCIL PRIMARY SET IN APRIL

BEACH DEMO ORGANIZATION HAS FULL COUNCIL SLATE

VIRGINIA BEACH — There are four newcomers and seven incumbents on the 11-man slate being offered by the Democratic organization for election to City Council. The slate has seven candidates for Borough seats and four for at large seats. The names of the eleven Organization candidates will appear on the ballot in the April 5th Primary Election.

The four newcomers to the ranks are Robert B. Cromwell, Jr., Virginia Beach Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court Judge; George R. Ferrell, Virginia Beach School Board Chairman; D. Murray Malbon, Virginia Beach automobile dealer; and Dewey Simmons, Virginia Beach real estate man.

Present Council members will make up the rest of the slate, with the exception of James Darden, who had announced earlier that he would not run for re-election, Hugh Kitchin, Stanley Hodges, and Edward T. Caton, III, who was elected to the Virginia House of Delegates in November.

What has been called a "well-rounded" slate would have eight of the eleven residing in four of the most heavily populated boroughs of the city—Lynnhaven, Bayside, Virginia Beach and Kempsville. Those four boroughs represent the areas where the most rapid growth in population of the city has been experienced.

Under the reapportionment plan, candidates must file either for Borough seats or at-large seats. Thus the Organization slate will be made up, as follows: John McCormick, Virginia Beach; Larry Marshall, Bayside; S. Paul Brown, Princess Anne; Kenneth Whitehurst, Pungo; Earl Tebault, Black-

PLAN UNDER ATTACK

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council's proposed plan for council reapportionment has come under attack by the four Beach residents who called for the reapportionment in Federal Court.

In a letter to Mayor Frank A. Dusch, the plaintiffs said the plan was "unconstitutional" and did not meet the "one man-one vote" principal.

The letter urged that Council hold another public hearing on the matter to be held before the opening session of the 1966 General Assembly.

The letter was signed by Howard W. Martin, G. E. Clayton Davis, Cornelius D. Scully and Roland D. Winter.

water; Al Bonney, Kempsville; and Dewey Simmons, Lynnhaven. The four at large candidates will be Frank Dusch, who lives in Virginia Beach; Judge Cromwell, who lives in Bayside; Murray Malbon, who lives in Lynnhaven; and George Ferrell, who lives in Kempsville. Judge Cromwell has announced his intention to resign his judgeship. Ferrell will resign his School Board post he has held for ten years.

Ferrell, who has lived in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach for 26 years, in addition to his school board duties, has served as a member of the Board of Directors and Secretary-Treasurer of the Norfolk Cooperative Milk Producers. He is a charter member of the Community Methodist Church in Kempsville.

Judge Cromwell, a William and Mary graduate, is a member of the law firm of Cromwell and Layton. He is a member of several civic clubs, including the Bayside Lions Club and the Bayside Jaycees.

Malbon, a native of Princess Anne County, operates Malbon Motor Company. He also is a member of numerous civic clubs and American Legion Post No. 113. He is now a director of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Simmons, a partner in the real estate firm of Simpson and Shield, is a past president of Lynnhaven Inlet Area Civic League. He has

DARDEN PULLS OUT OF COUNCIL RACE

VIRGINIA BEACH — There was an unexpected turn of events Monday concerning the forthcoming City Council election in June and the Democratic Primary in April. Lynnhaven Councilman James G. Darden, who had earlier stated that he intended to seek reelection formally withdrew from the race. Darden issued the following statement:

"It is with a great deal of regret that I announce that because of business connections it will be impossible for me to be a candidate for reelection to the City Council for the City of Virginia Beach at the election to be held next year. "I had tentatively said a few days ago that I, in all probability would be a candidate and I regret very much that I find it necessary to change my mind. Before making any public announcement of my decision, I met with my colleagues on City Council and my associates at City Hall, whose support I had and whose opinions I respect, and told them first of my decision. "I have been on the Board of Supervisors and the City Council for approximately twelve years. I have enjoyed representing the people and I shall always be grateful to them for their support and confidence. In withdrawing as a candidate, I am not giving up my interest in politics or my interest in the advancement of the City of Virginia Beach. I shall continue to be active in both of these fields and I shall continue to be in touch with my friends whose help and advice I have always valued. Believing that the organization will continue to offer outstanding candidates, I am in a position to say it is my intention to support the entire organization slate for City Council."

Immediately after Darden's statement was made public, Virginia Beach Mayor, Frank Dusch, stated that he was very sorry Mr. Darden found it necessary to withdraw as a candidate and that he and all members of the Council had already pledged their support to him for re-election. The Mayor said, "He has made a very fine Councilman and has made a great contribution to our City. Mr. Darden is a dedicated public servant and takes a deep interest in the people he represents."

A further statement, concerning Darden, was issued by the Constitutional officers of the City of Virginia Beach, and signed by all five. They are: V. Alfred Etheridge, Treasurer; John V. Fentress, Clerk; Ivan D. Mapp, Commissioner of Revenue; John E. Marr, City Sergeant; and Robert L. Simpson, Commonwealth's Attorney. The statement is as follows:

"We the Constitutional officers of the City of Virginia Beach, who have previously pledged our support to Mr. James G. Darden for reelection to the City Council regret he finds he will be unable because of business reasons to be a candidate for reelection. As a Councilman from the largest Borough of the City, he devotes his time and energy to the City's affairs, not only to his own borough but to the entire City. Our association with him throughout the years has been most pleasant and

One Injured In Rt. 615 Crash

VIRGINIA BEACH — A car-truck collision on Route 615 near Oceana Air Station on Thursday injured one man slightly, but tied up traffic for some time. The driver of a station wagon, E. K. Byrn, who is stationed at Dam Neck, was passing a small panel truck when the truck began turning left into a service station, according to Virginia Beach Police. The front end of the station wagon was demolished when it struck the left rear wheel of the truck. The impact spun the truck around and flipped it over on its side in the middle of the road. It skidded along the road for several yards on its side before coming to a stop. The driver of the truck, Victor Paul Babonis of Virginia Beach, a retired Navy man, was taken to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach for treatment of minor injuries. He was then released.

Two wreckers were called to the scene to remove both vehicles, and the Oceana Volunteer Fire Department stood by the scene to hose down the gasoline that escaped from the truck. Virginia Beach Police directed traffic around the accident while cleanup operations took place.

Neither Byrn or H. L. Riley, a passenger in the station wagon, were injured. Riley is also stationed at Dam Neck.

BOARD WILL RECONSIDER NAME OF SCHOOL

VIRGINIA BEACH — Several members of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce attended the last 1965 meeting of the Virginia Beach School Board Tuesday and asked the governing body to change its name of the city's new high school on First Colonial Road.

Albin Mathies, executive director of the Chamber and James Kitchin executive board member of the Chamber said they came to the meeting to ask the School Board to explain and reconsider the name. The subject has been wrangled over, discussed and voted on since last August, with the end result of naming the school Oceana High School. Mathies stated the advantages of retaining the school's old name, Virginia Beach High School. He said "much money has been spent in publicizing the name of Virginia Beach." The Chamber of Commerce was strong in its protests of the new name, with Kitchin seconding Mathies and then speaking briefly in a similar vein.

George Ferrell, Chairman of the board, suggested tabling further discussion of the matter, but a discussion of the subject ensued with remarks by several of the members.

It was finally voted on by the board to "Table all argument about this subject and reconsider the naming of the new high school at an appropriate time nearer its completion." The decision was unanimous. The vote on the matter was brought on by action on the part of board members J. W. Bufington, and Aigy W. Cohen.

The action was questioned by board member C. J. Owens, but Ferrell said the situation reminded him of something Confucius said: "A smart man changes his mind; a fool never does." Ferrell added "What we're trying to do is get people off our backs."

In other action, the new payroll for Dec. 22 was approved, and the personnel report disclosed eight teacher resignations and eight teacher appointments.

It was approved that a request be made of City Council to sell the remainder of the $5-million school bonds.

The board was told by Assistant School Superintendent Spitzer that a study is being made into students driving cars and motorcycles to school, and a full report will be made at the February meeting of the School Board.

TWO DIE IN ACCIDENTS

VIRGINIA BEACH — A 27-year-old Navy man was killed instantly last Friday afternoon when his car smashed into the rear of a stopped school bus on Shore Drive.

Police identified the man as Robert C. Miller of the 900 block of 17th Street. He was stationed aboard the dock landing ship Donner.

Investigating officer R. E. Bross said the Carrollton Oaks School bus was stopped on Shore Drive to let off passengers and its red lights were flashing when the accident occurred.

Bross said no one aboard the bus was injured, but the driver, Mrs. Nellie Mae Strong of Lynn River was treated at Virginia Beach General Hospital and released. He said she was in shock after the accident, but suffered only minor injuries. The accident took place approx-mately 3:30 p.m. near Treasure Island Road. Bross said both vehicles were traveling east on Shore Drive at the time.

Police said they estimated Miller's car was traveling approximately 55 miles-per-hour when the accident occurred. The compact car went about two-thirds of the way under the rear of the bus.

Police said the car left no skid marks which led them to believe Miller never saw the bus had stopped.

A Virginia Beach woman died Thursday night as the result of injuries received in an accident Tuesday night, police said. Mrs. Helena C. Martinisale, 85, died from injuries she received in a two-truck accident on Dam Neck Road.

Police said they have charged the drivers of both trucks with manslaughter.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES MUST FILE BY JANUARY 5th

VIRGINIA BEACH — Most of the members of the sixty-man Virginia Beach Democratic Committee met Thursday afternoon and very quickly disposed of the business at hand. By unanimous voice vote, a resolution was passed by the membership setting the wheels in motion for a Democratic Councilmatic Primary election prior to the General Election on June 14th.

The date set for the primary is April 5th. At that time, the Democratic candidates will be nominated. Under Virginia law, candidates must file for the Primary ninety days prior to the election. Thus the filing deadline will be January 5th, leaving about two weeks for filing.

City Council has already adopted a resolution proposing a plan for reapportionment of itself. The plan calls for eleven Councilmen to be elected by all voters; four to be elected at large and one resident candidate from each of the seven Boroughs of the City. A public hearing was also held on the matter.

Recently, Council has requested Virginia Beach members of the Virginia General Assembly to inroduce necessary changes in the City Charter to allow for reapportioning the elected Council on the basis of the adopted plan. Because legislation passed by the Assembly does not become law until ninety days after adjournment, Council has requested the reapportionment measure include an emergency clause, therefore making it law upon receiving the Governor's signature. This is the only way that a General Election can be set up on June 14th.

The plan is expected to be adopted by the General Assembly, as requested, since a Federal Court has already let it be known that should the Assembly not act on a plan for reapportionment, it will order an at large plan on or about March 14th. In the same decision, Judge Walter Hoffman noted that Virginia Beach had already adopted a plan, but did not comment upon the validity of that plan.

At least one of the litigants who brought the case to law originally has said that he will appeal the case if the plan is accepted by the Court. However, the consensus is that the Council plan will be accepted and will hold up under Federal scrutiny. The case was begun through objections to the present Council setup, which came about through the Beach. At the present time there are six members of Council representing boroughs originally in Princess Anne County, and five members representing the Borough of Virginia Beach, previously the City of Virginia Beach. At the time of consolidation, the county Board of Supervisors and the old City Council were merely combined. This was attacked in the suit, stating that one-man, one-vote representation was being violated.

Officials at Virginia Beach maintain that the new plan, adopted by Council, encompassing both Borough and at large representation is the only feasible plan, since it would be entirely possible that the smaller areas and Boroughs could quite possibly not gain any representation on Council on a completely at large basis. Officials argue this could be a bad situation in such a large area spread out city, where such diverse interests are prevalent in widely separated areas.

City Treasurer, V. A. Etheridge, answers a question of a Democratic Committee member at Thursday's meeting. Standing, at left is Clerk of Circuit Court and Committee Chairman, John Fentress. Seated at table is Director of Personnel and Committee Clerk, E. A. Culverhouse. About sixty persons attended the meeting.

NEW AIRPORT PROPOSED

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Manager W. Russell Hatchett said Tuesday the city will look into a proposal from the Federal Aviation Agency to build an airport in Virginia Beach to handle business planes.

Hatchett said Richard Webbon, Coordinator of Urban Affairs, for Virginia Beach will look into the matter.

He said, "Virginia Beach will be happy for the federal government to give serious consideration to our needs." Hatchett said he has heard discussion of a city airport for some time.

The proposal came in a FAA document called a five-year national airport plan. Under the proposal, cities selected for airport improvement or construction are eligible to apply for federal grants under the FAA's matching funds program.

NOTICE

The offices of the Virginia Beach Sun will be closed Friday, Dec. 24 for the observance of Christmas Eve. The offices will be open for business at the regular time Monday morning.

BEACH BANK MERGER GETS FINAL APPROVAL

The Bank of Virginia Beach and First & Merchants National Bank, headquartered in Richmond, have received approval for merger.

The announcement came today following word from the Comptroller of the Currency to merge the Virginia Beach-Norfolk bank under name of First & Merchants effective January 1, 1966. Directors and stockholders of both banks have previously approved the action.

Sidney S. Kellam, chairman, and Edward H. Church, president of the Bank of Virginia Beach, made the announcement with R. T. Marsh, Jr., chairman, and J. Phillips Coleman, president of First & Merchants. Kellam will become a director of First & Merchants and Church will be senior vice president in charge of the Virginia Beach-Norfolk area.

The Bank of Virginia Beach has ten offices in the cities of Virginia Beach and Norfolk. First & Merchants has forty-two offices in fifteen Virginia cities and communities, including six offices in the Newport News area.

The bank of Virginia Beach deposits on a reporting date of September 30, 1965 were $26,200,000 and First & Merchants were $408,300,000. The combined banks would reflect total deposits of $474,500,000; total resources of $650,600,000 and total capital of $42,300,000.

On the first of the year all of the Bank of Virginia Beach signs will come down and be replaced by First & Merchants signs. The new signs, however, will be temporary, while permanent signs are being designed and made.

ERVIN TO RUN FOR COUNCIL

VIRGINIA BEACH — Independent Reid Ervin, an executive with Fox-Sadler Co. Inc., announced he will run for the City Council seat from Lynnhaven Borough.

His candidacy announcement came almost immediately after Lynnhaven Councilman James Darden said he would not run for re-election.

Ervin, 44, said he is "running to win." A North Carolina native, Ervin is a newcomer to Beach politics. He is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The station wagon being hauled away from the scene of a crash on Rt. 615 was involved in an accident with a panel truck. Hosed down gasoline can be seen on the ground.

The social event of the season was the Virginia Beach Assembly Club dance which took place Friday night at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club.

The Virginia Beach Assembly was started in 1948 by Mrs. Preston Hix and Mrs. James Page whom we all know as women with great leadership ability.

To become a member of this club you have to be voted in. Due to the limited membership others may become members only when a vacancy occurs.

The band was from Washington, D. C. and known as the Devrons. If you have never heard of the Devrons I might say that they are quite famous as this is the band that plays for affairs at the White House.

The formals worn were all very beautiful and quite outstanding in style and color.

Mrs. Andre Hodgson wore a long cotton brocaded white formal with accessories of a bright red. Mrs. Shep Drewry wore a long blue formal brocaded in gold with a long stole to match lined with satin.

Others seen were: Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Selden Grandy, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Little, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell Garey, Mr. and Mrs. Grice McMillan and Adm. and Mrs. Taylor Keith. Mr. and Mrs. Marion Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. McNeal, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Richardson, Bill Dodson, Mrs. Carol Joyner, Mr. and Mrs. Kent E. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walkley and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winder, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Dornire, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Gerlock, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bayler, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Dewalt, Mr. and Mrs. John Syer and Dr. and Mrs. John Mapp.

Mrs. John Donahoe was most attractively attired in a red brocaded satin long formal with Empire waist, an unusual effect was produced by the long panels which cascaded to the floor, her shoes matched the dress, drop earrings of crystal and headband of rhinestones. Mrs. Preston Hix as always looked very beautiful in her long black formal of Peau de Sole with satin panels that flowed to the hemline.

Others seen were: Mr. and Mrs. Peyton May, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McClannan, Mr. and Mrs. James Sadler, Col. and Mrs. Joseph Moore, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Vaughan and Mr. and Mrs. Nere Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rueger, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Robertson, Dr. and Mrs. K. K. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Disharoon, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Broyles, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Rayster, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James H. Deveraux, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hunter C. Phelan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. John Preston, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brydges, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. David Fender and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. LeCompt.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cronwell, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ashburn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. T. N. P. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stormont, Mr. and Mrs. Andre Hodgson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Booker, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sterling and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Donahoe.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Page Preston, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Martin, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Fogler, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rumsor, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cull, Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, Jr., Adm. and Mrs. D. S. Maderna, Col. and Mrs. W. S. Samsone and Adm. and Mrs. Harry Henderson.

Adm. and Mrs. David Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Powell Watson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Berkeley, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Jeter and Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Overton, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Wilson, III, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Folger, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Vall, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Carlin, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Beasley, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Goode, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Tazewell, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hall, Mr. and Mrs. H. Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Trull, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bragg, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith. I am sure with all the names I have given someone might have been left out. If this is the case please forgive me.

CHRISTMAS JOY

Here's hoping Santa leaves all the dreams of our loyal patrons in bright array beneath their Christmas trees. A hearty "thank you" to you all!

Rinaldi Plaza Bowl
111 Plaza Trail 341-1313

The Bow Creek Country Club held their formal dance last Saturday night. The affair started with cocktails, buffet and followed with dancing.

The music was that of George Arline, his piano and orchestra which kept the crowd in a dancing mood.

Of the many formals at this dance one of the most attractive was that worn by Mrs. Phyllis Fletcher. It was Mandarin style of satin material, brocaded at the top and bottom with gold beading.

Some who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill McAlister, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas R. Cappello, Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Kingsbury, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jason Harrell, Gordon Enga, Miss Mildred Masste and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wetzel, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Frierman, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osmond, Mrs. Mildred Williams and Wm. (Bill) Booth. MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL and in the many parties that you attend during the season let none of us ever forget the true meaning of Christmas day.

Mrs. Doris Makinson of the Mayflower, will be hostess to an Egg-nog Party to a small group of friends on Thursday, December 23, at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Herbert, 4507 Atlantic Ave., are welcoming their daughter, Margaret M. Coleman, back home for the holidays. She is a freshman student at Mount Vernon Junior College in Washington, D. C.

One-shoulder or strapless is the question these holidays for the well-dressed lady to decide. For formal to-do, it's just as smart to wear a stunning one-shoulder gown, which really "came out" last Spring, as it is to wear a strapless beauty. Probably the reason for the popularity of the one-shoulder little number is that it lends itself to such flattering draperies and is diagonal drapery, you must admit, can flatter any figure. Also, the Indian sari has been so popularly copied that the one-shoulder costume gives the wearer an Oriental feeling maybe! If you are off on a cruise or resort sojourn after the holidays, the new winter vacation clothes are most appealing. Very soft and feminine looking. The strapless short and long formal frocks are stunning and especially if you get that decide tan while getting there. Designer Oscar de la Renta for the House of Jane Derby (Virginia's late fashion genius) is probably the tops in strapless dress designs. It leans towards the high Empire look which embraces the lovely draped lines so flattering to the ladies who love to wear formals.

OFF TO MANHATTAN!
Your Althea will leave for New York on January second to cover the exciting American Designers Spring Fashion Press Week at Delmonico's under the fabulous Eleanor Lambert's directorship and the 40th National Fashion Press Week of the New York Couture Group. Inc. the following week, at the Hotel Astor, with perit KIM Campbell's managing. We've been keeping up with the fashion story twice a year, January and July, since 1948 for our radio and television followers and this time will also be reporting the excitement for the Virginia Beach Sun. Better jot this down on your calendar of "musts" for, certainly, you'll want to keep abreast of the new Spring 1968 American fashions.

BRIGITTE!
And, of course, we mean the one and only Brigitte Bardot. When she stepped off the plane in New York last Thursday a mere 80 cameras were on-hand, grinding away. Such is fame. We understand that on the same plane were 75 young American soldiers, home from the wars, and not a single camera man eyed his lens toward these fine fellows. Well, at thirty-one, Brigitte Bardot has proved what publicity and promotion can do in these times. She certainly is no fashion-first gal. In fact, she wore a pretty horrible sleeved sheath and when she bounced about for the press her dress certainly emphasized the obvious! Super Journal-American columnist Bill Steum's comment was "Not too petite. A little soft, in fact." And that about sums up the much-heralded first trip to America for this so-called sex-kitten. Ah, me!

LAST MINUTE BUYS:
At Fridley's: The Flower Arrangement Calendar, the 20th anniversary edition, by Helen Van Peck Wilson for $1.99, Hallmark's distinctive greeting cards, beautifully brocaded cigarette cases and clutch purses to match by Mascot. These are really stunning in gold and white or black and white with diamond edgings. Beautiful plain and sparkled berryberry candles gold-boned and all sizes, also handsome pot-pourri sprays! . . . At Webster's you'll find a fabulous collection of costume sports jewelry, scarves and sweaters for the knitter at the Knit-A-Bit Shop on 30th Street where you can buy the knitting bag or stand and fill with first requirements for a new knitter and get your friend or daughter started on the wonderful relaxation and fashion-fun of knitting. They have classes here, too! . . . Did you know that you can rent the most exquisite and unique table decorations and center arrangements at Virginia's Hobbies, Crafts and Gifts Shop? Drop by and see for yourself. You'll be amazed at Virginia Headrick's genius in this field. Such cute stocking stuffers here, too. She's a graduate of a California designing school and can help you to become a Hobbies Connoisseur, too! Drop in to this exciting shop and you'll be tipping your bonnet to Althea for telling you about it!

AS SANTA SAYS
Well, it's that day again for exchanging gifts and the cup that cheers and loving our families and friends anew. Merry Christmas from Althea to you and you, and especially YOU! But, let's not forget the dear little Babe of Bethlehem and how the gift-bearing angel began. In the meantime, may the Good Lord walk beside you.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

'Tis The Season . . .

At this season of the year, with all the hustle and bustle, the last minute shopping, the wrapping of the presents, the trimming of the tree, the preparations for the Christmas feast, and even the impatience of children waiting for the arrival of jolly old St. Nick can be a strain on the nerves, to say the least. But it is almost over for another year, and it is all really worth it.

For most, this holiday season is the happiest time of the year. And we hope that Christmas 1965 will be the happiest Christmas ever for everyone. For the majority, this is entirely possible. Merchants tell us there have been more sales than ever this year and more money has been spent, but certainly this is not the complete route to happiness.

Happiness at Christmas, to us, means the warmth of friendship, the spirit of giving and receiving, the glow on children's faces on Christmas morning, a big meal, a roaring fire in the fireplace, friends and relatives all together, and being at peace with the world. Most will be able to enjoy this kind of happiness, but some cannot.

Many men will not be at home with their families this Christmas. They will be in far away places attempting to make the world a safe place in which to live. They will line up posts and battlefields so that we can enjoy happiness at home. We are grateful to them, and sincerely hope they can all be home next year. Many families will be touched with tragedy this Christmas, victims of the casualty lists in Southeast Asia.

Those families have our deepest sympathy.

Other families will not be able to enjoy the happiness that we have described above. Their economic status will not permit frivolity. Charitable organizations have made great attempts to help these families, but the fact remains that many will not be able to enjoy the material things that others will.

This, of course, is not all of the picture. The holiday season should mean much more. The religious aspect of the season is too often pushed far into the background and almost forgotten in the rush of material things. No matter what the circumstances this Christmas, we feel that the feeling of happiness cannot be complete without the spiritual aspect. We urge our readers to reflect, to give thanks for any of the joys of the season, however small they may be, and never forget why this season has historically become the most joyous time of the year.

To our readers and advertisers, we extend sincere season's greetings, and our very best wishes for a merry Christmas and the happiest of New Years. It is our way of thanking you for your generous support in 1965. That is your Christmas gift to us. The only gift we have to offer is our pledge of strict continuation of policy — to give the best newspaper possible, published by, for and about the citizens of Virginia Beach. We offer that gift in all humility, knowing fully the responsibility we have to you.

May the joys of the season be yours.

Does Anything Come Assembled

Might as well face it, men—you've been had. And along about midnight Christmas Eve, unless you smarten up fast, you're going to be had again. Look sharp, or once again you will stumble into bed at 5 A.M. Christmas morning, a haggard, red-eyed victim of that annual horror, the unassembled toy.

In olden times parents had two ways of getting toys to give their children for Christmas. They could buy something at the store or make something at home. But American business ingenuity—that good wide-awake, mass-producing American enterprise—has come up with a third choice: toys you buy at the store and make at home.

The scene is really too familiar to need description. Here it is Christmas Eve, and the decorated tree twinkles and glitters with the joy of the season. The kids have finally been coaxed to sleep. Mom and Dad have filled the stockings, wrapped the last-minute gifts, heaped the packages high beneath the tree.

With all else ready they bring Junior's $40 fire truck, the coveted treasure, to take its place of honor. When the crate is opened, what do they find? No fire truck, but a box full of loose metal and a stern injunction from the manufacturer to get busy and make a fire truck. If they are lucky, it is done by dawn.

Rally reinforcements. Invite those bachelor urchin and childless cousins over to sip eggnog and beam at the kiddies toddling off to their visions of sugarplums. Then thrust hammers into their hands and set them to work.

Don't forget out-of-town entries. Aunt Nell, in Tulsa, was acting in good faith when she phoned the department store to charge and ship one doll-house. But you know perfectly well what the department store has probably sent. And you know who will put it together.

Check the old toolbox. Make sure that everything is sharp and ready to be worked with. See that you are equipped with all the common, everyday tools that are ordinarily required for toy assembling—pliers, hammer, socket wrenches, offset screwdriver, ratchet file, etc. Check the Band-Aid supply.

At present that is about all that can be done to ease the agony. Someday Congress will wake up and pass a law. It will authorize the victim of any unassembled toy, when his work is complete to submit to the so-called manufacturer a bill for time and materials. Wages will be prevailing union rates, computed of course, at time and a half. The charges for a single Christmas Eve will bring the industry to heel.

Until then you can only proceed, forewarned and forearmed, to fight the good fight. (Used by permission from "The Changing Times Calendar & Engagement Book," 1965.)

"LET'S SEE -- WHO DID WE FORGET?"

A Richly Deserved Award

A businessman, with an interest in all of Tidewater Virginia has recently received an award which we consider richly deserved. Harry Price was selected as Norfolk's First Citizens of 1965. We believe the choice was an excellent one.

As a businessman, he has that remarkable quality of direction. He saw the growth of this entire area and became a part of it. Not only does his business cover Norfolk, but also Virginia Beach. And we are proud to say that Harry Price owns a home in Virginia Beach. We like to think of him as a booster of the entire area, obviously including Virginia Beach.

But the First Citizen Award was not given to him for his successful business endeavors. The award was bestowed upon him for his efforts in promoting civic and public affairs through many years. No accounting here could cover his many accomplishments or his many efforts to help others. And truthfully, we do not feel that it is necessary in the first place. Those who know Harry Price know all that he has done. Those who do not have missed knowing a remarkable person.

We sincerely congratulate him on this award, not only as a Norfolk man, but also a citizen of Virginia Beach.

We Shall Miss Him

About ten years ago, we met Jim Darden. Our meeting had nothing to do with affairs of government. Jim Darden gave us the opportunity to take on a job that we enjoyed immensely and will never forget. The job was the direction of the Ruritan Club Minstrel. We are eternally grateful to Jim Darden for making it possible for us to work on this production.

At that time, we knew vaguely that Jim Darden was a member of the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors, but quite honestly, that did not concern us then. However, we were struck by his sincerity at that time, and his interest in civic and governmental affairs. We knew him then to be one of those rare individuals who took an active part in the growth and maturity of a fast-growing and fast-maturing area. He had the foresight so necessary for this area.

In local matters of this type, the Virginia General Assembly normally honors the requests of the interested Delegates and Senators; therefore the Charter changes are expected to be passed quickly after the General Assembly convenes in January. Then Democratic candidates will be chosen in the Primary in April. They will then face any opposition in the General Election in June.

After the resolution was passed, the chairman of the Democratic Committee, John Fentress, asked for any comments from the floor. V. A. (Jack) Etheridge noted that in anticipation of holding a Primary, efforts had been made to notify all potential voters about the poll tax deadline, which passed on December 14th. He said that many persons paid the tax, and that there are now about 19 or 20 thousand registered voters in Virginia Beach. He added, "We can expect a heavy vote."

A Good Decision

We regard the Virginia Beach Democratic Committee's decision to hold a Councilmatic Primary Election as a good one. In fact, it would seem to be the only right decision at this time when the continuation of a good government close to the people is at stake. A primary election certainly will allow the people—all of the people—to decide.

One of the things that has distressed us in the past, not only in Virginia Beach but also statewide, is the small vote that always turns out on election day. We hope this will not be the case in the Democratic primary or in the General Council election in June. We hope that all those Virginia Beach residents who wish to make their opinions known will do so at the ballot box. That is the proper place to make an opinion known.

The Democratic Committee, at its recent meeting, stressed the absolute importance of getting new voters registered, so that they will be able to take part in the two upcoming elections. We agree. When potential voters are urged to become qualified, we hope that they will be most anxious to take an active part in the government of the City of Virginia Beach. The more qualified voters and the larger the turnout at the polls certainly brings the government of any city closer to the people. And, after all, that is the express purpose of good government.

One of the big problems of any city is voter apathy. We hope this will not be a factor in the Councilmatic elections. We hope also that all non-qualified residents of the city will register, then go out and vote, both in April in the Primary and in June in the General Election. If this is done, then no one can have any complaints. The people will have spoken, and by so speaking will have chosen by democratic principles the best men possible to represent them.

GLEE CLUB PLEASES

Twelve lambs found their way to the Beach when they stayed overnight with Yale alumni, and then joined their Glee Club to sing at the Civic Center, Monday night. Among the hosts who helped make overnight arrangements were Dr. and Mrs. John F. Funkhouser and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Ehrlich who entertained Robert Frotter and Win Self at dinner. Other members of the committee were Dr. John Franklin, James A. Carney, W. Peyton May, Donald H. Leavenworth and Nathan H. Bundy, Jr.

The Whiffenpoofs, directed for the past twelve years by Fermo Heath, formerly of Newport News, raised their voices with the 56 other members at the concert with such favorites as "Shenandoah," Negro spiritual, "This Train," and songs of Yale which included "El Yale" and a melody of football songs. Melodies from Princeton and Archaic were climaxed by the final rendition of the famous "Bull-Dog Yale" song.

The program opened with "Mother of Men" sacred music and featuring Fermo Heath's Three Black Songs—Jerusalem, The Tiger, and The Lamb—all winning tremendous applause. Thomas Fyrite, handsome senior, rendered a tranquil tenor solo in Japanese called "Yuyake Kiyake" which is a lullaby and a souvenir of the around-the-world tour taken by the Yale Glee Club last summer. The club sang with 33 Japanese choruses in joint concert.

Christmas songs set off light bantering from many in the audience, and Heath's new arrangement of the "First Noel" was sung for the first time this year by the club. The "Yankie Man" (only one was from Virginia) did not forget "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." The masterful and sophisticated choral singing of the men was due much in part to Fermo Heath's leadership as the dedicated singers seemed almost hypnotized by the conductor's noble hands.

been a resident of Lynnhaven Colony for ten years.

The slate was formally announced with a statement signed by all candidates. The text of the statement follows:

"We wish to formally announce that we will offer as candidates for the City Council, for the City of Virginia Beach, subject to the Democratic Primary on April 5, 1966, and we will run under the plan that has been recommended by the City Council, that is, one man from each borough and four at large, to be voted on by all of the voters of the City of Virginia Beach.

In making this joint announcement, we are aware of the responsibilities for the position and the needs of our City, most of us having been active in City government, in one phase or another, for several years. In a growing City such as ours, these positions offer a challenge that will require from us our very best. We pledge to devote our efforts and our energy to the continuation of good government and the advancement of our city.

We will, between now and election time, make known our views on the important problems facing our City and will welcome an opportunity to discuss our positions with the people."

The five Constitutional officers of the City of Virginia Beach and those present Councilmen who are not seeking re-election also issued a joint signed statement, which read, as follows:

"We wholeheartedly endorse the slate of Organization candidates for City Council of the City of Virginia Beach.

We believe these men to be gentlemen of integrity, who will conscientiously strive to insure progress and economy in City government. It is our hope that the voters of Virginia Beach will enthusiastically support these men."

SALES CLIMB

RICHMOND — Last season, was a productive one for Virginia trappers judging by the $7,706 furs and hides handled by licensed Virginia fur buyers during the 1964-65 fiscal year, according to the Virginia Game Commission. Most of the increase was in muskrat and beaver furs and deer hides. Muskrat pelts totaled 297,282 followed by 42,340 raccoon pelts, 16,979 deer hides, 8,635 opossum pelts and 6,607 beaver pelts. Totals on other important species included 2,017 fox pelts, 800 other pelts, 3,933 skunk pelts, plus 1,220 nutria pelts from the Bay Area. There were a total of 76 licensed fur dealers handling furs and hides at wholesale and retail levels in the state during the year.

helpful and we want to express to him our appreciation of his advice, cooperation and support. We wish him success in the future for the advancement of our City and the continuation of good government. His sound judgment will always be appreciated."

At the time of his withdrawal, it was not announced who would run for City Council in Darden's place, but there was speculation that the name of someone would be forthcoming almost immediately. (See editorial comment on P. 4.)

LICENSE INCREASE PROPOSED

ROCHEMONT — The Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries voted at its December meeting to seek an increase in state hunting and fishing license fees when the General Assembly meets in January, according to Executive Director Chester F. Phelps. The need for the increase during the 1965-66 biennium was attributed partly to rising operating costs with our rising operation and maintenance costs," Phelps said, "and in order to attract and retain the employees we need we should give our field force a pay increase next year comparable to that which similar classes of state employees already have received." Phelps also cited the need to expand Game Commission programs and services to meet the growing demand for public outdoor recreation facilities and open space. "The Virginia Outdoors Plan, which was so well received recently at the Governor's Conference on Natural Beauty, calls for the acquisition and development of public hunting and fishing facilities during the next ten years at an accelerated rate. We can get federal aid in carrying out our part of the Virginia Outdoors Plan, but we will have to provide matching funds in order to do so and our only sources of such funds are license fees," he said. The Game Commission receives no appropriations from the state General Fund. The Virginia Outdoors Plan was developed by the Outdoor Recreation Study Commission established by the 1964 General Assembly and headed by Senator Fitzgerald Bemis. The Plan was included in a report to the Governor and members of the General Assembly last November.

The Game Commission's proposal to increase hunting and fishing license revenues would raise individual license fees from $3.00 to $5.00, and would establish a combination state hunting and fishing license that would cost $9.00. Thus the sportsman who now buys both a hunting and a fishing license annually would pay $2.00 more per year beginning next July 1st if he chose to buy the combination license.

TOURNEY WINNERS

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Boy team entries from VBHS dominated their sports divisions by capturing the team titles in all three areas—placing first in the 8th Grade Soccer, 9th Grade Speedball, and 10th Grade Touch Football. Other boy winners involved PAHS in the 11-12th grade touch football, and 10th Grade Tennis Singles; Cox HS in 10th Grade Tennis Doubles; Bayside in 11-12th grade Tennis Doubles. The girl winners were fairly well distributed with Kempis, Jr. taking the Soccer; Cox HS winning at Speedball; Bayside victorious in 10th Grade Field Hockey and Cox HS winning a second time in the 11-12th Grade Field Hockey. The tournaments enjoyed good weather and excellent participation with 49 boy/girl team entries. Causing the Boys Tennis competition, over 400 students were involved in the biggest fall Physical Education turnout ever.

LUCKY LYNNELL GOES WEST

VIRGINIA BEACH — Some might have envied her youth and beauty, others her prima and bright future, but probably most who were present to see lovely Lynnell Bass off to Hollywood viewed her the chance to escape to the land of sunshine as they all stayed behind shivering in the cold wintry winds of a December day in Tidewater. And warmed by the sincere good wishes of all her friends and proud city officials, merry "Miss American Teen-Ager" boarded the plane to what very probably will be a journey into a promising future. Accompanied by her proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Bass, Lynnell received a special send-off from the band of her school, Cox High and was presented with a charm for her bracelet from the students by Steve Carmichael, president of the student body. Mayor Frank Duch gave her a letter of greeting to the mayor of Los Angeles and City Manager Russell Hatchett presented her with a chorale message. Having her parents with her during the fun-filled days which will include bit parts in well-known television shows and an appearance in the Tournament of Roses parade, makes this one holiday season she will long remember.

ART-Y PARTY

By Douglas Arnold Barnes

VIRGINIA BEACH — Beauty was everywhere at the Art Association's annual Christmas party held last week at the Cavalier Hotel. It was hard to decide whether the beautifully decorated grounds and the inside of the Cavalier were more appealing, or the hundreds of more participants of the party. From afar, vertical red lights shown from the windows of all floors and a huge sled with Santa and reindeers was set up on the south lawn with an enormous lighted wreath with loops of colored electric light streams decorated the outside postico. On the inside a large Christmas tree blazed in the lobby. Down the wide reception hall, punch tables set with savory Danish tables, the edged with red and green garlands held, invitingly, crystal bowls of refreshment. And another large Santa on the balcony over the doorway nodded over colorfully wrapped bundles. Charles Curren, the general manager, was in the lobby overseeing all arrangements, and was seen chatting with Mrs. Lawrence Tucker, Miss Sallie Pickett, Corbell and Miss Ruth Epperson who is vice president of the association. She was mapping pictures and selling art calendars. Mrs. Tucker of the Beautification Committee of Virginia Beach spoke of various clubs which are donating crepe myrtle trees to the City. Early arrivals were the Misses DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Garrett, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Herbert. Evening gowns and tuxedos were prevalent and many men were seen wearing colorful cummerbunds and Christmas bow ties. Mrs. Richard Taylor wore a short mauve lace and chiffon. Mrs. Garrett had on pale green satin with her mink coat. Mrs. Haskert wore blue with mink. Mrs. Tucker wore blue with mink. Mrs. E. E. Townsend wore aqua blue silk with a fox stole, and Mary Lou Huffaker, a member of the Civic Chorus, was stunning in a black and white off-the-shoulder formal with crisscross lace back effect, accentuating her golden pool. Other fashion plates noted were Mrs. Kit Fritts whose off-the-shoulder gown with striped cape was most effective; Mrs. Ellen Norcum in ice green; and Mrs. Ruth Rossmann had a purple and white figured evening dress with hooded cow. Gone were the paint-splattered slacks and casual wear of the artists when they worked towards the summer art festival. Present also were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hubard, Mrs. C. F. Kitchloe, Miss Mary Elizabeth Crump, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Tugman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor, Col. and Mrs. Warren S. Sivertsen, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Clemens with daughter Malinda, Mrs. Shae Giffin, Mrs. Robert M. Boyd Sr., Mrs. Penn C. Hartman Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ferguson. The Civic Chorus, under the direction of Charles Oliver, presented many old and new Christmas carols . . . and many joined in the renditions, including local guests. Mrs. Charles Wiley accompanied on the piano.

POCAHONTAS VILLAGE GC

KEMPSVILLE — Pocahontas Village Garden Club held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrew Johnson with Mrs. J. E. Davis serving as co-hostess.

The Christmas program was given by Mrs. S. G. Ireland on "Doorways and Decorations." Pollyanna gifts were exchanged and the packages judged.

Blue ribbon winners were Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. J. T. Godwin, Mrs. D. V. Barrios, Mrs. Miles Kishbaugh, Mrs. W. C. Ritter, Mrs. Omar Fortin, and Mrs. Bobby Kendall.

Guests were Mrs. Carol McGinnis and Mrs. Dot Duncan.

It was announced that Mrs. J. E. Davis won a blue ribbon at the Norfolk Federation Christmas Show recently for her doorway.

Cavalier Garden Club Christmas Tea

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. William J. Vaughan opened her lovely new home at 106 Ridge road on Linkhorn Bay for members and guests of the Cavalier Garden Club's annual Christmas Tea held last week.

Mrs. L. O. Clark created the overhead decoration for the doorway using magnolia leaves and fresh fruit, and plaques under the lights framed the doorway.

Hurricane lamps with pink carnations and blue spruce were used by Mrs. E. A. Hoffmeister to carry out the decor of the dining room. Tree plaques using the same materials were used on either side of the wall scene.

Members and guests gathered in the large family room where the Christmas tree was decorated with magnolia pods and dried hydrangea blossoms were sprayed red and trimmed with glitter.

Mrs. Roger Mann of Richmond, a member of the Garden Club of Virginia and former editor of Garden Gossip, showed slides of Christmas doorways in Old England and in Williamsburg, pointing out the changes year after year.

Santa Drives A Bus?

A Christmas tree is a matter of personal preference, but a type finding more and more favor recently is the "living Christmas tree"—a real specimen transplanted from a nursery, kept in the house over the holidays, then planted in the yard giving years of enjoyment and satisfaction.

According to Charles Hayes, owner of Cavalier Nursery at 317 First Colonial road, more and more people are looking to their nurseryman with this idea. During the past 12 seasons, he has readily more than 30 trees every year for just such a purpose. Many of his customers have landscaped their property with various types of evergreens purchased for the holidays.

Favorites which are best suited to this climate are the Doxer Cedar, the Norway or White Spruce, the Japanese Black Pine, and the Native Juniper Red Cedar.

The Juniper is the favorite traditional tree of Virginians, and the Doxera is becoming more popular — it grows into a big tall tree and does exceptionally well in this area. The spruce is also a traditional tree which will grow well, but he reminds customers that it must be well limed for best results. Residents near the salt air of the beach area have the most success with the pine.

Because it is alive, the evergreens require care to be kept in condition for planting, but not much. Cavalier Nursery delivers the tree with its roots encased in a ball of dirt and burlap security. Hayes recommends it be placed in a large washtub (loosely disguised with a sheet or large plastic cloth). The ball of dirt must be kept damp but not wet. A piece of plastic over the burlap ball will retain much the moisture.

Because it is alive, it is not as dangerous as a cut tree which is prone to dry out in the house, but he warns that it will burn if it somehow got aflame. Therefore, it should be kept away from fireplaces or radiators and the like. A cool spot near a window is best both for safety and to preserve the growing condition of the tree.

It can and should be decorated the same as any Christmas tree. The electric lights do not harm it, though when they get hot they may turn the needles brown. This does not affect the life of the tree.

Hayes also recommends that the living tree not be kept in the house longer than 10 days.

Cavalier Nursery delivers the tree and will also replant it in your yard after the holidays. Because it has the ball of dirt, the tree is very heavy and hard to move without proper equipment. But if you want to plant it yourself, he gives this tip: Place a small scatter run under the washtub and pull on the rug while someone steadies the tree. This makes the moving more easily handled.

When the tree is planted in the yard, the hole must be dug large enough for the roots not to be crowded. Water well and repack ground firmly around the base of the tree and stake it securely so winter wind will not cause it to lean before its roots can get a firm grip in the dirt.

If it seems to you that artificial and cut Christmas trees have become more expensive every year, you might check into the idea of a living tree. A favorite size at the Cavalier Nursery is a 4 foot to 6 1/2 or 7 feet tree costs around $15 to $18 . . . and will give years (not days) of pleasure.

One of the nicest ideas about having a living Christmas tree is that there will be excitement, not depression, when it is time for the tree to be dismantled of its decorations. Everyone will enjoy knowing that the pretty tree is not going to be put away for another year nor abandoned to the junk man. It will stay where you can see it day after day getting bigger and bigger and still giving pleasure. The miracle of Christmas can live on.

VIRGINIA BEACH SUN

SECTION 1

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas
when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse.
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care
In hopes that Saint Nicholas soon would be there.
The children were nestled all snug
in their beds,
While visions of sugarplums danced in their heads.
And Mamma in her kerchief and I in my cap
Had just settled down for a long winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there arose
such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave a luster of midday to objects below.
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear . . .
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver
so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment
it must be Saint Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
'Now, Dasher! Now, Dancer!
'Now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! On, Cupid!
On, Donner and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch,
to the top of the wall!
Now, dash away! Dash away!
Dash away, all!
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle,
mount to the sky,
So up to the housetop
the coursers they flew

With a sleigh full of toys and Saint Nicholas too.
And then in a twinkling
I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around . . .
Down the chimney Saint Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot.
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler
His eyes—how they twinkled!
His cheeks—how merry!
His nose like a cherry,
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a round little belly,
That shook when he laughed like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump,
a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know
I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings;
then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger
aside of his nose,
And giving a nod,
up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh,
to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight,
'Happy Christmas to all and to all a good night!'

HRMA Publishes Annual

NORFOLK — "The Ports of Greater Hampton Roads Annual, 1965" — the official publication of the Hampton Roads Maritime Association — is now being given world-wide distribution, according to announcement of Harry M. Thompson, Executive Vice President of the Association.

The Annual, which is published in the interest of the development of the port and its commerce, contains 264 pages of concentrated information on advantages and services offered.

It is handsomely bound in white and green, the cover depicting various activities of the port. McCurry, Henderson, Enright, Inc., assisted in the preparation of the book, which was printed locally by Horst Advertising Services. Up-to-the-minute information contained in the Annual, in each instance, was secured from the particular source most directly involved. The Annual is well worth a careful reading and for reference purposes, it is invaluable.

The 1965 Annual points up advantages offered by the Hampton Roads ports—Norfolk, Portsmouth, Chesapeake and Newport News, Virginia—for maritime, industrial and commercial enterprise, and is being distributed to steamship owners/operators and shippers and receivers of cargoes in this country and abroad, to railroads in the East, industrialists throughout the country and important government and military officials. In addition to the Association's wide distribution copies are also distributed by the Virginia State Ports Authority, Norfolk Port and Industrial Authority, Tidewater Virginia Development Council, and individual members of the HRMA.

In the first few pages of the Annual, the reader is given a bird's-eye view of the busy and important ports of Hampton Roads, the many advantages which they offer, their tremendous production, recent years, and rich potential. The frontispiece shows a busy scene at the Norfolk and Western Railway piers and interesting pictures of port facilities and operations — including the projected new pier-chandises pier at Newport News — are scattered throughout the Annual's pages.

Attractive new charts drawn by the commerce section and maps to emphasize Hampton Roads' growing stature in world trade. Particularly impressive is the chart showing Atlantic Coast by numerous coal loadings, with Hampton Roads handling over 20 million tons in 1964, out of 60 million tons for the entire Atlantic Coast. Other charts demonstrate Hampton Roads' dominant position in tobacco and grain exports, and its export all import business from a passage and geographic standpoint.

Other sections of the Annual relate to Steamship Services, Railroad Services, Facilities and Terminals, Port Terminal Facilities (including facilities for specific commodities, such as coal, grain and oil), Shipping and Ship Repairing, Port Charges, Regulations and Practices, Government Services, and Foreign Consuls. A new section discusses Tug Boat Services and another section discusses the activities of the Hampton Roads Maritime Association in the development of the ports and points to the fact that HRMA members offer all necessary services for the prompt turnaround of ships in the port.

The advertising section of the Annual is important and also provides a ready index to the many services available at Hampton Roads.

In the preface, thanks are expressed to those who assisted in any manner in the compilation of the Annual, and to the advertisers who helped make the book possible.

CAROLING — AN OLD CUSTOM

CHICAGO — Christmas caroling is almost as old as Christmas itself — though not in the form we know it.

An early historian wrote that in the Second Century the bishop of Rome urged his people to sing "in celebration of our Lord." Christmas hymns go back to the Fifth Century, when most of them were written in Latin.

St. Francis of Assisi is regarded as the father of caroling as we know it, according to World Book Encyclopedia. In 1223, St. Francis placed a crèche (miniature Nativity scene) in a hermitage in Greccio, Italy.

After this many churches began displaying a Nativity scene at Christmas, and soon the people began acting out the Christmas story. The actors composed carols to sing with their Nativity plays and after the plays they would stroll down the street, singing. In that way, street caroling was born.

Joseph Mohr, a pastor in Oberndorf, Austria, composed "Silent Night," or "Silent Night," on Christmas Eve, 1818. Franz Gruber, the local schoolmaster and organist, composed the music the same day, and the hymn was sung for the first time at Midnight Mass that night.

Charles Wesley, brother of John Wesley, wrote, "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!" in 1739. Phillips Brooks, a noted Boston clergyman, wrote "O Little Town of Bethlehem" in 1868 after visiting Bethlehem.

Though not a carol, Handel's noble "Messiah" is a Christmas tradition. It first was performed in Dublin in 1742. "Joy to the World," written in the early 18th Century by Isaac Watts, was set to music of a segment of the "Messiah." "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," written in 1769 by Nahum Tate, was set to music

PEABODY ELECTED

VIRGINIA BEACH — Edward S. Peabody Jr., who has been with E. V. Williams Co. for 12 years, has been elected executive vice president. He succeeds P. H. Brockman, who has resigned.

It was also announced by E. V. Williams that Peabody had been elected to the firm's board of directors.

Peabody had been a vice president of the firm since 1963.

Ralph E. Simmons and James A. Gourley, both vice presidents and project managers of the firm, were also elected to the board of directors.

Dock Plan Rejected

VIRGINIA BEACH — Dr. James Point and Lincoln residents will support from city officials in the fight against the Pine Harbor Corp.'s proposed construction of a 240-foot, 300-foot long pier on Great Neck Creek at the Pine Harbor Yacht Club.

In a letter to the Army Corps of Engineers Monday, City Manager W. Russell Hatcher said the city objects to the proposal. The letter came following a correspondence between city officials and residents of the area.

If the city rejects the proposal, the Army engineers could not improve the project. Approval must come from the City Building Inspector, and that approval will be granted until the project is approved by the City Engineer. City Engineer Charles Kiley said he would not approve the plan at this time.

Residents of the area contend that the pier would hamper navigation of small boats in the creek. The new dock addition would mean more than double the number of yachts in the area.

Three residents of the area, John Doyle, Jr., Frank Fentress, and John C. Fears Jr., and an attorney with Hatcher, Kiley, John Fentress, City Building Inspector John Gibbs, Lynchhaven Councilman James G. Darden and other officials on the matter.

It was verbally agreed at a meeting that the officials and residents would oppose the plan.

Jefferson Davis Honored At Kellam

VIRGINIA BEACH — Kellam High School students and faculty honored their tall, smiling principal, Jefferson Davis, by proclaiming Monday as Jefferson Davis Day.

When Davis arrived at school for what seemed to him to be a routine day, he found himself in the spotlight for a host of activities.

The senior class, sponsors of the recognition day, began the ceremonies by presenting a program in the school auditorium.

Speakers for the program were Frank W. Cox, Superintendent of the Virginia Beach City Schools; Louise Luxford, Personnel Director for the Virginia Beach City Schools; Richard Absalom, State Probation and Parole Officer. They praised Davis as a man, as a civic leader, and as an educator.

Davis, usually never at a loss for words, found that words would not come when the senior class unveiled a color portrait of him which is to be placed in the foyer of the school.

Following the program, 400 specially invited guests attended a reception in Davis' honor. The extensive list of guests included Davis' friends, family, former classmates, former students, the Kellam faculty, member of the Virginia Beach City School Board, and various other civic officials.

Although all of Kellam's 2000 member student body could not attend the festivities, they monitored the day's activities through the school's intercommunication system.

Banners at the school entrances, showcases depicting Davis' career, and lapel buttons worn by students further honored Davis.

Kellam students, usually casually dressed, donned party dresses, high heels, ties and sport coats to honor the man who heads their alma mater.

Following graduation from South Norfolk High School (now Oscar Smith), Davis received the bachelor of arts degree in social studies from Elon College. Graduate studies were completed at the College of William and Mary where he received the master of arts degree.

During World War II, Davis was a nose gunner in the Fifteenth Army Air Force. He received the Purple Heart for a wound sustained in combat when his plane was shot down over Vienna, Austria.

In March, 1962, the school board appointed Davis to the principalship of Kellam High School, which at that time, was a new high school. For the last four years, Davis has seen students go through their high school years.

Students leaving school will not forget their principal and friend, Jefferson Davis. One senior remarked, "I'll probably never know a man more active and pleasant. He is proud of Kellam, you can tell."

TRAINING AT FORT STORY HELPS AROUND THE WORLD

Virginia Beach — Halfway around the world today amphibious training conducted in the beaches of Fort Story, a sandy finger jutting into the Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean, is being carried out by U. S. Army troops of the 4th Transportation Terminal Command, Republic of Vietnam.

Eight transportation units from the Army are now in Vietnam. Their mission is to carry troops and supplies from off-shore vessels to the beach and inland areas.

From Fort Story units include two amphibious service companies, the 15th and 20th Transportation Companies; two LARC-6 companies, the 27th and 28th; two LARC-20 platoons, the 1st and 24th; the 2nd General Amphibious Support Co. and the 7th Transportation Bn. headquarters.

The units are now a part of the 4th Transportation Terminal Command, Republic of Vietnam. Approximately 6,000 personnel of the command are scattered throughout Vietnam from Saigon to Da Nang.

Fort Story is best known Army-wide as the home of the LARCs, amphibians capable of deep sea and inland water operations with the ability to maneuver along high beaches and inland terrain.

The LARC comes in two sizes: the LARC-6 with a 4-ton cargo capacity and the LARC-20 (formerly called the BARC) with a 20 to 25-ton cargo capacity. The LARC-6 looks like a large motor boat on wheels.

Typically a lighter, the LARC-6 carries 1 to 25 tons of cargo or 25 combat equipped troops, or a combination of troops and cargo, at speeds of 10 miles per hour in water and up to 30 mph on highways. The larger craft is slower, carries 20 to 25 tons of cargo, and is used for training personnel in the operation of these amphibious vehicles. The installation, commanded by Col. John R. Williams, is a part of the Army Transportation Center at Ft. Story, and is probably the only place on the Eastern seaboard — and more than likely in the United States — with undeveloped beaches free for amphibious training.

The closeness of a wooded area to the shoreline and the provision of sand dunes make Ft. Story's beaches a partly unique training area. The peculiar terrain incorporates most features of any type of beach in the world, and provides a location for simulating amphibious operations in foreign countries where differing land features prevail.

For example, the proximity of the wooded area on the Story beaches is not much unlike the situation in Vietnam where jungle growth is close to the shoreline.

Two beach sites, Red and Blue, each a mile in length, are used solely for the exercises which are year round, undisturbed by commercial traffic moving farther out in the Atlantic. Amphibious operations are not conducted on the eastern waters of Chesapeake Bay, off the coast of the LARC units on the Story beaches. Sometimes joint Army-Navy exercises are performed. Ft. Story sits flush against the Navy's Little Creek Amphibious Base, headquarters for the Atlantic Fleet's amphibious training activities.

The Army's General Equipment Test Activity, based at Ft. Lee, also uses the Story beaches for testing some of its experimental vehicles. Presently the agency is running tests on the LARC-6 to see if the amphibian can be improved.

The LARCs are beginning to play an increasingly significant role in the war effort in Vietnam. According to Col. Richard W. Aronson, commanding officer of the 4th Transportation Terminal Command stationed in Saigon, the availability of a road network has provided a working platform for amphibious craft and probably the biggest part yet to be played by the LARC in U. S. Army operations in Vietnam has been on the Highland, the landing of the 1st Cavalry Division in that country, in a two week period, 377 aircraft and 20 million pounds of cargo were brought in over the Vietnam beachhead by the 20th Transportation Co. of the 4th Terminal Command. The amphibian began on the beach and then landed craft and supplies over the beach. The LARC-6 and LARC-20 were used in the operation. The operation was similar to the LOTS (Logistics over-the-shore) exercises that are performed on the beach at Ft. Story.

During the 10 days of Operation Highland, Sept. 21-30, 1st Cavalry Division personnel, equipment and cargo had been moved from ships, over the beach and into a camp 70 miles away.

The operation was interrupted once when a U. S. Air Force C-130 cargo plane crashed in the bay near unloading activities. Within seconds 10 LARCs and an LCM were on the spot and five lives were reported saved.

The Ft. Story amphibious training area is set up so that Army personnel unload dummy cargo from the off-shore vessel Hickory Knoll, a cargo ship working out of Ft. Eustis' Third Port area. LARCs carry this cargo onto the beach and, without stopping, into a mock supply depot in the surrounding woods.

Typical of the LARC companies now at Ft. Story is the 41st Transportation Co., commanded by Capt. Juan Benitez-Tyres. The 41st "Barracudas," whose "Barracuda Ball" is one of the highlights of the Ft. Story social season, is equipped with 20 LARCs. Operating on two ten-hour shifts the company has the capability of transporting daily an average of 1,000 tons of general cargo using 27 of the lighters. The same number of amphibians will carry some 7,000 combat equipped troops daily in 12 trips with each LARC carrying an average of 25 men.

The company has participated in approximately five logistical over-the-shore exercises at Ft. Story over the past 10 months.

The LARC replaced the Army's DUKW, a 24-ton amphibious truck used during WWII. Developed by the Transportation Research Command at Ft. Eustis, their use in Vietnam marks the first appearance of the LARC in a combat zone. The larger craft, the LARC-20, was first seen in Europe during the early 50's and participated in September of 1959 in the logistical exercise NODEX-91 (New Offshore Discharge Exercise) in France. The LARC-6s have been used only at Ft. Story exercises and now in Vietnam.

An interesting sidelight to the LARC story is the loan of two LARC-6s to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Cape Canaveral, now Cape Kennedy, Fla., for use in recovering nose cone capsules for the old Project Mercury. Ft. Story-trained personnel comprised a large part of the detachment.

In replacing the DUKW, LARCs speeded up the time in loading and unloading cargo. No longer was it necessary to first unload cargo from a small craft on a beach and then reload it onto trucks for transfer to an inland supply area. The LARC moves from the water, across the beach and right to the supply depot.

The state of the tide must be taken into consideration when un-

LARCs line up at Fort Story, the amphibious training activity of the Army Transportation Center, ready for a ship-to-shore over-the-beach operation. The LARC is an amphibious resupply cargo lighter, and the ones pictured are the smallest of three in the family, carrying only 5 tons.

"Dear Old Golden Rule Days"

Yes, school bells are still ringing for adults—retired Colonels, admirals, mothers, grandmothers, service men and "teachers by the day" are studying hard in Extension Courses all over the area. Mrs. Herbert Smith, III, who will teach next semester at Grandview Windsor Woods School, is deep in discussion at break-time, with the teacher of the William and Mary Extension Course in Educational Psychology Walter Carroll, principal of Cox High School. The class is held from 7 to 10 PM each Wednesday night at Fort Story and everyone is learning to keep up with the fast pace of education today and all students are readying themselves for the final examination. (photo by Command) loading from a small waterborne vessel, but has no bearing on the performance of the LARC.

The smooth path of the LARC from water to inland areas affords protection from enemy fire for combat troops and craft operations. The amphibians are made of aluminum. Also, the elimination of the transfer step on the beach eliminates the necessity of exposing stevedores and terminal personnel to hostile fire. Unloading is done under the cover of a jungle, wooded or fortified area.

The LARC represents a means of keeping abreast of changes being made in cargo handling. The LARC is well suited for transporting cargo mounted on pallets and material in CONEX containers, two methods increasingly being adopted by the armed forces. The LARC, too, eliminates the need of excessive handling of sensitive cargo, like fuel, by several loadings and unloadings.

Clerk-Carrier Exams Opened

VIRGINIA BEACH—Postmaster Joseph T. Crosswhite, Jr. has announced the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners has reopened the Substituted Clerk-Carrier Examination for the U. S. Post Office, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Mr. Crosswhite stated, "We must keep our office staffed with well qualified workers to maintain our high standards of service to the City."

Post Office employment is good employment. Postal careers offer high job security, excellent chances for advancement by promotion, regular salary increases, and other benefits which include low cost insurance and a liberal retirement plan.

The Federal Salary Adjustment Act which became effective October 9, 1965 increased Postal salaries an average of 3.6 percent. Regular Clerk and Carrier salaries in the Virginia Beach Post Office now range from $5,151 to $7,082 per year.

In addition to other benefits mentioned, Postmaster Crosswhite emphasized the generous uniform allowance, 15 to 20 days of annual leave granted to career employees, and up to 13 days of sick leave being available.

"Postal business is an important public service and our people take real pride and satisfaction in being a part of it," Mr. Crosswhite said, "and many postal employees can boast of 25, 30 or more years of service before taking advantage of the excellent retirement plan."

Applicants for these positions must live within the delivery zone of the Virginia Beach Post Office, be at least 18 years old, and a United States citizen.

The Postmaster urges those who are interested in postal employment to obtain information and application forms from the U. S. Post Office, Virginia Beach, Virginia, or the Post Office Establishment Board, Window No. 11, Main Post Office Building, Norfolk, Virginia.

COX DE STUDENTS SPARK DRIVE

LYNNHAVEN—The Distributive Education Club at Frank W. Cox recently participated in the annual welfare drive which is designed to provide clothes and other items in usable condition for young people in need. This was undoubtedly one of the most successful projects ever undertaken by the Cox DE Club.

The DE students began their efforts by going out into the business community to obtain contributions from the city merchants. The local businessmen responded with gifts having a total value of something over two hundred dollars. Special mention should be given to Arthur's Men's Shop, Black's Sportswear, and Western Auto. Mrs. R. L. Riggs, Manager of the Beach Western Auto Store made a contribution that was simply outstanding. The Cox DE students wish to thank all these fine businessmen for their efforts in supporting an extremely worthy cause.

The next step in the project led the students to their own closets where they collected vast amounts of good wearable merchandise which was then assembled in the club room. Once these items were ready, and the merchants gifts added to the total amount, the DE students then began the task of boxing and wrapping each individual gift.

When the project was completed the Cox DE Club had collected, boxed, wrapped, and delivered 45 Christmas packages to the Virginia Beach Welfare Department. The City of Virginia Beach indeed has reason to be proud of these young people.

Rhae W. Adams

Adams To Head Heart Campaign

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. Rhae W. Adams, president of EmRhae Ford Company, Virginia Beach, has accepted appointment as 1966 Tidewater Heart Fund General Campaign Director. The announcement was made today by Mr. William M. Campbell, President of the Tidewater Heart Association.

The Heart Fund Campaign slogan is "GIVE, SO MORE WILL LIVE," Mr. Adams says. "The Heart Fund is a great crusade against the number one health enemy of our community, state and nation, and we can all participate through giving and serving as volunteers. I am happy and proud to serve as chairman of the 1966 drive."

Mr. Campbell expressed his pleasure at Adams' acceptance of the Heart Fund Post. He said that he is convinced Adams "will be a great asset to the Heart Association in the 1966 Heart Fund effort. He is a young man with vitality and ability, and I predict the most successful campaign in the history of the Association under his capable leadership."

Area Chairmen appointed by Mr. Adams for seven area communities serviced by the Heart Association are: Mr. Louis R. Jones, President, Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home, General Chairman of Norfolk; Mr. Sam G. Davis, District Manager, Home Beneficial Life Insurance Company, General Chairman of Portsmouth; Mr. Hugh L. Cayce, President, Association for Research and Enlightenment, General Chairman of Virginia Beach; Mr. P. D. Baskin, Jr., Director of Purchasing, City of Chesapeake, General Chairman Chesapeake; Mr. Jack Andrews, Director, Colonial Funeral Home, General Chairman Smithfield; Mr. Wight, and Mr. Paul Council, President, Council's Florist & Gift Shop, General Chairman of Franklin-Southampton County.

Proceeds of the month-long drive will be used to fight the heart and blood diseases responsible for the following percentages of deaths in our area: Chesapeake 58.83%; Virginia Beach 53.61%; Norfolk 55.33%; Portsmouth 62.44%; Franklin 73.93%; Suffolk 64.07%; Isle of Wight 59.61%; Nanseamont County 58.32%; and Southampton County 71.47%. Not just one but more than 30 ailments, these diseases include heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, and unborn heart defects among other conditions.

The annual campaign to fund research, education and community service programs in behalf of heart disease victims begins February 1 and winds up February 28.

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

FEEDER CATTLE PRICES IMPROVE THIS YEAR

Prices on both calves and yearlings advanced during the 1965 special feeder cattle sales in Virginia.

There were 36 feeder calf sales in which 37,222 calves sold. About 300 short of the 1964 figures. Steer calves averaged $27.37 per hundred weight, up $3.90 over year earlier prices. Heifers averaged $21.56 per hundred, up about $2.80 per hundred over last year.

The spread between steers and heifers increased to $5.79 per hundred, the greatest price difference in the history of Virginia Feeder Calf Sales. For the past 10 years, the difference has averaged $4.65 per hundred.

There has been much discussion about the price spread between grades of calves in recent years. There are instances in which pens of the lower grade calves have brought as much as the higher grades. This past fall, however, choice calves averaged $1.15 per hundred higher than calves grading good, and the good calves out-sold the mediums by $2.25 per hundred. This is about par for the past five years. Ten years ago, the average was around $2 per hundred between choice and good, and about the same between good and medium.

Today cattle feeders are marketing a smaller percentage of high choice and prime grade slaughter cattle than 10 years ago, and this has probably taken a little edge off the price advantage of the choice and fancy calves. Choice calves still returned $5 to $6 per head more than good grade calves and quality is the one big factor that has sold Virginia calves throughout the Eastern United States for many, many years.

Steer calves averaged 401 pounds and heifers 426 pounds per head, about the same as last year, but 5 pounds below the average of the last five years. Steer calves returned an average of $126.44 per head, and heifers $95.62. Assuming half steers and half heifers, the value of the average calf in Virginia this fall was $111 per head.

About one-third of the calves stayed in Virginia last year, while the other two-thirds went to 10 different states. More calves went to Pennsylvania than any other state. About 500 head of heifers went to a buyer in Texas, the furthest any calves moved this past fall.

For And About Teenagers

ALL THE GIRLS IN MY CLASS WEAR THEM...

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 13 years old and my mother will not let me wear nylon to church or to school. What do you think about this? All the girls in my class wear them and they call me a baby when I don't. It hurts!"

OUR REPLY: The girl of twelve years who thinks she must wear nylon all the time is the one who is really the "baby." She is trying to act and look like a grown-up, which she is not. Some girls who wish to wear them all the time have no more reason for wanting to do so than "everybody else does." This is equally wrong. If some girl shaved her head, would you like to be bald as well? Your mother is right. She will when she thinks you are old enough, for the appropriate occasion, and with the appropriate dress, permit you to wear nylons.

You will probably go through the same experience when you friends tell they are old enough to wear lipstick. Prepare yourself by deciding now that you intend to be an individual and not a follower of the crowd.

If you have a teenage problem you need to discuss, or an observation, please address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND YOUTH COUNCIL SERVICE, FRAME FOUR, N.Y.

Carlessness and inattention are killers on the highway.

Tableaux Seen

VIRGINIA BEACH—Charles Over, director of music at Gallilee Episcopal Church, and Mrs. George Adridge, pianist, directed an unusual Christmas Pageant last Sunday by adopting a worship Tableaux program of lessons and carols taken from the traditional service used in King's College Chapel, Cambridge.

The Youth Group and three choirs—chancel, junior and adult—as well as the children of the Sunday School took part.

Douglas Hubbard was narrator of the nine Biblical lessons while Mrs. Whitner Frank and Mrs. John Marshall directed the junior choir. The unusual setting emanated from a week's work by Whitner Frank.

Stage mothers were Mrs. Stanley Martin and Mrs. Richard Barnes, and Paul Peter was in charge of the lighting effects.

Among those taking part were Martha DeWitt as Eve; Larry Taylor, God; Sarah Stormont, Mary; Jim Kitchen Jr. played both Joseph and Adam; Charles Gilliam, Donald Bradley and Billy Kutz were Kings; Eric Seffield, Laura Bolice and Margaret Gilliam were shepherds. The angel Gabriel was played by Jill Siveren and other angels were represented by Elizabeth Green and Louise Overman.

The Junior Choir caroled before each of the nine lesson tableaux which included Divinum Mysterium, French Noel, Venite Adoremus, the Coventry Carol, Rosa Mystica, Four Nobis, Silent Night, and The Shepherd's Farewell.

CHRISTMAS AT MAYFLOWER

by DOUGLAS ARNOLD BARNES

VIRGINIA BEACH—This winter has the privilege of living in the Mayflower, 34th and Atlantic, the first high-rise apartment building on the Beach. Joining this small community has been called Odd-ball Inn, Mayflower Lodge, house, and the like, but to me and to all other occupants, it is a sanctuary and a home.

Here are housed the small babies and the very old, the gay and the sorrowful, the lonely and the popular, the service men and the retired officer, the composer and the 3-hour bridge player, the romantic, the widow, the wife, the mother, the devil-may-care divorcee, and an occasional richie (who can't be very long as no one will allow him to be!). Everyone who lives in this secure and safe 300 apartment building knows it offers convenience and peace and is a true HOME.

The staff is constantly taking care of our many requests and idiosyncrasies. Percy Tucker, the night watchman, has been on the staff 15 years and possesses great kindness and understanding, and though inarticulate at times, has the suaveness and tact of a David Niven. Every morning, before leaving his job as waiter at the Pine Tree Inn, he raises three flags in front of the building.

And we have doctors, dentists, and real estate agents, plus coffee klatches, and the drug store, tea room and restaurant on the ground floor. Who can underestimate the laundry room where fast friendships are made over the type of detergent or soap powder used, and bids for club membership may depend on the way the lines are folded?

But it is at Christmastime that the Mayflower goes all the way with homelike hospitality. An enormous Christmas tree lights the lobby; the huge star and the colored bulbs spell out "The Mayflower" and light the scenery for many blocks; almost everyone throws a party, large or small, in his home; and every door (almost 300) is decorated for the holiday season. I know, because early one morning, after consulting Percy, I strolled through each of the 15 halls, and inspected at the lovely door decorations. From the one room efficiency to the more pretentious penthouse apartments, each is artistic, each is different, and all have caught the spirit to say Merry Christmas or Happy Chanukkah—a New Year of Peace is beginning.

Each one seems to say: "Enter. There is peace and love here. This is my home."

Mrs. Florence Turner of 50th Street has returned from Roanoke's turkey day football game at Victory Stadium where the Hokies defeated the Keydets 38 to 19. Her son, John, is captain of the VMJ team, a senior tackle and a good prospect for the Christmas holiday's All-star games which spread from the south-sea to Harvard. Having attended all of John's games, except the one with Boston College, she might be packing again at Christmastime!

George Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Leary of 3208 Ocean Ave., has been placed in the honor roll for the first quarter marking period at Howey Academy in Florida. He is a member of the senior class.

Benefactors

One of the numerous philanthropic projects of the Princess Anne Woman's Club is raising money to build a new Atlantic Mental Hygiene Clinic. Proceeds from the annual Antiques Show are earmarked for the establishment of the new center; and at the Christmas meeting of the Club at the Pine Tree Inn, Mrs. J. James Davis, general chairman of the show, made a motion that the money be paid immediately which won instant approval. Mrs. Sherman H. Bullis, treasurer, wrote out the check for the whopping big sum of $4,200 and presented it to Dr. James H. Williams, director of the Atlantic Mental Hygiene Clinic, just a few hours later. Dr. Williams gratefully accepts the check from Mrs. Bullis (left) which represents the largest single contribution received from any club. (Patrick photo)

This scene met LCDR. Peter B. Eaton when he returned home from duty in Viet Nam last week. His neighbors pitched in and made up the signs and placed the making the street to his Bay Colony home.

SIGNS GREET VIET NAM VET

VIRGINIA BEACH — Residents in Bay Colony offered a novel method of welcoming home a member of the air wing stationed aboard the Independence, when he returned last week.

Signs similar to those placed along highways by a well known shaving cream company were spaced along York Lane, almost to the man's front door-step. The signs were neatly painted with red letters on the white background. The signs read: LCDR Peter B. Eaton (USN) . . . you have been away too long . . . with Naval air . . . in Viet Cong . . . your neighbors all . . . join in to say . . . we're proud to have you . . . home today . . . Pete.

A huge banner which said, "Welcome Home Pete" was strung across the road near LCDR. Eaton's home.

As Eaton approached his house

VIRGINIA: In the Circuit Court of the City of Virginia Beach on the 7th day of December, 1965.

IN THE MATTER OF: Petition of GEORGE CHRISTOPHER GEORGIADIS to have GREGORY JOSEPH SHAMBO declared legally dead.

ORDER: THIS CAUSE came on this day to be heard upon the sworn petition of George Christopher Georgiades to declare Gregory Joseph Shambo legally dead and was argued by counsel.

UPON CONSIDERATION WHEREOF, and it appearing to the Court that the said Gregory Joseph Shambo formerly resided in the County of Princess Anne now in the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia, and that the said Gregory Joseph Shambo was in the year 1957 and has not been seen since that date and has not been heard of since the year 1957. The Court being satisfied that George Christopher Georgiades should be entitled to the proceeds of the said policy with the Pilot Life Insurance Company, said policy being numbered 050547, if the said Gregory Joseph Shambo were a fact dead.

IT FURTHER APPEARING to the Court that the said Gregory Joseph Shambo has been absent from the City of Virginia Beach for a period of more than seven but less than twenty years. It is therefore ADJUDGED, ORDERED AND DECREED that notice of the petition of the said George Christopher Georgiades be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Virginia Beach Sun News, a newspaper published in the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia and that notice being given that on the 14th day of January, 1966, being two weeks after the final publication as hereinafter provided, that this Court will hear evidence concerning the alleged and alleged death of Gregory Joseph Shambo; it is further ORDERED that the Clerk of this Court publish a certified copy of this order in the said Virginia Beach Sun as notice required in this Decree.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION: In the matter of

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery Stops Itch - Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain - without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all - results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "I'll have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) - discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in proprietary or ointment form called Preparation No. 10. At all drug counters.

CARE OF CHRISTMAS PLANTS

After many weeks, and in some cases, months of careful growing under precise practices in the greenhouse, it is essential that plants brought into the home be cared for properly, says Elgia L. Easter, Assistant Agricultural Agent at Virginia Beach. With proper care and growing conditions in the home, the blooming period of pot plants can be extended, thereby increasing the enjoyment of them.

Favorable growing environments are necessary because plants are living organisms, Easter points out. Proper light, temperature, moisture, and soil conditions are necessities. "Most gift plants are greenhouse-grown under optimum conditions. When they are moved into the home, the environment is quite different and may affect them adversely," he stated. "Therefore, provide growing conditions as much like those in the greenhouse as possible, especially if you plan to rebloom the plant." Usually it is desirable to discard flowering pot plants when they are through blooming.

For those who want to grow their plants a second year, however, Easter gives the following pointers:

Do not over-water. Plant roots must have air as well as water. Also, never water plants by a rule of thumb, such as every other day, twice a week, etc. Plants should be checked each day and watered only when they need it. Once the soil is thoroughly moistened, it is not necessary to water again until it begins to dry. The moisture content of soil can be determined by its color and "feel." As the surface dries, it gets lighter in color. Probably more plant failures in the home are caused by improper watering than any other factor.

All flowering plants need moderately bright light to keep them in good growing condition. This does not mean, however, that they need direct sunlight, for this is not the case. Most foliage plants can tolerate conditions that are not as bright as those required for flowering plants.

A proper temperature is often difficult to maintain in the home. A hot, dry atmosphere is detrimental and shortens the blooming life of many flowering plants. A good temperature range for most house plants is from 60-65°. However, many tropical plants can stand a temperature of 70° F.

CLUBS PLAN FOR TRIP

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Golden Age Clubs of the City of Virginia Beach is planning a tour of Colonial Williamsburg on January 7, 1966. This will be the first in a series of planned tours for the clubs during the year.

The Golden Age Clubs are composed of persons sixty years of age and older and they provide a recreational outlet for the retired Senior Citizens of our communities. Clubs have been organized in the areas of Bayside, Atlantic Park, Lynnhaven, Nimsco, and Blackwater. Other recreational clubs have been organized for adult persons within the city also.

Your help is needed to insure the continued growth of these clubs. If you wish to take the Williamsburg Tour and join one of the clubs named above, please contact Rev. H. C. Benjamin, or Jacob Whitehurst, Virginia Beach Recreation Department, Monday thru Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., 497-4383.

London Bridge Home Demonstration Club combined the installation of new officers with its annual Christmas Party last week at the London Bridge Baptist church social hall. Mrs. Elizabeth Deal, Home Demonstration Agent, (right) hands the gavel to Mrs. Jack Allen, president, while Mrs. Curtis Reid, vice president, and Mrs. Robert Scheaffer, secretary, look on approvingly. Not present for the picture was Mrs. Thomas Hunter, the newly installed treasurer. More than 20 members of the club gathered for the covered dish luncheon after which Pollyanna gifts were exchanged. Two special Christmas greeting letters were read to the group, one from Mrs. John Claudy of Seaford, Delaware, who was a member of this club before moving away; she is confined to a wheelchair and members always send her remembrances. And the other new greeting came from a former member, Mrs. Betty Couch of Loganville, Georgia. Decorations for the meeting were created by the entertainment chairman, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Scheaffer. The outgoing president, Mrs. Reid, presided. (staff photo by Patrick)

MINISTERS

KEMPSVILLE — The Ministerial Association of Virginia Beach, a fast-growing all-denominational organization, entertained the ladies at a festive Christmas luncheon at Kempsville Presbyterian Church last Thursday. More than thirty members and guests were present. In honor of the holiday season, no business was discussed.

The Rev. Sidney Crane of Thalia Trinity Church spoke on "Christmas and The Clergyman."

Projects of the Association include a Hospital Chaplain program which will familiarize ministers with the duties of a hospital chaplain rendering continuous ministry at the General Hospital of Virginia Beach 24 hours a day; and a future U.S.O. for servicemen or a Hospitality House similar to the one they sponsored at the Beach last summer.

The Reverends N. Cecil Clifton and James D. Singletary Jr. hold counseling service at 704 Aragona Boulevard, Phone 497-1819.

Current officers are: president, N. Cecil Clifton, pastor of Aragona Baptist Church; vice president, Dickson Taylor, pastor of the Lutheran Church of The Good Shepherd; and secretary-treasurer, James D. Singletary Jr., pastor of The Little Creek United Church of Christ.

The next meeting will be held January 20 at 10 a.m. at a place to be announced later.

CASH TIPS

RICHMOND — Recent amendments to the Social Security Act require employers to include in employment tax returns "cash tips" reported to them by employees on and after January 1, 1966, James P. Boyle, District Director of Internal Revenue for the state of Virginia, advised today.

Forms 941 and 941A, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," will be revised in January, 1966, to provide a column for use by employers to list "cash tips" reported by employee. Starting with the first quarter in 1966, employers must use this revised Form 941.

Printers producing and employers purchasing substitute Forms 941A may use up their shell stocks before they adopt the new official format of this form, said Boyle. If the income is to be reported on the old Form 941A, the heading of item 20 should be changed to read "Taxable Tips Reported."

The Internal Revenue Service will begin issuing revised Forms 941A during February, 1966. Form suppliers may now obtain reproduction proofs of the January, 1966, revision from the Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C. 20224. Attention: A.F.M.F.

PARTY HELD

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Kay entertained a number of guests at their Little Point home last Saturday night with a Christmas cocktail party. Decorations of red and gold carried out the holiday theme.

Among the more than 40 guests present were noted Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myer, Mrs. Wesley Snow, Mrs. Mary Dickens, Mr. and Mrs. Brockmeyer, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Zerkel.

May the "heavenly peace" of that first Christmas night descend upon the world, bringing to everyone the joy and happiness that comes with a contented heart.

TIM FINCHEM DOES WELL

RICHMOND — Playing the unusual role of varsity debater in his first year of college competition, Timothy Finchem, of Virginia Beach, has justified expectations. The University of Richmond freshmen joined a varsity team-mate to capture third place among 17 participating affirmative teams at the Dixie Classic tournament at Wake Forest.

Debate coach Dr. Bert E. Bradley Jr. said that giving a freshman a spot on the University of Richmond's varsity debate squad is not common practice, but that "Finchem's performance fully justified the move."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Finchem of Virginia Beach, Finchem was sent by Coach Bradley to a Georgetown University varsity meet, after having participated in two novice tournaments at V.P.I. and the University of South Carolina. The successful Dixie Classic tournament was his second varsity debate.

Finchem is a '68 graduate of Princess Anne High School, where he was senior class president and first place affirmative speaker in the eastern debate district.

Gift For Home Yuletide Idea

Why not say Merry Christmas to your house this year?

Many families have made an annual tradition to give their home a Christmas gift—something lasting, something needed, something lovely.

It might be a fresh wall treatment for living or dining room, solid lumber paneling, for instance, in a finely grained wood like western hemlock, Idaho white pine or western cedar.

It could be a beautification of the hearth wall: a new hood effect created over the chimney breast with panel boards. At the same time, cabinets could be built to flank the firebox and used for wood storage and as cetera.

A good ceiling treatment for the entrance hall, bi-fold lowered doors for closets, food files for the kitchen, simple cove or cornice moldings for all rooms and corner guards for doorways are other possibilities.

DESRON 36 GIVES PARTY

VIRGINIA BEACH — Crewmen from nine of the ten ships of Destroyer Squadron 36 gave a Christmas party for the children of their shipmates who are spending Christmas in Viet Nam.

The tenth ship in the squadron, the H. J. Ellison, left Norfolk in September and is scheduled to return in August, 1966.

Crew members from the other nine ships pooled their recreation funds and bought gifts for the children whose fathers are stationed aboard the Ellison.

The party, held at the theater at Little Creek Amphibious Base, was highlighted by the arrival of Santa Claus by helicopter.

BAYLAKE METHODIST

BAYSIDE — The Baylake Methodist Church presented the Christmas Cantata last Sunday night. It was entitled "The Story of Christmas" by H. Alexander Matthews and was presented under the direction of Freeland Cooke. The organist was Mrs. D. M. Whitaker.

Sunday morning at the worship service will be "Student Recognition Day." A luncheon will follow the service for all college students and seniors in the church.

A special Christmas Eve Communion Service will begin at 11:00 p.m. Friday.

A drama was presented recently at the church entitled "Through Darkness Shining," by Elizabeth Goode Stetevit. It was presented under the direction of Mrs. G. W. Ralph, narrated by Rev. Raymond Musser, and all the choir participated.

GEMINI-SIX MAKES SPACE HISTORY

By JACK MOORE

VIRGINIA BEACH — After two frustrating attempts, Gemini-6, with astronauts Walter M. Schirra, Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford aboard, made its world famous mission last Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

On Oct. 25, GT-6 was supposed to have attempted a rendezvous and docking maneuver with an Agena vehicle as it circled the earth, but the Agena failed to obtain its orbit and exploded, thereby scuttling the flight.

National Aeronautic and Space Administration officials at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Texas, pondered the situation and decided to wait and attempt a rendezvous between Gemini-6 and Gemini-7, which was to be launched on a 14-day endurance mission in the first week in December.

Unknown to most residents of Virginia Beach, one of the City's business men, Allan Rothenberg, an assistant manager at Anderson and Strudwick, made the trip to Houston for the Oct. 25 attempt. Rothenberg, a close friend of Schirra, and his former commanding officer when the astronaut was stationed at Oceana, was invited to witness the launch and proceedings from Houston. When that launch failed, Rothenberg promised he would return when another attempt was made.

When final plans were made to send GT-6 on a rendezvous mission with GT-7 on Monday, Dec. 13, Rothenberg made plans to return to Houston.

GT-7 with Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. aboard was sent aloft without a hitch Dec. 4, and NASA officials planned to launch GT-6 nine days later. With damage to pad complete below what was expected, the GT-6 mission was moved ahead one day with the launch scheduled for the morning of Dec. 12. Rothenberg, confident that the mission would go as planned this time, went to Houston again, hoping to see Schirra literally "go into orbit."

But, as fate would have it, the mission was "scrubbed" because of a minor difficulty. At that point, Rothenberg packed his bag and returned to Virginia Beach.

Four days later, his problems ironed out, GT-6 was sent into orbit and made history, minus Rothenberg. The bird at target, the big bird thundered aloft without any problems. Through the abilities of Schirra, and Stafford, GT-6 made its rendezvous with GT-7, catching up with the latter just short of five hours from launch. It was a great day for all those involved in the United States' space program. Never before had there been a rendezvous of this sort in outer space.

The two spacecrafts, at the end of all the maneuvering, were flying in formation just six short feet apart. The two craft flew this way for several hours, with GT-6 flying over, under and around GT-7, before they parted company for GT-6's return to earth.

Scientists now speculate that the United States can now plan on placing a man on the Moon by the end of 1968 instead of 1969 as planned.

Although the docking maneuver was not accomplished, the rendezvous by the two spacecraft proves that such a maneuver will be fairly easy. Another Gemini mission will accomplish this next year, it is planned.

The Gemini series will not be over when NASA begins its series of unmanned Apollo space shots. Scientists at the Cape and Houston hope to begin the Apollo series in the first quarter of 1966. Five more missions remain in the Gemini series before work can begin in earnest on the Apollo program.

When Al Rothenberg returned to work last week, he was the target of some good-natured ribbing. One joke has it that Cris Kraft, head of the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston told Rothenberg not to come back a third time because they wanted to make sure GT-6 got off the ground. Others simply said, "We're glad you stayed away from Houston this time, Al."

Despite all this, Rothenberg said he had the time of his life on both of his trips to Houston. He said he afforded him a chance to see, hear and, what this country is doing in the race for space. He met and talked with many of the astronauts and was given a "Cook's Tour" of the complex at Houston.

Rothenberg isn't saying whether or not he is planning any future trips to Houston. But, then again, you never can tell what a man who is associated with one of the astronauts will do!

Dental Society Meets

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Dental Society held its final meeting of the year at the Cape Colony Club on Wednesday, December 15.

Dr. Roland B. Robinson presided. Elections were held and the following men will serve next year.

Dr. George R. McGuire, President-elect; Dr. Robert M. Rabin, Secretary; Capt. Joseph Parsons, Treasurer.

After the business meeting, a scientific program was held with new techniques in dentistry demonstrated.

GEMINI DOCKING — This is an artist's concept of the Gemini spacecraft docking with the Agena target vehicle. The spacecraft is shown closing in on the target vehicle just prior to mating of the rendezvous and recovery section into the docking adapter. The Agena failed to obtain orbit in the first GT-6 mission, but such a maneuver will be attempted in a later Gemini mission. (Official NASA Photo)

'Twas the Night before Christmas...

"... And all through the house, not a creature was stirring" ... except these two little rascals! Christmas is their day ... dreams of toys, and sweets, and games, and lots of wonderful things!

Christmas is for children, yes. But, Christmas is for grownups, too. It's a time to give, a time to receive. But, sometimes the spiritual side is overlooked; not deliberately, of course, but lost in the delightful chaos of cheer and joy and fun.

Then remind yourself, to go to church—your choice! Pause there to pray, to give thanks for all you have received: especially, that wonderful gift, the gift of God Himself, in His infant Son, Christmas is Christ's day, His birthday!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CHRISTMAS TURKEY TREATS

While roast turkey has become a holiday tradition, so has the problem of what to do with the leftovers. Your family will be sure to "gobble up" these tasty turkey treats, compiled by Austin Nichols home economist.

A perfect hot dish for those cold winter days when the family comes home hungry is a sandwich loaf.

GOURMET SANDWICH LOAF
4 hard-cooked eggs
1 cup finely chopped cooked turkey
1/4 cup chopped sweet pickles or pickle relish
1 can (10 to 12 oz.) cream of mushroom soup
Salt and pepper
12 slices bread
2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine
1/4 cup milk
Chop 2 of the eggs. Combine with turkey, pickles and half of the soup. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Trim crusts from bread and cut slices in half to make 24 pieces. Place 6 pieces of bread close together on baking sheet or heat-proof serving platter. Spread with turkey mixture. Top with layer of bread. Repeat until there are 3 layers of turkey and 4 layers of bread. Brush top with softened butter. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) until lightly browned, 15 minutes. Blend milk with remaining soup. Heat to boiling. Add remaining chopped eggs. Serve over 6 sandwiches.

The kids will love these sandwiches, especially when they're washed down with a steaming cup of hot chocolate. And the guests you entertain will appreciate them with another kind of "Turkey," which is coming as much of a holiday tradition in American homes as turkey for Christmas dinner. Wild Turkey Bourbon in glasses often appears beside domestic turkey on a platter during the holiday season.

No matter what kind of holiday beverages you serve your guests this year — on the rocks, cocktails or egg nog — your Christmas entertaining will be more fun with less work if you heed a few helpful hints:

You'll be a more relaxed hostess if you plan ahead. Know how many people there'll be at your party, and have enough chairs for them before they arrive!

To add a festive touch to your party, try pasting colorful Christmas stickers on punch bowl, cups and glasses.

If you're serving refreshments, paperware with Christmas stickers affixed can brighten the holiday mood, help cut down on after-party wash-up.

Keep refreshments simple but ample. The makers of Wild Turkey suggest this recipe, using Turkey Sandwich Filling. These Tea Turnovers can be made in no time at all and are sure to bring compliments from your guests.

TEA TURNOVERS
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup shortening
4 to 6 tablespoons water
1 recipe Turkey Sandwich Filling
Slice flour and salt into a bowl. Cut in shortening with a pastry blender until the pieces of shortening are the size of peas. Add cold water gradually, tossing with a fork until all of the flour-coated bits of fat are dampened. Turn mixture onto a pastry cloth or piece of waxed paper. Gather up corners, pressing from the outside to form a compact ball. Roll the "ball" out on pastry cloth or board to about 1/4-inch thickness. Cut circles 2 inches in diameter.

To make Turkey Sandwich Filling combine 1 cup of finely chopped cooked turkey, 1 tablespoon pickle relish, 1/3 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Make 1 cup of filling.

Place 1/2 teaspoon of Sandwich Filling in the center of each circle. Fold over pastry to form half circle and press edges together. Bake in a very hot oven (475° F.) until golden brown, 10 to 15 minutes. Serve as an appetizer.

BUFFET TURKEY SALAD
2 cups sliced cooked turkey
2 cups cooked rice
1/4 cup French dressing
1 cup sliced celery
1/4 cup sliced green pepper
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
Salt and pepper
Lemon juice
Lettuce
Jellied Cranberry Sauce
Deviled eggs, optional
Combine turkey, rice and French dressing. Chill. Just before serving combine turkey mixture with the celery, green pepper and mayonnaise. Season to taste with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Arrange in individual lettuce cups or in salad bowl lined with lettuce. Garnish with slices of cranberry sauce and deviled eggs. If desired, top with or serve additional dressing, 6 to 8 servings.

With these recipes and helpful hostess hints up your sleeve, and with an ample supply of both Wild and domestic turkeys, you're sure to have friends "flocking" to your door before the holidays are over.

RED CROSS PRESENTATION

PRINCESS ANNE — The Naval Air Station Oceana's unit of American Red Cross Volunteers held their annual recognition ceremony on Dec. 14, at the Oceana Seafarers Club.

Also presented were stripes for the workers who had volunteered large numbers of hours during the past year. Those receiving additional stripes were Virginia Elmer, Bonnie Everett, Carroll A. Flesher, Joan Alice Hawkins, Maurine Hendrickson, Mary Kreymer, Patricia A. Prudhamme, and Maggie Stokes.

Mrs. J. B. Linder, chairman of the Oceana volunteers, presided at the meeting.

Following a noon luncheon, the ceremony recognized members of the volunteer organization who had completed additional courses of achievement, and other individuals who had provided special services through the Red Cross Program.

First awards were presented for completion of the Red Cross Basic Training Course. Presented by Mrs. Linder, they were received by Gloria Aaron, Mary Beth Berry, Marguerite Brown, Margaret

GIRL SCOUTS SING

VIRGINIA BEACH — Members of Girl Scout Troop 382 helped bring the spirit of the Christmas season to members of the Shore Drive Convalescent Home Wednesday afternoon. The Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Alice Tiller, sang Christmas carols and took gifts to the shut-ins there.

Guests attending the ceremony were T. J. Humrickhouse, executive director of Tidewater Red Cross, Commander J. D. Iff, executive officer of Oceana Naval Air Station, and doctors and nurses from the air station dispensary.

GREETINGS

From all of us to all of you, we send our greetings and best wishes for a merry, old-fashioned holiday season.

BAYSIDE BAPTIST

BAYSIDE — The Bayside Baptist Church presented their Christmas Cantata last Sunday night. It was entitled "Sing Noel," presented by the adult choir under the direction of the Minister of Music, Tom Pendergrass. The Youth Choirs gave a special music program.

The young people of the church will combine Christmas Caroling with a "hayride" on December 23. They will visit the homes of "shut-ins" and conclude with a wether roast. All young people of the church are encouraged to attend. This project is under the direction of the Youth Council. Steve Stanley is the president of the Council.

On Christmas Sunday, December 23, the young people will present a Christmas play "The Empty Room."

The Good Samaritan Ladies Class of the church held their Christmas party and luncheon Monday, December 13. The class teacher is Mrs. Virginia Dixon and the president, Mrs. Hubert Dawley.

CHRISTMAS BALL

PRINCESS ANNE—The Oceana Officers Wives Club held their annual Christmas Ball Saturday, December 11 at the NAS Oceana Officers Club.

Approximately fifty officers and their ladies attended the gala dinner-dance which is a yearly affair sponsored by the Wives Club.

The highlight of the evening was when Santa Claus himself dropped in and handed out door prizes and took orders for his coming Christmas visit from all the ladies present.

During the evening of dining and dancing, Captain Dexter C. Romney, II, station commanding officer, took time out to present a station plaque honoring Lieutenant John Chabey who will be leaving Oceana this month.

Providing music for the evening's dancing were the well known Commodores.

C&P Prepares For Holidays

VIRGINIA BEACH—Helping to smooth the flow of long distance calls on a nationwide basis is the responsibility of what the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia calls the "Network Management Center."

Network Management Centers provide flexible arrangements of telephone circuits so that calls can go through quickly. The continent is divided geographically by the Bell System into 12 regions each with its own switching center. Each region, in turn, is divided into sections, then into primary centers. More than 300,000 long distance voiceways crisscross the continent to make sure that any one of the more than 90 million phones in North America can be connected quickly with any other. This network of circuits features automatic switching equipment which routes all long distance calls.

Here in Virginia, the C&P Communications Center in Richmond serves as the sectional center, while the regional center is Wayne, Pennsylvania. Norfolk and Roanoke are designated as primary locations.

This Christmas, it is expected that more than one million long distance calls will be handled through C&P facilities. These calls must be directed through careful circuit arrangement so that as many calls as possible can be completed in the initial effort. Since the Christmas holiday is the heaviest long distance calling day, a constant surveillance on the network must be maintained. This is done by "Network Managers."

At each regional and sectional center there are current status boards that provide up-to-the-minute information to "Network Managers" identifying the various destinations and volumes of the holiday calls.

Past experience has shown that traffic jams can build up fast on the long distance communications highways. If, for instance, there should be a sudden upsurge in calls to a particular area, congestion could easily spread to other cities if steps are not taken to keep the "communications highways" clear by rerouting traffic over uncongested circuits, a sort of temporary bypass. The network managers by their constant vigil can keep matters under control by using alternate routes, taking advantage of the different time zones which greatly influence the flow and density of traffic and by activating idle facilities.

On Christmas day, C&P will be making diligent effort to speed calls through the long distance network with a minimum of delay. To augment Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) by customers some 2,000 operators and other traffic personnel will be on hand to assist customers should the need arise.

To our many friends and patrons who have made this Christmas so grand for us, we wish the Merriest Christmas of all.

Mary Ann Gansel, former librarian at Shelton Park School, is a librarian in an elementary Air Force school in Crete. She is shown here at Knossos.

GREETINGS FROM GREECE

From Knossos, Island of Crete, Greece, comes a Christmas card from a former resident of Virginia Beach, Miss Mary Ann Gansel, daughter of Mrs. Louis Gansel and the late Mr. Gansel, "Teedie," a former librarian in the Shelton Park Elementary school, is now with the U. S. Air Force school on the Island of Crete. Her interesting letter follows:

"Greetings from Crete. Living in Greece is great. Our school faculty is small (11) and most congenial forming quite a family-like unit. We enjoy tripping around together.

"Over our Thanksgiving holiday we went to Rhodes, a charming and unique isle with a medieval as well as classical atmosphere. The Knights of St. John made their headquarters in the Middle Ages until the Turks chased them to Malta in 1522. I could still hear the clanging of their armor down the cobble streets. Castle walls and ramparts enclosed the Old Town with its bright blue and yellow stucco houses, and Turkish minarets punctuated the skyline to tell the end of the story.

"Now we are looking forward to a two-week Christmas cruise—first on the Med to Egypt, Lebanon and Cyprus, then up the Adriatic to Yugoslavia and Venice.

"We have covered Crete well and visited the unearched Minoan palaces as well as doing a little of our own digging—an old pot handle or two!

"Our three-week lessons in Greek are helping us to speak to our friendly hosts—mostly they are surprised—not too many tourists bother, I guess. It is tough KATA XPISTOTYENNA or "Good birth of Christ" and so ends the card.

Virginia Beach has many former residents of the Island of Crete and from the Island of Rhodes. To mention only a few, there is "Mrs. Harry," as she is affectionately known, the wife of the late Harry Katsias, owner of "Harry's" at 24th Street and Atlantic Avenue, since before the last World War.

And from the Island of Rhodes, the Med. is Jimmy Panagiotis, one of the managers of the Neptune Restaurant at 31st and Atlantic. Talk to him about the Island of Rhodes and hear his wonderful stories. Such as, "Once a year the butterflies come to the Island of Rhodes and blanket the shrubs and trees in color-telling glory, and then disappear as quickly as they came. Or, "The marble-lined tanks through which the sea water flows bringing fresh fish to live in new seawater flowing continuously through the tanks and flushed clean every day. At 5 p.m. the operation is shut down and the poor and needy are allowed to take the fish that remain for their food." Even an island in the Mediterranean Sea has its own Community Fund!

Jimmy Kontapanos, an outstanding citizen who owns and operates the Normandie Restaurant, is a former resident of a small town about 15 miles north of Athens. He was recently elected treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce and has been a First Citizen of Virginia Beach.

With us also are Jimmy and George Prosperos, well-known restaurateurs who come from the southern part of Greece.

The Alexander family contributes much to Virginia Beach. Its popular cafe next to the Beach Theatre is operated by Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander and his brother, Jeffrey, Young Mr. and Mrs. Angie Alexander own and operate the sophisticated Alexander-Beeble Men's Shop which also contributes to the sportswear of the femme fatale. The senior Alexanders originally came from Greece.

We quote from Lord Byron: "The Isles of Greece, The Isles of Greece, Where Burns Sappho, Loved and Sang! Where the mountains, Look down on Marathon, and Marathon, Looks down on the Sea" . . . and then we return a card to "Teedie" in far away Greece from the world's largest resort city. . . . Cassandra.

YULE LOG LIGHTED

By RITA VELLINES
BAYSIDE—The beginning of the Christmas season in Bayside got off to a good start recently with the lighting of the "Yule Log" and the drinking of a "toast" to the coming year. These ceremonies were in keeping with the early settlers' Christmas traditions. As we know the settlers came here from England and they brought their English traditions with them. One of which was that the yule log must burn all night on Christmas night. So one of the members of the household sat up all night and "saw to it." It was considered very bad luck if the log went out.
The Yule Log lighting ceremony was held at the restored Thoroughgood House and Comdr. Norrie Martin, dressed in costume of the 17th century, taking the part of Adam Thoroughgood, lit the log, from which ladies in colonial costumes lit their tapers and in turn lit every candle in the house. When the tapers were lit a "toast" was drunk before the fire.

boxwood, slices of lemons, cranberries, arranged in a cone shape and topped by a pineapple. According to one of the hostesses, the pineapple was a symbol of hospitality in colonial days.
Once again this year, the garden club made a colonial "kissing ball" much more elaborate than anything seen today. It was suspended from the ceiling in the hall and as you went up the stairs you could see that it contained the Christmas creche.
Pine, cedar, boxwood, pyracantha berries were used in the decorations and over the mantle of the parlor was a lovely della robia wreath, made of course, from fresh greens, which had been treated, and the traditional della robia blue velvet ribbon.
It was a bright, beautiful fall morning and the guests came by droves to see the decorations in this first brick house in America.

SUGARPLUMS FOR YOUR TREE

Hang hospitality from your Christmas tree. Let young holiday visitors help themselves to the "sugarplums" hanging from your tree—Chocolate Cereal Burra of melted sweet cooking chocolate and cereal coated with coconut, nuts, and tiny candy sprinkles.

There are no-cook candies—the kind that children enjoy helping you make for Christmas. Set aside a space in the kitchen where the youngsters can work, arranging several bowls of the coatings for them to use. You may have to help your youngest melt the chocolate, but even he can stir in the cereal and vanilla and roll the candy in the coatings.

When the candies are firm, they may be wrapped in transparent saran and hung from your Christmas tree with colorful ribbons. The preparation and wrapping of the candy may keep your excited youngsters happy for two entire afternoons—and they will certainly feel they had a hand in the holiday preparations.

The children can also help you make these new peanut butter flavor treats. Always a favorite with young and old, peanut butter flavor is now available in convenient chips that can be added to cookies or melted and made into delicious, smooth, creamy candies and sauces. Here are three simple confections youngsters will enjoy making from peanut butter flavor chips.

Marshmallow Top Hats, Peanut Butter Balls, and Peanutty Squares will make a fancy assortment of candies to offer to holiday guests. Or pack them in pretty containers to give as gifts to favorite friends or teachers. Just imagine how proud the children will be of the gifts they give when they can say, "I made it!"

Chocolate Cereal Burra
1 package (4 oz. sweet cooking chocolate, or 1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate chips
1/2 cup bran and prune flakes
1 teaspoon vanilla
Flaked coconut, finely chopped nuts, or tiny candy sprinkles
Partially melt chocolate over hot water; remove from hot water and stir until smooth. Stir in cereal and vanilla. Drop from teaspoon into coconut, nuts, or sprinkles and roll to coat thoroughly. Place on wax paper and chill until firm. Then wrap in transparent saran, if desired. Makes about 2 dozen small candies.

Marshmallow Top Hats
1 package (5 1/2 oz.) peanut butter flavor chips
24 marshmallows
1 cup finely chopped nuts
Melt chips over hot water, stirring until smooth. Remove from hot water. Dip half of each marshmallow into melted chips; then dip in nuts to coat thoroughly. Place coated side on wax paper and let stand at room temperature until firm. Makes 2 dozen confections.

Peanut Butter Balls
2 packages (5 1/2-oz. each) peanut butter flavor chips
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt
Finely chopped nuts (optional)

Melt chips over hot water, stirring until smooth. Remove from hot water. Add condensed milk, vanilla, and salt; mix thoroughly. Pour onto wax paper. Cook 30 minutes, or until firm enough to handle. Shape into small balls, using about 1 teaspoon for each; roll in nuts. Makes about 4 dozen confections.

Peanutty Squares
1 package (5 1/2-oz.) peanut butter flavor chips
2/3 cup chopped walnuts
Melt chips over hot water, stirring until smooth. Remove from hot water, add nuts, and mix well. Spread about 1/4 inch thick on baking sheet or shallow pan. Chill. Cut into 1-inch squares. Makes about 2 dozen squares.

LAKE JOYCE GC

BAYSIDE — Lake Joyce Garden Club celebrated its "Annual Christmas Party" at the Shore Drive Inn with the theme "All is Calm" carried up in decorations of green and white.

Special guests were Mrs. H. O. Freeman, president of the Federation of Garden Clubs of Norfolk and Vicinity; Mrs. Harry Miller and Mrs. James Cohen.

Club members donated $14.50 for gifts for veterans.

The annual project, Christmas Greens Sale was held Dec. 18 at Bayside Hardware in Bayside Shipping Center.

A Christmas story, "Legend of the Birds," was given by Mrs. Cecil H. Reed. Those winning blue ribbons were Mrs. M. K. Crockett, Mrs. A. C. Gordon, Mrs. Everett P. Seay, Mrs. H. K. Crosby, Mrs. Cecil H. Reed.

4 Injured In Wrecks

VIRGINIA BEACH — Four persons were injured in two accidents, one involving four cars, on Virginia Beach Boulevard, near the Princess Anne shopping center last Wednesday night.

The first accident, involving two automobiles, occurred about 7:00 p.m., and led to the four-car accident several hundred feet down the highway.

In the first of the two accidents, police said a car making a left turn into the shopping center and the second car collided. One of the two vehicles fled the scene of the accident and the driver was arrested a short time later. He was charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident, police said. The driver was identified as Clarence Williams, of South Birdneck Road. The driver of the other car was identified as Mrs. Donald D. Barber, 26, of the 2900 block of Saturn Street.

Mrs. Barber and her daughter, 5, were treated for minor injuries.

The second accident occurred minutes later when three cars hid up by the first accident. They were struck from the rear by a fourth car, police said.

Police said the fourth car, driven by Harry C. Jones, 31, of the 500 block of Kellam Road, left approximately 75 feet of skid marks and pushed the other three cars 25 feet down the highway.

Jones, and the driver of one of the other cars, Barry F. Gidys, 28, of the 4900 block of June St., were thrown into their windshields.

Firms Plan Merger

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Tidewater Paving Corp. and Contractors Paving Company, Inc., both of Virginia Beach, are being merged. The new single corporation will handle both plant-mix asphalt and concrete jobs.

Floyd N. Rowe, head of Tidewater Paving, said some of the details of the merger have not been worked out yet, but operations have been linked together. Rowe's corporation was formed a year ago to take in the plant-mix operations of Atlantic Construction Corp., which he also heads. The asphalt plant is located west of Princess Anne Plaza. Contractors Paving was founded several years ago by Frank D. Farrall Jr. He later became associated with the firm's present president Clinton Teets, and Ralph H. Breakfield. They re-activated the business and has done several concrete paving jobs.

Financial arrangements were not disclosed at the announcement of the planned merger of the two firms.

P.A. Jaycees Prepare To Present Award

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Princess Anne Jaycees are now seeking nominations for their annual Distinguished Service Award, to be presented at Bow Creek Country Club on Friday, January 21, as a part of National Jaycees Week.

Those interested in nominating a young man, between the ages of 21 and 35, for the award are urged to do so as soon as possible. The deadline for nominations is January 6, 1966. Nomination forms may be picked up from any member of the Princess Anne Jaycees or at the office of the Virginia Beach Sun.

Each year the Distinguished Service Award is presented to an outstanding young man at Virginia Beach. The winner need not be a member of the Jaycees. The winners are cited for their partici-

Fatality Toll Rises

Three Die in Two Beach Automobile Accidents

VIRGINIA BEACH — The deaths of three persons in automobile accidents in Virginia Beach has increased the number of Beach traffic fatalities for 1965 to 27.

Glen L. Wilson, 18, of the 3800 block of Maywood Blvd. was killed about 4:45 p.m. Sunday evening when he was struck by a car at the intersection of Barton Station Road and Priddy Lane. The scene of the accident is just north of Northampton Blvd. near the Norfolk-Virginia Beach city line.

Police said the driver of the car was listed as Charles E. Elliott 48, of the 0400 block of Finney Circle. Elliott's home is within a half mile of the scene, police said. Police said they have charged Elliott with involuntary manslaughter.

The youth was rushed to Norfolk General Hospital and was dead on arrival shortly after 7:00 P. M.

In a head-on collision on Shore Drive, early Monday morning, two men were killed instantly. One of the automobiles involved in the crash following the accident, but the Chesapeake Beach Fire Department extinguished the blaze quickly. The accident had traffic backed up for a long period of time.

The accident occurred just west of Shelton Road.

Investigating officers identified the victims as George B. Ricketts, 25, of the 1200 block of Willow Ave., Chesapeake, and George A. Ingmire, 28, a Navy chief petty officer stationed at Little Creek Amphibious Base.

Neither car was carrying passengers.

The men's bodies were taken to Simile Funeral Home.

Police said this was the third double traffic fatality of the year in the resort city.

Va. Beach Elks To Write GI's

VIRGINIA BEACH — An ambitious undertaking has been launched by the Elks Club of Virginia Beach. The campaign, known as "Letters from Home" is designed initially to solicit names and APO addresses of troops in Viet Nam.

Once the names of Virginia Beach men have been obtained, the list will be posted in the Elks Lodge, a bulletin will be sent to all members including the names and addresses, and the individuals will begin writing personal letters to the men.

John J. Shand, Exalted Ruler of the Virginia Beach lodge, says this will not be a "one shot deal," but that the letter-writing campaign will continue indefinitely. He added that he is hopeful of obtaining all new names and addresses. "We are urging all our members to write personal letters. We are going to let them (the combat forces) know we understand why they are fighting in Viet Nam and what they are fighting for," he said.

According to Shand, more than 2,000 Elk Lodges in the United States are joining in the campaign in reaction to demonstrations against U. S. involvement in Viet Nam. The campaign is not limited strictly to lodge members, and Shand has invited all residents of Virginia Beach to join the program and write personal letters to the troops.

The largest problem now facing the Elks is obtaining the names and addresses. For obvious intelligence reasons, military authorities of men and women from (Continued On Page Four)

Bond Sale Announced

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Manager W. Russell Hatchett announced at City Council meeting Monday that the Virginia Public School Authority has agreed to purchase $1.9 million in school construction bonds from the city at a net interest of 3.3 per cent.

Hatchett said he had hoped that the Authority would purchase all of the $2.1 million in school bonds that are yet to be sold from the $5 million bond issue approved by the voters last summer.

The bonds are to finance the construction of two new secondary schools and additional elementary schools throughout the city.

Hatchett said the authority only had $1.9 million available to purchase bonds with so "we will get that amount."

The interest rate on these bonds is identical to those bonds ($2.8 million) that the authority bought from the city last summer.

Councilmen Approve Charter Amendments

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council held its last meeting of 1965 Monday morning at Princess Anne Court House. It was expected to be the final meeting for Virginia Beach Borough Councilman Edward T. Caton, III, but council took no action to appoint his successor. Caton was elected to the House of Delegates and will officially take office Jan. 12.

Caton said he expects to resign his council position Jan. 10 and his replacement will be named then. He said he was formally prepared to resign Monday, but members of the council asked him to wait until the next meeting.

Roger L. (Buddy) Riggs, 34, a Virginia Beach Borough businessman has been the only person mentioned as a possible successor to Caton.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett, asked council Monday to request the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. to provide separate sections (as to city areas) for its subscribers when it publishes its new directory.

Hatchett said he has heard of many complaints because the present system lists persons alphabetically without reference to the city where the person lives. He said, "A lot of strangers don't know 428 is a Virginia Beach number." He also said when strangers to the area try to look up a name it is difficult to find the one they want.

Council voted to have a resolution drawn up on the proposal and send copies to city officials in Norfolk, Portsmouth and Chesapeake, in an effort to gain their support on the matter.

Hatchett said action now would allow the phone company enough time to prepare for this change before the directory is published next June.

At the meeting council approved $123,000 of this to

Beach Pilot Shot Down

VIRGINIA BEACH — A Navy pilot from Virginia Beach, who was attached to the Carrier Enterprise, was killed last week when his aircraft was shot down over North Viet Nam.

His wife and two children live in the 3700 block of Beacon Lane.

Lt. John Douglas Freshman, a graduate of 1956 and a Naval Academy graduate, was killed last Wednesday.

Mrs. Freshman, the former Patricia Broadbent, was spending Christmas with her parents at Fairport River, Md., when she was notified of his death. Capt. R. H. Bradshaw, her father, was once the medical officer at Oceana Naval Air Station.

Private Park Planned

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Recreation Park Corp. will seek the Planning Commission's approval plans for a large private recreational park when the commission holds its public hearing January 13.

The firm has applied for a use permit to establish the facility on three tracts of land along Sater Road which total more than 200 acres.

The plans include facilities for horseback riding, boating, miniature golf course and driving range, 12 rental cabins, ranch-type motel with 24 units, 34 acres of camp sites, commercial buildings two restaurants, dance hall, gymnasium, dinner theater, skating rink, horse track and rodeo ring and sewage treatment.

Bridge Rebuilding Planned For South Lynnhaven Road

VIRGINIA BEACH — Reeves E. Johnson, Director of the Virginia Beach Bureau of Safety said Tuesday the city is planning to rebuild Cox's Bridge on South Lynnhaven Road, that crosses London Bridge Creek near Plaza Elementary School.

Johnson said the bridge will be widened to 36 feet and will help straighten out the dangerous curve in the road.

Several sources have said that South Lynnhaven Road, from its intersection with the Virginia Beach Toll Road to the bridge will be widened to 80 feet, but revenue has not yet been allocated for the project. This move is supposedly included in the city's projected highway and road improvement plan, but it has not been confirmed.

SANTA TRAVELS FAST — Rudolph and the rest of the reindeer stayed at the North Pole Christmas Day when Santa Claus made his Christmas trip to the men stationed at Oceana Naval Air Station. Santa is shown here stepping out of a "borrowed" F-4 Phantom II. Santa said the trip was "quicker and smoother" this year. (Official U. S. Navy photo.)

OLD BRIDGE — This old, narrow bridge on South Lynnhaven Road will be replaced in a project scheduled to begin January 3.

Tree Lighting Ceremonies

VIRGINIA BEACH — Sunday was a day for special Christmas tree lighting ceremonies throughout the area, and in spite of the cold winds, warm well-wishers full of holiday spirit participated joyfully.

Bay Colony Garden Club gave the residents of Bay Colony and Cavalier Park their celebration which included a party with the singing of Christmas carols led by the Junior and Teen Choir of Eastern Shore Chapel, directed by Mrs. L. E. Donna Sumner. Santa was there and presented the children with candy canes.

The party was filmed for TV and will be shown on WVEC-TV, channel 13, on January 3 at 8 p.m. The Cardinal Garden Club, Bird-neck Point Garden Club and the Birdneck Point Community Group joined together with the residents of Birdneck Point for the lighting of their trees at the intersection of Cardinal and Kildeer Roads.

Santa appeared and gave out candy canes to the children, and the group singing was led by Walter Beaman.

Many attending brought food or money donations as gifts to the less fortunate needy.

Alanton GC

VIRGINIA BEACH — Unusual Christmas cooking was demonstrated by Mrs. Betty Jo Curran, home economist for VEPCO, at the December meeting of the Alanton Garden Club held at the Home Economics Department of VEPCO on Wednesday, December 8th.

Mrs. Curran set a decorative luncheon table with samples of her cooking for all the members of the club to enjoy and she showed aides of many and varied arrangements for outdoor lighting and decorating for Christmas.

Artistic arrangements were made by several of the members of the club and awards went to Mrs. M. F. Camp, Mrs. L. B. Walker, Mrs. A. E. Branch, Mrs. Henry Folk, and Mrs. E. M. Harrell.

Mrs. G. O. Davis was awarded a blue ribbon in the Novice Class. The horticulture award went to Mrs. George Altheda.

Woodhurst GC

LYNNHAVEN — The Woodhurst Garden Club invited the husbands to its annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. M. Y. Dugger.

While the party was in full swing the Point-of-Woods Garden Club judged the doorways and overall decorations.

Mrs. A. W. Bealer, 1887 Indian Run Road, won a first place gold ribbon for overall decorations, and Mrs. M. J. Hinger of 1308 Woodhurst Drive won first place for her doorway.

Blue ribbon winners were Mrs. R. E. Spry, Mrs. A. H. Monkongery, Mrs. Dugger, Mrs. F. W. Haynie, Jr., and Mrs. E. G. Kelley.

Mrs. A. E. Zelnik, Mrs. E. W. Rayfield, Mrs. W. L. Boat, Mrs. R. C. Gibson and Mrs. W. G. Viers, Jr. were awarded red ribbons.

Kings Grant Children Give Garden Club

LYNNHAVEN — Festive holiday arrangements were on display while guest speaker, Mrs. L. F. Trueslow, showed members of the King's Grant Garden Club how to make Christmas decorations for their homes.

A gift exchange, with packages being judged for originality, was enjoyed by members. First place was awarded to Mrs. H. L. Moir.

The meeting was held at St. Aidan's Episcopal Church with Mrs. O. B. Martin Jr. and Mrs. J. A. Ermen as hostesses.

LYNNHAVEN — A "canned food" show was presented at the Princess Theatre on December 23 and more than 700 children brought a can of food as their admission fee to see "Jack and the Beanstalk," furnished by Wheeler Films of Washington, D. C.

Sponsored by WKVK radio, the purpose of the show was to help needy families have Christmas dinner donated by the children of Virginia Beach.

Santa Claus greeted each child and accepted well over 800 cans of food and a case of R.C. Cola in behalf of the Salvation Army.

Some of the children were interviewed over the air by the DJs of WKVK, and a good time was had by one and all — especially Santa who, with tears of joy in his eyes, wondered at the delightful spirit of the children's concern for others less fortunate than themselves. WKVK manager, Al McClellan, beamed with pride as scores of children filed into the theatre bearing their gifts of comfort.

The "Christmas Canned Food Show" was a triumph, and it is expected that an annual program which began this Christmas will be a continuous means for the very young to express their willingness to serve the needs of their neighbors.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Southworth announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Michelle Lynn, on Dec. 14 in Norfolk General Hospital, Mrs. Southworth is the former Miss Shiril Kabachnick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kabachnick of Norfolk. Mr. Southworth is the son of Edward Southworth of Richmond and Mrs. Bernice Hall of Virginia Beach.

Miss "Sammy" Large will arrive this week to visit her sister, Mrs. L. L. Long Jr. of the Mayflower. "Sammy" is a junior at Radford College.

THE OLDEST—Robert and Nori Ann Reed, children of Col. and Mrs. E. O. Reed, arrive at the Cavalier's Christmas Party with their grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Hay.

THE YOUNGEST—Tiny Carolyn Lewenthal, with her mother, Mrs. H. Joseph Lewenthal, Jr., enjoyed the bright lights on the tree at the Cavalier.

THE STAFF—prepared the party for the members' children.

Lynnell In Rose Parade

PASADENA, Calif. — Lynnell Raye Bass, winner of the "Miss American Teen-Ager" title at Palisades Amusement Park, N. J., will be featured in the world famous Tournament of Roses Parade on New Year's Day.

As the reigning "Miss American Teen-Ager," Lynnell will ride the Bakers and Confectioners Local No. 400 float, designed and built by the Valley Decorating Company of Pasadena in the parade.

The presentation of "Miss American Teen-Ager" in the famed Tournament of Roses Parade will climax a two week dream trip to Hollywood, afforded the winner. During her two week stay in Hollywood, Lynnell will appear in countless TV shows including NBC-TV's "Dr. Kildare," ABC-TV's "Never Too Young," RKO General's "9th Street West—Let's Go Go" TV show, also on the MCA-TV "Lloyd Thaxton" Show and ABC-TV's "Dating Game," and many others.

Party Line BY OLGA EDWARDS

DOUGLAS ARNOLD BARNES Guest Writer

Christmas is many things to many people, but to the Virginia Beach debutantes and their escorts, to their mothers, fathers and other family members, and to their non-debating friends, it is a whirlwind of breakfasts, brunches, lunches, luncheons, coffees, teas, dinners, dinner dances, midnight snacks and outdoor barbecues ad infinitum. In another week—all too soon—they will return to the responsibilities of their various colleges — exhausted but happy, having experienced a period of their lives which will never return. The calendar of entertainment is replete with excitement.

Last Saturday Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Devine Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Patrick C. Devine and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Fontaine gave a Barbecue at The Hunt Club Point, Hunter's Trail, for Miss Kay Linda Spindle.

On Sunday Miss Katherine Fontaine Syer was entertained at an Oyster Roast given by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lee Crawford Syer at Ridge Inn Road, Great Neck Point.

On Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. William Petty Dickson Jr. and Judge and Mrs. J. Davis Reed Jr. entertained at a dance in Colonial Williamsburg for their daughters, Miss Caroline Tate Dickson and Miss Pembroke Waller Reed.

Honoring Miss Ann Dorsey Day and Miss Catherine Bond Martin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Powell Davis and Mr. and Mrs. William W. Vail gave an "At Home" at South Bayshore Drive last Wednesday.

Also last Wednesday Miss Ann Dorsey Day and Carol Barrett White were honored by a dance at The Cavalier given by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nere Day Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. White.

On Christmas Eve Dr. and Mrs. John C. Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blount Hunter Jr. entertained at the Dansant at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club.

honoring their daughters, the Misses Elizabeth Blount Crawford and Carter Byrd Hunter.

On Monday evening The Revelers' Coronation Ball, honoring all debutantes took place at The Norfolk Yacht and Country Club.

On Tuesday the 8th Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buckner Spindle III gave a dance for their daughters the Misses Catherine Byrd Martin and Kay Linda Spindle at The Norfolk Yacht and Country Club.

Today Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon Stephenson will host a party for their niece Miss Elizabeth Gardner Sills, from six to eight, at The Princess Anne Country Club. Miss Katherine Fontaine Syer and Miss Catherine Tate Dickson will share the honors with Miss Sills.

At 8:30 in The Virginia Colonial Room of The Cavalier Hotel, Miss Elizabeth Gardner Sills will be given a candlelight dinner and dance by her parents Mr. and Mrs. John William Sills II.

Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Toy D. Savage Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Wilcox Jr. will entertain at 1 p.m. at an Oyster Roast in Cedar Point Club, Nansemond County, honoring Misses Elizabeth Blount Crawford, Caroline Tate Dickson and Kay Linda Spindle.

Winding up these holiday festivities on Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. M. Ward Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Holland will entertain at a pre-football party for Misses Ann Dorsey Day, Carol Barrett White and Carter Byrd Hunter.

In line with our statement that Christmas means many things to many people, we note with interest the debutante party that was given in Dallas, Texas, during this season by Taddie Lee Wynne for his niece, Wynne Chilton. This aspiring gentleman, when he sent 60 young debutante socialites and one hundred adults and chaperones by jet to New Orleans for a tour of Bourbon Street night spots, was rained out. Well, during our debutante season, Mr. and Mrs. William Petty Dickson Jr. and Judge and Mrs. J. Davis Reed, Jr. were hosts to their Va. Beach debutante daughters, Caroline Tate Dickson and Pembroke Waller Reed, at a dance and breakfast in historical Colonial Williamsburg. It ended with seasonal caroling.

The Texas deb party was disappointing in New Orleans, while balmy weather made the Williamsburg presentation of the honorees a resounding success for the over 200 people who attended. Meanwhile, we enjoyed our oyster sandwich at Pungo.

LET'S TALK FASHION

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

Looks like a very flattering Spring ahead! According to the New York Couture Group's Kille Campbell the hair will be worn high and back or cropped in the newest style; long earrings, some reaching the shoulders, will be seen on formal evenings; daytime skirts will be the shortest in fashion history, new-looking mid-calf short dress dresses with a new feeling; "drifters," see-through fabrics for evening gowns; "cages" that float over slimmed-down silhouettes of crepe and waiting-see-through chiffon coats that match print silk dresses. Sounds like a nostalgic Renaissance of the mid-day 1920's!

are even newer. Previewing the Spring suits, we not that hipbone jackets sport high-cut armholes that shape the jacket close to the body above the waist. There is a wider look in the double-breasted suits with many far-side openings and asymmetrical closings. As for the tunic tops they go as low as the 9/10 length! You'll find the tweedy or surfy fabrics often paired with two-colored blouses.

GREAT TAILOR
Ben Zuckerman, America's first fashion tailor, coats and suits, recently presented his Spring Collection in New York and his skirts are the same length as last season — short but ladylike — and he favored lots of pleats for Spring: box, accordion and umbrella. His suit jackets are mostly short, the hip-bone length and often worn open. He favors a simple, sleeveless dress with no real waistline but a low belt run through slot-like seams. An interesting note about the Zuckerman suits (designed by Harry Schacter) is that they don't look suit-y at all with their short sleeves and made of light fabrics. They should appeal to the Well-Dressed Woman of the Virginia Beach area. He recommends wearing black under a bright colored jacket and some of his cotton suits are in his favorite colors: canary yellow, moss green, pale blue, pale pink and a hot raspberry.

FASHION FOLKS
The talented young City Award-winning designer Bill Smith on Monday last showed his collection at Lord & Taylor in Manhattan and surprised the Fashionables who attended with a New Look in dresses. It's his elegant, long-sleeved, bi-colored crepe smocks, which is one of his favorite trends. They're stunning smocks to the hem line with long full, cuffed sleeves and bellows with the sleeves one color and the mock another or the necktie and cuffs a brilliant color and the smock in pastel shades. Very new! . . . Charlie Chaplin's beautiful, talented daughter Geraldine is receiving many favorable press notes as a fashion interpreter. When she arrived in New York on December 7, she was wearing a black and white hoodstooth check pantsuit and a "Knack" (sort of "Oliver-like" cap) with a white turtle neck sweater and white vinyl boots. Looked like a Parisian gammin. She's very beautiful and in repose looks like her mother Oona O'Neill Chaplin and when she takes on a broad smile and her eyes light up she is the spitting image of her famous Dad, Charles Chaplin! . . . The late beloved Madame Helena Rubinstein, cosmetic queen and art connoisseur, will be sadly remembered when on April 20, in a series of sales at New York's Park-Bernet Galleries, and through the first week in May, her extensive and varied art collection will be offered for sale. The Fashion Press girls have many fond memories of her swanky Press parties in her Park Avenue penthouse and roof every July when she entertained us so elaborately and showed her newest cosmetic items. At the time of her death, Mme. Rubinstein owned a house in Greenwich and maintained apartments on the Quai de Bethune in Paris, Knightsbridge in London and her Park Avenue two-floor huge apartment and roof garden. In the collection of furniture, of Impressionistic and modern paintings, her rare blue, milk and topaz glass and decorations will bring buyers from Europe and as well as America for this sale. Your Alisbee spent a whole Alice-In-Wonderland day with Madame in her Paris home in 1933. You could stand on either of four sides of her enormous outdoor garden, on roof of the penthouse floor, and see every important famous spot in Paris!

BATHING SUIT DRESSES
They're the newest and the zaniest and strictly for the Younger Set. (Heavy-set dowagers please join your Alisbee and skip this paragraph.) The look of the tank top, the bikini back, criss cross straps, looped-tied and general bareness — all usually tied in with bathing suits — will be seen in some of the Spring and Summer's most striking dresses. Whether it's in knit, the silky Monroe-style crepe, glitter or jewels, the bathing suit dress is bound to be popular and eyed and talked about. It sure gives the figure full play and is completely different from the sack, the Empire dress and, believe me, it's not a copy get-up! They get right down to the barest essentials and nothing-backs, bikini-like, with possibly the only thing on the whole back (to the waistline) is a tie or criss cross strap! These bare tank-top bathing suit dresses are really something for day or evening wear. But, as we mentioned, they're ONLY for the slimmest and youngest figures!

NEXT WEEK
Be sure to join us next Thursday when we shall begin to report the latest spring fashions, direct from the New York Fashion Press rooms at the Delmonico Hotel for the American Designer Series and later, the following week, at the Hotel Astor for the Forty-Sixth National Fashion Press Week of the New York Couture Group, Inc.

BLACK SILK CREPE "T" strap dinner gown for that special formal evening with wristful of bracelets in jet and long tasseled earrings to match, all designed by American Designer Donald Brooks.

COATS AND SUITS

Again, this Spring, there'll be many belted coats and some half-belts wrapping to the front. Stunning cashmere coats belted high with leather sashes that front-tie with tassels dangling beguilingly. If you love an easy-arm feeling in your coat, you'll love the newest big armhole coats that have that "easy-over-everything" look and then taper to a narrowed hem. With their wide lapels, coats ask for neck fill-ins and so the high-necked companion dresses will be good. Then you'll see the skinny coats achieving the narrow look by the pared down, set-in sleeves. Perhaps you'll prefer the "swing-er" coat, the one cut narrow through the shoulders, then flared into circular fullness at the hem. Believe it or not, unlined coats are "irreelably big" news! Naturally, these require exquisite finishing which puts them in the upper price bracket. And, unlined suits

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

A Happy And Prosperous New Year

"Be at war with your Vices, at peace with your Neighbors and let every New Year find you a better man."

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

As we ring out the old year and ring in the new year of 1966, the above words may not be a magic formula for happiness and success, but they do offer to all of us great food for thought and action. If all of us would resolve at this moment to abide by those words, perhaps the world would be a better place in which to live. Perhaps the ultimate New Year's resolution would be to follow the simple words of Benjamin Franklin.

The year 1965 has not been a bad year, in retrospect. There are many things that began during the past twelve months that certainly were not in the best interests of everyone. Other things merely continued from the previous year. Mankind can look back at 1965 and find many accomplishments. To name but a few, we have seen great progress in the exploration of space. There has been a space walk, a two-week flight in outer space, and two spaceships flew in formation as close as six inches apart. We have seen great progress in understanding. The now concluded Ecumenical Council in Rome has helped to bring the religions of the world closer together in a common bond of spiritual understanding. We have seen a continuation of the tension of an uneasy peace all over the world, but, at least, the situation is no more grave. We have still maintained that uneasy peace. We have seen progress at the United Nations, as it moved toward solving many of its own internal problems.

It is indeed unfortunate that 1965 will be remembered for sorrowful and tragic occurrences as well. We have seen the intensification of the war in Southeast Asia. We have seen American fighting men die for peace in far away places. We have seen domestic and international problems in Latin America, although so far, the status quo has been maintained. During 1965 the world has been touched with grief with the passing of such famous men as Winston Churchill, Dr. Albert Schweitzer and Adlai Stevenson. Their deaths have created a void that can never be filled.

In Virginia Beach, we have seen continued progress and growth of a fledgling city striving for maturity. Construction has remained at a high peak. New roads were started, and others are soon due to begin. All has not been perfect, however. We have seen deaths on our highways, growing pain problems of a young city, and the passing of many prominent citizens.

So we can look at both the credit and debit sides of the ledger. We can see the good and bad of 1965, but what of 1966?

Economists tell us that the climate for business in 1966 looks excellent, and that the upswing will continue. There are faint glimmers of hope for truce talks in Viet Nam. Progress, however slight is being made in the "war on poverty." Internationally, the picture is still bleak, but still not hopeless. All we can do is enter 1966 with the fervent prayer that things will be better.

Would not it be a wonderful world if everyone, individually and collectively, nations included, would be at war with his vices, and at peace with his neighbors? It is simple advice in theory, but quite difficult in practice. But Mr. Franklin was absolutely right. If that advice could be followed by all every new year would and could find all of us better men.

In all humanity, we offer this for what it's worth. In the midst of the New Year's Eve gaiety and partying, think about the words of Mr. Franklin, and resolve to follow them as diligently as possible. Of course, in addition . . . go right ahead and make the rest of your resolutions — those you intend to keep and those you don't — but resolve to do your part in 1966 to make this a better world. Who knows? It could be contagious.

We feel that 1966 holds great things. We look forward to the start of the new year with renewed vigor and excitement, as we resolve to do our part.

To our readers and supporters, we wish a happy and most prosperous new year.

SKYROCKETING!

Please Don't Go Out With The Old

The number of traffic deaths on the nation's highways over the three-day Christmas holiday is absolutely staggering. Over seven hundred lives lost needlessly and violently during this joyous season lead us to wonder just what the country is coming to. We have said it many times before and we shall continue to say it. Accidents do not just happen. They are caused. It makes no difference who is at fault or what the circumstances of the accident were. What does make the big difference is that over seven hundred persons have been reduced to mere statistics in three days. Had that many died in Viet Nam in the same three-day period, there would have been pickets, marches on the White House, draft card burnings, and riotous demonstrations. But what has there been done about the violent deaths on the highways?

The National Safety Council has blamed the deaths and countless other accidents and injuries on wintry weather, rushing to be with friends or relatives for the holidays, too much mileage for too little time, drinking drivers, etc. But these are merely words and excuses for the wholesale slaughter going on on all types of roads. Virginia Beach is no different. It has not been spared the scene of traffic deaths in 1965 or during the three-day period in question. Its few deaths simply help to make up the over seven hundred nationwide.

There seems to be no answer to the problem. Roads have been improved. The machines have been improved. Rigid traffic enforcement is practiced. And yet, over seven hundred can die in traffic in three days. That figure represents nearly double the deaths noted on a non-holiday weekend. Human error and too little regard for one's self and others must be the problem. We seem to regard human life as a commodity, not a precious thing.

Now we are faced with the same situation again. Another three-day holiday weekend is upon us. This one is known all too well for the "whooping it up" it brings. It will be with fear and trepidation that we will pursue the names of the countless hundreds who will die this weekend in traffic. Their deaths will be so unnecessary.

PLEASE, drive carefully and defensively during this holiday period. Please do not go out with the old year. Try to stay around to see what 1966 will bring.

Please, Not Again

We had thought it was all over. In fact, we commented editorially on it. We accepted the fact, and prepared to abide by the wisdom of the decision. We knew there was still the remote possibility of change, but thought the subject was completely dead, and would not be revived again. It seems that we were wrong.

If the naming of all future high schools in the City of Virginia Beach causes as much ridiculous controversy as the naming of the new one on First Colonial Road already has, we will begin to wonder how anything can ever be done.

The School Board named the yet to be built high school Oceana High School, over the objections of those who wished it to be Virginia Beach High School and those who wished it to be R. H. Owen High School. There was controversy. The School Board then reaffirmed its stand and once more said it would be Oceana High School, but giving itself an "out" by saying it could be changed at a later date. There was more controversy, but it soon subsided. Then last week, it began again, with spokesmen from the Chamber of Commerce and other places getting into the act.

We are fully cognizant of the fact that much has been said to make the words, "Virginia Beach," recognized throughout the land, and we appreciate this fact. But we fail to see what having or not having a Virginia Beach High School can do for or to that image. We fail to see the logic of the new complaint.

Now the entire matter has been wisely tabled until the school is nearer completion. Just what will happen then is left only for speculation. But we certainly hope that the matter can eventually be settled to nearly everyone's satisfaction. The longer the matter drags on, the worse it will be when the time for decision finally comes.

In a remarkable city that can boast of its fine schools, its booming construction of homes and roads, and its good government, we continue to feel that the whole school-naming business has been blown entirely out of proportion, and we are becoming worried about the fuss.

Let us resolve in 1966 to name that school something or other and get it over with. There are much more important things to argue about.

Regardless of how we feel about the present temporary name of the eventual permanent one, we hope it can all be over soon, for the sake of everyone's frayed nerves.

New Exams Announced

FT. EUSTIS, Va. — The Civilian Personnel Office at Ft. Eustis has announced a new examination from the Civil Service Commission of interest to persons who want temporary summer employment in 1966 from May through September.

Under the provisions of the new examination, students and other summer employees will no longer be selected from the "Clerk-Typist" and the "Clerk-Stenographer" registers. Instead, they will be appointed from the "Office and Science Assistant Announcement No. 380."

Area students home on holiday leave should make application before returning to their schools, because the deadline for filing under the new examination is Jan. 3, 1966.

Applications are available in local post offices. The application, Form 5000-AB, should be mailed to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., 20415.

The Ft. Eustis Civilian Personnel Office pointed out that the new examination affects such summer positions as clerk, stenographer, typist, office machine operator, student assistant and engineering, physical science, biological and mathematical aides. Some positions that are not affected by the new examination, they said, include the so-called blue collar jobs, jobs in post offices, certain positions in the National Park Service and specialized positions in grades above the GS-4 level.

at-large by the people rather than appointed by council as the school board is now selected.

McClannan, a lawyer from Princess Anne Plaza, who said he was representing the Citizens Council for Better Government in Virginia Beach, supported Winter's plan, but added few remarks to what had already been said.

In the second charter change sought by the council, the council would be allowed to issue $1 million in general obligation bonds and $2 million in public utility bonds each year without holding a public referendum.

Siler then told council that the taxpayers want to know what the city does with their money, and suggested a referendum would allow the people the decision on spending. Several councilmen spoke up and said the city would still have to hold a public hearing on the matter and two readings would be required in City Council before such an appropriation could be passed. By doing away with the referendum every time the city needs money, it saves the city between $5,000 and $4,000. City Attorney Harry Marshall said it costs the city approximately $3,500 each time a referendum is held.

This change in the City Charter would double the amount in each category of bonds which council can now issue without a referendum. Immediately after the public hearing, council re-convened and approved both proposed changes on first reading.

their own. Winter, a resident of Aragona Village, said the plan would not insure equal representation of the seven boroughs in the city. He said three boroughs of the city contain 75 per cent of the population and 83 per cent of the schools now built or proposed.

Winter suggested council change the number of board members to seven and have those seven elected

To Save Endangered Wildlife

By STEWART L. UDALL
Secretary of Interior

During the past 150 years, nearly 40 of America's native birds and mammals have disappeared, almost half of them since the turn of the century. There are now 78 different birds, mammals, reptiles, fishes, and amphibians on an "endangered species list" recently compiled by the Department of Interior.

The Department has initiated an endangered wildlife program that includes establishing refuges for some species, research aimed at benefiting all endangered wildlife, and field biologists to study the most seriously threatened species in their natural habitat.

RESEARCH ON WILDLIFE
The primary emphasis will be on research, and President Johnson has announced that the 2,670-acre Patuxent Wildlife Research Center near Laurel, Maryland, will be headquarters for this effort.

Under the program, representatives of endangered birds and mammals will be brought to Patuxent for propagation. Young animals will be conditioned for survival in the wild and then released as additions to existing wildlife populations.

By July 1966, four biologists will be assigned to field investigations; later in the program, there will be twelve.

A second biologist will be sent to the Los Padres National Forest in southern California to study the California condor. Less than 40 of these birds were counted in a recent census.

A third biologist will be based in South Dakota, last stronghold of the black-footed ferret. The black-footed ferret preys on prairie dogs which declined as the original grasslands were destroyed.

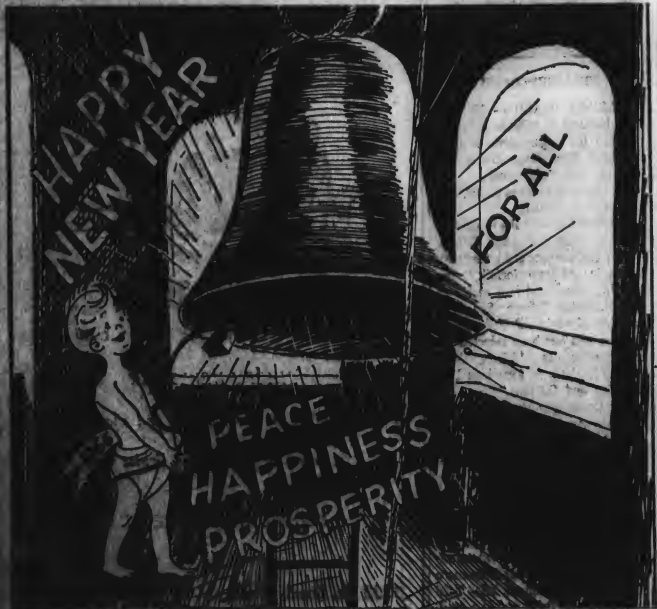

The fourth field biologist will be concerned with the southeastern States. Top priority will go to the ivory-billed woodpecker which began to disappear when loggers invaded the southern swamps and cut the forests.

INTERIOR'S "ARK"

A bill that would authorize the Department of Interior to conduct, in cooperation with the states, a more comprehensive, nationwide endangered species program, was passed by the House of Representatives during the 1st Session of the 89th Congress. The Department hopes that this bill will be passed by the Senate and become law during the 2nd Session.

A long time ago, a plan to save endangered wildlife from a universal flood led to the building of an ark. The "ark" under construction by the Department of the Interior will not contain every form of life, but it will make an important contribution to wildlife management and it can strengthen populations of birds and mammals in the wild.

Together with protective regulations and a well informed public, the endangered species program can preserve a rich heritage of living things that contribute much to the natural beauty of America.

they do not observe—and then react with pain when they are irritated instead of obeyed. Recognizing such common sources of friction can give you a head start toward overcoming them.

Face up to what's bothering you. Guilt feelings are universal; everyone who has a conscience is sorry for something he has done or left undone. Repressed guilt wreaked havoc thousands of years before Freud described its unhealthy consequences: "When I declared not my sin," said King David, "my body wasted away through my groaning all day long." (Psalm 32:3, RSV)

The first step, as both psychologists and clergymen will tell you, is to bring these uncomfortable feelings out into the open. Admit to yourself, even if to no one else, that you have fallen painfully short of being the person you'd like to be—then, seek a solution. For many, faith is the answer. In a recent sermon on The Lutheran Hour, Dr. Hoffmann told his audience: "If it were not for God, we would have to live with this guilt of ours."

None of these resolutions is easy. But if you tackle even one or two of them, you may find each year a "Happier New Year" than the one that went before.

Gifts Set A New Record

BLACKSBURG, Va. — The Virginia Tech Student Aid Association has received a new record in gifts from the university's alumni and friends.

The association has received $104,800 from all sources as compared with nearly $101,000 last year. Of this, more than $94,000 has been contributed by alumni.

"There are a few hundred folks yet to be heard from," said H. M. McEver, association secretary. "If they measure to their true potential—which I believe they will—we'll break last year's record with alumni alone."

Alumni also continued their generosity to the broad academic, student life and research objectives of Virginia Tech with contributions totaling $700,000.

Total alumni giving to the university now totals nearly $854,000 or more than 85 per cent of a million-dollar goal. The goal was projected Nov. 15 when it first became known that alumni contributions to Virginia Tech's Educational Foundation had far outstripped the previous annual high of $201,000.

"The final 14 per cent is our real challenge," said R. Craig Fabian, "if we are to do the job here which Dr. Hahn, our faculty and students expect to be done to assure a maximum quality education. With only 42 cents of our operating dollar being provided by the state, we must continuously seek sources of private support to provide the critical difference."

"And when we think of private support, we think first and foremost of the group which has gone before, our alumni," he said.

If the drive reaches the million-dollar goal, it will be the first time in the university's 98-year history that alumni have given so generously to Tech.

Fabian said the gifts have been donated for a variety of things, among which are unrestricted funds, student loans, scholarships, fellowships, research grants, student and faculty awards and funds for student-related activities.

New Year's Resolutions

Will the new year be a happier experience for you than the preceding twelve months?

The answer will undoubtedly not depend on your success in keeping such good resolutions as "Must lose weight" or "Join more social activities." Human relations experts — psychologists and clergymen — have pinpointed six major areas in which many people's attitudes need changing.

1) Make your goals more realistic. Success and failure are not objective, say psychologists; they are highly subjective, highly personal states of mind. In a long study of housewives and businessmen, Dr. Pauline Sears of the University of California found that the ones who felt unsuccessful were those who had set their goals either too high or too low.

According to Dr. David Atkinson of Yale University, being successful involves three needs: 1) the need for idealism, to keep our aims high enough for self-respect; 2) the need for realism, to make our goals conform with life as it is; 3) the need to tolerate frustration, avoiding a feeling of failure by recognizing that "falls are part of the race."

Dr. Atkinson and Sears agree that it is better for most people to lower their sights, at least temporarily, accomplish these aims and then go on to higher, but still realistic, goals.

Master your anxiety. If you worry about everything from paying your bills to threat of nuclear war, you have plenty of company—so much, in fact, that one of the nation's top magazines recently devoted a cover story to "The Anxious Age." Psychiatrists and psychologists have a word—the German term Angst—for the feelings of fear, anxiety, and anguish they observe in so many people.

What is the cause—and the solution? According to Dr. Oswald

Hoffman, whose weekly addresses on The Lutheran Hour are heard by 30 million people around the world, the problem comes about because "For many people, God has vanished, and there is no one to take His place. People cannot distinguish right from wrong because a God is not there to provide the standards. People do not even know what makes them men because they have denied the God who made them. Not knowing what to do or what not to do, they fall quite naturally into a restless sea of anxiety, uncertainty and fear."

To all who feel this way, Dr. Hoffman has an eloquent answer in a paraphrase of St. Paul (Philippians 4:6, NEB): "Cast your care and anxiety upon God, and the peace of God which is beyond our utmost understanding will stand guard over your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus."

Improve your understanding of others. Dr. Kurt Lewin, the famous Iowa University psychologist, advises that we try to imagine what the other person's duties or job requires to gain an "inside" view of what he is feeling.

Dr. Neal Cameron, Tufts College psychologist, takes a similar view. He observes that all actions should be balanced or cooperative; for instance, when one person talks, the other listens; when one carries a load, the other opens the door. These are simple examples; more complex kinds of cooperation — between husband and wife, boss and employee — are possible only when we think about the other person's role, and try to help him fulfill it.

Re-examine your attitudes toward criticism. There would be fewer hurt feelings — even, in many instances, fewer hurt careers — if more people view criticism as an opportunity rather than a threat.

According to psychologists, when a person criticizes you, it sometimes means that he's taken an active interest in you! In any case, the mature, well-adjusted person will seek to benefit from even unfair criticism — looking for the grain of truth in it and asking himself what he can learn from it — instead of frantically mobilizing his defenses to fight it.

When you are doing the criticizing, remember that your remarks will be better received if you find something to commend first.

Strengthen family ties. Though the resolution to spend more time with the family is a common one, very often it's the quality and not the quantity of time spent together that could stand improvement. An evening of joint-TV watching, with all eyes glued to the screen and conversation limited to monosyllables, hardly fosters togetherness.

Time spent together may be more enjoyable, and family projects may increase in frequency, if you accept family members — and your occasionally negative feelings toward them — realistically. The Lutheran Hour speaker has observed that children often make themselves hard to love. Parents, on the other hand, lay down rules

New Year Thoughts

Some folks make resolutions, others don't bother. Whether you elect to do so is a personal thing. Nobody can question your resolutions or the fact that you didn't choose to make any.

If you go to the trouble, however, it's wise to make resolutions aimed at self-betterment. We aren't in the resolution-promoting business, but we do feel the community would benefit if more folks would decide during the year ahead to take a greater interest in the community.

We'd like to see more folks active in community affairs. We'd like to see more and more citizens take the time to discover what the local community has to offer — in the way of civic activities, business opportunities and services, and many of the other things we often take for granted.

We want everyone to be as proud of this community as we are.

Tech In NASA Program

BLACKSBURG, Va. — Virginia Tech is among the 152 colleges and universities which will participate in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's graduate training program next fall.

Twelve graduate students will begin work on the Blacksburg campus toward doctoral degrees in space-related areas under the grants. Currently there are 32 graduate students at Tech training under this program. Nationally, there are about 3,100 already in the program and 1,335 scheduled to begin work next year.

Participating students will be selected by the university and will enter the program in September. The highest number of students getting grants at any one school is 15 with the smallest number being two, depending on the number of doctoral programs available in space-related areas, the adequacy of the school's facilities and the extent of participation in space activities.

Each graduate student chosen for the program will receive a stipend of $2,400 for 12 months of training. There is an additional allowance for dependents of up to $1,000 a year depending on the policy of the university administering the funds.

If he maintains a satisfactory record, a student may be assured of three years of predoctoral study.

Vets Warned

ROANOKE — The Veterans Administration today warned veterans and dependents of deceased veterans on VA pension rolls they run the risk of having their monthly payments discontinued if they fail to return the income questionnaire forms mailed with the November checks.

They may even have to pay back money received in 1965, William J. Powers, Manager of the Roanoke VA Regional Office, said.

They must be returned by January 31, 1966.

Powers said the VA is required by law to obtain this income report each year because pensions are paid only to those whose incomes from other sources are below certain limits.

The VA asks that the card not be folded or mutilated because it must run through automatic data processing machines.

1965 was a good year . . . we met many new friends, investigated unusual businesses, were inspired by the examples of young and old alike, found some humor in life's little jokes, and tried to give you an overall picture of the good things happening in our growing city . . .

We met our ever-young citizens such as Stanleigh H. Jones who is an expert woodcarver; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White whose grocery store has filled the needs of three generations in Lynnhaven; Mrs. C. G. Hodges, a winter guest, whose skilled hands still tie canopies, etc. despite her admitted advanced years; and Sally Monfort whose heart is big enough to enclose many of the aged and infirm with her generous attention.

Businesses established and investigated and reported on were custom-made kitchens by Prestige Kitchens; a new clothing store of sophisticated apparel—The Clothing Chest; the screen-printing process of Tidewater Embroiders; creative handicrafts of Virginia's Hobbies-Crafts & Gifts; special rattan furniture and accessories at Barnett's Gifts Baskets & Toys; new home decor from Thalia Carpet & Drapery Shop; unique home antiques from Alladin's Lamp; and living Christmas trees for landscaping by Cavalier Nursery.

We found out about the services offered by the American Red Cross which works diligently both with children and adults to make sure every citizen knows how to swim and practice water safety; we got beautiful at Oceana Beauty School; and learned how to have lovely manikurs at Rose Hall; we shaped up with the Trinitastic classes offered by the Adult program; and gave our blood to the Bloodmobile.

We enjoyed the teen activities through the eyes of Carol VanLandingham who was the Teen Director of the YWCA (since married); heard about the innumerable volunteer services from Mrs. Annie S. Bunting; were fascinated with Zida's Nauticus Museum; saw famous race horses at Aldo Farms; were entranced with the native Lotus blossoms; took a trip west with Capt. Bob and Carol Moore; watched the speeding model cars racing at Tiny Tim; learned what our handwriting revealed from graphoanalyst Donald Ballard; and journeyed to Charlottesville to meet with other press women for a convention!

Everyone met was personally enjoyed; I hope I was able to convey to all of you how many really nice people there are in Virginia Beach; how much the citizens are trying to make our City the very best place to live and raise a family; and how glad I am to have met you-all.

Only one regret . . . no one knew the recipe for the Baked Plum Pudding!

Happy New Year!

Museum Taking Exhibit Entries

RICHMOND — The Virginia Museum is inviting entries in its biennial exhibition of "Virginia Architects, Designers and Photographers," which will open February 21.

Deadline for entering in the three categories of the exhibition is January 7, with an urgent plea of selection making its choices January 22-23 of works qualifying for inclusion in the exhibition.

The jury panel will be composed of Edgar Kaufmann, professor in the Department of Art History and Archeology at Columbia University; Louis I. Kahn, Philadelphia architect; and Eliot Elliston, photographer for LIFE magazine.

Architects, designers and photographers wishing to enter should request a prospectus for their category from Miss Catherine Jordan, supervisor of educational services for the Museum.

Licensed architects who maintained or were attached to an office in Virginia on or after January 1, 1964, are eligible to enter. All types of structures completed since January 1, 1964, are permitted for entry, and must be adequately described by black and white or color photographs with plans and other drawings. Instructions on mounting, composition and entrance procedures are included in the prospectus for architects.

Designers who maintained or were attached to an office as of January 1, 1964, or subsequently are eligible to enter. Only design units in printed form—such as magazine and newspaper advertisements, catalogues, book jackets and programs—may be entered. Instructions on mounting, composition and entrance procedures are included in the prospectus for designers.

Photographers — amateur and professional, including press—who were born in Virginia or have been a resident of the state subsequent to January 1, 1964, are eligible to enter. Monochromatic and color prints and color transparencies on any subject created since January 1, 1964, may be submitted. Instructions on mounting, composition and entrance procedures are included in the prospectus for photographers.

Certificates of distinction, signed by the chairman of the jury and director of the Museum, will be awarded to outstanding prints and transparencies. There will also be honorable mention designations.

Certificate prints and transparencies will become part of the Museum's permanent collection of Virginia photography. Members of the Jury will also select prints and transparencies to form an exhibition for two-year circulation throughout the state.

Persons submitting entries to the exhibition will be especially invited to the preview on Monday evening, February 21, 1966. They will also be invited to attend an illustrated lecture on March 7 by the jury chairman, Edgar Kaufmann Jr. The certificates of distinction will be awarded just prior to his talk.

Kaufmann, former head of the Department of Industrial Design at the Museum of Modern Art in New York, recently received the first award for Distinguished Service given by the Industrial Designers Society of America. He has written basic texts on design for the Museum of Modern Art and for the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Kahn, an award-winning architect who lives in Philadelphia, came to the United States in 1906 as a child from his birthplace on the island of Osel, Estonia. Now professor of architecture at the University of Pennsylvania, he earlier this year was awarded an honorary doctorate of fine arts from Yale University. He recently was the recipient of the Gold Medal of Honor from the Danish Association of Architects.

Elliston, a native of New York City, is a graduate of Fordham University. He joined LIFE magazine as a photographer, where he earned an outstanding reputation in the field of photographic color control. Besides his many assignments for the weekly news magazine, Elliston has also served as color consultant on such films as "Moulin Rouge," "The Greatest Story Ever Told," and the recently-released "The War Lord."

Employees Get Army Awards

FT. STORY — Two Ft. Story civilian employees received the Army Commendation Certificate last week. Mrs. Marilyn H. Zopper and Hugh W. Williams, both of Virginia Beach, were presented the certificates by Col. John R. Williams, commanding officer of Ft. Story.

Hugh Williams, shop foreman of the Maintenance section of the Transportation Division, received a $140 cash award for a suggestion to relocate the tail light bracket on half ton pick-up trucks to prevent breakage of the tail light lens on dropping the gate. The idea was adopted for all 1963 model trucks at Forts Story and Eustis and resulted in the avoidance of substantial costs per year.

Mrs. Hopper was cited for her superior performance as a stenographer for the liaison division of the office of the assistant chief of staff, logistics, for the year ending July 1965. She will also receive an annual $126 raise in salary.

VIRGINIA BEACH SUN

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1965

SECTION B

1965 — A Good Year

WILLIAMSBURG — 1965 was a good year for Virginia's economy and 1966 should continue this growth, according to Professor Gilbert C. Jones, Director of the Bureau of Business Research, College of William and Mary.

The Vietnam conflict, and its future course, will be the most important economic factor affecting the State's economy in the year ahead.

Virginia has a broader sensitivity to an armed conflict than most other states. For example: The predictable influx of people to the nation's Capital and consequently to northern Virginia, the number, size and importance of military bases located in the State to include a number maintained on a stand-by basis, the increase in government contracts for a wide variety of items from cigarettes and soft goods to combat ships, a relatively small population to meet the demand of an expanded draft and broadened employment opportunities.

If 1966 is a good year for the businessman in Virginia it will also bring upward pressures on cost of goods purchased and production costs. Additionally, prudent businessmen in the State as they plan for the new year are reviewing their experiences with government controls during the Korean conflict in an attempt to predict what modifications to plans might be necessary.

Little further need be said concerning the upward pressures on the cost of goods purchased. This pressure existed in 1965 and will continue in 1966.

The availability of manpower, especially skilled or semi-skilled workers, will probably become an increasing problem for businessmen during 1966. As reported by the Virginia Department of Labor and Industry, unemployment in the State in October, 1965 was at its lowest since 1952. At that time Virginia's unemployment rate stood at 1.9 per cent of the labor force in the State as compared to a national unemployment rate of approximately 3.6 per cent. A high rate of employment coupled with an expanding draft can add an upward pressure on wages and costs and a higher labor turnover, as the employee finds himself in a seller's market and employees find they must hire marginal skills to maintain their operation.

What has been said to this point adds modest support to a feeling of optimism for 1966. Yet it is almost literally a feeling of optimism on the part of the businessman and the consumer that supports the prediction that 1966 will be a good year. Retailers in the State have demonstrated their optimism with substantial orders for spring and summer wear. Merchant and consumer would seem to agree that 1966 is the year of the color television set. Or stated another way, neither dealer or customer could have their demands satisfied by 1965's production of this appliance. Available surveys of consumer intentions indicate plans for a continued high rate of spending in 1966. In Virginia this attitude will be backed by additional funds. Military and civil service personnel received wage increases during 1965. The average weekly earnings of production workers continue to move up. According to the Virginia Department of Labor the average weekly earnings of production workers in the State was $68.18 in September 1965 or $3.72 higher than in 1964. Social Security benefits were increased in late 1965, and in the latter half of 1966 the medicare program will provide additional funds by which the consumer will exert an upward effect on spending.

Federal non-defense spending will increase as many of the social programs move from legislation to implementation.

Defense spending in 1966 will increase over 1965. The exact amount of the increased spending for 1966 is anyone's guess. An increase of $1 billion dollars seems to be the consensus of opinion at this time and these estimates are always qualified as to the course the war in Vietnam will take. As we enter 1966, this war, especially to Virginia, will be the most important factor affecting the State's economy.

W & M Extension Service Boasts 2300 Students

WILLIAMSBURG — The College of William and Mary's Extension Division has taken the term "continuing education" to heart, especially in recent years, according to a report issued today by Leon Looney, Extension Director.

Looney reported that the Division has a record 2,314 student registrations for the 1965 fall semester, for 115 classes in about 27 locations within a 60-mile radius of the Williamsburg campus.

"Through an 'extension' of the College campus, the Extension Division is the logical agency to implement the total concept of continuing education," Looney said. "Because of its organizational structure, fully accredited college level courses are offered during off-duty (evening) hours at locations easily accessible to members of the local community."

Looney noted that, like William and Mary itself, the Extension Division found it necessary to reorganize and re-evaluate its position in relation to the College, the community and the state.

"In the last several years, there have been definite changes in the extension program and outlook," explained Looney. "Seven or eight years ago, almost all of the extension courses were professional courses in education and given mainly for teachers as self-improvement courses and for recreation."

"This semester, however, there are only 44 of the 115 classes devoted to education. The remainder range from business administration, psychology and mathematics classes to music, modern languages and fine arts."

Looney pointed out that with continuing technological advances, and the increased emphasis on education in general, the Extension Division finds itself moving into an expanding program.

Posthumous Award

Phelps Given Silver Star

FT. STORY — The Silver Star and the Combat Infantryman Badge has been awarded posthumously to Army Spec. 4 Joseph E. Phelps Jr., of Virginia Beach.

The awards were presented to his widow, Mrs. Sarah H. Phelps, also of Virginia Beach, at ceremonies at Ft. Story on Dec. 22 by Maj. Gen. William N. Redding, commander of the Army Transportation Center and Ft. Eustis.

Phelps was cited for gallantry in action in connection with military operations in the Dominican Republic while serving with Company "B," 1st Bn. of the 505 Infantry.

In part, the citation stated that Specialist Phelps "distinguished himself by gallantry in action while participating in stabilization operations in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, on June 15th, 1965. While assisting his platoon leader when the platoon encountered intense hostile gun fire as it approached a critical intersection in the city, Specialist Phelps voluntarily moved forward to an exposed position and succeeded in neutralizing one of the machine guns. While reloading his weapon, he was mortally wounded by another hostile machine gun."

Peace Corps Tests Jan. 8

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a.m. on Saturday, January 8 at Room 3A, basement, Norfolk Post Office building.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (If test scores indicated a limited language-learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country.) The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive—an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

Skelton Named Extension Head

BLACKSBURG — Dr. William E. Skelton, 46, a Dinwiddie County native with 25 years service in Virginia agricultural extension, will become director of Virginia Tech's Cooperative Extension Service Jan. 1.

Skelton will succeed William H. Daugherty, who earlier this month announced his retirement, effective Dec. 30. Skelton is now assistant director.

Virginia Tech's president, Dr. T. Marshall Hahn Jr., and Dr. Wilson B. Bell, dean of the College of Agriculture, jointly announced the appointment here.

The Cooperative Extension Service is responsible for the university's off-campus educational programs in agriculture and home economics, in cooperation with the Federal Extension Service and local governing bodies. It is thus part of a nation-wide agricultural extension program operated through the nation's land-grant universities.

Dr. Hahn said he was quite pleased Dr. Skelton had agreed to accept the appointment.

"It is well that we have a man of Dr. Skelton's ability and experience available within the university to fill this most important assignment," he said.

"Dr. Skelton's appointment will make it possible to continue the high level of accomplishment which the Cooperative Extension Service had achieved in the past, and to meet the challenges imposed by Virginia's changing economy," Dr. Hahn said.

Dean Bell and Dr. Lloyd Davis, administrator of the Federal Extension Service, both similarly expressed their full support for Dr. Skelton's appointment.

"Virginia Tech and the Commonwealth are extremely fortunate to have a man of Dr. Skelton's training, experience, ability and enthusiasm to assume the responsibilities of director of our Cooperative Extension Service," he said.

"Under Dr. Skelton's guidance we can look forward to continued high quality performance in all of our Cooperative educational programs," Dean Bell added.

Dr. Davis said in Washington that he had known Skelton for a number of years and was "quite impressed with his competence."

"We are fortunate to have a person of his capabilities to step into this key position, and are looking forward to working closely with him," Davis added.

Skelton was graduated from Virginia Tech in 1940 with a B.S. degree in Agricultural Engineering. He received his master's degree in Extension Education in 1948, and his doctorate in Extension Education in 1949, both from Cornell University.

He also has received post-doctoral training at the University of Wisconsin.

Skelton began in 1940 as assistant county agent in Appomattox County, and later served at various times as county agent in Prince Edward, Campbell, Cumberland, Amherst, Buckingham, Goochland, Fluvanna and Nelson counties.

In 1950 he was appointed State 4-H Club leader, and in 1952 he became assistant director of extension. While directing the Extension Service's 4-H programs, he received the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Superior Service Award.

During World War II Skelton served with the U. S. Army, and recently retired from the Army Reserve with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He commanded the 22nd Civil Affairs Army Reserve unit here.

Bank of Virginia Beach: New Year, New Name

VIRGINIA BEACH — On January 1, 1966, the Bank of Virginia Beach celebrates the new year with a new name and becomes part of Virginia's largest bank, First & Merchants National Bank. Its eight offices in Virginia Beach and two in Norfolk link with forty-two others from a home base in Richmond to Northern Virginia and across the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Just over twenty years ago the bank which boasts assets of twenty-six million dollars, was only a dream. It was, in the fall of 1944, a special gleam in the eyes of a navy lieutenant then awaiting discharge from the Naval Hospital in Portsmouth. Edward H. Church was then forming plans to make the dream a reality. He was discharged in January, 1945 and with five associates invested the initial funds and began selling stock subscriptions and raised total capital of $150,000.00. Its president and chief executive officer, he opened the Bank of Virginia Beach in June of 1945. Those five early associates were the late Floyd E. Kellam who became chairman of the board and Sidney S. Kellam, Fred A. Haycox, H. A. Holt, Jr. and W. R. Hatchett, initial investors in the bank.

Church, a native of Norfolk, was a veteran banker before his navy service when he was executive vice president of the Southern Bank of Norfolk. He had also been with the old National Bank of Commerce and the Morris Plan Bank of Virginia.

"I was a full-fledged, gun toting bank runner when I was fifteen," says Church.

"Back in those days just about everyone in a bank carried a gun. It was more dangerous to myself than anybody else!"

"I used to go down the street with money bags and arms over both shoulders and a gun strapped around my waist. I don't think I could have gotten to the gun if I had to," said the banker with a habitual twinkle in his eyes. His hair, perhaps a shade darker than in those earlier days, indicates the source of his lifelong nickname "Red."

"Red" Church is a banker's banker. His bank opened twenty years ago with total assets of $147,000. Ten years later the figure was over seven million dollars and recent reports show assets to be over twenty-six million dollars. With the merger on January 1 he becomes the senior vice president of a bank with resources well in excess of a half-billion dollars.

In expanding the bank's services an auto bank branch was opened on 31st Street in Virginia Beach in 1950, and in 1954 the large, main office was opened at adjoining quarters at 31st and Pacific. The original Atlantic Avenue location became a branch office. In 1955 the bank added a facility at the Naval Air Station at Oceana. Another facility was opened at Dam Neck (FAAWTC). In 1963 further growth came through merger with the Bank of Princess Anne and added the Aragona, Princess Anne Plaza and Bayside branches. In the summer of 1965 the bank opened its Norfolk office with the JANAF shopping center and Selden Arcade branches.

Sidney S. Kellam, now chairman of the bank becomes a director of First & Merchants and the twenty-three man board becomes the Virginia Beach-Norfolk board of First & Merchants. All other officers and employees are retained in the total First & Merchants staff.

Church reiterated earlier remarks about the merger and its benefit to the area:

"Virginia Beach and Norfolk constitute one of the leading growth areas of Virginia and of the nation," he said. "As part of First & Merchants statewide organization, and backed by its available resources, we will be in a position to play an increasingly important role in the development of this area through expanded service to industry and to individuals."

"Among the many new services which we will be able to make available in our area will be the facilities of the state's largest trust department. With this merger we will gain the skill and experience of a staff of nearly 100 persons devoting their full time to all phases of trust and investment management."

"The merger will also bring to us all the benefits of modern electronic data processing which is now used by First & Merchants to provide speed and accuracy in handling the accounts of its customers," Church said.

Young Actress Shows Promise

By DOUGLAS ARNOLD BARNES

What a pleasure to write about another of our Virginia Beach girls who is already showing her talent in the acting field. Her name is Miss Susan Epstein.

Here is a girl we believe will someday be bowing to Broadway applause. For Susan has already played leading roles. She was excellent in the part of "GIG" with the Summer Sands Players here at the Beach and showed her determination for Theatricalism by not missing a single performance during the heat of the summer. In "Stop the World," she acted well the part of a budding infant in pantomime—a difficult role. And she played supporting roles in "The Irregular Verb to Love" and in "My Three Angels." In "The Irregular Verb," Susan showed her versatility as a non-English speaking girl and with her poignant rendition of the difficult role she won the sympathy of the audience. She also has participated in Arthur Miller's "A View from the Bridge."

Susan is being seen as the ingenue lead in "Time Remembered," presented by the Norfolk Little Theatre. The part is tailored for her dark beauty and vibrant personality. She plays the part of "Ananda," which Susan is sharing together with Helen Hayes and Richard Burton, made as famous on Broadway.

Not nearly enough can be said about Susan's mother, Mrs. Della Epstein, who holds a full time job in Norfolk but still manages to keep Susan's feet on the ground with her wise guidance. Susan lost her father last summer, but the cultural effect of good music, fine books and philosophy expounded by both parents is still evident in the actress's home.

Ruth Busby said, "One thing about show business is that nobody is hoping you will fail except your best friends." Well, we as friends of Susan, feel that this young lady will not fail, and when she is on Broadway, we can say proudly, "We knew her at Virginia Beach."

New Helicopter Weather Service

NORFOLK — WTAR Radio will continue its helicopter service of live traffic reports from its own aircraft beginning Monday, January 3, 1966. This marks the fourth year for the Norfolk CBS affiliate to keep its whirlybird in the sky for a morning-and-afternoon week-day traffic report to area motorists.

Reporter for the new service will be Jim Oliver who, as a veteran WTAR News reporter and a native of Tidewater, is already well-versed on locations of streets, avenues and boulevards.

The WTAR reports will be unique in that they will be broadcast live and instantaneous, with a minimum of 17 ground mobile units also relaying traffic information from diverse points around Tidewater on closed circuit, through the station's "Command Center" in the helicopter.

Mrs. Lucille Huffaker, formerly of Virginia Beach, is making a holiday visit to her daughter, Mary Lou, and her granddaughter, Cynthia, at the Mayflower. She will attend a Christmas party given by Mrs. Robert Barr also of the Mayflower.

Richard Garriott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Garriott of 261 Amberly Road, has been named to the Judiciary Committee at the School of Engineering and Applied Science at the University of Virginia.

Virginia Beach Then . . .

Do you remember when 17th Street was dirt? Not in any of the younger people today do. This picture, taken between 1927 and 1928 shows construction being done on the old road. To the left of the picture is the old Ford Motor dealership. The old water tower in the far background was really a landmark then. People traveling to the beach areas could tell they were near the water front when they saw and heard it. It is said that the old thing emitted "gurgle" in it could be heard almost a mile. This sound told travelers they were near their destination.

And Now

Quite a few changes have been made since the old picture was taken. The old Ford dealership on the left is now Emurah Ford. The old houses along the street were torn down as time passed and business buildings were built in their place. The street was converted from a dirt road into a modern, four-lane concrete highway that was eventually topped with asphalt. Now you don't have to worry about sinking in the mud as you drive to Virginia Beach.

Of Interest To Veterans

By THOMAS A. MOORE

A VA benefit check arriving on or after the last day of the period covered by the payment should be returned to the VA in the event of the payee's death. In fact, any government check which has not been cashed should be returned if the payee dies.

In the case of a veteran's monthly compensation or pension check, payments are stopped effective the last day of the month prior to the veteran's death. In other words, if a veteran dies on the 25th of the month, his payments will be terminated effective the end of the previous month.

If the widow of a veteran is eligible for benefits, she will be paid such benefits effective the first day of the month in which the veteran died, and she will receive for the month of the veteran's death, an amount no less than what the veterans would have received.

In the case of a widow's death, payments due her are stopped effective the 1st day of the month prior to death. Unregulated checks should be returned promptly, as the amount of the check may be payable as accrued benefits under certain circumstances. Insurance checks received or un-negotiated after payee has died should be returned. If they are cashed, a refund will be required by the Federal government. If there are any additional amounts payable to any one under the provisions of the insurance contract, such amounts will be authorized in accordance with the insurance contract.

STRONG CHURCHES...

make STRONG COMMUNITIES

Where The New Year Is Born

For millions on the eastern seaboard of the United States, this is where it happens. A lighted "ball" falls from the top of a tower—and it's 1966.

But in Chicago and Winnipeg it is still 1965. In Saskatoon and Denver it is 1965. In Frisco and Vancouver it is 1965. So where in this broad continent is the New Year really born?

When it is born at all—it happens in men's own hearts! Otherwise the Old Year goes on. And older years add not their blessings but their dregs... as men grope for shreds of time to complete old patterns... remnants of hope to patch worn-out dreams.

But somewhere a heart speaks to God. In the quiet of a church sanctuary it recounts the past with its failures, its defeats. And boldly it enquires into the future with its hope and promise. That soul commits time and talent and treasure to the purposes of Jesus Christ.

And the Father of All, who is not clock-watcher but soul-watcher, turns the page of that calendar. For one soul at a time the New Year is born!

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sacred reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Marketing can be very confusing, especially for a beginner with as many as 3,000 different items to choose from in the average supermarket.

If you shop in the typical super market, you can save much time by becoming familiar with the general lay-out of the market and where various food items and household products are located. When you make out your shopping list, write down the items in the order in which they appear in the supermarket. If possible, it is best to begin your shopping with the non-perishable items and packaged goods and save the perishable fragile foods and frozen products until last.

If you plan your meals well ahead and then make out a comprehensive list this can also save you time, confusion, and money. But make your menu flexible so that you can take advantage of the special of the day features at your market. For example, if you have planned to serve lamb chops for a meal, but find pork chops on sale, buy the pork chops and substitute them in your meal. However, if stew meat were on sale and you didn't have time to make a long cooking stew then obviously it would not be a wise purchase. Many times prepared or partially prepared foods are the best buy because they save so much time. And these prepared foods do not always cost more and sometimes cost less than if you did all the preparation yourself. The cost of convenience foods is not the only thing to consider, either. These foods also give greater satisfaction in terms of variety, nutrition, uniform results, and improved taste.

So consider these factors when you are shopping for food for your family. Plan meals and make your grocery list according to the layout of the store in which you shop. Make your menus flexible to take advantage of special buys and analyze your time and money as to whether convenience foods are right for you. Then you can make grocery shopping an enjoyable experience instead of a chore.

Exercising Your 'IQ' Will Keep 'SQ' High

Partying should be as much fun for the hostess and her family as for her guests. Whether preparing a New Year's celebration, a birthday party or just a fun bash, it's important to keep the "safety quotient" high. Here are some useful hints:

- Plan the party days ahead of time so that there's no last minute rush. Fatigue is often a cause of accidents.
- Make sure the house is not an obstacle course for guests: eliminate sliding rugs, stow toys, leave nothing in driveways, entryways or on stairs.
- Keep decorations safe. Make sure candles are not too close to an inflammable center piece, that matches are kept out of reach of toddlers, that decorations are fireproof — or kept away from flame.
- Warn your guests if the punch is spiked; serve lots of food, as well as coffee, with liquor or wine — remember that some of your guests will be driving home. Have fun!

Termites And The Eye

The "winking eye" in a painting of a man long since dead provides one of the most unusual stories in the annals of the pest control industry.

This story, vouched for as absolutely true by a Texas pest control man, was picked as the most unusual pest control story of those submitted in a recent competition conducted by the National Pest Control Association which has its headquarters in Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Cavalier Hotel Fetes Children

VIRGINIA BEACH — The young children of the members of the Cavalier Hotel were given a Christmas party in the Colonial Room on Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m.

Holiday movies were shown and each of the 60 children was given a gift appropriate to his age by the manager, Charles Krummel, camouflaged as Santa Claus.

Mrs. Chris Rush, executive secretary, personally wrapped each gift and helped with other arrangements which included a presentation of amazing tricks by the Norfolk Academy sophomore, Welton Anderson, well-known local Herd.

Christmas magic was in the eyes of the children as each received a gift from Santa. Hanging in age from 5-month old Carolyn Lowenthal, 14-year daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Joseph Lowenthal Jr., attired for the occasion in pink with a minute hair bow, to 33-year old Robert Reed, son of Col. and Mrs. E. O. Reed with his sister, Nori Ann, who came with their grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Bay.

Both old and young enjoyed the scrumptious refreshments and festivities. And all were reminded of the Biblical verse, "And a little child shall lead them."

Termites, indefatigable wood destroyers, are charged by a Houston pest control man with providing the wink which caused an elderly lady to believe she was seeing things. Moving termites actually did the "winking."

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARMERS

The last session of Congress gave serious consideration to a minimum wage position which would have applied to agriculture. Although this legislation did not make it out of committee in the rush for adjournment, nevertheless, it will be an important topic at the next session in Congress.

The two main features of the proposed federal minimum wage for farm workers was that most farm labor will likely be covered and that the minimum provision would in most cases be higher than the average wage now paid on Virginia farms.

The minimum wage law would be of greater importance to some crops than to others. In general, the grain crops (which are more mechanized) and soybeans would probably be affected the least.

For instance, assuming that an average Virginia farmer would be required to pay the proposed minimum wage of $1.15, this would mean roughly an increase of $3.50 per 100 pounds of flue-cured tobacco, $2.80 per 100 pounds of Burley, and 2 to 4 cents per bushel increase in cost of producing the various grain crops.

This is based on $1.15 per hour, and if the wage rate was to be set at $1.25 it could raise production cost for flue-cured tobacco over 4 cents per pound, and perhaps a 4 cent per pound increase for burley tobacco over current costs.

It is hard to discuss what the minimum farm wage division might be, since the bill as it was first introduced in the Congress called for $1.75 minimum wage for workers currently covered by the minimum wage provision.

Several things are evident when you look at this problem. A federal minimum farm wage would mean either increasing the productivity and efficiency of farm workers or further mechanization of farm enterprises. The crops that require the large amounts of labor would be the ones affected the most.

Minimum wage legislation would also bring about significant adjustments within the farm business. Farms operated by family labor are likely to be in a better position than farms depending on large amounts of hired labor. It is not clear at this time what the role of the share cropper would be.

There are many important ramifications of federal minimum wage law as applied to agriculture. It very well may be that such a minimum wage legislation would have a greater impact upon the future structure of the Virginia farm scene than the passage of legislation concerning farm programs.

Choose a Fertilizer To Fit Your Needs

Garden supply stores offer a wide variety of materials for fertilizing lawns and gardens. Some of these products are more expensive than others. One reason for the price variable is nutrient content. Products containing a high percentage of plant nutrients cost more per pound than those containing a small percentage of nutrients. Fertilizer manufacturers are required by law to state on the container the guaranteed content of primary nutrients. These are nitrogen, phosphoric oxide, and potash.

The primary nutrient content of a fertilizer mixture is indicated by its grade—a series of three numbers separated by dashes. The numbers show the percentage of nitrogen, phosphoric oxide, and potash, in that order. For example, a mixture with the grade 5-10-10 contains 5 percent of available nitrogen, 10 percent of available phosphoric oxide, and 10 percent of available potash.

The relative proportions of primary nutrients in a fertilizer mixture determine the suitability of the mixture for specific soils and plants. Lawn fertilizers, for example, usually are highest in their proportion of phosphoric oxide. It usually is wasteful, and may even be harmful, to use the wrong type of fertilizer.

Specialty fertilizers, manufactured in grades suitable for use on a specific kind of plant, are available for most garden applications. These specialty fertilizers include products for lawns, tomatoes, azaleas, and other acid-soil plants. They are usually satisfactory for use according to directions on their labels, but they usually cost more than ordinary farm fertilizers of the same grades.

Fertilizers having the same proportions of primary nutrients generally can be used interchangeably. It usually is only necessary to alter the rate of application so that the desired amounts of primary nutrients are applied to the area being fertilized.

Frequently the price per pound of the nutrients in high analysis mixtures is lower than mixtures containing a lower percentage. For example, one pound of 10-20-10 contains the same amount of nutrients as two pounds of 5-10-10, yet an 80 pound bag of 10-20-10 may cost only one-third more than an 80 pound bag of 5-10-10. For greatest economy, buy fertilizer for its weight of nutrients, not for its total weight.

Nitrogen is the most expensive component of a fertilizer mixture. Slowly available forms of nitrogen, phosphoric oxide, and organic sources, are more expensive than quickly available forms. Therefore, the more nitrogen a mixture contains, especially slowly available forms of nitrogen, the more expensive the mixture.

Before plants can use nitrogen from a fertilizer mixture, the nitrogen-source material must be soluble. The more expensive forms of nitrogen must break down into soluble forms, nitrate or in some cases ammonia, before they can be used by plants. They break down slowly and release nitrogen to the plants over a long period of time. Less expensive forms of fertilizer nitrogen are already in available form; they can be used by plants immediately.

Fruits and vegetables properly fertilized with quickly available nitrogen are as beautiful and tasty as those fertilized with slowly available forms. Because of their slow rate of break-down, however, ammonia and other organic sources of nitrogen may be more convenient to use than the quickly available forms. One application of the slow-release forms of nitrogen may fertilize the plants throughout the growing season, whereas several applications of quickly available forms may be necessary.

So, read the fertilizer label and know in advance what fertilizer you need. Then buy the mixture that will best fit your need.

Vets Filling Out Questionnaires

ROANOKE — More than 2,000 persons on Veterans Administration pension rolls are now filling out questionnaires to report their annual incomes.

The forms this year have been simplified.

They must be filled out and returned by January 31 or payment of the pension will be stopped, according to William J. Powers, Manager, of the Roanoke Regional Office.

The questionnaires go to veterans and dependents of deceased veterans on the VA's non-service-connected pension rolls and to the parents of deceased veterans who are receiving dependency and indemnity payments.

Powers said the law requires that pension payments cease when the recipient's income exceeds stipulated amounts. The questionnaires when completed supply the necessary income information.

These forms must not be folded or mutilated as they are punched for automatic processing machines.
